TRUSTEES FILL POSTS At Fall Meeting

Fall meeting of the University Board of Trustees occupied two days. It included a conducted tour of some of the new construction about the Campus Friday afternoon and most of the Trustees attended the Ohio State football game Saturday.

The Trustees appointed Professor Frederick B. Hutt, Animal Genetics, as head of the Department of Zoology in the College of Agriculture and professor of Zoology and chairman of that Department in the College of Arts and Sciences. Since 1934 he has been head of the Department of Poultry Husbandry. Succeeding Professor Hutt, as acting head of Poultry Husbandry, is Professor J. Herbert Bruckner, PhD '35. He received the BS at Purdue in 1930, entered the Graduate School that fall, was appointed assistant professor in 1937. Last summer he held a travelling scholarship of the College of Agriculture, studying at the University of California.

Dr. Ernest E. Cole '95, State Commissioner of Education, was elected to the executive committee of the Board in place of Dr. Frank P. Graves whom he succeeded as Commissioner.

Retirement of Professor Franke H. Bosworth, Architecture, was reported as of last June 30, and he was elected emeritus professor by the Trustees. A graduate of Yale, he came to the University in 1919 from architectural practice in New York City, as Dean of the College of Architecture; served in that capacity until 1927; since 1923 has been Andrew Dickson White Professor of Architecture.

Succeeding Professor Bosworth as a member of the College of Architecture Council, the Faculty has elected Professor Hubert E. Baxter '10. Thomas I. S. Boak '14 was appointed Trustee member to succeed Maxwell M. Upson '99, resigned, and F. Ellis Jackson '00 was appointed architect member of the Council succeeding Frederick L. Ackerman '01 whose term had expired.

The Trustees also received reports that the Medical College Alumni Association had elected its president, Dr. Samuel A. Cosgrove '07, its representative on the Medical College Council and that Dr. Joseph C. Hinsey, Anatomy, had been elected Faculty representative on the Council. Professor Helen Canon, Home Economics, is Faculty representative on the Home Economics College Council. The chairman reported appointment of Trustees Roger H. Williams '95, Mary H. Donlon '20, and George R. Pfann '24 to the Board's committee on Law, with Pfann as chairman.

President Day reported appointment of Professor Charles W. Jones, PhD '30, English, to the board of editors of the University Press, in place of Professor Frederick C. Prescott, retired. Student members of the University Board of Student Health and Hygiene he reported as Elizabeth A. Herrold '41 of Lancaster, Pa., William F. Robinson '41 of Garden City, and Thomas M. Wilson '42 of Hall; and of the Board on Physical Education and Athletics, Jack C. Antrim '41 of Worthington, Ohio, and John R. Dingle '42 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

Appoint To Named Chairs

The Trustees filled four endowed professorships and two instructorships, two of these for the first time.

Dr. Harold L. Reed, PhD '14, was appointed Robert Julius Thorne Professor of Economics. This professorship was endowed in 1927 by Robert J. Thorne '97 with a gift of $156,600 made as part of the Semi-Centennial Endowment.

Ralph K. White, Psychology, was named the first Sophie Washburn French Instructor, the post endowed with a bequest of $40,000 which came to the University in 1923 from the estate of Frank S. Washburn '83, in memory of his sister.

Professor Carl Becker, History, was named to the John Wendell Anderson Professorship, succeeding Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Latin, Emeritus, its first incumbent. Professor Max L. W. Laistner was appointed John Stambaugh Professor of History, succeeding Professor Becker. Alexander D. Seymour, Architecture, was named to the Andrew Dickson White Professorship, succeeding Professor Bosworth. Frederick J. Spry, MCE '29, was appointed Marc Eidlitz Instructor in Civil Engineering.

Dr. Henry A. Myers, PhD '33, was promoted from assistant professor to associate professor of English, and Professor John N. Tilton, Jr. '13 was changed from Assistant Dean to Secretary of the College of Architecture.

WIN HONORS AT YALE

Three members of the Class of '38 have won high honors at Yale Law School where they are now third-year students. Roy H. Steyer has been elected editor-in-chief of the Yale Law Journal, highest honor in the School. Second honor went to David M. Crawford, son of Thomas F. Crawford '05, selected director of the moot court. Harold A. Segall has ranked first in scholarship in his class for two years.

Nine Cornellians are now enrolled in the three classes at Yale Law School.

CONVENTION PROGRAM For Boston Gathering

About ATHLETICS

CORNELL 21, OHIO STATE 7

The football team came up with its fourth successive victory of the 1940 season on Schoellkopf Field October 26, defeating Ohio State, the defending Western Conference champions, 21-7, in what was, but for minor details, a repeat performance of the 1939 contest at Columbus, Ohio.

Last year Ohio State scored two touchdowns on drives of eighty-six and seventy-two yards, then collapsed in the face of two sparkling Cornell scores—the eighty-yard run by Walter Scholl '41 and the sixty-three-yard pass and run, Scholl to John W. Borhman, Jr. '41. Cornell added enough points to win, 23-14.

This year Ohio State, a giant team clothed in white jerseys and silver pants, marched eighty-nine yards in the first period, then collapsed in the face of a brilliant thirty-two-yard forward pass and run play, Harold F. McCullough '41 to James T. Schmuck '41, and a conversion by Nicholas Drahos '41 to tie the score.

Scholl came in the game long enough to set off the fuse of victory by running, late in the third period, from the Ohio 40 to the 7. Louis C. Bufalino '42 scored two plays later from the 5-yard line. As the fourth period drew to a close, Bufalino scored again, this time from fifteen yards out.

Until Scholl reeled off his thirty-three yards, the outcome was not settled. For one thing, Cornell's vaunted aerial attack did not function with its usual precision. But the threat of the air offensive did serve to weaken Ohio's defense against running plays, and Cornell gained considerable yardage overland.

Actually, what beat Ohio State was Cornell's superior defense against forward passes. Frank K. Finneran '41, a sixty-minute man at center, pulled down three Ohio aeriels. McCullough captured two. One of Finneran's interceptions gained considerable ground for Cornell in the midst of an extended punting duel and indirectly led to the touchdown that put Cornell ahead. McCullough's first interception set up the third and final touchdown.

Against the heavier Ohio linesmen and the hard-running State backs, Cornell gave up ground early, but settled down to play superior football in the line. Half of Ohio's yardage rushing came on the scoring drive in the first quarter. In the second half, the visitors failed to make a first down rushing, so effectively had Cornell diagnosed the attack.

Cornell seemed jittery in the early stages, but quickly settled down. Biggest difference in its play was its failure to make its aerial game click as it has in previous games. But Ohio's forwards rushed McCullough unmercifully, and he had considerable trouble in launching his passes cleanly.

The game, played before a record crowd of more than 34,000 on a bright, crisp afternoon, started with Cornell moving forty yards to Ohio's 35, where a fourth-down forward pass failed to net a first down. McCullough kicked out of bounds on State's 11.

With Captain Langhurst carrying the ball on virtually every play, aided by Strausbaugh, State marched inexorably to its touchdown, scoring in nineteen plays. Langhurst turned in runs of eight, nine, seventeen, and twenty-two yards. Once Cornell sought to stem the tide by substituting Kirk Hershey '41 at end for Schmuck and Paul J. Blasko '41 at tackle for Frederick W. West '41, but the changes had no effect. Langhurst finally crashed over from the two-yard line, and Scott placekicked the extra point.

Ohio State kicked off. The kick was short, but Alva E. Kelley '41, right end, fumbled, and Clair recovered for State on Cornell's 38. Strausbaugh gained four, but State lost five on a penalty. A pass missed, and Scott kicked out on Cornell's 21. McCullough was dropped back to the 15 as he attempted to run on the final play of the first period.

Cornell returned Schmuck and West to the lineup and substituted Peter M. Wolff '42 and Jerome H. Cohn '41 at guards, Raymond Jenkins '42 at right end, and Bufalino in the backfield. Cornell started rolling. McCullough tossed a twenty-three-yard pass to Jenkins, another for eight yards to Captain Walter J. Matuszczak, another sixty-minute player. Bufalino picked up twelve yards in two tries, and McCullough ran to State's 24. There McCullough was thrown attempting to pass. He kept to the air. On fourth down the officials ruled interference with a Cornell pass receiver, and Cornell won the ball on State's 21; to no avail. Scott knocked down a fourth-down pass and immediately punted out to Mortimer W. Landsberg '41, who returned thirteen yards to State's 47.

Cornell scored in three plays. Landsberg picked up three yards at center and Bufalino went off tackle for eleven and first down on State's 33. There McCullough whipped a pass over center. Schmuck, crossing over, took the ball, sidestepped Kinkade, and swept to his right to the goal line as Matuszczak blocked Scott. Drahos, Cornell's third sixty-minute man of the day, booted a sure placement to tie the score at 7-7.

Langhurst, taking the next kickoff on his 5-yard line, raced to his 34, and Scott completed a pass to Strausbaugh for first down on the Ohio 46. Langhurst plunged to midfield, but Drahos dumped Scott for an eight-yard loss, and Scott punted. Ohio State substituted freely, but neither team could gain. They exchanged punts. With the ball on State's 46, Scott passed, and Finneran came up with the ball on Cornell's 44. Two offside penalties set State back ten yards, and Bufalino cut through tackle for first down on the visitors' 30. McCullough went back to pass, but was tackled hard and the ball, loosely thrown, was recovered by Nosker of State as the officials ruled the play a fumble. From State's 27, the visitors rolled to Cornell's 36 where the second period ended.

Cornell started strongly the third period, McCullough returning the kick-off twenty-five yards to Cornell's 40. E. Vincent Eichler '41, the team's "captain emeritus," in at fullback, broke through center for a ten-yard gain, and Schmuck, on an end-around, reached State's 39. McCullough passed, but Kinkade intercepted and lateralled to Scott who returned to State's 30. Then began a kicking duel. After four kicks, Scott essayed a pass from his 34-yard line. Finneran intercepted the ball at midfield and ran to the 35. Scholl, in for McCullough, tried two incomplete passes and a running play, then kicked for a touchback.

Ohio State picked up eight yards in three plays and Scott kicked out on Cornell's 39. Landsberg smacked center for six, and Scholl connected with Jenkins for first down on State's 40. Then Scholl, on the short end run with which he scored at Columbus last year, broke through State's left tackle. He was forced out on the 7-yard line. He tried again and picked up two yards as the third period ended.

Bufalino, finding a big hole at right tackle, raced through for what turned out to be the winning touchdown on the first play of the final period. Drahos again booted a perfect placement. Two plays later Cornell was in trouble, as Scott quick-kicked after Cornell's kick-off. Landsberg fumbled the ball and finally recovered on Cornell's 6-yard line. McCullough went into the end zone to punt. Instead, he darted around the charging Ohio right end and ran to Cornell's 14. Bufalino made it first down on the 20, but the attack stalled, and McCullough punted to State's 32.

Scott fired a pass. Again Finneran came up with the ball, started to his right behind a wall of blockers. There were so many of them that Finneran couldn't get through, and he veered to his left and was finally caught on State's 10-yard line. On third down, having gained a yard, Cornell essayed its end-around play, but the lateral to the end was wild, and the ball bounced around. It was Drahos who finally recovered on the Ohio 28-yard line.

Instead of trying a pass on fourth down, McCullough elected to punt, the ball rolling into the end zone for a touchback. Ohio, from its 20, tried one running play, good for four yards. Scott passed. This time McCullough caught the ball and returned to the visitors' 15-yard mark. On the first play, Bufalino plunged through right tackle on a reverse and cut to his right behind the line of scrimmage to run for a touchdown. 'Drahos' kick was high but true, for the 21st point.

Langhurst almost broke loose on the kickoff return, reaching Ohio's 41, where Scott started throwing passes again. The aerial attack moved to Cornell's 35, where McCullough intercepted again. Cornell ran four plays before the game ended.

The game was Cornell's sixteenth without defeat since Syracuse won, 19-17, in Syracuse in 1938. For Ohio State it was the third successive loss this season and its worst defeat in the seven-year regime of its present head coach.

For the first time this season a Cornell player, Bufalino, scored more than one touchdown in a game. Bufalino now leads the team in scoring with 30 points on five touchdowns. Schmuck has scored four touchdowns and one point after touchdown.

Others Win and Lose

In two other football games Cornell broke even as the Junior Varsity defeated Lock Haven Teachers, 19-16, October 25 on lower Alumni Field and the 150-pound team lost, 6-0, to Villanova at Villanova, Pa., October 26.

The Junior Varsity eleven is undefeated in three games; the 150s have yet to win in three contests.

PENNSYLVANIA, NO SCORE

The soccer team played a scoreless tie with Pennsylvania on lower Alumni Field October 26 as two overtime periods failed to settle the issue.

Cornell now has won two games, lost

FRESHMAN TEAMS WIN

The Freshman cross country and soccer teams won engagements last week.

John F. Kandl of New York City

finished first as Cornell won the cross country race from Colgate at Hamilton October 25. Kandl was timed in 16:15 for the 2.6-mile course.

The soccer team defeated Syracuse at Syracuse, 1-0, the same day, with William H. Starr of Pasadena, Calif., kicking the goal from twenty-five yards out in the first period on a pass from James A. Cunningham of New York City.

ODDS AND ENDS

Three of Cornell's four future football opponents lost games October 26. Columbia dropped a 3-0 decision to Syracuse; Yale lost, 21-0, to Navy; and Pennsylvania was beaten, 14-0, by Michigan. Dartmouth defeated Harvard, 7-6.

WOMEN GET TOGETHER

Forty-five members of the Cornell Women's Clubs of Western Connecticut and Westchester County met October 19 for a joint luncheon at The Fireside, White Plains. Mrs. Georgina Halsey Schoof '10, president of the Westchester Club, presided. Mrs. Allan H. Mogensen (Adele A. Dean) '23, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs and of the Western Connecticut Club, spoke on the organization and personnel of the Federation. Mrs. R. H. Shreve (Ruth Bentley) '02 described recent changes on the Campus and reported on the Federation Scholarship Fund.

BERRY'S DESK

DEAR RYM:

I'm just a year late in responding to your piece in the ALUMNI NEWS of September 28, 1939, about the desk that the Athletic Association finally got rid of by presenting it to you, one stick at a time.

That old ark of a roll-top desk was one of Mr. Bool's bargains which was too big for the local market. It was bought when we opened our first Athletic Office (summer of 1901), in the northeast corner of the Museum in the old Chemistry building (Morse Hall), where Professor Dennis, president of the Athletic Council, could keep his eye on the new graduate manager. I remember walking down the hill from there and across the fields with Blinn Sill Cushman and being instructed in mushrooms and puff balls by that good old scout.

The next move, in the fall of 1901, was to the Sage Block on State Street, second floor back, next to the Tompkins County Bank. There the desk filled up most of the small, dark room, a private office for the graduate manager and one of the three rooms we had then. From there it went, two or three years later, to the Charlie Blood Block, where it stayed, I infer, until the Athletic Association moved to Schoellkopf in 1915—after my time and before yours.

So you see, that old Noah's Ark is more of an antique than you thought. I'm glad to know it is still carrying on usefully under your feet and elbows in the new offices of the ALUMNI NEWS.

Addressing myself now to a subject more interesting and important: Your stuff in the NEWS is always red-hot; the first thing I always read. And your work in The New Yorker was the best they ever had, and I am a judge of that sort of thing, as well as of other matters.

Sincerely,

JOHN L. SENIOR

John L. Senior '01 was the first graduate manager of the Athletic Association. He was also business manager and for many years the principal owner of the ALUMNI NEWS. He served two terms (1918-28) as Alumni Trustee of the University. Now chairman of the board of Consolidated Cement Corp. and president of several other cement companies and of the Cowham Engineering Co., he lives in Connecticut.

Romeyn Berry's column, "Now in My Time!" a year ago dealt with the then-new offices of the ALUMNI NEWS in Alumni House. He touched upon the history of desk about which Senior writes, and which Berry now uses in the NEWS office.—ED.

NEWS FROM ENGLAND

C. John Paddon '28, whose earlier letter was quoted in the August NEWS, writes September 16 from his post with the RAF at Bussock Hill House, Newbery, Berks, England. Explaining that the bombing of London is "a waste of time, except what damage was done to the docks," he says: "It might have been profitable if the English were driven to panic but, being solid and phlegmatic as they are, it only makes them bloody angry. So far, at least, there is no tendency to despair. The bombing of 'Buck House' (Buckingham Palace) was a master stroke of hun stupidity. It makes the rank and file even solder because they know what they are taking is also faced by the Royal Family. Tactically those bombs which so mutilated London have been wasted. All agree it is far better they fell where they did than upon an aero-engine factory or a shipyard." Discussing the effect of high explosive large caliber bombs, he admits that "to see the equivalent of a Fifth Avenue bus upended and leaning with a tired air against the side of a building is a quaint spectacle."

"What we have been dishing out to Germany has been pretty well kept quiet," he continues. "The city of Hamburg AIN'T. Casualties are of the order of 15,000, so far. We don't waste bombs on indiscriminate slashing!!! Every egg we put down goes to do a definite and useful job. . . The boys of the moment are the Poles who are now part of the RAF. They have one sole interest in life and that is to slash hun—and how they slash 'em. One officer has mowed down fifty so far . . . the most dramatic effect is a Polish sergeant who has successfully downed three hun bombers by ramming. He has been going back for more ammunition . . . he sees a hun bomber. He opens the roof of his fighter and hooks a finger in the quick harness release. Then dives, zooms, does a half roll and bango! as he hits he pulls the quick release and drops out . . . The chewing of the Hurricane's prop and the wallop with which it arrives are quite enough to put 'paid' to Jerry . . .

"You may wonder why the Hurricanes and Spitfires knock out hun with such efficiency . . . the ME109 and ME110 are about as fast as ours, but their turning radius is far larger. All aerial combat in the end boils down to tail chasing on the turn . . . The other point is the tremendous fire power of eight guns. A two-second burst blows a hole through a brick wall that you could crawl through . . .

"Well, we are taking it on the chin now but are of good heart and believe we will smash this foul system in the end . . . Without being unkind, you had better pray that we do smash it. If we go down the drain the US will be attacked not (at first) by arms but by an absolutely controlled economic army against which you will be unable to stand. The American working man with his high standard of living cannot compete against the highly competitive disciplined robots who are scientifically driven. There can be no question but that we stand between the US and complete collapse of the US . . .

"One thing stands out . . . the amazing human ability to accept and adapt itself to any new set of conditions in a very short time . . . I have for weeks slept in my clothes . . . sounds awful . . . I slept just as well as I ever did."

CHICAGO WOMEN

Thirteen members of the Cornell Women's Club of Chicago, Ill., attended the first meeting of the year, a luncheon October 5 in the tea room of Carson, Pirie & Scott. Mrs. Paul Shorey (Emma L. Gilbert) '90 told of her experiences at the Fifty-year Reunion of her Class in Ithaca last June, and Ruth I. Stone '10 reported on the annual meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, of which she is third vice-president. Secretary of the Club this year is Catherine V. Mattoon '37.

PITTSBURGH ELECTS

New president of the Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania is Benjamin C. McFadden '08, chief mechanical engineer of The Aluminum Company of America. He was elected October 22, at a smoker and buffet supper in the University Club in Pittsburgh, to take office November 1.

Speakers at the meeting were Trustee Maxwell M. Upson '99, Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Emeritus, and Provost H. W. Peters '14. They told of current happenings at the University.

Six members of the board of governors were also elected: William H. Cosgrove '15, Wallace E. Shepard, Jr. '18, Darwin F. Carrell '23, Wesley C. Pietz '27, Paul J. McNamara '35, and Thomas R. Heyward III '37. They will serve with Eugene C. Batchelar '02, Henry C. Givan, Jr. '24, John L. Slack '26, and John W. Todd, Jr. '35.

WOMEN'S CLUBS RALLY

Guest of honor at the fall rally of Cornell Women's Clubs of New York and vicinity, October 16, was Mary H. Donlon '20, Alumni Trustee and Republican candidate for Congress. Following dinner at the headquarters of the Cornell Women's Club of New York in the Barbizon Hotel, Miss Donlon spoke. Mrs. R. H. Shreve (Ruth Bentley) '02, chairman of the Federation Scholarship committee, told of the value of alumnae organization and activity, and Mrs. Allan H. Mogensen (Adele A. Dean) '23, president of the Federation, discussed its program for this year.

Music was provided with the new Alumni Association recordings of the University Chimes. In charge of arrangements was Catharine M. Curvin '29, vice-president of the New York Club.

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Some Campus ancients were startled by the architect's model for the proposed new Engineering buildings, when it was pictured in the ALUMNI NEWS of October 17. One looked and said, "Let this cup pass from me;" and yet another, "To harmonize our lives with this we must remove the bells from the Clock Tower and substitute a 12 o'clock whistle."

The drugged serenity of academic life makes Campus dwellers hostile to change of any sort; peculiarly hostile to physical and architectural changes. We don't like to see a familiar tree destroyed to make room for an unfamiliar structure. We are accustomed to have college architecture echo the ancient union of learning and ecclesiasticism, and to deny existing facts. University instruction, though it deals with engines and the clash of metals, should be given in a cathedral to the accompaniment of starlings twittering in the ivy. A machine shop is no place for machinery!

Whatever else you may say of this design, it is straightforward, honest, and without pretense. We may even learn to love it.

Take Cascadilla, never intended to be part of a university, but designed in the grim likeness of Ezra Cornell himself—straight lines without embellishment—to house a water cure that never quite arrived! With the years and the growth of affectionate associations it has become almost beautiful. Goldwin Smith said of it in 1904, "Cascadilla held us all at first. The old pile claims our veneration as the cradle of University life. It is pleasant to see the gay vines creeping over it and softening its austere grandeur. In early times at night, when every window in it was lighted, it was a truly brilliant object. Life in it was perhaps not very luxurious; but it was very social. My thoughts often revert to my rooms in Cascadilla (in 1868, 1869, and 1870) and to the platform from which I used to gaze on sunsets more gorgeous than those of my native land, and sometimes to watch the eagles hovering over the lake."

Any community that has grown with the years to love Cascadilla can learn, I suppose, to stomach a "plant" on the Sage Green. And if you study the plan in detail, you will give the architect credit for one saving touch of sentiment. He hasn't been too ruthless; at least he's left the Kap House. It's down there in the lower right-hand corner of the model, bravely asserting the Richardson influence in American architecture in the face of the apparent triumph of the Henry Ford school!

There is no sense in the ancients getting needlessly excited over this business, or in letting their blood pressure work up to the point on the dial that spells apoplexy. It may possibly not happen!

Through the decades other committees have spawned "Campus plans" with the fertility of shad. Go back through the bound volumes of the ALUMNI NEWS and be pacified by the large number of architects' drawings you will find decently embalmed in those pages. Again, even though this one may hatch and fledge, we shall doubtless learn to love it in the same way we have taken Cascadilla to our hearts. And finally—just before you cut your throat—recall that though the Ostrander elms and the little baseball fields on the Green must yield to Progress, we may still keep the Kap House!

CLUB HEARS OF FRANCE

Forty members of the Cornell Club of Essex County, N. J. met October 21 at the Montclair Golf Club. Speaker was Professor F. Hoffher of Barnard College, who is the leader in the United States of the "France Forever" movement headed by General DeGaulle. His topic was "Free France."

NEW ROTC COMMANDANT

LIEUTENANT COLONEL CLINTON I. McCLURE, Field Artillery, USA, has been appointed professor of Military Science and Tactics and Commandant of the ROTC at the University. He succeeds Colonel Waldo C. Potter, Commandant since 1937, who has been ordered to duty in Washington, D. C., as executive officer in the Office of the Chief of Field Artillery, War Department.

Colonel McClure entered the Army in 1917 after attending the US Naval Academy and receiving the BS in 1915 and the MS in 1916 at George Washington University. He was detailed for four years to the ROTC at Ohio State University; had recently been assistant in charge of operations and training in the Seventh Corps Area at Fort Omaha, Nebr. He came to Ithaca this fall.

CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS

FOUNDED 1899

3 EAST AVENUE ITHACA, N. Y.

Published weekly during the University year, monthly in July and August: thirty-five issues annually.

Owned and published by the Cornell Alumni Association under direction of a committee composed of R. W. Sailor '07, Phillips Wyman '17, and Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30. Officers of the Association: Creed W. Fulton '09, 907 Fifteenth St., N.W., Washington, D. C., president; Emmet J. Murphy '22, 3 East Ave., Ithaca, secretary; Archie C. Burnett '90, 7 Water St., Boston, Mass., treasurer.

Subscription: $4.00 a year in U. S. and possessions; Canada, $4.35; Foreign, $4.50. Single copies fifteen cents. Subscriptions are payable in advance and are renewed annually unless cancelled.

DO YOU LIKE IT?

In keeping with the modern practice of most magazines, the ALUMNI NEWS is now mailed to subscribers without the brown-paper wrappers that formerly enclosed it. We have received many compliments on the beauty and variety of recent covers. The new mailing arrangement enables the subscriber to distinguish each issue as new and fresh when he sees it. It also allows earlier mailing, since much of the time necessary to wrap each copy is now saved.

Comments from subscribers are always welcome. Is your News now reaching you in good condition? Does it arrive within reasonable time after being mailed in Ithaca Wednesday afternoons? Second-class mail matter, is of course handled in postoffices and on trains after first-class mail, but the News should reach at least those subscribers as near as Chicago not later than Saturday each week.

How do you like the new mailing arrangement?

SPHINX HEAD CELEBRATES

Fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Sphinx Head was celebrated October 27 with a breakfast in Willard Straight Hall followed by initiation ceremonies at the Tomb. One hundred thirty men attended, ranging in classes from Henry H. Sanger '91 of Detroit, who as one of the charter members made the principal address, to the members of the Senior Class who comprise the active chapter.

Floyd L. Carlisle '03 presided. Speaking on the program with Sanger were Thomas I. S. Boak '14, alumni president of the society, and L. LaVerne Horton '41 president of the undergraduate chapter. Sanger reviewed in intimate detail the early days of the Society, including the preliminary conversations and meetings of the ten charter members. He read letters from Malcolm N. McLaren '91 and Edwin Yawger '91 both of whom now reside in California. Three other charter members still survive, all members of the Class of '91: Irving B. Easton, Charles L. Etheridge, and Joseph L. Hall.

Following the breakfast, R. W. Sailor '07 presided at the initiation of Nicholas Drahos, Calvin O. English, Reed Seely, John C. Sterling, Jr., and Robert B. Tallman, all members of the Class of '41.

CLUBS ENTERTAIN

Variety shows in Bailey Hall and the Willard Straight Theater Friday and Saturday nights provided fitting entertainment for a gala football week-end.

Main floor of Bailey Hall was comfortably filled October 25 for the Savage Club show, "Niaga Segavas," of which it was announced that a portion of the proceeds would be devoted to British war relief in honor of the parent organization, the Savage Club of London.

Professor George H. Sutton, PhD '32, Ornithology, presiding as master of ceremonies, called from the ranks of Savage Club members seated on the stage a succession of performers for a varied program. Among those most heartily applauded were Sheldon Smith's skit, "How to Watch a Movie," the sleight-of-hand and patter of Robert G. Thrasher, Richard H. Lee '41 whistling and singing at the same time, Alfred F. Sulla, Jr. '29 with his "Banjo Ballistics," Harold B. Zook '40 and Raymond W. Kruse '41 at drums and piano, and the Savage Club Quartet in Rachmaninoff's "Prelude" and an arrangement of "Oh, Miss Hannah" by C. Wesley Thomas '25.

Partaking of a collation served by the Club's veteran steward, James Miller, with furnishings transported from the Club rooms downtown, the Brother Savages enjoyed the show as much as the audience, and all took part in the program with group singing.

Crowds were turned away from the Willard Straight Theater for three performances of the Dramatic Club's 1940 Music Hall Show. It was a fast-moving show of skits, songs, and playlets by new and old members of the Club, with movies of Gloria Swanson and William S. Hart in the spirit of the occasion. Fitting finale was the entire company singing "Give My Regards to Broadway" and the audience singing with them the Cornell counterpart, "Give My Regards to Davy."

So successful was the Music Hall Show that it will be given again Friday evening before the Columbia game and twice Saturday, November 2.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

RIVALRY at Schoellkopf Field Saturday afternoon was not confined to the football teams that appeared there. The Ohio State band marched intricately and impressively, in quickstep. Observers in Barton Hall just before the Cornell ROTC Band marched out to the field heard the drum major, Robert W. Haase '41, exhort his mates to "get out there and fight" (musically) for Cornell. So the Cornell Band marched, too, spelling out "Ohio" in script between the halves, as an assistant drum major made a long end run, the drums rolling, to dot the "i" in the formation.

ROTC BAND will go to the Yale game at New Haven, November 9. Cost of the trip will be defrayed partly by sale of tags by members of the band last weekend and by contributions from alumni. Limited to two out-of-town trips from the money raised at the Navy Ball, members of the Band had earlier voted to make these the Army and Pennsylvania games.

'WIDOW ELECTS 4 MEN' said a recent headline in the Cornell Daily Sun. The story was: "Miss Elizabeth Erb '42 was elected to the Women's Editorial Board of the Cornell Widow at a recent meeting." Apparently she has a four-man-sized job!

NEWEST educational enterprise in Ithaca is the GLF School of Cooperative Administration, which opened October 15 in its own building, downtown. President Edmund E. Day of the University gave the principal address at the opening of the new building. H. Edward Babcock, chairman of the University Board of Trustees and former general manager of the GLF Exchange, who will direct the new school, explained that it will "train GLF employees to do a better job of handling goods" and improve distribution of farm products and supplies. The four-story building, of native limestone, is on Clinton Street, just west of the present office building of the GLF

POPULATION of Ithaca more than doubled last Saturday. Visitors came by special trains and in many extra cars, by bus, airplane, and automobile, to fill every available room and eating place. It was the largest crowd ever to see a game on Schoellkopf Field. Before the game, it is estimated that 2,800 ate lunch in Barton Hall, and Willard Straight Memorial Room couldn't accommodate all who went down for cider and doughnuts afterward. East Hill housewives are agreed that a little sweet oil mixed with wood ashes does as much as anything can to restore the finish of furniture burned with cigarettes.

Exchange. It was designed by Arthur N. Gibb '90 and constructed by Jes J. Dall, Jr. '16. The top floor will be occupied by offices of the GLF soil-building department headed by Thomas E. Milliman '14, now in New York City.

SENIORS in Engineering were addressed October 25 by J. Carlton Ward, Jr. '14, on "The Industrial Effort in France During the Last Stages of the War, as Viewed by an American Mission to the French Government." Now president of Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp., Ward was one of a group of experts sent to France last spring by the United States Government. He is a member of the Engineering College Council.

SCARLET KEY, the Ohio State undergraduate organization corresponding to Cornell's Red Key, planted a Buckeye tree Friday afternoon just outside the gates of Schoellkopf Field, in token of the friendship between the two universities. Buckeyes are planted on every campus where the Ohio State football team plays. Here, Professor Paul M. Lincoln, Electrical Engineering, Emeritus, and captain of Ohio State's first football team, in 1894, turned the first spadeful at the planting of the tree.

TOWN MEETING in Ithaca October 30 was to be devoted to discussing the qualifications of Presidential candidates. Professor Julian P. Bretz, History, member of the Democratic State committee, was to speak for President Roosevelt; Dr. William C. Geer '02, executive director of the Ithaca Willkie Club, for Wendell L. Willkie; and the Rev. G. Eugene Durham '20, Methodist student pastor, for Norman Thomas.

PI DELTA GAMMA, recently organized to honor journalistic achievement of women at Cornell, has elected Gay S. Churchill '41 of Lansdowne, Pa., the first president. Vice-president is Mary J. Webb '41 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio; secretary-treasurer, Elizabeth M. Taylor '41 of Lexington, Ky. Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, is the sponsor.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER November 3 is the Right Rev. G. Ashton Oldham '01, Bishop of Albany. It is his custom to visit Ithaca the week-end of an important football game.

LECTURES this week include the first two of a series of six Messenger Lectures, on "Civilization and Disease," by Dr. Henry E. Sigerist, director of the Institute of the History of Medicine at Johns Hopkins University, October 30 and November 1; and John J. Niles, "The British Ballad in America," on the Schiff Foundation, November 1.

ESTIMATE of John B. Fullen, Ohio State alumni secretary, was that 5,000 Ohio State adherents were in Ithaca for the game. They came from all directions and from many places, but one of the Lehigh Valley's nine special trains that pulled in Saturday morning was financed with weekly deposits made with the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, beginning last July. At an Ohio State table in Barton Hall before the game, lucky buckeyes were passed out to all comers.

NECROLOGY

'82 BS—The Rev. FRANK MARTIN RANNEY LUCKEY, October 9, 1940, in New Haven, Conn. He spent four years on the Broadway stage before deciding to enter the ministry; received the BD at Yale Divinity School in 1888, and became pastor of the Humphrey Congregational Church, in New Haven, serving there until his retirement in 1923. He had since preached there and at other Congregational churches. Alpha Delta Phi.

'96 LLB, '97 LLM—JOSEPH ALFRED GREENE, August 10, 1940, in Ossining. He entered Cornell in 1894 from the New York Military Academy. He had long practiced law, specializing in real estate and probate law. He was a director of the First National Bank of Ossining, member of the Hendrick Hudson Council, Boy Scouts of America, of the Westchester County and the New York State Bar Associations, and of several fraternal organizations. Widow, the former Carolyn M. Wygand '96; sons, Francis W. Greene '26, LLB '29, Marcellus W. Greene '29.

'99, '00 ME—ROBERT HENRY HAZELTINE, August 11, 1940, at Elmira. He entered Mechanical Engineering in 1895 from the Latin School, Brooklyn. During the World War, he was a major in the 45th Coast Artillery in France, and later became a colonel of the US Coast Artillery Reserve. Kappa Alpha, Cornell Club of Elmira, Widow board, track.

'05—ALBERT BALDWIN HOFFMAN, suddenly, August 8, 1940, in Grand Rapids, Mich. He had been vice-president of the Detroit Trust Co., the Security Trust Co., Bonbright & Co., investment bankers, and of the Michigan Stamping Co. For the last three years he had been president of Blackmer Pump Co., Grand Rapids. President, Cornell Club of Michigan, 1919-1920.

'05 AB—MRS. J. DRUMMOND HUSTON (Vera Louise Shepherd), July 18, 1940, at Los Angeles, Calif. Mrs. Huston entered Arts in 1901 from Ithaca High School. She returned to the Graduate School in 1907, stayed until 1909. She was deeply interested in Cornell alumni work and had made suggestions for promoting the Alumni Fund. Phi Beta Kappa, Class essayist.

'05, '06 CE—ERNEST ANTON DAHMEN, October 19, 1940, of a heart attack, at the Cornell-Syracuse football game. Dahmen entered Arts in 1901, transferring a year later to Civil Engineering. He was with the Big Four Railway Co. in Arkansas for one year, then became a highway engineer with the New York State Highway Department. He remained with that Department until his death, in charge of Tompkins County maintenance and operations for the last twenty-three years. The strain of reconstruction following the floods of 1935 is blamed for the condition which brought about his death. Beta Lambda Pi. Sons, Ernest A. Dahmen, Jr. '38, Harry B. Dahmen '40.

'10—DAVID MARCUS, August 12, 1940, in Olean, following a long illness. He entered Arts in 1906 from Olean High School, remaining two years. Marcus a retired attorney, had practiced in Olean until 1917, when he moved to Jamestown.

'13 AB—DONALD CARR DOUGHERTY, September 8, 1940, in Cleveland, Ohio. He entered Arts in 1909 from Phillips-Andover Academy. He was a newspaper reporter in Cleveland until 1917; spent the next two years as publicity director and executive director of the Lake Shore division, American Red Cross. In 1920 he established the Dougherty Publicity Service; managed many successful campaigns in Cleveland, including those of the University Hospital, Case School, Western Reserve University, and John Carroll University. He joined the American Social Hygiene Association in 1937 as associate director and publicity consultant. Delta Kappa Epsilon, Undine, Majura, Bench and Board, Ycnan, Kappa Beta Phi.

'18 BArch—HERBERT ROLLAND WEAVER was drowned August 18, 1940, in Lake George. He entered Architecture in 1914 from Utica Free Academy. Weaver had been treasurer and vice-president of the Canadian International Paper Co., Montreal; more recently was assistant treasurer and a director of the International Hydro Electric Corp., living in Tenaflly, N. J. Gargoyle, Varsity wrestling, Scroll and Spade.

'43—CAROL ELIZABETH BREDBENNER, August 14, 1940, at the Catskill Memorial Hospital, Catskill, of complications following an acute attack of appendicitis. Kappa Kappa Gamma. Father, Edgar E. Bredbenner, Sp '31; sister, Jeanne E. Bredbenner '37.

'43—WILLIAM DONALD VINTON, October 11, fatally injured in an automobile accident near Highland, on the Hudson River. Vinton and two companions, who escaped injury, were enroute to the football game at West Point. Entered Arts in 1939 from Birmingham, Mich. Alpha Delta Phi, Widow board.

'43—JOHN BRADLEY DELEHANTY, JR., October 21, 1940, at Ithaca, killed instantly in an accident in which the car he was driving left the road near the intersection of Renwick Drive and Wyckoff Road, and plunged down a steep ravine. Entered Hotel Administration in 1939 from Glen Cove High School. Kappa Alpha. Father, J. Bradley Delehanty '10.

Concerning THE FACULTY

WILLIS H. CARRIER '01, Alumni Trustee of the University and past president of the Cornell Society of Engineers, writes "The Employer Looks at Needed Improvement in Our System of Technical Education," in Mechanical Engineering for October. Maintaining that "the success and failures of technical education can best be judged by those who have to deal directly with large numbers of engineering graduates," Carrier outlines five features of present day technical education which he feels are justly subject to criticism. These are overspecialization in undergraduate courses, lack of proper standards for selection of students, failure to develop thorough understanding of processes and subject matter in the student, insufficient emphasis on development of student personalities, and examinations and student grading which do not give the employer the desired true test of the student's ability.

DEAN GILMORE D. CLARKE '13, Architecture, resigned from the New York State Planning Council in an open letter to Governor Herbert H. Lehman. His letter reads, in part: "Less than a year ago I vigorously defended your Administration against attacks by petty Republican politicians . . . aimed to abolish the State Planning Council. Even though I have always been a Republican, I resented what I deemed unfair tactics by members of my own party. Now I am no longer able to take a position in defense of the policies of the Democratic party in this State since you, the leader of that party, stooped to the level of the Republicans whose attacks against you, less than a year ago, I deeply resented. The inferences contained in your remarks with respect to the Republican candidate for President, made recently before the Democratic convention, were, in my judgment, so unfair, were aimed so far below the belt, were so manifestly untrue, and so definitely undignified that I am no longer able to represent you . . ." Governor Lehman was reported as saying at the Democratic State convention that nothing that could happen in the United States could give Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin, and the government of Japan more satisfaction than "the defeat of the man who typifies to the whole world the kind of free, humane government which dictators despise—Franklin D. Roosevelt."

DR. HARRY GOLD '19, assistant professor of Pharmacology at the Medical College in New York, spoke on "Digitalis: Its Action and Usage," October 16, at the annual Scientific Assembly of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia in Washington. He will give the Dr. Max Ballin Memorial Lecture November 13, at Detroit, Mich., discussing "Some Recent Developments in Drug Therapy."

PROFESSOR KARL M. DALLENBACH, PhD '13, Psychology, is chairman of an Emergency Committee in Psychology just appointed by the National Research Council. This committee, made up of leading psychologists, will serve as a clearing house for all psychological work involved in the National defense program, including direction of intelligence tests to be given draftees and enlisted personnel, supervision of emotional stability tests, and help in selection of personnel for the various branches of government service.

PROFESSOR HOWARD R. ANDERSON, Education, has been elected president of the National Council for the Social Studies, an organization of 2972 teachers of social studies. At first an independent group, it became a part of the National Education Association in 1925; holds six meetings a year; sponsors the magazine, "Social Education."

PROFESSOR WALTER K. STONE, Fine Arts, was awarded the Finger Lakes Association Prize at the third annual exhibition of work by Finger Lakes Region artists at Auburn, for his oil painting, "Chore Time." "Filling Silo" by Professor Kenneth L. Washburn '27, Fine Arts, and "Professor Nathaniel Schmidt" by Professor Olaf Brauner, Fine Arts, Emeritus, received honorable mention.

PROFESSOR RICHARD PARMENTER '17, Psychobiology, has joined the Volunteer Reserve, US Navy, with a commission as lieutenant. Called to active duty, he left Ithaca October 25 for six weeks' duty in Boston, Mass., in a training school for mine defense; expected later to be assigned to the New York area. Parmenter went to France in 1917 with the Cornell unit, American Field Service, and became a first lieutenant in the Army Air Service.

EMERSON HINCHLIFF '14, Spanish, writes on "Lincoln and the Reaper Case" in the September Journal of the Illinois State Historical Society.

PROFESSOR ALLAN NEVINS, formerly of the History Department, now professor of American history at Columbia, is the author of a two-volume biography, John D. Rockefeller, published by Charles Scribner's Sons, New York City. A reviewer in The New York Herald Tribune Books described it as "... not only a life-sized portrait of John D. Rockefeller and of the mighty figures associated with him in his far-flung enterprises, but also a mighty panorama of American life from the Civil War to the present day."

CORNELLIANS WITH NBC

Six Cornellians are members of the staff of National Broadcasting Co., in Radio City, New York. Two of these, Margaret R. Cuthbert '08 and Samuel L. Ross '15, have been with NBC since its organization. Ross, moreover, is the oldest employee in years of service of NBC and its predecessor, Station WEAJ of American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Miss Cuthbert joined the staff of Station WEAJ in 1926, in charge of speakers. When NBC was organized that same year, she continued to handle talks and did so until 1936, when she was appointed director of women's activities and supervisor of programs for children. She has brought to the air Lowell Thomas, Dorothy Thompson, Clifton Fadiman, and many other radio celebrities; is the originator of numerous popular programs; has written extensively on radio for magazines and newspapers; was cited for her radio achievements by the New York League of Professional and Business Women.

Ross entered the employ of A. T. & T. in 1922 after being mechanical manager for the Broadway Music Corp. In 1925 he organized an artists' bureau, especially for radio programs, and this became the present NBC Artists Service Bureau, in which he is now head of the lecture bureau and manager of the local stations division. He also manages several radio performers.

Charles W. Fitch '10 is business manager of the NBC program department, in charge of personnel, budgets, contracts, and general administration of the department. He joined NBC in 1936 as personnel manager, having been assistant director of the housing division of PWA and before that, director of exhibits and assistant to Lenox R. Lohr '16 when Lohr was general manager of the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition.

Joseph W. Conn '30 joined the NBC television department in 1939 as a cameraman; is now working in the development laboratories. He was for a time in the RCA plant in Camden, N. J., then was chief engineer of Station KMA in Iowa, and later control room engineer in the NBC Chicago studios. Mrs. Conn is the former Helen K. Britcher, who was a graduate student in English at the University in 1930-31. She is the radio actress, Lenore Kingston.

Alfred M. Scott '36 is a senior sound technician with NBC. His are the sound effects in the Phillip Morris program, "Lincoln Highway," and others. His present work followed three months on the guest relations staff and nine months in the publicity department. Scott was a charter member and production director of the Cornell Radio Guild.

John B. Williams '38, like Scott a former member of the Radio Guild, joined NBC in 1938 as a page, after a summer in a stock theater. He became a guide, and now works at the guest relations control desk in Radio City.

NEW AKRON SECRETARY

CLASS OF 1915

*By Hugh C. Edmiston, Correspondent
Short Hills, N. J.*

I rise, Mr. Chairman, to a point of order. A glaring denial of the rudiments of mathematics appearing in the 1916 Class Notes in the October 10 issue must be set right. It is granted, Bub Pfeiffer, that the 1915 Class notes are being feebly scrambled by one who is almost as shiny above the ears as you are. Granted also that 1916 is a worthy Class. Indeed, how could it be otherwise with the daily example set for it by 1915? But your sequences, Bub, are all out of step when you allude to 1915 following 1916. 1915 was in the University before 1916 was born as a Class. 1915 was out in the wide, wide alumni world while 1916 was still an undergraduate Class; a "swaddling." 1915 came AHEAD of 1916, Bub; is still there, and always will be, by the great horn spoon! That sequence just cannot be reversed, even by F D R reckoning.

To the casual observer at West Point, October 12, it appeared that our Twenty-fifth Reunion must have loosened many a knee joint, as there were plenty of 1915 faces at the game, showing that the old boys can still get around.

Your irrepressible Class secretary-Alumni Trustee has been at it again, this time gathering the Clan in Willard Straight Hall the night of the Ohio State game to view the Twenty-fifth Reunion movies, as arranged by Classmate Terri-berry. That film will go round the world, making history wherever it is shown. Its first "road showing" will be at the monthly dinner of the Class at the Cornell Club of New York, November 15. Mark that date right now.

*By Weyland Pfeiffer, Class Secretary
111 Broadway New York City*

The following chairmen of regional committees for our Twenty-fifth have been appointed by Sam Howe, our Reunion chairman: New England, Collie Collins; Metropolitan New York, Pat Irish; Long Island, Grant Schleicher; Upper New York (except Ithaca), Murray Shelton; Greater Ithaca, Jes Dall; Pennsylvania, Ed Ludwig; Washington, D. C., Delaware and Virginia, Harry Eaton; Deep South, Handy Handleman; Cleveland and vicinity, Booty Hunkin; Michigan and Indiana, Ben Micou; West Virginia, Kentucky, Southern Ohio and Southern Illinois, Herb Snyder; Chicago and Northern Illinois, Ham Vose; Northern Great Plains, Alden Buttrick; Southern Plains and Texas, Al Griesedieck; Mountain States and West Coast, Dave Visel; Canada, Stan Babbitt; Hawaiian Islands, Jack Moir; Rest of the World, Mickey Whitecotton.

A survey of the geographical distribution of the Class is most interesting. New York leads with 465; second, Pennsylvania, 85; third, New Jersey, 84; fourth, Ohio, 53; fifth, California, 40; sixth, Illinois, 36; seventh, Massachusetts, 23; then Maryland and Connecticut with 22 each; Michigan with 20, and so on down the line.

In the cities, New York leads with 176, Chicago 20, Buffalo 18, Cleveland 17, Pittsburgh 15, Philadelphia 14, and Detroit 10.

'17 LLB—Herman B. Lerner is president of the Celluplastic Corp., formerly the Hygienic Tube & Container Corp. His home is at 76 Duffield Drive, South Orange, N. J.

C. U. at Boston—Cornell Alumni Convention—November 14-16, 1940

CLASS OF 1936*Women

*By Mary P. Tillinghast, Class Secretary

I hope some '36 women will be coming back for a football game this fall. Some of us haven't been back to the Campus since graduation, and it is high time that we start getting enthusiastic about going back, with our Fifth Reunion popping up next June.

Margaret M. Gainey is now Mrs. Sedwick P. Smith. Her husband, a graduate of Penn State, received the PhD at Cornell in 1939.

Mary W. Savacool, who received the bFA at Cornell, "sculps" as assistant in art at Adelphi College in Garden City, Long Island. Her bronze statue of three Irish setter puppies was exhibited in the New York State Building at the New York World's Fair. Nice going, Mary.

I should like very much to know more about the jobs our '36 women are tending to. Won't some of you "career women" please write and tell me what you are doing and where you do it? Jobs are real news, and there are unusual and interesting ones held by our members. Please tell me more.

Men

*By Charles E. Dykes, Class Secretary
225 S. Albany Street, Ithaca*

Dr. William R. Power married Anna M. Kieran, February 3, in New York City. Mrs. Powers was graduated at the College of Mount St. Vincent.

Pete Marcus married Kathleen McFeely of Merchantville, N. J., May 18. Their address is 5052 Jackson Avenue, Merchantville.

Dr. Edward A. Hardy married Eliza H. Caldwell May 18, in Danville, Ky. They live in Mt. Vernon.

Herb Hopper is a soil technologist with the California Soil Conservation Service, located in Placerville, Calif. Maybe Herb can scout those Western crews and advise Coach Sanford how our boys can pick up that extra deck length.

Gene Bostrom is manager of Hotel Huron, Ypsilanti, Mich.

Dr. Frank R. Birch, DVM '39, and Mrs. Birch (Marjorie Dean) '36 have a son, born May 24, 1940.

Clayton L. Baldwin received the MA at the University of Wisconsin, June 17.

Bob Evans is associated with the Buckeye Steel Casting Co., Columbus, Ohio. He was married last January.

Jake Fassett is manager of the Jefferson Hotel in Watkins Glen. Jake's father made a motion at the Twenty-five-year Reunion of his Class (1912) that the first grandson of the Class be awarded a scholarship. A few hours after the motion was passed, Jake's son made his appearance in Boston. That's foresight for you!

'37 BS—Frank M. Bigwood is with the Mansion House division of the General Ice Cream Corp., Cambridge, Mass.

'37 BS; '42—Emma R. Curtis was married to Roswell Elliott, August 10. The Elliotts live at 113 Osmun Place, Ithaca.

'38 BS—Fern J. Bentley is now Mrs. Paul R. Blackburn; lives in Medina.

'38 BS—Florence L. Wilson, daughter of Professor Lyman P. Wilson, Law, and Mrs. Wilson, was married to Aubrey S. B. Humphreys of Kimberly, Union of South Africa, October 10, in Kimberly. Humphreys holds degrees from Rand University, Johannesburg, S. A., and Cambridge University, England. They will live in Pretoria, where Humphreys is in Government service.

'38 AB—William B. Smith has resigned as a State bank examiner and will be with the McKee Glass Co., Jeanette, Pa., after December 1.

'38 EE, '39 MSE—P. Evans Dittman married Marilyn M. Neucks of Evansville, Ind., August 30.

1939 WOMEN

*By Sally Splain, Class Secretary
52 West Mohawk Street, Oswego, N. Y.*

This is a new idea and I hope it meets with your approval. The news piles up so quickly that by the time I usually get it to you, it is a little stale. This weekly News column may solve the problem. Let me know what you think about it.

The bells have scarcely ceased ringing this past summer with so many '39 girls marching up the aisle. The marriages that I have heard of are:

Peg Bradstreet was married on April 17 to Donald Smith of Portland, Ore. He is a graduate of the University of Oregon and is now working for the Jantzen Company in the Rochester-Buffalo territory.

Peggy Pearce was married June 8 to Oliver J. Stark '39. Their home address is 21 Fithian Avenue, Merchantville, N. J.

Janet Peters was married September 14 to John A. Sigman '40. Betty Sigman '43 was maid of honor and Edmund Plisk '40 was best man. Their home address is 49 Woodette Place, Buffalo.

More about the other "belles" of the Class next week. In the meantime, pass the word around that we now have a Class column—and don't forget to send in some "juicy tidbits" of news.

'39 AB—Richard S. Brockway of 62 Waller Avenue, White Plains, is with Hurdman and Cranstoun, certified public accountants.

'39—Theodore P. Snook is assistant manager of the Hamilton Country Club at 6000 Reading Road, Cincinnati, Ohio.

'39 '40 AB—Lynn W. Crocker, second lieutenant in the US Army, has been transferred from Fort Niagara, to a post with the Fifth Infantry, Paraiso, Panama Canal Zone.

CLASS OF 1940*Women

*By Carol B. Clark, Class Secretary
47 Cedar Street, Binghamton, New York*

Here is a column devoted to one group, as I promised:

Ruth Buffum teaches Home Economics at Belleville.

Esther Button teaches in Tully.

Clarice ("Billie") Burke teaches in Homer; note its nearness to Ithaca!

Rose Nardi is in Griegsville.

Rebecca Foote is in Virgil Central School; Connie Logan in Millbrook.

Hilda Morehouse is in Jamestown Senior High; Barbara Bruen was in Lincoln Junior High, Jamestown, since March, but now teaches in Avoca Central School.

Belle Ayres, address Lea Croft, Roxbury, teaches in Roxbury Central School.

Theo Beekman is in Seneca Falls, and with a car, mind you!

Virginia Pease is in Canasurega Central School.

Doris VanAlstyne is teaching near her home in Kinderhook, at East Greenbush new Central School.

Now, maybe I will hear from these folks; especially, the two I roomed with!

Men

*By R. Selden Brewer, Class Secretary
The L. B. Harrison Club
Victory Boulevard & McMillan Street
Cincinnati, Ohio*

Alfred K. Wood is with the De Laval Separator Co. in Poughkeepsie.

Donald B. Bogart is booking agent for Bogart's Novelty Circus.

Everett Schwartz, John G. Flowers, Jr., and George F. Warner have joined the teaching profession. Schwartz is in Edwards, Flowers at a preparatory school in North Carolina, and Warner at the Central Square High School in Van Etten.

Enrolled in the Cornell Law School are Stephen P. Vinciguerra and Jack L. Ratzkin.

William B. White, Jr. is attending the University of Virginia Law School in Charlottesville.

Those doing graduate work this year include Robert A. Emmett, Jr., who is at the University of Michigan, F. Howard Kratzer at the University of California, and M. Truman Fossum at Ohio State University.

Ed Milanese writes that he is employed in the administrative offices of the American Tobacco Co. in New York City.

Karl Zornig is with Remington Rand in Baltimore, Md., and Kenneth Sorace reports that he is working for the General Electric in Rochester.

Maurice H. Skyer is sales manager for Skyer & Co. in Newburgh. William J. Galligan, Jr., is with the Guaranty Trust Co. New York City and Ralph Resnick is working for the Olson Roofing Co. Inc., White Plains, and takes courses in NYU night school.
