THREE ALUMNI TRUSTEE CANDIDATES

Miss Donlon '20, Hutchinson '09, Ransom '05 Nominated

Three candidates for Alumni Trustee of the University had been nominated when this issue went to press March 29. Nominations close at midnight, April 1, and official ballots are mailed shortly after to all degree holders by the Treasurer's office. These are to be returned not later than June 14, and the results of the election will be announced at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Corporation in Ithaca, June 19.

The three candidates so far named are Mary H. Donlon '20, Alfred H. Hutchinson '09, and William L. Ransom '05. The two elected will succeed Archie C. Burnett '90 and Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, whose terms expire in June. They will serve as members of the Board of Trustees for five years. Biographies of any additional candidates will appear in our next issue.

Mary H. Donlon '20

Miss Donlon practices law in New York City, the only woman member of the firm of Burke and Burke. Born in Utica August 25, 1893, she entered the Law School in 1916 and received the LLB degree in 1920. She was president of the Woman's Self-Government Association, a member of Mortar Board, and was the only woman ever elected to be editor-in-chief of the Law Quarterly. She was also elected by her classmates in Law to one of the two Fraser Senior Scholarships.

Last June she completed a two-year term as president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, during which the Federation established Cornell Day for Women, the annual conferences on fields of work for women, and the Senior Alumnae Scholarships. She has been also a director of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, is a director of the Cornellian Council and a member of the Law School's Pound Memorial committee and the Law Placement committee.

She is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi, of the American Bar Association, the New York State Bar Association, the New York County Lawyers' Association, Academy of Political Science, American Academy of Political and Social Science, Town Hall Club, English-

Speaking Union, Metropolitan Museum of Art, League of Women Voters, and Foreign Policy Association, and is a governor of the American Woman's Association and a member of its public affairs committee.

Miss Donlon's sisters are Mrs. Daniel J. Crowley (Katherine Donlon) '12 and Mrs. James C. Huntington (Joanna Donlon) '18.

Alfred H. Hutchinson '09

Hutchinson is president of the Continental Scale Corporation in Chicago, Ill., which he organized in 1919 after having been employed by the Grand Crossing Track Company and assistant manager of the Interstate Iron and Steel Company. He was born in Chicago November 25, 1886, entered Sibley College in 1905, and received the ME degree in 1910. He was a hurdler and ran the dashes on the track teams of 1907 and '08, and played right half-back on the Varsity football team of 1908. He was a member of the Mandolin Club, Majurah-Nalanda, Quill and Dagger, and Chi Phi, of which he was national president from 1927 to 1933.

He has been frequently in Ithaca as a member of the Cornell Alumni Corporation's committee on relations with secondary schools and as alumni representative for track on the University's advisory council on intercollegiate athletics since its organization; as well as in connection with his duties as chairman of the secondary school committee and regional alumni scholarship committee of the Cornell Club of Chicago and district chairman of the alumni committee on McMullen Regional Scholarships in Engineering. Last November he was elected the first president of the newly-formed Cornell Varsity "C" Club.

Hutchinson was a First Lieutenant of Infantry during the World War. He is vice-president of the Cornell Club of Chicago, a member of the Cornell Club of New York, and of the University Club and South Shore Country Club of Chicago. Edward M. Hutchinson '36 and William Y. Hutchinson '39 are his sons.

William L. Ransom '05

Ransom has been since 1919 a member of the New York City law firm of Whitman, Ransom, Coulson, and Goetz, and last year completed a term as president of the American Bar Association, the first Cornellian to be elected to that office. At the age of thirty he was elected a Justice of the City Court of New York City, and resigned in 1917 to become chief counsel for the Public Service Commission for the First District. He was born in 1883, on a farm in Chatauqua County, entered the Law School in 1901, and received the LLB degree in 1905. He won the Congress Debate Medal and the '94 Memorial Prize and was Senior Class orator, and served on the boards of the Cornell Era and the ALUMNI NEWS.

One of the organizers of the Cornell Law Association, he was its president for three years, and has frequently addressed Cornell gatherings in all sections of the United States.

Ransom has been since 1932 a member of the governing board of the American Bar Association, and is still a member of its house of delegates. During his presidency last year the structure of the Association was completely reorganized. He has served in many capacities in the New York State Bar Association, is a trustee and past president of the Academy of Political Science, a past president of the Society of the Genesee in New York City, and since 1915 has been chairman of the board of trustees of Chatauqua Institution at Lake Chatauqua. In 1935 he was the delegate of the American Bar Association to the annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association, and was the American Bar Association's delegate to the Harvard tercentenary celebration last year. Mr. and Mrs. Ransom and their four children live in Pelham.

GIVE 135 DEGREES

Ninety-one first degrees, twenty-six Master's degrees, and eighteen Doctorates have been conferred by the University as of February 10, 1937, for work completed during the first term. This is exactly the same number of first degrees given last year, and two fewer advanced degrees.

Four of the 36 undergraduates who received the AB degree were graduated "with honors:" Alfred M. Freedman of Albany, Robert C. Hayman of Niagara Falls, Charles Kaplan of New York City, and Mary C. Schuster of New York City. Thirty-six BS degrees were given, 22 in Agriculture, 9 in Home Economics, and 5 in Hotel Administration. Eight undergraduates received the CE degree; 3 that of BArch; two each the BS in Administrative Engineering and LLB; and one each the BChem, DVM, BLA, and ME degrees.

Of the 18 Doctorates, one was Doctor of the Science of Law and 17 the PhD. Among recipients of the latter are Michel Afanasiev '33, Henry Dietrich '17, Hugo Doob, Jr. '30, Julio Garcia-Diaz, MS '27, Margaret L. Hargrove, AM '31, Alice E. Pattee, AM '34, Jermain D. Porter '32, Howard G. Smith '30, Royal A. Sullivan '29.

Master's degrees were awarded to 26, including 11 who received the AM degree, 8 the MS, 3 the MCE, and one each the MS in Agriculture, MS in Education, Master of Chemistry, and Master of Forestry.

HONOR SCHOLARSHIP In Arts and Engineering

Excellence in undergraduate scholarship receives public recognition in two Colleges with publication of the Dean's list in Arts and Sciences last week and with the first annual dinner of Faculty and students in Engineering, March 30, at which the names of those students who achieved honor grades in their studies were published.

The Dean's list of the College of Arts and Sciences comprises the twenty-five students in each Class who made the highest scholastic averages during the first term. Such a list was first published a year ago. This year's honor students are:

The Engineering banquet is an innovation this year, following the idea of an honors day which is held successfully in many engineering schools. It replaces the former Sibley banquet and those of the other schools, which have been held infrequently of late years. All Engineering students and Faculty members were invited to be present in Willard Straight Hall, and the sixty-nine honor students, whose names were read, were guests of the College at the dinner. Dean J. W. Barker of the school of engineering at Columbia University was the guest speaker, and Dean Herman Diederichs '97 of the Engineering College, the toastmaster, also announced the winners of the Sibley Prizes, founded by Hiram Sibley in 1884 to be awarded annually to students who "show the greatest merit in their work." The winners were Fred F. Sampson, Jr. '37 of Mt. Vernon, Charles H. Dawson '38 of Uniontown, Pa., Donald M. Smith '37 of Newark Valley, Edwin J. Scheetz '38 of Newark, and Theodore C. Rehm '37 of Haledon, N.J.

ENGINEERS MEET DAY

The Cornell Society of Engineers met for dinner at the Cornell Club of New York on March 18. Jesse D. Tuller '09, president of the Society, presided; Charles H. Blair '97, as president of the Cornell Club, spoke a word of welcome; and Dr. Edmund E. Day President-elect, talked informally. A hundred engineers attended.

'12 CHILDREN DANCE

"Sons and Daughters of the Class of 1912" attending the University are gathering for a tea and dance in Willard Straight Hall the afternoon of April 1. The Class of 1912 claims that its 65 children now at Cornell constitute a record of some sort, and should be celebrated with a party.

A committee of seven 1912 children met with Foster M. Coffin and Louis C. Boochever, local 1912 impressarios, to arrange for the party. Those present were Prissilla M. Coffin '40; Constance E. Allen and Robert Boochever '39; Elizabeth M. Ladd and Ira W. Wilson '38; and James D. Brew '37 and Rita Carey '37.

'77'S SIXTIETH

Professor Simon H. Gage, secretary of the Class of '77, has heard from eight of the thirteen living members of the Class that they plan to be in Ithaca June 18-20 for the sixty-year reunion of the Class. For Saturday evening of reunion week end the Class will be joined by members of the other nine first classes of the University in continuing the reunion dinners started by the late Mynderse Van Cleef '74. They have asked Judge Frank H. Hiscock '75, chairman of the Board of Trustees, to preside at the dinner, as he has the last two years, and are inviting members of Mr. Van Cleef's family as special guests.

Members of the Class who have written Professor Gage that they will be here are the Class president, William F. E. Gurley of Chicago, Ill., Charles M. Bean of Chula Vista, Calif., Leland O. Howard of Washington, D.C., William E. Lucas of Birmingham, Ala., Amos B. McNairy of Cleveland, Ohio, John N. Ostrom of East Randolph, Frederick M. Pennock of West Chester, Pa., and Walter J. Sherman of Toledo, Ohio.

EARLY CORNELL DAYS Boys Came Years Ago

This year's Cornell Day, the week end of May 1, is commonly thought of as the fourth annual Cornell Day. It is true that the first organized event of the kind, when the University entertained prospective students on the Campus, was that of May 12, 1934. But a recent letter from Hugh C. Edmiston '15, discloses that groups of school boys came to the Campus as far back as 1910. He recalls his own experiences as a visitor that year, and describes what is believed to be the first organized effort by a Cornell Club to bring prospective students to Ithaca. The picture below shows this first group, brought by bus in 1929. Edmiston writes as follows:

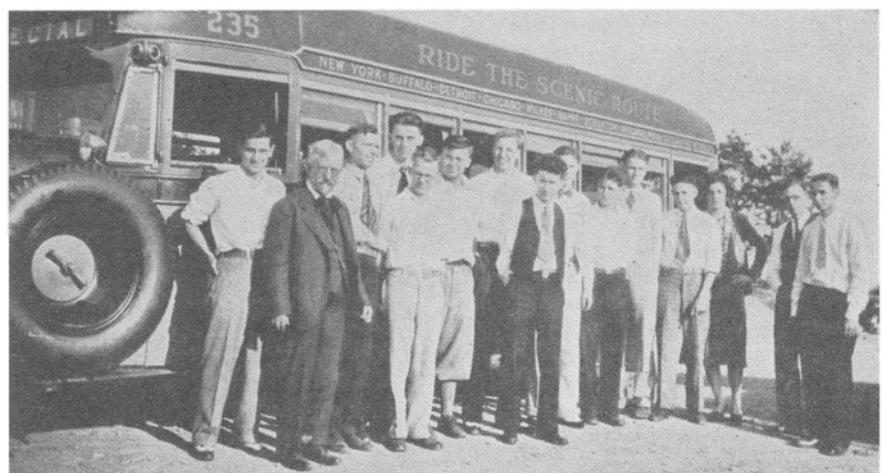

"No doubt Cornell Day has actually existed for years, for I can well recall a group of us from Newark Academy having been invited up for Spring Day, 1910, and again for May 27, 1911. Those were the dim, dark ages, when we went on our own on the D. L. & W. or Lehigh sleepers, but we were housed by the fraternities who invited us up, and they certainly saw to it that we were entertained. I think no sub-Freshman could have thought for a second of any college other than Cornell after seeing the athletic doings of May 27, 1911. [That day Cornell teams were victorious in all six of the events in which they participated: the Varsity beat Yale in a fourteen-inning baseball game on Percy Field and the Varsity and Freshman crews defeated Harvard on the Lake; while in Cambridge the track team won its fourth leg on the intercollegiate championship cup, at Annapolis the Junior Varsity crew beat Navy, Yale, Harvard, and Pennsylvania, and the Freshman baseball team won its game against Dartmouth at Hanover.—Ed.]

"Gil Terriberry '15 decided something ought to be done along regular lines, and being the guiding spirit of the Lackawanna Club, he hired a bus and took a group to Ithaca in it in 1929. I believe he housed them in Barnes Hall, on cots, or he may have distributed some of them among fraternity houses. In his inimitable Terri style, he handed each one of them a map of the Campus, told them the time of meals, and turned them loose to discover Cornell for themselves. A number, most pleased with their discoveries, later matriculated. Duke Wood '36 [intercollegiate discus champion last year and consistent point-scorer in the weights for three years—Ed.] smiles from the center of the group. Next but one at the left is 'Pop' [Frank A.] Wright '79, oldest member of the Lackawanna Club; and at his right is Russell Boettiger '35, who later held the first Lackawanna Club scholarship. Mrs. Terriberry, who did some good propaganda work, is third from the right.

"I like to think that this group was the forerunner of your magnificent Cornell Days, although undoubtedly any number of similar groups have come from all directions. Most of us, I imagine, just rubbernecked at the Campus, climbed the Library tower, and took in big athletic days. Terri started the 'herd' idea, and also got them to looking over the University in its stride, while classes were in session; and you can bet that some of this group got themselves into places where they were not exactly expected."

Edmiston's letter was written to Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary. Commenting on it, Ashbery points out that the numbers, both of schoolboy guests and of alumni, who come to Ithaca for Cornell Days now have increased so greatly that it is a real problem to find accommodations for them. He asks that alumni who plan to come back this year May 1 be sure not only that the boys they are bringing are registered with him, but also that their own names are sent to his office in Alumni House, so that everybody can be made comfortable for the week end. April 14 is the last day for the registration of boys and their alumni "chauffeurs."

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. TRUSTEE REPRESENTATION

TO THE EDITOR:

My letter of December 12, 1936, regarding regional representation on the Board of Trustees, which you were good enough to publish, has brought me so much comment that I can adequately respond only by using your columns again.

There are forty Trustees, and only three of these live west of New York State. The genuine admiration we all have for the truly great State of New York and for the East in general should not prevent us from taking all possible steps to emphasize Cornell's position as a nationally known institution, and to do it now. The way to do this is to select Trustees from the various sections of the country, so far as practicable.

Surely it is not difficult to have a Trustee from Chicago, for example. And yet there has been no such representation actually for fifteen years. Just a moment's reflection reveals the great advantage of having at least one Trustee from the second largest city in the country, a community of vast resources and great potential influence. Other Eastern institutions are not overlooking this obvious advantage. Why should we?

Recently, while in New York and Philadelphia, I spoke to many alumni about this. Without exception they immediately understood and sympathized, recognizing that the proposition is not a personal but a Cornell idea.

MARCH IDYLL

It may not have escaped your attention that we had two or three wild days and nights around here the first part of last week. Eight inches of snow are said to have fallen on the level, only there wasn't any level. Tempests of arctic cruelty and intensity picked the whiteness up and concentrated it in drifts of mountainous proportions.

And yet there was never a moment when one could not drive a Ford between Ithaca and Stoneposts. It wasn't exactly what you'd call pleasure driving, but it could be done and it was done. It wasn't done because we are any Barney Oldfield, but because five score rather fine young men and thirty-five colossal trucks with ugly snow plows strapped across their red-hot snouts had been imagined, created, organized, and inspired to meet just such a situation; to plunge endlessly into the smothering drifts for days and nights on end, without sleep or rest, so that the highways might be kept open and Mr. State and Tioga might rattle in and out every day with his open Ford to keep the customers at the county seat supplied with their daily orders of fresh, nourishing literature.—R. B. '04 in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal.

WOMEN GREET FARRANDS

About 300 women attended the annual luncheon of the Cornell Women's Club of New York on March 20 at the Essex House. President and Mrs. Farrand were the guests of honor. Mrs. George W. Tucker (Elsie Rand) '06, president of the Club, acted as toastmistress. President Farrand was introduced by Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, Alumni Trustee, and Mrs. Farrand by Mrs. Tucker. Following the President and his wife, the speakers were Mary Donlon '20, Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda Swensen) '20, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, and Dr. Crawford. Madame Soudeikine, dramatic soprano and sister of Archie M. Palmer '18, sang a solo, accompanied by Alice Erskine '20.

PROFESSOR BURR IS EIGHTY

PROFESSOR GEORGE L. BURR '81 was eighty years old last January 30. Last week Professor Dexter S. Kimball found him happy, well, and hard at work in a sunny window alcove of the University of Pennsylvania Library in Philadelphia. Professor Burr has spent the winter furthering his studies in the history of superstition and witchcraft among the special collections there, and plans to visit Ithaca later this spring, Dean Kimball says. His room at the Telluride House is kept always ready for his occupancy. Professor Burr lives in Philadelphia at 3627 Locust Street.

About ATHLETICS

NEW ASSISTANT MANAGERS

Two years of strenuous competition have ended with the announcement by the Athletics Office of the election of the six Sophomores who will be assistant managers of three fall sports and, barring scholastic accidents, will become managers of those sports as Seniors.

Two sons of alumni were the final contestants for the assistant managerships of football, Eugene C. Batchelar, Jr. of Pittsburgh, Pa. (whose father was '02) being given the job for the Varsity team and Clinton L. Rossiter, III of Bronxville, son of Winton G. Rossiter '11, for the Freshmen. Assistant manager of Varsity cross country is George R. McMullen of Cincinnati, Ohio, and for Freshmen Philip M. Price of Johnstown, Pa. For soccer the assistant Varsity manager is Richard M. Teachout of Cleveland, Ohio, and Freshman assistant manager, John F. Church of Titusville, Pa.

Replacements in spring sports for predecessors now unable to act are Frederick M. Huntington '38 of Sea Cliff to be manager of boxing; Ernest A. Dahmen, Jr. '38 of Ithaca, assistant manager of lacrosse; and Alfred W. Wolff '37 of White Plains, elected commodore of the 150-pound crew.

GOLFERS TO GO SOUTH

The golf team has scheduled a spring recess trip of five matches on successive days and an ambitious schedule of ten later meets. This will be the second year of membership in the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association, in which last year Cornell tied with Penn State for second place in the Middle Atlantic division. League matches will be played May 7 and 8 at Pittsburgh, Pa. and May 15 at State College, Pa. The schedule:

April 5—Richmond at Richmond
6—North Carolina at Chapel Hill
7—Wake Forest at Wake Forest
8—Georgetown at Washington
9—Haverford at Philadelphia
24—Williams at Williamstown
28—Colgate at Hamilton
May 3—Syracuse at Syracuse
May 7—Pennsylvania at Pittsburgh (a.m.)
8—Georgetown at Pittsburgh (p.m.)
8—Princeton at Pittsburgh
12—Ithaca Country Club at Ithaca (a.m.)
15—Penn State at State College (p.m.)
15—Pittsburgh at State College
19—Syracuse at Ithaca

Since early in March candidates have been practicing in the former heating plant behind the Old Armory under the eye of Coach George Hall. Captain is Charles S. Willcox '38 of Birmingham, Ala., former Southern interscholastic champion who last year tied one and lost one of the ten matches he played. He is the son of James D. Willcox '07 and brother of J. DeWitt Willcox, Jr. '35, of former Varsity basketball and golf teams. Other veteran Varsity players are William B. Smith '38 of Jeannette, Pa., Douglas R. Rogers, Jr. '38 of Westfield, N.J., and Michael J. Sulla '37 of Harrison, member of the 1935 team who was out of the University last year on leave of absence and has returned as a Junior.

ELECT FOUR CAPTAINS

Four Varsity teams, ending their seasons, have elected captains for next year. The basketball team, meeting at dinner last week, elected Thomas A. Rich '38 of Hobart, captain this year, and Carlton P. Wilson '38 of Milwaukee, Wis., co-captains. Wilson, who has played at center and forward, is the son of John C. Wilson '06 and Mrs. Wilson (Helen L. Stone) '06, and a brother of John C. Wilson, Jr. '35, who was a member of the Varsity basketball team for three years.

The wrestling team elected as its captain Frederick F. Reimers '39 of Hammond, La., who wrestled this year in the 155-pound class. Robert D. Cloyes '38 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, who set records in free style events at 50 and 100 yards, is captain of the swimming team. The fencing team, after the Intercollegiate in New York City, elected as its new captain George E. Detmold '38 of Long Island City.

FOURTEEN TENNIS MATCHES

Reflecting increasing interest in tennis, the Department of Physical Education and Athletics has announced a spring schedule of fourteen matches, eight in Ithaca and six away:

- April 22—Miami at Ithaca
24—Syracuse at Ithaca
28—Colgate at Ithaca
30—Princeton at Princeton
May 1—Columbia at New York
5—Cortland Normal at Ithaca
8—Penn State at Ithaca
11—Canisius at Ithaca
14—Pennsylvania at Philadelphia
15—Navy at Annapolis
17—Dartmouth at Ithaca
21—Brown at Providence
22—Boston College at Boston
26—Alfred at Ithaca

FENCING TEAM EIGHTH

The Varsity fencing team took eighth place among the eleven teams competing in the intercollegiate championship matches at the Commodore Hotel in New York City March 26 and 27. Captain Daniel F. Macbeth '27 was the only contestant to defeat Gold, of NYU, Class A epee champion. The combined team scores in foils, epee, and sabre: NYU 68, Yale 60½, Columbia 53, Navy 49½, Army 48½, CCNY 47, Princeton 41½, Cornell 39½, MIT 27½, Harvard 27½, Hamilton 14½.

The team won three of its six dual meets this season, from Hamilton, Pennsylvania, and Colgate; they lost to Navy, NYU, and Columbia.

YACHT CLUB TO RACE

First race of the season for the Cornell Corinthian Yacht Club will be April 24 and 25 on the Charles River Basin, Cambridge, Mass., in the Intercollegiate Yacht Racing Association regatta, with MIT as host. May 1 they will take part in the second annual invitation intercollegiate regatta sponsored by Brown University on Narragansett Bay; and May 9 they will defend their title in the Boston Dinghy Club's challenge cup races on the Charles.

SPORTS EXTRA!

A Southern baseball trip more ambitious than has been attempted in recent decades makes it necessary to take along a squad of eighteen, instead of the sixteen usually carried in recent years. The following players have been selected to leave for North Carolina the end of this week:

Catchers: Bernard M. Rigney '39 of New York City, John W. Sheffer '39 of Glen Ridge, N.J., and Robert F. White '39 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

Pitchers: Jack W. Lozier '38 of Elmira, Michael N. Stenach '39 of Dolgeville, William E. Bensley, Jr. '39 of Springville, Worthington Dodd '38 of Cincinnati, Ohio, and John M. Batten '37 of Cape May, N.J.

Infielders: first base, Robert D. Florence '37 of Brooklyn and Rudolph A. Doering '37 of Camden, N.J.; second base, Walter Johnson '38 of Hector; short stop, Robert J. McNamara '37 of Ithaca; third base, Manford Rosenheck '37 of Elmira; utility, Robert G. Meagher '37 of Utica.

Outfield: David D. Dugan '37 of Buffalo, William A. Buckhout '37 of Pleasantville, Alvin T. M. Gally '38 of Lynbrook, and Thomas A. Rich '38 of Hobart.

Baseball Comment

The main purpose of a Southern trip is of course, to supply a laboratory test of the coach's preliminary guesses as to individual ability, made on the basis of appearance in the cage. There has been no chance yet for a single practice outdoors in Ithaca.

There will be changes, of course, based largely on hitting results; but it would not be surprising to see this lineup in the opening game on April 5 with the University of North Carolina: 1st B. Florence; 2d B, Johnson; SS, McNamara; 3d B, Rosenheck; L.F., Batten; C.F., Dugan; R.F., Buckhout; catcher, Rigney; pitcher, Lozier. That would present a veteran organization (with slight changes of position in the infield) except behind the bat. Rigney caught for the Freshmen last year.

Batten, also captain of football, was Cornell's leading batter last season, and a first-string pitcher. He alternated in play between the box and left field. Though classed still as a pitcher, he is likely to spend most of his time this year in the field where his batting ability may be more fully exploited.

Doering, last year's first-string catcher until he broke his hand, and now fresh from basketball, is being tried out at first base. The strength of Rigney and of Sheffer (the football player) behind the bat suggested this move. But Doering may yet appear in armor.

The pitching staff, though relatively young and inexperienced, is thought to possess unusual promise. Lozier, a Varsity regular of last year, and Stenach, the mainstay of the 1936 Freshman team, are both left-handers with a curve ball and control. Lozier was weak last year in fielding balls batted to the box because his pitching form threw him out of position. He seems to have overcome this weakness. Bensley, a Sophomore right-hander, stands 6 ft. 6 in. and has speed and a curve ball. He needs only experience on the firing line. At any rate the pitching strength seems sufficient to send Batten to the outfield. Remains the question: "Can they hit?"

Rowing

Four boat loads will stay in Ithaca over vacation for intensive training. They need it after a winter that has hung on endlessly. On March 22 the Inlet cleared sufficiently to permit two days of rowing. On March 25 the mercury fell to 15, and new ice formed rapidly. Assistant Coach Sonju and Rigger James Wray, Jr. spent part of the night running the Freshman coaching launch up and down in an effort to keep the channel open. This innovation proved not to be a success. The ice formed anyway, and the Freshman launch is now laid up for major repairs.

Intramurals

York A. C. won the intramural basketball championship by defeating Sigma Chi, 21-17, at the conclusion of a season which saw 325 games played. Sigma Chi had previously won the interfraternity championship from 54 other teams (playing up in 9 minor leagues), and the York A. C. had previously prevailed in the Independent League of 30 teams.

The Yorks had the benefit of Babcock, a Junior Varsity oarsman, and of Mike Sulla '38, University golf champion and brother of Al Sulla '29, who played the banjo. Rose, the football player, and Heckel, Varsity oarsman, played for Sigma Chi.

Law won the intercollegiate championship, and the Presbyterians beat the other religions and sects. These two will yet battle in an extra engagement for the championship of something or other.

Mr. Nick Bawlf got all this started, but he reports himself unable to stop it. A devout churchman, he finds himself handicapped in cooling off the Presbyterians, who seem to be running away.

ITHACA, NEW YORK

NEXT ISSUE APRIL 22

Spring recess of the University starts April 3 and continues to April 12. In accordance with our schedule of publishing each Thursday following a Saturday of University activity, the next issue of the ALUMNI NEWS will be that of April 22.

A GOOD TIME IN ITHACA

The fourth Cornell Day is to be held at Ithaca on May 1. With its background of early efforts by individual alumni and Cornell Clubs, all agree that the present plan has begun to produce results. Some of the same alumni who brought boys to Ithaca years ago, and some of their former guests, are now engaged in Cornell's concerted annual rejuvenation, when school boys are shown the advantages of the place, to the benefit of Cornell and its guests, and the satisfaction and pleasure of the alumni and undergraduates who take part in it.

Cornell Day has reached the capacity of the facilities available. It is no longer practicable to advise alumni on this day to "just put a few boys in the car and come on." Arrangements must be made to reserve accommodations for the guests. Otherwise, conditions would become chaotic, and would eventually defeat the purpose of the day: to show prospective matriculants in orderly fashion the academic and undergraduate offerings of Cornell University with the expectation that many of these presumably carefully selected persons will wish and be able to enter the University.

There is no change in the preparations made to welcome the alumni who are the transportation system of Cornell Day. These fortunate persons see the University at work and at play when it is not conscious of their observation. Their own satisfaction in a work well done is their special reward for the effort of enlisting for a good time in Ithaca.

Cornell is preparing to enjoy this year's annual visitation, and to extend a warm welcome to both the alumni and their guests.

NEW LUNCHEON CLUB OPENS

The new Cornell-Pennsylvania Luncheon Club in downtown New York opened March 17, with President Farrand and Dean Joseph Willits of the Wharton School at Pennsylvania as guest speakers. The new club, open for luncheon every business day except Saturday, has the third floor of Oscar's Old Delmonico Restaurant, at 56 Beaver Street, corner of William. At its opening it had 312 members, of whom more than 200 were Cornell alumni. G. Foster Sanford, Jr. of the University of Pennsylvania is president; Robert L. Bliss '30 is vice-president; and Thomas R. Ludlam '11 is treasurer.

TEA FOR BATAVIA GIRLS

The Cornell Women's Club of Batavia met for luncheon March 20 at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Owen (Natalie Walker) '24. Mrs. William H. Robbins (Florence Williams) '98, president of the Club, presided. Mary L. Casey '24 gave an account of her trip to the west coast of South America.

The Club will entertain with a tea at the YWCA on April 10, in honor of high school girls and of undergraduates home for the spring recess. Dr. Myrta Hunn '99 was selected chairman of the tea committee.

The next regular meeting of the Club will be May 15 at the home of Lura M. Ware '15.

MEMORIAL TO SMITH '81

An enduring and fitting memorial to a distinguished Cornellian is the Theobald Smith Memorial Laboratory dedicated March 19 at Albany Medical College. Dr. Theobald Smith received the PhB degree at Cornell in 1881 and the MD degree at Albany in '83. He was the first to demonstrate the principle of immunity to disease through vaccination with dead bacteria, and in countless other ways pioneered in medical science. Scientific director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research from its founding in 1901, he became its president, and died December 10, 1934.

The new building in Albany, completed at a cost of $100,000, contains more than forty laboratories for medical research, lecture rooms, offices, and conference rooms. Representatives of seventeen leading colleges and universities took part in the dedication program.

Cornell representative was Dr. Charles R. Stockard, professor of Anatomy at the Medical College in New York, who spoke on "The Spirit of the Laboratory." He recalled the advances made by medical science since 1900, when "deficiency diseases were dark mysteries and vitamins were unknown;" pointed out that all great research is independent of time schedules and routine; and predicted that "the arrangements which bring forth life itself must some day be discovered in some laboratory."

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

WITH SPRING VACATION upon us, Campus arguments about the Supreme Court are petering out.

ON GOOD FRIDAY afternoon the appropriate services of the Church were conducted in Sage Chapel by the Reverend Donald M. Cleary, Roman Catholic chaplain at Cornell. Though many distinguished prelates have preached there at one time or another in the past, this is believed to have been the first time that Catholic services have been conducted in the University Chapel, which is, of course, open to all faiths and denied to none. The incident is in harmony with the religious hopes of the University in all time. It has greatly pleased the Campus, in a quiet way.

ROTC HORSE SHOW attracted more than 500 spectators to the Riding Hall Saturday night. Undergraduates of both sexes rode Army mounts for the most part, but two of the seventy-five entries were Adalot, owned by Professor Leo C. Norris '20, Poultry, and Cody, owned by William D. McMillan '24.

MRS. FARRAND talked Thursday in Willard Straight to the local chapter of the American Association of University Women on "The Inexplicable Psychology of Patriotism from a Woman's Point of View."

MARCH NUMBER of Areopagus, "Cornell Journal of Opinion," sponsored by Barnes Hall, is out. It holds no good opinion of the required course in Hygiene or of the Cornell Daily Sun. It believes in peace and also in discussing the part played by the church in the current Spanish situation. George H. Hildebrand, Jr., instructor in Economics, explains the Committee for Industrial Organization (sit-down strikes), and there are 22 advertisements. That isn't all, but it gives you a general idea.

A FEW YEARS AGO a non-resident named Charles Solomon was arrested on the charge of offering for sale at the Junior Prom cigarettes loaded with marijuana. Marijuana is an insidious, habit-forming drug which is said to give the user pleasant illusions, but not to help him pass Mechanics. Campus ladies, deans of women, and editors of alumni magazines had never heard of marijuana, but Detective Sergeant Pat Hartnett and District Attorney Arthur Adams had. Cigarettes charged with this substance are called "reefers," and lead to no good. Last week a State Senator charged that students of Cornell (also West Point cadets) were given to smoking reefers. Called upon for substantiation, he cited the Solomon

CORNELL WILL SEND no personal representative to the 200th anniversary of Goethingen University. The Administration will merely drop a polite message of greeting and good cheer in the letter box in front of Morrill. A year or so ago a similar invitation was received from Heidelberg University. As a matter of courteous, academic routine, and without thinking much about it, the Administration accepted that one "with pleasure." Almost instantly, any number of people started calling us pro-Nazi and what not, in print, by first-class mail, and over the long distance telephone.

arrest, supra. That's about all, except that a group of students got together one evening, composed and sang joyously a ribald and amusing parody called "Old Man Reefer."

COLEMAN D. ARSINOF '38 of Cedarhurst has been elected president of the reorganized and revived Cornell Golf Club.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON twilight music at Willard Straight last week was furnished by the Ithaca Composers' Club. This is an organization of twenty local people who are active in the field of original musical composition. The program included two compositions for string quartets, one in B minor by Professor Andrew Haigh and another in D minor by Joseph Kirshbaum. These Sunday afternoon concerts are growing in popularity, and are filling Memorial Hall a little too full.

AN INTERMEDIATE CENSUS shows that business picked up greatly at Ithaca in 1935 as against 1933. Retail sales grew from 10 to 14 millions, number of persons employed from 1220 to 1740, and payrolls from $1,604,000 to $1,779,000.

NEWCOMER at the Willard Straight soda bar is the Skiball, said to have originated this winter at Lake Placid. It achieved instant popularity on its arrival in Ithaca. A Skiball looks like a gargantuan Old Fashioned, only the brown part is tea. You put a thick slice of lemon stuffed with cloves in the bottom of a large, heavy glass. On top of that you place two (or a great many more if you like) lumps of sugar which you crunch up with the lemon and cloves. Fill with freshly-made, scalding-hot tea and then stir for a while with a cinnamon stick. Skiballs are ten cents and very nice, too, when you've been out in the cold wind.

A HERD of six deer were seen Friday just a little south of Rogue's Harbor on the farm of Andrew Tarbell.

FRED F. SAMPSON, JR. of Mt. Vernon and Janet Coolidge of Greenfield, Mass., both Seniors, have been appointed co-chairmen of the committee to solicit pledges to the 1937 Class Memorial in the Alumni Fund.

JOHN G. NUTT '37 of New York City won the speaking contest for engineers conducted locally by the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He spoke, or lectured, on "Machine Shop Inspection," illustrating his remarks with charts. By this victory, Nutt becomes the Cornell representative at a sectional contest sponsored by the Society at Brown this month.

HOTEL EZRA CORNELL, the hostelry that for one day each year exists and operates under the guidance of students in Hotel Management, has already arranged its current financing. The entire capital stock of $500 was oversubscribed by students themselves the first day the books were opened. Last year Hotel Ezra Cornell stock paid 50 percent. Try and buy some this year! The whole venture is conducted in a manner just as realistic as that, right down to keeping an eye open for bad checks, which are by no means unknown.

DR. LEWELL T. GENUNG '97, for sixteen years City health officer, has presented his resignation to take effect September 1. In his last report Dr. Genung recalls that when he assumed office April 1, 1922, Ithaca was in the throes of a diphtheria epidemic. There has been but one case of diphtheria in the last five years and that in a family which refused immunization.

BERTRAM J. WESTON, a mature Englishman, is one of the many interesting new students matriculated this year. Weston is studying Rural Education and Sociology in the Graduate School, having received the Bachelor's and Master's degrees both from Cambridge and the University of South Africa. For the last five years he has been employed by the British Government on the Island of Cyprus, improving the agricultural practices of the Cyprian peasants. He expects to go back there after he gets through here.

LECTURES for the week include Professor Edgar A. J. Johnson, Economics, "A Just Price in an Unjust World," before the Current Events Class March 30; and Walter J. Mueller, Grad., "Fifteen Months of German University Life," before the Deutscher Verein, April 1.

NECROLOGY

'73—ROBERT OLIVER THOMPSON, March 13, 1937, at Goshen. He entered the Science Course the year of the University's founding and remained for two years. After fifteen years as a wheat grower in North Dakota, he had since operated a farm in Orange County. Several years ago he completed a historical study locating the names of all Revolutionary War soldiers buried in Orange County, which will be published by the Newburgh chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. Kappa Delta.

'89 MME—JOHN HENRY BARR, March 27, 1937, at Ithaca, where he lived at 505 East Seneca Street. Receiving the BME and the MS degrees at the University of Minnesota, where he also taught mechanical engineering, he entered the Graduate School in 1887 and joined the Faculty in 1891 as assistant professor of Mechanical Engineering. Four years later he was appointed associate professor of Machine Design and was promoted to a full professorship in 1898, resigning in 1903 to become a director and factory manager of the Smith Premier Typewriter Company in Syracuse. He held many patents on typewriter improvements, was consulting engineer for the Union Typewriter Company and for the Remington Typewriter Company, and in 1923 returned to Ithaca as vice-president and engineer for the Barr-Morse Typewriter Company. He served two terms, 1905-1915, as Alumni Trustee of the University. During the World War he was a Major in the Ordnance Department, attached to headquarters of the Air Service, AEF, in Paris. He was the author of a textbook, Kinematics of Machinery, and with Professor Dexter S. Kimball wrote Elements of Machine Design; was a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and member of Sigma Xi and Psi Upsilon. Mrs. Barr (Katherine L. Kennedy) was also a student in the Graduate School in 1888-89, and John H. Barr, Jr. '13 is their son.

'98 ME(EE), '99 MME—EDWARD PARKER BURRELL, March 21, 1937, at his home, 2923 Lee Road, Shaker Heights, Ohio. He was successively designing engineer, works engineer, works manager, and since 1924 director of engineering for the Warner and Swasey Co. of Cleveland, Ohio. He directed the designing of all the large telescopes built by the company in the last twenty years, including the seventy-two-inch reflecting telescope for the observatory at Victoria, B. C., and a model of the 200-inch telescope in process of fabrication at the Mount Wilson Observatory in California. He was the first to weld telescope tubes electrically, and devised a means of reducing their length which resulted in marked economy in weight. Last June Case School of Applied Science awarded him the honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering. He was a member of several engineering societies and Sigma Xi.

'99—PLATT RUSSELL, December 7, 1936, in Miami, Fla. Enrolled in the Science Course during 1895-96, he was a charter member of the Savage Club. Alpha Delta Phi.

'05 MD—DR. ROLLIN HILLS, March, 1937, in Brooklyn, where he had practiced medicine for twenty-eight years and lived at 231 Seventy-seventh Street. He was president of the Freshman Class in the Medical College and chairman of the executive committee of the Class of '05. Phi Alpha Sigma.

'07 DVM—CHARLES GOFF THOMSON, March 23, 1937, in San Francisco, Calif. He had been superintendent of Yosemite National Park since 1929. The New York Herald Tribune March 25 refers to him editorially as "one of the ablest men" of the National Park Service, and gives him credit for inaugurating, in Yosemite, the now general practice of laying out new roads in National parks so that instead of scarring the landscape they fit into it unobtrusively. Thomson became director of the Alabang Serum Laboratory in the Philippine Islands in 1908 and remained there nine years, three in charge of the military and civilian forces operating against the rinderpest, and three as assistant director of prisons for the Philippine Government. As a Captain in the Army he commanded remount depots at Camp Gordon and Camp Dix in 1917, and from August, 1918, to May, 1919, as Lieutenant-Colonel, he commanded all troops at Lux, France. He received a GHQ citation. He contributed frequently to magazines and wrote two novels, Terry: A Tale of the Hill People, and Time Is a Gentleman.

'09—JOHN FISH GOODRICH, March 11, 1937, in Hollywood, Calif., where his address was 6713½ Sunset Boulevard. Entering Agriculture in 1905 from Iowa State College, he remained two years. He was a First Lieutenant in the 58th Londoners Royal Field Artillery during the World War and was wounded in action at Somme, France. After the war he became a scenario writer for Famous Players-Lasky Corporation and wrote the screen play "The Last Command" for Emil Jennings, and many others. He was a member of the board of governors of the Writer's Club in Hollywood, and recently had been a staff contributor to the American Magazine.

FROM THE USEFUL Sun: "Wanted—Ride for two passengers, spring vacation, to Daytona Beach, Florida, or vicinity. Call Stoffle, 3361."

Concerning THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR JAMES B. SUMNER, Biochemistry, is the recipient of a John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Fellowship for 1937. Professor Sumner, who isolated urease from the jack bean, the first enzyme in crystalline form, will work on the determination of the molecular weights of certain enzymes and crystalline proteins, in the laboratory of Professor The Svedberg at the University of Uppsala in Sweden. This year's Guggenheim Fellowship awards total $130,000, and were granted to sixty-three scholars, writers, composers, and artists from more than a thousand applicants.

JAMES LYNNAH '05, Director of Physical Education and Athletics, and Romeyn Berry '04, secretary of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball and Baseball Leagues, attended a post-season meeting of the Basketball League in New York City last week. Pennsylvania was officially awarded the Claus Benson Memorial Cup as this year's basketball champion.

DR. LIBERTY HYDE BAILEY, Professor of Agriculture, Emeritus, and Director of the Bailey Hortorium, is in Haiti, collecting palms. His book, The Garden of Gourds, has just been published by Macmillan.

ALFRED L. OLSON '25, instructor in Hotel Accounting from 1929-34, and former deputy commissioner of the hotel management division of NRA in Washington, D. C., is completing his first year in the University of Buffalo College of Dentistry.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM C. DEVANE, English, traced the development of languages to a common source and showed their similarity, before the Ithaca Exchange Club last week. Thursday noon, before the Independent Association's weekly Campus Forum, he spoke on "Browning and Art."

PROFESSOR FRANK A. PEARSON '12, Agricultural Economics, urges farmers not "to be disturbed by recurring predictions of wild inflation that captivates the public imagination when prices rise" in a survey of the price situation appearing in the March issue of Farm Economics, published by the Department of Agricultural Economics. Professor Pearson does not agree that "present rise in prices of basic commodities is a symptom of runaway inflation in the world and in the United States, comparable to that which prevailed in Central Europe after the World War. Since the United States is on the gold standard, the country will not experience violent inflation unless the dollar weakens. As long as business improves, unemployment decreases, and farm incomes rise, there is little likelihood that the dollar will weaken and that inflation will ensue."

PROFESSOR GEORGE M. SUTTON, PhD '32, Ornithology has been elected to the British Ornithologists' Union. Professor Sutton has studied the bird life of Labrador's coast, the islands of Hudson Bay, Newfoundland, Saskatchewan, and British Columbia.

PROFESSOR GEORGE S. BUTTS '25, Agriculture Extension, was pictured recently in the Buffalo Evening News in a feature article on agricultural bulletins. The story described the evolution of a typical bulletin, more than 1,500,000 of which are sent out by the College of Agriculture each year.

PROFESSOR HORACE L. JONES, PhD '09, Greek, has been elected mayor of Interlaken. He has been for some time acting mayor, in place of the former mayor, who resigned.

CRACK BOWLER of the Willard Straight team in the University Employes Bowling League last week was not Foster M. Coffin '12. He rolled 115, 143, and 110, and the next day had a bad case of stiff neck. His team-mates were Edgar A. Whiting '29 and Milton R. Shaw '34, who did better, but Willard Straight lost two of its three games to College Stores, the leader of the League.

JAMES LYNNAH '05, director of physical education and athletics, and Mrs. Lynnah (Elizabeth E. Beckwith) '03 left Ithaca this week to spend the month of April in Savannah, Ga.

PROFESSOR MARIE B. FOWLER, Home Economics, takes part this week in the annual study conference in San Antonio, Tex. of the Association for Childhood Education, of which she is vice-president. She presides at a special discussion on "Marked Trends and Significant Problems Relating to the Nursery School."

EARL M. HUGHES, Agricultural Economics, and Mrs. Hughes have a daughter born March 27. They live on Hanshaw Road, Ithaca.

ALFREDA SILL, daughter of the late Professor Henry A. Sill, History, and Mrs. Sill, has the feminine lead in "Barren Ground" by Virgil Geddes, which opened last week at the Venice Theatre in New York City. Miss Sill has been an actress on Broadway for several years. Mrs. Sill is a teacher in New York City.

HENRY FIELDEN, father of Mrs. Anna Fielden Grace '10, Manager of Residential Halls, died March 25 in Philadelphia, Pa. He established the Medill McCormick stock farm at Bryon, Ill., and had managed stock farms for many years.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

'84 BS, '87 MS—Dr. Henry P. de Forest, secretary of the class of 1890 at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, wrote in a letter to his classmates: "For more than fifty years I have been secretary of the Class of 1884 at Cornell University. When we were graduated degrees were given to sixty-three men and women. About half of this number are still living. My classmates of '84 have realized that the work of a Class secretary is continuous and involves a very considerable amount of correspondence. They have, therefore, provided a Class fund of about thirty-five hundred dollars, which is deposited with the Treasurer of Cornell University. The income of the fund is given to me annually." He recommends a similar plan to his medical classmates. His address is The Harbor Professional Building, 667 Madison Avenue, New York City.

'85 BCE—Frank S. Washburn was Republican candidate for village trustee of Larchmont in the recent Westchester County elections.

'88 PhB, '90 LLB; '15 Sp—Charles H. Blood and E. Curry Weatherby '15 will sail from New York City May 27 on the cruise convention of the New York State Bankers Association to Bermuda on the S. S. Washington.

'90—Reynolds Beal became an artist when ill health forced him to abandon his profession of marine engineering. After spending some years in Europe, he resides at Rockport, Mass. He belongs to the National Academy of Design and the American Society of Etchers. His hobby is yacht racing.

'90 BL—Clarence J. Shearn, president of the Bar Association of the City of New York and former Supreme Court Justice, said that if President Roosevelt's proposal to reorganize the Supreme Court should be enacted, no self-respecting lawyer could accept appointment. Acting as spokesman for the Bar Association in a radio debate during the Forum Hour of Station WOR, he asserted: "This plan now stands forth in stark nakedness as a mere scheme to validate New Deal legislation of at least doubtful constitutionality by seating six New Deal protagonists in the Supreme Court. It is to provide a new Supreme Court—God save the name—that will not question any act of Congress."

Nelbach, executive secretary of the committee on tuberculosis and public health of the New York State Charities Aid Association, writes in a letter to the New York Times March 2: "The diphtheria death rate in up-State New York last year, with its more than six million people, was almost zero." Describing the committee's special five-year anti-diphtheria campaign, he asserts that "only twenty-nine children died from diphtheria in 1936, as compared with 585, the average annual number during the ten-year period preceding this special campaign. Even more striking is the fact that only 318 cases were reported last year, as compared with the ten-year average prior to 1926 of 7,660. What has been done in diphtheria should be and will be accomplished in syphilis, in which this organization is also actively participating, though, to be sure, it will probably take longer."

over the idleness among the 2,413 prisoners. "The association of so many men in idleness certainly is not conducive to their rehabilitation. No matter how deep may be the interest of the management in the well-being of the individual, the contaminating influence of men of this type in close contact is liable to nullify the good influences placed about them by warden, teachers, chaplain, and others." Directing no criticism at the administration of Warden Lewis E. Lawes, the report attributed part of the unemployment in the prison industries to the decline in orders for prison-made goods from New York City.

'17 AB—Reader's Digest for April relates how George J. Hecht, then editor of "an obscure charity-sheet in New York called Better Times," founded The Parents' Magazine, which at its tenth anniversary last year passed 400,000 in circulation. Conceiving the idea of a magazine to be devoted solely to the rearing of children, Hecht devised "a highly ingenious bit of financial machinery." "Boldly he applied to a large philanthropic foundation for a grant. The foundation agreed that the idea of parent education was praiseworthy, but declined to advance money to a privately-owned publication. Hecht surmounted this difficulty by suggesting that the foundation make financial grants to four great American universities—Yale, Columbia's Teachers College, Minnesota, and Iowa—for the purpose of furthering their researches in child welfare. The foundation agreed, whereupon Hecht promptly formed a company called The Parents' Institute, Inc. A controlling interest in this company was bought by the universities with the money granted by the foundation. The company publishes the magazine, the universities exert an advisory influence upon editorial policies, and the bulk of the profits are to go toward furthering research in child development and welfare work. . . ." Hecht was married in 1930; has one daughter, Susan; lives at 399 Park Avenue, New York City. CAMP OTTER

A Summer Camp for Boys with a Cornell Background

Boys' camps, like schools and colleges, develop in the course of time an individual character, tone, and tradition of their own.

Camp Otter in the Muskoka Region at Dorset, Ontario, in its twenty-six years of continuous, flourishing existence has achieved the individual identity of a wholesome, rugged, active camp that boys like and parents trust.

A Cornell Institution

It has also become something of a Cornell and Ithaca institution. Years ago, boys went to Camp Otter, passed on to the University, played on the teams, and returned to the camp as counselors. Now these same boys are sending their own sons to Camp Otter to take up the torch and continue the cycle. There haven't been any Camp Otter-Cornell grandsons yet, but it won't be long.

The Camp Otter Brand

It doesn't handicap a boy to go to Cornell with the Camp Otter training and the Camp Otter brand upon him. Ithaca is full of people with Camp Otter connections—Farlands, Durhams, Tremans, Staggs, Bancrofts, Brauners, Morses, Crandalls, Baldriges, Smiths, etc. The boy's reputation that he made himself in camp becomes his own best letter of introduction to the Quadrangle.

Camp Otter is Fun

Camp Otter has its own lake in the Canadian forest, unspoiled fishing, wild life, substantial cabins, good food, water sports, nontentative safeguards, canoe trips, horseback riding (without extra charge), swimming, and a full program of athletics and camp activities. A competent physician is in residence, and tutoring is available if desired.

Charges

The charges at Camp Otter are geared to modest incomes. The fee for the entire season of 8 weeks is $175.
