WOMEN MAKE PLANS For Campus Events

The executive committee of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, meeting in New York City February 15, discussed plans for two Campus activities in which the Federation participates.

Cornell Day for women will be held on Saturday, May 2, according to a report submitted by the chairman, Mrs. Claude M. Bigelow (E. Lucile Wyman) '23 of Cortland. During the University's spring recess undergraduate women will address gatherings of prospective Freshmen in twenty or more cities, the meetings arranged by Cornell groups at the instance of a committee of which Mrs. Edwin S. Knauss (Dorothy Pond) '18, of Poughkeepsie, is chairman.

The second annual conference on fields of work for women, in which the Federation cooperates with Dean R. Louise Fitch and the Women's Self-Government Association, will be held in Willard Straight Hall March 14. Mrs. R. H. Shreve (Ruth Bentley) '02 represents the Federation in inviting alumnae qualified by experience to advise undergraduates on the various fields of work. She is assisted by an Ithaca committee of which Mrs. Arthur A. Allen (Elsa Guerdum) '12 is chairman, and which includes also Dean Fitch, Mrs. Claire K. Grauel, Willard Straight hostess, and Marjorie S. Kane '36, Ann Sunstein '36, and Margaret J. Kincaid '37. As last year, round table discussions will be supplemented with individual conferences between the alumnae cooperating and the undergraduates.

Mary H. Donlon '20, president of the Federation, presided at the executive committee meeting. Present also were Mrs. Bernard A. Savage (Carmen M. Schneider) '27, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Shreve, Mrs. Knauss, and Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda L. Swenson) '20. Mrs. Edwin A. Gauntt (Gertrude C. Heim) '24, of New Brunswick, N. J., was appointed a director of the Federation to succeed Dr. Irene Davis Ferguson '21, who resigned. Mrs. Gauntt will head the Committee on scholarship and loan funds.

CORNELL HISTORIANS

Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes, writing in the Scripps-Howard newspapers of the recent death of Professor James Harvey Robinson, calls him the most influential historian in the United States since the late Andrew D. White.

"President White," he says, "made history a respectable subject in the university curriculum in this country" and . . . "linked up his historical teachings with public opinion in effective fashion in his History of the Warfare of Science with Theology."

Dr. Barnes quotes Professor Preserved Smith, History, "his eminent disciple," as having called Robinson "the most stimulating teacher I ever had," and notes that Robinson had the collaboration of another Cornellian "able disciple," Dr. Charles A. Beard, '00 Grad, in the preparation of his book, Historical Development of Modern Europe, and in founding the New School for Social Research, "the foremost institution for adult education in this country today."

NEW DRAMATIC VENTURE

The first full-length original Cornell play to be produced by the Dramatic Club is "Traffic Signals," by Professor Alex M. Drummond, the dates for which are now fixed as March 6 and 7.

The first part of "Traffic Signals" was written by Professor Drummond in 1926 as a "mass production" in which all the members of the Dramatic Club could participate. Its first presentation, May 7 and 8, 1926, aroused considerable Campus interest, both pro and con. Professor William Strunk, Jr., PhD '96, English, now in Hollywood, declared he liked it better than John Howard Lawson's "Processional." The piece was chosen by Barrett H. Clark for inclusion in the book, One-Act Plays for Stage and Study, published by Samuel French in 1930, as one of the best representatives of the "expressionistic" drama then available. It was also included in Cornell University Plays, published in 1932, and has had several productions across the country.

The complete play has a cast of fifty speaking characters in its cast of two hundred; it provides for unusual staging and lighting effects, music, and large speaking choruses, which, if they prove successful, will be continued as a permanent verse-speaking chorus, a new activity of the University Theatre.

The second program of the series depicting the rise of the American film, from the Museum of Modern Art Film Library, presented by the University Theatre, featured Theda Bara in "A Fool There Was." Made in 1914, this picture gave the word "vamp" to the English language. "The New York Hat," directed by D. W. Griffith in 1912, includes Mary Pickford and Lionel Barrymore in its cast, and extras who have since attained fame. The program also included "The Fugitive," with William S. Hart, directed by Thomas H. Ince in 1916, and "The Clever Dummy," a Mack Sennett comedy of 1917 with Wallace Beery in the cast headed by Ben Turpin.

PRESIDENT MEETS CLUBS Speaks at Detroit and Buffalo

President Farrand was honored with record-breaking attendance by alumni at two Cornell Club dinners, in Detroit and Buffalo, on successive evenings last week.

He was enthusiastically received as he talked about Cornell. He called attention to the financial situation of the University and complimented the Trustees on their handling of the endowment and other funds. Of the Faculty he said that although alumni are likely to think of the great names of the past, nevertheless the present Faculty represents the best that the University has ever had. Athletics at Cornell he said are conducted, and will continue to be, primarily for the benefit of the physical well-being of undergraduates, and he paid tribute to James Lynah '05 for his handling of a difficult situation and praised Gilmour Dobie for the way the football coach recognized and acted upon a problem that might have been exceedingly complex without the fairmindedness and frankness of both coach and director of athletics.

"Cornell is particularly interested," he said, "in developing in its students common-sense, an open mind, and qualities of sound judgment." He adjured the alumni not to be disturbed by reports of radicalism, communism, and the like, at American universities and at Cornell. "Of course we have some of these so-called 'disturbing elements,' " the President added, "and it would be much more disturbing if we didn't, because nothing would be more discouraging than a University characterized by stagnation." He described the students as a whole, however, as decidedly conservative.

A hundred Cornellians met at the University Club in Detroit February 28, at the annual banquet of the Cornell Club of Michigan. They came not only from Detroit and its suburbs, but from Canada, Toledo, Ohio, Ann Arbor, Flint, and other Michigan cities.

Matthew Carey '15, president of the Club, presented the "Whooperupper Cup" to Harold S. Kinsley '14, chairman of the banquet committee, in recognition of his successful efforts during the year to increase attendance at the meetings of the Club. Then Carey introduced George B. Walbridge '00 as toastmaster.

Archie M. Palmer '18, executive secretary of The Cornellian Council, on his way back to Ithaca from a six weeks' tour of Cornell Clubs that had taken him to the Pacific Coast, reported briefly on alumni activities in the centers he had visited and summarized what he had found particularly interested the Cornellians he had met.

Linton Hart '14 led the singing at dinner, and Harold M. Hastings '10 was master of ceremonies at an "after meeting" which followed.

Earlier that day Dr. Farrand and Palmer were the guests of Heatly Green '01, with a group of alumni, at luncheon at the Detroit Club. With Carey they also met with the Cornell Women's Club of Detroit, at the University Club, for a tea arranged by Mrs. Louis S. Cohane (Regene R. Freund) '20, president of the Club.

On Saturday evening, 256 members of the Cornell Club of Buffalo taxed the capacity of the ballroom of the Hotel Buffalo, where President Farrand was again cheered to the rafters at the annual dinner of the Club.

Here he was accompanied by Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, and by John M. Batten '37, captain of the football team, as speakers. Professor Adams told "How to Read a Newspaper," and was reported to have been told by an Oxford man who was a guest at the dinner that he had learned more about newspapers in less than thirty minutes than he had ever known before, and could not understand why and how a college professor knew so much about them. Batten described briefly the prospects for football in 1937, and was optimistic about the academic survivals of last fall's Freshman squad.

The toastmaster, Franklin R. Brown '07, also introduced as the Club's honored guest Edward B. Green '78, to whom the Harvard Club of Buffalo also took the occasion to present a large bowl of roses and a letter of appreciation for his work for the civic betterment of the city. Green is the designer of the Albright Art Gallery and of many other outstanding buildings in Buffalo.

Herbert R. Johnston '17, secretary of the Club, reported on the Buffalo alumni scholarship funds. Nearly fifty "C" men were present, distinguished by red ribbons across their formal shirt fronts, bearing a white C. Each rose as his name was called by Richard S. Persons '00.

Music for the party was provided by the orchestra of Charles G. Seelbach '19, and William G. Roundey '37 tap-danced to the piano accompaniment of Leonard C. Marsac '36. Songs were led by Neil M. Willard '18. William T. Huber '09 was chairman of the dinner committee.

HOLLISTER IN CHICAGO

Director S. C. Hollister of the School of Civil Engineering was the speaker February 27 at the regular weekly luncheon of the Cornell Club of Chicago. Harry B. Gear '95, who was to have spoken on "The Power Output in the Chicago Area," postponed his talk to the next meeting, March 5.

About ATHLETICS

The Leap Year week end was generally disappointing in its results to Varsity teams, which were mostly performing away from home. Of these, only three were victorious: the wrestling team against Columbia Friday night, and the ski team at Hamilton and the ROTC rifle team against Syracuse Saturday afternoon. In the Drill Hall on Saturday, however, the fencing team avenged in advance the defeat of the boxing team by Penn State that evening at State College.

TRACK TEAM SECOND

In the Boston Garden Saturday night the track team was defeated by Milton G. Green, who entered Cornell with the Class of '36 and is now captain of the Harvard track team. He made 15 points for Harvard, taking firsts in the 50-yard dash, the 45-yard high hurdles, equalling the meet record, and in the broad jump, where he bettered by 11 1/8 inches the meet record set by Gourdin, Harvard's great Negro jumper, in 1921. The score was Harvard 40, Cornell 32 1/2, Yale 27 1/2, Dartmouth 17. This was the first year that Yale had entered the former triangular meet. Their team was much stronger than the one which Cornell defeated in the Drill Hall the week before.

The only two Varsity winners were Walter D. Wood, Jr. '36 in the shot-put, and John A. Meaden, Jr. '37, who led seven rivals to the tape in the mile run. Captain Robert E. Linders '36, who had been counted on for the sprint events, slipped at the start of the 50-yard dash trial heat, and finished the last leg of the mile relay just a split second behind Alofsin of Yale.

The two-mile relay team which finished second to Harvard was composed of Meaden, Edmund V. Mezitt '37, David H. Brown '38 of Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Harold F. Shepard '38 of LeRoy. Four Freshmen were entered, their events not counting, however, in the score of the meet. James B. Pender of Lawrence, Mass. took second in the 50-yard dash, and he and John H. Nevius of Flemington, N. J., Eric D. Schwarz of Saylesville, R. I., and Max J. Breitenbach of New York City comprised the Freshman mile relay team which followed Dartmouth to the tape.

Cornellians placed in nine of the eleven events, with two first places, five seconds, four thirds and a tie, and one fourth place. The summary:

BASKETBALL AT BOTTOM

The basketball team suffered crushing defeat, 26-59, at the hands of Columbia, leaders of the Eastern Intercollegiate League, in New York City Saturday night and were thus put definitely at the bottom of the League. The game was Columbia's from the start, only Freed seeming to be able occasionally to break up their scoring plays. Even numerous substitutions on the Columbia team toward the end of the game did not halt its increasing lead.

Smith '36 won all three of his foils matches; the other co-captain, Wieman Kretz '36, won two in the sabres; and Edwin O. Merwin '36 won two in the foils. The summary:

CHICAGO FETES POLO

Royally entertained by Chicago alumni, according to their player manager, Henry Untermeyer '36, the ROTC polo team put up a good battle against the Black Horse Troop before a capacity crowd in the Chicago Riding Club, and lost in the final period, 14½-16½. The first team, composed of Captain John C. Lawrence '36, his brother, Thomas Lawrence '38, and Stephen J. Roberts '38, played throughout. At the close of the first period they led, 5-4. At the half the home team led by a half-point, with 9½, but when the third period ended the Varsity was again in the lead, 14-12, only to be overcome by the Black Horsemen in the final quarter. Roberts led his teammates with 6 goals and Tom Lawrence made 4 and sent several long feeder shots to Roberts to tally.

Hospitable alumni made the team's stay in Chicago pleasant from the time they arrived Saturday noon, Untermeyer says. They were welcomed by Henry E. Gardiner '31 and entertained at luncheon by Charles M. Sailor '16, where they were also greeted by Colonel Edward Davis '96, president of the Cornell Club of Chicago, M. Mead Montgomery '24, chairman of the Club's polo committee, C. Longford Felske '24, and the Rev. Alva Tompkins '24, former associate director of CURW. Their headquarters were at the Lake Shore Athletic Club.

The game that evening was attended by 2300 persons, including many Cornellians and their guests. Colonel Davis welcomed the team and all Cornellians, his talk and the game being broadcast from a local station. In the intermission the Alma Mater and other Cornell songs were played. In Colonel Davis's box were the British, Czechoslovakian, and German Consuls and their wives, and many other distinguished guests were present.

After the game, about three hundred Cornellians attended a dinner dance at the Casino Club which brought to a close the official festivities in honor of the visiting polo players.

SPRING SPORTS START

Director James Lynah '05 assured about sixty-five football candidates February 26 that a new coach would be on hand when spring practice starts, April 6. He announced that Captain John M. Batten '37 would represent the team and the undergraduates in all meetings with applicants for the position of head coach.

Crew practice started on the machines in the Old Armory February 10 for Varsity, 150-pound, and Freshman candidates. A crew get-together in Baker Laboratory February 25 was addressed by Lynah, by William H. Forbes '06, alumni representative for crew on the intercollegiate advisory council, by Professor Charles L. Durham '99, and by Commodore William G. Van Arsdale '36. Forbes showed slides and moving pictures of crew races and other athletic events, and refreshments were served.

Coach Paul Eckley '17 called out candidates for the 1936 baseball team February 29, and they have been at work daily in Bacon cage. His nucleus from last year's team is Captain John J. Kreimer '36 of Cincinnati, Ohio, second baseman; William A. Buckhout '36 of Pleasantville and Ernest A. Downer '36 of Poughkeepsie (basketball captain), outfielders; and Batten and Daniel Lindheimer '36 of New York City, pitchers. Several from last year's second string and from the Freshman team are likely prospects for training before the first game of the spring trip, March 31, at College Park, Md.

WRESTLERS WIN AND LOSE

On their two-meet trip the wrestling team broke even, defeating Columbia in New York City Friday night, 21-9, and losing to Army at West Point the next day, 12-18. Gregory Shallenberger '37 in the 118-pound class and Harry Smith '38 in the 165-pound class won their bouts in both meets.

Against Columbia the Varsity won five of the eight events, three falls being gained: by Captain George R. Brownell '36 in the 155-pound class, by Smith, and by John W. Cobb '36, son of Howard Cobb '96 of Ithaca, who was wrestling in the unlimited class in his first Varsity bout. John P. Floros '36, hitherto undefeated, was bested by referee's decision. The summary:

118-pound class: Shallenberger, Cornell, defeated Zullo. Referee's decision.

126-pound class: Mosher, Cornell, defeated Danahy. Time advantage, 2:07.

135-pound class: Brown, Columbia, defeated Floros. Referee's decision.

The Freshman wrestling team was not strong enough in the heavier weights to defeat Little Falls High School in the Old Armory on Saturday. They won four of the first five bouts, but lost the last three and the match, 14-16. Freshman winners were Marton Ward of Rochester in the 118-pound class, Aertsen P. Keasbey, Jr. of New York City in the 135-pound class, Alfred C. Kuchler of Lagrangeville in the 145-pound class, all by time advantage; and Frederick F. Reimers of Hammond, La., who scored a fall in the 155-pound class.

Serrell, Jr. '37 each made 139, and were followed by Stephen C. Fordham, Jr. '38, Grant C. Ehrlich '38, Walter F. Crissey '37, and John W. Humphreys '36.

The pistol team recently won its first match of the season, defeating Virginia Military Institute, 1323-1257.

The Freshman rifle team opened its shoulder-to-shoulder season by defeating Manlius School on the Drill Hall range Friday evening, 1358-1283.

HOCKEY, LACROSSE

The hockey game scheduled to be played in Rochester Saturday night against Colgate was cancelled because of a conflict with a professional game in the Edgerton Park rink. The season, which included a tie with Union, a loss to Colgate and Hamilton, and a victory over Syracuse, is scheduled to close March 7 with a match against Syracuse in the Syracuse Coliseum.

Now Nick Bawlf has turned his attention to lacrosse, with the first practice called in Schoellkopf Field for Wednesday this week. Among the seventy or more candidates expected are several members of last fall's football team.

SKI TEAM CLOSES SEASON

The ski team closed its season at Hamilton Saturday afternoon by winning, with 296, against Colgate, 282; and Syracuse Ski Club, 50. Hamilton College and Syracuse University were scheduled to compete, but defaulted. First five places in the slalom were taken by the five members of the Cornell team, Millet G. Morgan '37, Carl-Eric Beve '39, Evan L. Noyes '37, Robert K. Story '37, and David M. Misner '38 finishing in that order. In the downhill race Morgan, Noyes, and Beve won the first three places, and in the four-mile langlauf the Colgate winner was trailed by Morgan and Misner. Beve, who had been leading them all, broke a ski a quarter-mile from the finish.

PENN STATE DEFEATS BOXERS

Six thousand fans crowded into the gymnasium at State College Saturday night at the end of an all-day sports program to see the Penn State team defeat the Varsity boxing team, 8-0. Morely L. Bernstein '38 of Niagara Falls took the ring in the 175-pound class in place of Marion V. Bailliere II '38, who was defeated in the Yale match two weeks earlier, and fought a close match, lost on decision, with Rhoda, who knocked out Jenkins last year. All but two, Tausig and Wilson, lasted the three rounds. The summary:

115-pound class: Criswell, Penn State, won by decision over Torregrosa (3).

125-pound class: Donato, Penn State, won by decision over Sanders (3).

135-pound class: Goodman, Penn State, won by knockout over Tausig in 1:15 (1).

145-pound class: S. Donato, Penn State, won by knockout over Wilson.

155-pound class: Ritzie, Penn State, won by decision over Cramer (3).

165-pound class: Sawchak, Penn State, won by decision over McLaughlin (3).

175-pound class: Rhoda, Penn State, won by decision over Bernstein (3).

Unlimited class: Richter, Penn State, won by decision over Jenkins (3).

FRATERNITY TEAMS TRAVEL

Intramural sports continue in full swing on the Campus, with hundreds of men competing in the various fraternity, independent, and College teams in many sports, while teams of women in their own league represent the classes, dormitory units, and sororities.

On March 14 the leading fraternity teams will compete at Hamilton with those of Colgate and Syracuse in basketball, relay races, swimming, bowling, fencing, handball, squash, and badminton. Competition in these sports taxes the capacity of the University's facilities, with some, such as bowling and squash, having to resort to private accommodations.

Howard B. Ortner '18, director of intramural athletics, released last week the standing of fraternity and independent groups so far toward the '97 Trophy, which is awarded each spring to the organization having the best all-year record. Including the fall sports of cross country, soccer, touch football, and speed ball, and the ski tournament just closed, the teams now rate as follows: Omega Tau Sigma (last year's winner), 12 points; Llenroc Lodge, 11; Kappa Delta Rho, 10; Sigma Pi, 8; Theta Chi, 7; Alpha Delta Phi and Delta Upsilon, 6; Cosmopolitan Club, Phi Kappa Psi, and Theta Xi, 4; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 3; Lambda Chi Alpha, 2; and one point each for Alpha Zeta, Chi Psi, Law Birds, Pi Lambda Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Theta Kappa Nu.

Last week Agriculture won the inter-college swimming meet in the new pool at the Old Armory with 19 points. Next was Mechanical Engineering with 16, followed by Arts and Law with 12 each, and Civil Engineering with 4. In basketball Veterinary led, followed by Law, Arts, Agriculture, Forestry, and Civil Engineering.

PLAN SCHOOL BOY PARTY

The Cornell Club of Westfield, N. J. met at Mountainside Inn on February 6. The main business was a discussion of plans to entertain high school boys of Westfield at a meeting of the Club in March or April.

UNION COUNTY ORGANIZES

The Cornell Club of Union County, N. J., whose first meeting we reported January 16, held its second meeting February 26 at the Winfield Scott Hotel, Elizabeth. Football and Campus movies were shown, greetings were read to the new Club from Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative and secretary of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, and a constitution was adopted.

Officers elected at this meeting are: Henry Karsten '20, president; Philip B. Hoge '07, vice-president; A. Morris Buck '04, treasurer; Dr. George Ladas '24, registrar; and George B. Filbert, whose office address is 90 West Street, New York City, secretary.

CORNELL OIL MEN

"Introducing a Few of the Men Who Run the Oil Industry," National Petroleum News for February 5, 1936, sketches briefly the business careers of several Cornellians. First mentioned is William M. Irish '90, with the Atlantic Refining Company since 1903 and its president for nine years. Also in 1903 Walter C. Teagle '99 became associated with the Standard Oil Company, and he has been president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey since 1917. The article also includes reference to Joseph N. Pew, Jr. '08, son of the founder and vice-president of the Sun Oil Company, and to Wallace T. Holliday '05, president of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio since 1908.

The volume of 512 pages is an impressive epitome of the oil industry, designated "A Message to the American People." Robert W. Morrell '09 contributes an article, "Oil Speeds Ocean Commerce," and several photographs in the book are by Margaret Bourke White '27.

CORNELL DAY COMMITTEES AT WORK

Fraternities Provide for Alumni-Invited Guests

Plans for this year's Cornell Day, May 16, will provide for more active participation by alumni than ever before in getting prospective Freshmen to visit the Campus. The results of alumni cooperation last year have brought agreement by Campus fraternities to reserve half their accommodations this year for boys who are brought wholly through alumni efforts. Last year preference was given to those guests whose names had been suggested by undergraduates, in the ratio of two student-invited guests to one discovered and invited by alumni. Of the 610 guests last year, however, exactly half were alumni-invited.

To further the work of alumni this year, William J. Thorne '11, chairman of the Cornell Alumni Corporation committee on relations with secondary schools, has appointed an executive committee of fourteen, representing as many districts from which boys will be brought to Ithaca. Members of this committee are Robert C. Hosmer '03, Syracuse; Francis I. Nicolls '13, Boston, Mass.; Clarence J. Pope '10, Newark, N. J.; G. Gilson Terriberry '15, New York City; Howard T. Critchlow '10, Trenton, N. J.; Roger F. Hall '23, Baltimore, Md.; Alfred H. Hutchinson '09, Chicago, Ill.; John S. Gorrell '05, Washington, D. C.; Prentice Cushing '05, Albany; Thomas F. Crawford '06, Philadelphia, Pa.; Eugene C. Batchelar '02, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Joseph B. Bloss, Jr. '22, Rochester; Herbert R. Johnston '17, Buffalo; and Frank Nitzberg '22, Detroit, Mich. This committee held its first meeting in New York City, January 16.

Each Cornell Club, as before, will have its own Cornell Day committee, charged with the duty of investigating the probable ability to enter the University of all prospective guests from its region. These committees, after investigation, will extend all invitations to the schoolboy guests, both those suggested by resident alumni and those whose names have been forwarded from Ithaca by the Alumni Office. Already Ray S. Ashberry '25, the general chairman in Ithaca, is receiving nominations from undergraduates to be forwarded for investigation and possible invitations from alumni committees. In districts where there are no active Cornell Clubs, alumni are being appointed to act in this capacity.

Quotas will be set this year for each district, of the number of boys alumni may bring. Limits are necessary, Ashberry says, to prevent a larger number coming than can be properly accommodated. The number for each district quota is being determined in consultation with the local alumni committee. Thus, careful investigation will be required of each prospective guest, to see that he is scholastically qualified and financially able to enter the University if he wishes to do so. This work is already underway in many districts.

The Cornell Day program will include the track meet with Pennsylvania on Schoellkopf Field, special exhibits in the various Colleges with tours of inspection and about the Campus, entertainment for meals and over night at fraternity houses, and one or more gatherings of all the guests and their undergraduate hosts. The boys will be brought to Ithaca Friday, May 15, and Saturday morning, in cars volunteered largely by alumni, and it is expected that at least one gathering of the alumni "Chauffeurs' Club" will be arranged.

Shallna '16, president; Mrs. Thomas Dransfield, Jr. (Mary F. Caldwell) '08; Judge Ransom; George R. Farnum, former Assistant Attorney-General of the United States; George R. Grant '04; Mrs. William G. Mollenberg (Ruth L. Hunter) '26, president of the Cornell Womens' Club of Boston; Joseph R. Mangan '34, now a student in the Law School and champion mile runner; and at the piano, George S. Tompkins '94, past president of the Club.

Last Thursday, representatives were sent by forty-seven fraternities to a meeting in Willard Straight Hall at which preliminary arrangements for entertainment were made. Here Ashbery announced the general plans for Cornell Day and urged that names of prospective guests be sent to him at once, both by fraternity members and independents, for forwarding to the regional alumni committees for investigation and possible invitations.

The Cornell Daily Sun pointed out editorially, February 27, that more than two hundred prospective Cornellians had been entertained by Cornell Clubs of the East during the Christmas holidays; that alumni were already at work looking up Cornell Day guests and were volunteering their cars to bring them; and that it is "up to the student body" to do its part to attract to the University "a large number of desirable Freshmen. It is more directly to their [the students'] advantage to have a superior type of matriculants than to the graduates! For the fraternities, especially, a large number of highly presentable yearlings is always a great boon." (Ashbery found that of the 175 Freshmen who entered the University from last year's Cornell Day, 85 pledged to fraternities; and of these, 40 were alumni-invited.)

An undergraduate executive committee has been appointed, its members representing various student organizations. They are: Donald C. Graves '36 of Evanston, Ill., Sphinx Head; John M. Batten '37 of Cape May, N. J., Aleph Samach; Wilbur H. Peter, Jr. '37 of Lakewood, Ohio, Red Key; Charles E. Dykes '36 of Springfield, Ohio, Scarab; William D. Sells '36 of Hoopetown, Ill., Intrfraternity Council; Arthur F. Glasser '36 of Paterson, N. J., Independents; Henry S. Godshall, Jr. '36 of Lansdowne, Pa., Student Council; J. Frederick Hillegas '38 of Ithaca, Cornell Daily Sun; and a representative of Quill and Dagger as yet unannounced. Professor Herman Diehrichs '97 is Faculty adviser to the committee.

JOIN THE CHAUFFEURS' CLUB

Cornell day, set for May 16 this year, goes into its third year having generated considerable enthusiasm. Fundamentally, this is because the plan has produced results. Half the eligible frosh that were entertained have matriculated. Half the doubtful cases chose Cornell as a result of Cornell Day.

The third year opens utilizing many fraternity house chairmen that were formerly guests. The essential parts of the machine have been through the same mill themselves. They believe in the project.

Active members of the alumni "Chauffeurs' Club" have found Cornell Day to be for them a very pleasant and profitable outing, giving opportunity to visit with each other, to see the University in action, to be entertained moderately, and yet to do a most useful and helpful task for Cornell.

The advantage of the plan is becoming evident to an increasing number of alumni, and enthusiasm for it is unlimited when its progress has been noted.

It will bear constant repetition that Cornell University has many more attractive offerings than nearly any other college. Some of these are obvious even to a sub-frosh in a two-day excursion, particularly if the chauffeur has familiarized himself, even superficially, with the variety and worth of the educational advantages of the place. The other aspects: the colorful student life, the scenery, the buildings, can be absorbed from the two-day contact. The fact that this beautiful place is practical for training for every-day life must be told by an informed guide.

Nearly every problem of student personnel is capable of solution through Cornell Day. Whether the University seems to need better mandolin players, better half-backs, better conversationists, or merely more intelligent students in courses that do not make a popular appeal, the answer to the complaining alumnus should be: "Get your candidates into your car, turn them over to the Campus committee, enjoy yourself, pick them up two days later for the return journey. If you haven't ever done this, you must never complain about the undergraduate personnel."

Here this May 16, and each succeeding spring, is offered this opportunity to every alumnus within reasonable driving distance of Ithaca. Eventually a limit will have to be placed on the numbers of alumni entering the plan, but for the moment it is anybody's opportunity.

Chauffeurs' Club members will recognize that they are under obligations to the Alumni Corporation for having afforded them this worth-while weekend.

CINCINNATI SCHEDULE

The Cornell Club of Southern Ohio promises for its annual dinner, to be held in Cincinnati April 20, a quartet of "professional alumni" from Ithaca: Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative, Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary, Archie M. Palmer '18, executive secretary of The Cornellian Council, and R. W. Sailor '07, editor of the ALUMNI NEWS.

On May 9, in preparation for Cornell Day, the Club will be host to schoolboys of the vicinity who are thinking seriously of college. Oscar A. Klausmeyer '13 is chairman of this affair, and discussed the Cornell Day activities of the Club at the regular monthly meeting February 27.

Special invitation is also extended to Cincinnati Cornellians to attend the luncheon meeting in the Hotel Gibson, April 23, of the National Association of Cost Accountants, who will be addressed by Dean Dexter S. Kimball of the College of Engineering.

CORNELL ENGINEER

In The Cornell Engineer for February, Elwyn E. Seelye '04 presents a searching discussion of "Engineering Education" at Cornell. A technical article on "Modern Measurement of Fluid Flow" is contributed by Wilber A. Carter '12, and Professor John R. Bangs, Jr. '21, with George R. Hanselman '22 and Clyde I. Millard '26, write on "Introducing Accounting," said to be a section from a forthcoming book on the subject.

Graphical Solutions, a new textbook by Professor Charles O. Mackey '25, published by Wiley, is reviewed, and the editors describe a new course in Electronics being given by Professors William C. Ballard, Jr. '10 and Burdette K. Northrop '20, Electrical Engineering. President Edward C. M. Stahl '13 of the Cornell Society of Engineers makes a plea for "human engineering" along with technical excellence in his monthly "President's Column."

ITHACA TUBERCULOSIS Association has elected Dr. Henry B. Sutton '16 president for the current year. Dr. Mary B. Spahr '22 is vice-president, and Laurence C. Rumsey '11 is treasurer.

BRIEF NEWS OF CAMPUS AND TOWN

MUSIC INTEREST on the Campus is certainly increasing. Within the week the University community has been graciously entertained with three noteworthy concerts, any one of which alone would have been an event worthy of high praise. On February 25 Professor Andrew C. Haigh, pianist, of the Music Department, gave the second of the current Faculty concerts in Bailey Hall to an audience which thoroughly enjoyed the distinction of his rendering. This week's Sunday afternoon recital was by Luther M. Noss, University organist, making his first appearance at the Bailey Hall organ. To complete the feast of melody, the Gordon String Quartet came to the Willard Straight Theatre for the concluding concert in the chamber music series. For all three the community has to thank the Department of Music and the University's music committee.

PREPARING to represent China through its delegation at the model League of Nations assembly at Vassar College March 5-7, the International Relations Club heard Professor Herbert W. Briggs, Government, discuss "Sanctions and the League" in Barnes Hall February 28.

AIR CONDITIONING for Homes was the topic discussed by Charles W. Lockhart '36 of Youngstown, Ohio, to win the undergraduate speaking contest at the February 25 meeting of the Cornell chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He was one of seven speakers on a variety of engineering subjects.

NEW INDUSTRIES for Ithaca are forecast in the formation of Ithaca Enterprises, Inc. by local business men. It will solicit annual contributions to be used to encourage desirable businesses of all sorts to come to Tompkins County. One of the three charter directors is Sherman Peer '06; and Henry A. Carey '12 is captain of one of the two rival teams to solicit subscriptions. During the discussion of the project it was announced that Peck Furniture House, Inc., of Cortland, would shortly open a branch store, for which it has leased the fourth floor of the Treman, King & Co. building at State and Cayuga Streets.

NEW WAYS to titillate the intellectual interests of the community are being constantly devised by the Willard Straight Hall board of managers. The most recent is an outstanding exhibit of the photographs of Barrett L. Gallagher '34, now hung in the Hall's library. The artist was photographic editor of the 1934 Cornellian. His fifty or more photographs include pictures taken in England and Ireland which were shown in the British Empire Exhibition in New York's Radio City; several of Dramatic Club productions; and a number of portraits of members of the Faculty and students which have remarkable pictorial qualities.

MY DAY, the syndicated daily newspaper column by Eleanor Roosevelt, dealt in two successive appearances during February with Farm and Home Week at Cornell, where the First Lady was a distinguished visitor.

ROUND-TABLE at the Interim Club February 28 was led by Professor Emeritus Walter F. Willcox, Economics. Its subject was "Forty Years of International Conferences."

THE HOYTS HAVE IT. Of two Senior committees appointed by the Student Council last week, William M., Jr. of Stamford, Conn. is chairman for the Senior ball, and Clare J. of Walden heads the one for Class Day.

DR. WILLIAM S. A. POTT, president of Elmira College, addressed more than a hundred guests at the annual College Day dinner of the American Association of University Women, held in Willard Straight Hall February 20. He stressed the responsibility of the individual as a citizen if democracy is to endure. Mrs. Frank B. Morrison, whose husband heads the Animal Husbandry Department, presided.

CORNELL FLYING CLUB elected the following officers on February 18: president, George W. Lauman '37 of Ithaca; vice-president, John S. Myers '36 of Ithaca; secretary, Estelle L. Roberts '37 of Brooklyn; and treasurer, Kenneth B. Turner '38 of Ithaca. L. N. Simmons '12 of the Comptroller's office and Lieutenant Walter B. Larew of the ROTC were chosen Faculty advisers.

FIRST MATCH of the intercollegiate pocket billiards telegraphic tournament last Thursday found Cornell in eighth place of eleven entrants, one point behind Pennsylvania and leading the Universities of Kansas and Illinois and Iowa State College. An open bridge tournament will be held in the Hall's game room March 7, and students are registering for the spring competitions in chess, billiards, and pocket billiards, with trophies for the winners.

GRADUATE STUDENTS, their wives and husbands, and members of the Faculty and their families enjoyed a pleasant coffee hour arranged especially for them in Memorial Room of Willard Straight Hall after dinner on February 20.

COMPLETE ACCORD between Faculty and students was reported at the Engineering College smoker in the Old Armory February 21, at which two hundred members of both groups celebrated the end of examinations and the beginning of the new term. Sponsored by Atmos, the Cornell ASME chapter, and Kappa Tau Chi, the program included a Faculty-undergraduate basketball game (the issue undecided), several skits by undergraduates, and an action-monologue by Harrison L. Goodman '26, "The Chinaman Learns to Skate on Beebe Lake."

DR. WILLIAM C. GEER '01 has been elected president of Ithaca's Community Chest for 1936.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER March 8 is the Rev. Harry P. Dewey, of Plymouth Church, Minneapolis, Minn.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON CONCERT February 23 in the Willard Straight Hall series was a group of four songs by William Breach, director of music in the Buffalo schools, with viola and piano accompaniment and selections by J. Stanley King and Estella B. Breach.

STUDENT COUNCIL at its meeting last week took action opposing passage of the Nunan bill, which would require students in State-supported colleges to take an oath of allegiance to the Constitution. Its official representatives at a hearing on the bill in Albany March 3, were Ward J. Fellows '36 of Claremont, Cal. and John G. Dobson '36 of Clifton, N. J.

JOHN L. MOTT and Mrs. Mott, who left Ithaca last spring to take charge of International House in New York City, will be entertained at dinner in Martha Van Rensselaer Hall March 6 by the University committee for foreign students, the directors of the International Association of Ithaca, and the officers of the Cosmopolitan Club.

LECTURES for the week include Edward R. Eastman, University Trustee and editor of American Agriculturist, before the current events class March 2, on "Government and the Farmer;" Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, at a tea for all University women, March 3; S. K. Ratcliffe, British journalist and former Messenger lecturer, March 7, on the Goldwin Smith Lectureship, discussing "British Policy Abroad: an Up-to-the-Minute Survey of England's Course;" and Professor Frank A. Southard, Jr., Economics, resuming the Willard Straight Sunday evening lectures, March 8, his subject, "The Canadian Reciprocity Treaty."

Concerning THE FACULTY

COACH JOHN F. MOAKLEY was a guest of honor in Boston, Mass., February 28, at a dinner given by the Lipton Club, composed of veteran Harvard athletes. The dinner was given at the Harvard Club. The three other speakers were the football coaches of Harvard and Yale, Harlow and Pond, and Harry Hillman, track coach at Dartmouth. Mr. Moakley says that Theodore L. Tewksbury '12, former Varsity hockey player, was among the guests.

DR. ERL BATES, Indian Extension, returned from a recent trip to Washington to report a grant of $8,000 to finance a new marl project on the Cattaraugus reservation in New York State. This is the third Federal appropriation he has obtained, the first being of $7,000 for reforestation on three reservations, and the second of $18,000 for drainage, now underway, on the St. Regis-Mohawk reservation.

AFTER ENJOYING the privileges of citizenship, including the ballot, for fourteen years since he served as a song leader in the United States Army during the World War, Eric Dudley, director of the Glee Club, was notified last week that he and Mrs. Dudley must be naturalized, since they were considered to be British citizens. So now they are full-fledged American citizens again!

DR. WALTER L. WILLIAMS, Veterinary, Emeritus, was honored on his eightieth birthday, February 26, at a gathering in Balch Hall of his colleagues, former students, and friends. Several letters and telegrams were read, and Dr. Williams cut a lighted birthday cake. The Misses Julia and Cecilia A. Law '92, daughters of the first Dean of the Veterinary College, were among those who poured.

DEAN CARL E. LADD '12, Agriculture and Home Economics, addressed a dinner meeting and forum of the Layman's League of the May Memorial Unitarian Church in Syracuse March 2 on "The Agricultural Problems Facing America."

PROFESSOR ROLLINS A. EMERSON, Plant Breeding, and Mrs. Emerson have left Ithaca for a visit to Melbourne, Fla. They will visit friends enroute and plan to return soon after April 1.

COMMENTING on the newspaper photographs recently published of Henry and Mathide, chickens raised in glass bottles in Dallas and Denver, respectively, Dr. Gustave F. Heuser '15, Poultry, is quoted by the Ithaca Journal as saying that the scientific value of such experiments is "nil." More important, he says, is a Cornell experiment in which 144 hens are confined in wire cages about the size of the pictured glass jars. Their egg production, he says, is increasing.

PROFESSOR CLIVE M. MCKAY, Animal Husbandry, described "A Trip Down the Volga" before the Ithaca Exchange Club at luncheon March 3.

BOOKS By Cornellians

RHODODENDRONS, AZALEAS

Rhododendrons and Azaleas: their Origins, Cultivation, and Development. By Clement G. Bowers '19. New York. The Macmillan Company. 1936. xiv + 549 pages. Illustrated with color plates by Frank Taylor Bowers, photographs, and drawings by the author. $10.

This sumptuous new volume on rhododendrons and azaleas by Dr. Bowers adds the most important American contribution to the knowledge of these noble plants. It is the result of many years of careful personal investigation and study, together with field experience in the growing of plants. The book is therefore a happy combination of precise laboratory work and horticultural practice, and is a forward mark in a new type of horto-botanical literature.

The book begins with discussion of rhododendrons and azaleas as living plants in gardens and in the wild, followed by extended advice on the newest methods in cultivation, shelter, soils and nutrition, hardiness, culture under glass, methods of propagation, control of insects and diseases; constituting a handbook for planters. Then follow chapters on mechanism of reproduction, sterilities and their significance, inheritance, crossing, hybridity. For the cultivator and botanist who desire to know the kinds there are chapters and sections on names and descriptive terms, the series and natural species, hybrid races and clones, breeding, and such other information as will now be indispensable to fanciers of the genus.

Notable features of the book are the many wholly original illustrations. There are twenty-eight large full-page color plates, many beautiful half-tones, and numbers of pen drawings showing flower forms and types. The front and back endpapers show graphically the rhododendron regions of the Old and New Worlds. The color plates are printed with the cooperation of eminent patrons of horticulture.

The work is a comprehensive, thoughtful presentation of its subject from every practical point of view, without attempting to be a botanical monograph. It will become at once a standard source of information and direction.—L. H. BAILEY

WINS A.A.U.W. FELLOWSHIP

Alice M. Ryan '33 has been awarded for 1936-37 the Dorothy Bridgman Atkinson Fellowship by the American Association of University Women. Carrying a stipend of $1500, the fellowship is to enable her "to complete a study and map of Old English monasteries, showing their relation to the ancient communication routes by means of which monastic culture was disseminated within England and abroad." This study Miss Ryan began at the University under Professor Lane Cooper, English, and her first map was made here for the Master's degree which she received in 1934.

She writes that until January 1 she was employed as a member of the readers' research bureau of Collier's magazine in New York City, but is now in California, preparing for her work at the British Museum and travelling over England and the Continent in connection with the fellowship award. Her present address is 32 Roycroft Avenue, Long Beach, Calif.

The research fellowships awarded each year by the AAUW are given to women "of demonstrated ability who are still in the early years of advanced work, believing that it is at this stage that aid is most needed and difficult to secure." Some are grants from the Association's own funds; others are memorial and sorority fellowships entrusted to the Association for award.
