There's Still Time To Help Cornell!

In This War Year, Your University Needs the Support of Every Cornellian

You may elect to make or increase your gift to the Alumni Fund in support of Bonded Reunions.

If so, please make your Series F War Savings Bond payable to Cornell University—A Corporation, Ithaca, N. Y.

Your Gift to Cornell This Year Is a Contribution to the War Effort

If you have not already made your Alumni Fund Gift through your Class Committee, send it now to the Alumni Fund Office, 3 East Avenue, Ithaca. To be counted in the 1943 Class totals, it must reach the office by June 30.

GOODWILLIE REPORTS ON ALUMNI FUND

Thanks Cornellians for Support of University

Edward E. Goodwillie '10, who was re-elected president of the Alumni Fund Council for the third year at the annual meeting May 22, reported that this year's Alumni Fund to that date had reached $119,913 from 5,066 contributors. At the same time in 1942, the Fund stood at $62,314. from 4,308 contributors. "As the response is coming in right now," Goodwillie said, "I feel that the Fund will reach at least $150,000 by June 30, and it may go somewhat over that figure."

"At the annual meeting a year ago," he said, "you paid me the great compliment of asking me to head up the Alumni Fund for a second year. I was glad to continue on the job knowing full well that I would have the complete support of an active and interested executive committee and officers of the Council. We had made a fairly good showing in the year just about completed at that time, and certainly a fine ground work had been laid for operation of the Council on a sound businesslike basis with our Class representatives and large volunteer Class organizations and further reorganization of these committees under Vice-president Harold Edwards and Walter Heasley, executive secretary.

Staff and Officers Work

"I must admit that I was not particularly optimistic about the outcome of the Fund for this fiscal year, in view of our national situation. However, I suppose I should have known that we could count on our great body of loyal Cornellians to support the University in these critical times.

"Walter Heasley and Mrs. Olive Snyder and their staff have done an outstanding job, as most of you must know by now. They have seemingly accomplished the impossible, with reduced and changing office personnel and particularly when you consider that our executive secretary has been doing double duty with both the Fund and the Alumni Association. I cannot say enough in praise of their accomplishments. They have my personal thanks and I am sure I voice those of the executive committee and officers.

"It would be impossible and perhaps unfair to pick out any particular members of the executive committee for special notice, as everyone contributed his or her share to whatever success we are enjoying this year. Our meetings were exceptionally well attended and I know at considerable sacrifice for some members. Still, I think I should mention the grand work that Victor Grohmann and his publicity committee did during the year, and especially in connection with our spring solicitation drive now in progress. Nor can I pass up the opportunity to give my own Class of 1910 a boost and thank Hal Edwards for his work in connection with the continued organization of Class committees. A short time ago I asked him also to head up a new committee on special and corporate gifts, and he is working on that now. I am confident that committee will pay fine dividends when it really gets going. I tried my hand at the corporate gift idea last December, and the results were surprisingly good, even in a short time and approaching only a comparatively small number of prospects.

Small Gifts Important

"I think this is a good opportunity to express the appreciation of the officers and executive committee to the alumni and alumnae for their generous support of the Fund this year. The smaller gifts are just as important in the final results as are the large gifts and without them we cannot hope to have a representative Fund.

"In regard to the Annual Report of the Alumni Fund which we published for the second time late last fall, this report seems to have been received favorably by alumni and alumnae. I like to think of it as a report to the stockholders. I believe it has a good psychological effect and it certainly is a definite help and inspiration to Class representatives and their Class committees.

Bonded Reunions Successful

"You are all familiar by this time with the idea of 'Bonded Reunions,' which plan was presented by Dr. Lyman R. Fisher '28 and his committee of Class secretaries. The idea was in lieu of Class Reunions. The alumni who would normally attend Reunions at this time, instead make a gift of Series F War Savings Bonds to Cornell University. All of the Class secretaries sponsored this idea, and the results are far exceeding all expectations. To date, the Fund has cleared 318 War Bonds for a total of $5,883, and they are still coming in.

"I want to take this occasion to thank President Day for his generous counsel and help at our executive committee meetings. He has not missed a meeting during the year, and his presence and interest in our problems has been an inspiration to all of us. I also want to express the sincere appreciation of the executive committee and officers of the Fund for the splendid assistance that Provost 'Doc' Peters has given us this year and in the years gone by. We will miss him very much at our meetings and we wish him great success and happiness in his new connection.

Class Committees Do Real Job

"I would like to say a special word of commendation and thanks to the Class representatives and their Class committees who are doing the real job in the field. The results of their hard work are most definitely reflected in the success of the Fund this year.

"Hearty commendation is due also to the Medical College Alumni Association, which this year under Dr. Mary Crawford is conducting its second annual successful Alumni Fund campaign for the support of that College.

"One of the things that interests me most in connection with this alumni activity is the knowledge that the development of annual giving to Cornell through the Fund is bound to have a beneficial and permanent effect in making alumni more Cornell-conscious. I am sure they will take a greater interest in Cornell once they get into the regular habit of supporting their Alma Mater, through gifts. President Larry Gubb of the Alumni Association is working on a plan for coordinating the various alumni groups in the Association. This plan will have a definite and beneficial effect on our Alumni Fund activity, as well as on the other groups involved.

"I just want to leave another thought with you and that is the real pleasure that your officers and executive committee have derived from their efforts in connection with this very important alumni activity. It is a service, President Day, that we are glad to perform, and you can count on an ever-improving organization and procedure, with corresponding results on the up-grade. I visualize the time, not too far distant, when your Alumni Fund Council will be turning over to you and Cornell unrestricted gifts from a large percentage of Cornellians in an amount that will truly reflect their interest in and loyalty to their Alma Mater."

Class Report Through May 15

Unrestricted gifts to the Alumni Fund through May 15, as credited to the Class committees headed by their Alumni Fund representatives, are tabulated below. As shown by President Goodwillie's report, the Fund has increased more than $11,000 in the week from this May 15 tabulation to May 22. It is accelerating rapidly as the fiscal year approaches its closing, June 30.

GIFT FOR LABORATORY

Gift of $10,000 to the University by Frederick D. Herbert '97, president of Kearfott Engineering Co., New York City, toward erection of the new Materials and Metallurgical Laboratory for the College of Engineering, has been announced by President Day. Funds are being accumulated toward building the Laboratory after the war. It is projected as the second of the new Engineering College group at the south end of the Campus, first of which is Olin Hall of Chemical Engineering.

Engaged in the practice of engineering since he received the ME in 1897, Herbert has been especially interested in providing this new building. He has also been an active member of his Class committee for the Alumni Fund. He started as a draftsman for shipbuilders in Wilmington, Del., became a construction engineer and editor of the publication, Marine Engineering, and then for some time was with the Allis-Chalmers Co. In 1909 he became manager of the Terry Steam Turbine Co. in New York City and since 1918 has been president of Kearfott, in which he is a partner.

Herbert is a member of Sigma Chi. His son, Wilbur F. Herbert '42, is associated in business with his father.

INDIANA CLUB OFFICERS

At its meeting April 29 at the University Club of Indianapolis, the Cornell Club of Indiana re-elected as officers John F. Modrell '34, president; Albert R. Coffin '04, vice-president; and John S. Kittle, Jr. '38, secretary-treasurer.

GAMES FOR GUIDANCE Students Take Tests

It looks like a game. One person fits blocks into a peg board; another plays the victrola; a third turns over discs so all colors will match; and a fourth fits together pieces of a puzzle.

It looks like a game, but it is serious classroom study. All the puzzles are tests, designed to aid in the training of personnel workers for industry and of guidance counselors for schools. It is part of the instruction offered in the new Guidance Laboratory of the School of Education, operated for the first time last term.

Used for guidance and personnel courses given in the School of Education and the Department of Hotel Administration, the laboratory in Warren Hall is equipped with numerous psychological measuring devices to test achievement, aptitude, personality, interest, and mental ability. Students take the tests and administer them to fellow students, and thereby not only learn about themselves, their strong and weak points, but they also become acquainted with methods employed to "fit the right man in the right job." Schools, industrial organizations, and the Army and Navy use similar tests in picking personnel for specialized tasks.

Devices employed in the laboratory are varied. For example, there are pen and pencil tests, true-false and multiple choice questions, and tests to bring out mathematical skills, all helping to determine vocational interests, personality traits, and achievements in certain fields; manual dexterity tests, such as fitting blocks into peg boards; depth of perception tests, as are used for aviators, employing principles of the stereopticon; a musical aptitude test in which a victrola is used and students delve into the mysteries of tones and pitches; artistic ability tests in which a person sees three or four objects and is required to make the best artistic arrangement of them; and certain tests for sales ability. Skill in every activity is judged on a time basis. The laboratory is directed by Professors Andrew L. Winsor, PhD '29, and Lewis Eldred, PhD '42, Education.

STUDY GUIDANCE COUNSELLING

Although activities of the Guidance Laboratory are now confined to instruction, it is expected that its work may be expanded to include research and service.

MORE PRODUCTION AWARDS

The number of Cornellians' firms receiving government recognition for outstanding war production continues to increase.

Board of directors of Savage Arms Corp., of which Wilfred L. Wright '00 is chairman, notes in its twenty-sixth annual report: "Our Utica plant was one of the first to receive the Army-Navy 'E' Award for high achievement in the production of war equipment, and on February 13, 1943, that honor was again conferred on it."

Kidder Press Co., Inc., Dover, N. H., manufacturers of printing machinery, received the Army-Navy "E" May 11. Joel F. Sheppard '07 is vice-president and general manager.

Turner Construction Co. of New York City, Philadelphia, and Boston was one of a small group who received the first Army-Navy "E" Awards given to construction contractors. Recognition came to them for participation in the construction of Navy air and fleet bases on islands of the Pacific, including particularly their work at Hawaii. They have worked also on Midway, Wake, Guam, Philippine, Samoa, Palmyra, and Johnston Islands. Walter K. Shaw '13 is vice-president and treasurer of the company, and W. Burnham Ball '13 is vice-president and secretary. Both are directors, as are DeForest H. Dixon '96 and Egbert J. Moore '99, and both of these were vice-presidents for many years. At least eleven Cornellians formerly in the employ of Turner Construction Co. are now officers in the armed forces of the United States.

Maritime "M" Burgee and the Victory Fleet Flag of the US Maritime Commission were awarded May 17 to Nordberg Manufacturing Co. in Milwaukee, Wis. President of Nordberg is Robert E. Friend '08, and his brother, James A. Friend '16, is treasurer. Cornell sons of the company's president are Charles O. and John M. Friend '39 and Edward S. Friend '44.

TO STUDY RUSSIAN LIFE In New Summer Course

A new program of intensive study of contemporary Russian civilization is announced for the sixteen-week summer term of the University, July 5 to October 23. Under direction of Professor Ernest J. Simmons, Slavic Languages, sixteen authorities who have had first-hand contact with the life and people of Russia will offer five full-length courses and thirteen weekly workshops covering various aspects of life in the Soviet Union.

Instruction will deal with Russian social institutions and daily life, literature and culture, history, government and international relations, and economic theory and its applications, with lectures and discussions on the Russian people, education, music, medicine and health, jurisprudence, military and naval history, scientific achievements, theater and cinema, agriculture, art and architecture, the Soviet Union and the Far East, industrial development, Russia and the peace.

Members of the instructing staff will be Sir Bernard Pares, formerly professor of Russian history and director of the School of Slavonic and East European Studies at the University of London; Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, anthropologist and former curator of the U S National Museum; Dr. John N. Hazard of the Division of Soviet Supply, Office of Lend-Lease Administration; Ernest C. Ropes, Russian specialist of the US Department of Commerce; Dr. Henry E. Sigerist, professor and director of the Institute of the History of Medicine at Johns Hopkins University; Professor Samuel H. Cross, chairman of the department of Slavic languages and literatures at Harvard; Henry H. Ware, economic analyst, US Department of Commerce; Albert Rhys

RECEIVED BY V-MAIL

TO THE EDITOR:

I am delighted with my new assignment, which promises to be both interesting and vital. I surely appreciate the ALUMNI NEWS as I never did before! Tell Rym Berry his column hits the spot for a Cornellian abroad, especially one with a nostalgia for the green hills with the Lake stretching into the distance, and a hankering to hear "them bells" again. Cheerio!

CORNELL'S EARLY DAYS

TO THE EDITOR:

Romeyn Berry's articles on Cascadilla Place I find extremely interesting, and in preserving this oral tradition Mr. Berry has done a valuable service. By relying on printed accounts he has been misled, however, in two matters of fact, neither of which is very important, but which he might like to know.

The Morrill Act and the Charter required the University to be in operation in 1867. It was only by an Act of the Legislature that an added year was allowed. And when the University was opened in October, 1868, Morrill Hall was not "in process of construction" but finished; nor was it the only building on the present Campus. White Hall was then in process of construction (up to the second story) and there was a wooden building, somewhere in the northeast corner of the Quadrangle, which was known as the Shops and Laboratory. Beyond this, at the east end of what is now Sibley, were some delapidated cow barns. Between Morrill and White there was a deep gully or ravine, bridged by two foot causeways, one leading from Morrill to White, the other from Morrill to the Shops. —CARL BECKER

NEW LINCOLN STORY

TO THE EDITOR:

During the war of 1861-5, Carroll D. Wright's New Hampshire regiment was on guard duty in Washington for nearly a year and the Colonel then became acquainted with Teddy Lincoln who had a friend among those confined in the Central Guard House, and also with his father, the President. A Congressional friend took Wright with him to call on the President while he urged Lincoln with much energy, but little success, to make a certain appointment. At the end of the interview, and after the Congressman had lost his temper, Lincoln said soothingly:

"You're a farmer, I believe?" "Yes."

"Keep hogs I suppose?" "Yes, quite a number."

"Did you ever think why they make such a racket at feeding time?" "No, I can't say that I have."

"It's because there's never enough swill to go around. Think it over. Good bye."

I was assured recently that another version of this story, which was told me some forty years ago by Wright, could be found in Sandburg's "Lincoln, The War Years." I asked a friend, who was just beginning the four volumes, to look for it but he could not find it. I assume, therefore, that it has not gone beyond the oral tradition and think it should be in the printed record.

Wright was for many years my mentor in matters statistical and during the years 1899-1905, when my time in Washington overlapped his, I saw a good deal of him.—WALTER F. WILLCOX

DOCTORS STUDY FUTURE

Included among eighteen physicians named by the New York Academy of Medicine to study the relationship of medicine and the changing social order are four Cornellians: Drs. Harry Aranow '04, Howard R. Craig '19, Paul Reznikoff '20, and Edward Tolstoi '23. Associated with the committee of physicians are John W. Davis, New York City lawyer, former Congressman, and Ambassador to Great Britain, and Walter S. Gifford, president of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The committee "will devote itself primarily to the study of how, within the changing social order, the best qualities of medical service, in medical education, and in medical research, can be preserved and developed." It seeks to learn the nature and direction of the changes now taking place and forecast for the immediate future; to define how these changes are likely to affect medicine; and to determine how the best elements in medicine and its services may be preserved in whatever social order may develop.

The group will solicit the cooperation of men and women intimately connected with medicine, such as deans of medical schools, teachers of medicine, hospital and public health authorities, clinicians, physicians in industrial medicine, and medical social workers. It will also confer with sociologists, economists, representatives of organized labor, industrialists, bankers, and politicians, and has announced that it would welcome suggestions from any one "who might propose sources of information which would aid it in this study."

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Commencement was but the briefest and most perfunctory of episodes. Bailey Hall, long outgrown, was once again large enough to hold it. The number of degrees conferred was just about what it was forty years ago. The annual meeting of the Trustees failed to produce a quorum. There was no massed array of automobiles, no impressive string of private cars at the Lehigh station, no Class Reunion visible to the naked eye, no overworked brass band or fife and drum corps. And through it all the Diesel engines thumped away down on the Armory Green where the Navy is teaching all comers the mysteries of such devices.

This war is being conducted—in Tompkins County, at least—with a minimum of waving plumes, martial music, and florid oratory. In this war the commanding general is not reading Gray's Elegy to his staff the night before the battle, in the manner of General Wolff before Quebec. You can hardly blame the Professor of Rhetoric for feeling that he's in a trade that has no more future than the harness business.

Fortunately, however, Commencement was moved forward a good three weeks, from crimson ramblers and Dorothy Perkins roses along East Avenue to the first of the lilacs at Hoy Field and the last of the tulips at the south of Willard Straight. The Campus elms were still short of their full foliage, and there was chill enough remaining in the air to ward off the delicious lassitude that commonly descends upon the Quadrangle on the night of Commencement. The Professor of Rhetoric could not have endured the incongruities of a wartime ceremony followed by a hot June night heavy with the fragrance of syringas.

The next day there were no waitresses at Willard Straight; you had to go get it yourself on a tray and then consume it in any one of the many restaurants that was not already occupied by the armed forces. Otherwise, the day after was just the same as the day before: essentially military in its general aspects all the way from the stone bridge to Sibley, from Stewart Avenue to Judd Falls and the Fish Hatchery.

And yet, we could not but feel the Professor of Rhetoric was unduly depressed about the prospects in his ancient trade. Universities are the most enduring and tenacious of all organisms. All the older foundations, we pointed out to him, have been shot over from time to time, and wars have been to them no more than temporary inconveniences requiring the dons and the fellows to take it on the lam with their academic robes girt about their loins for greater speed. It is true, we admitted, that the Humanities hereabouts seem momentarily eclipsed by the Pure and Applied Sciences, but the former, we assured the Professor, will instantly come back into their own with unconditional surrender.

No general ever carved a lasting reputation with the sword alone! The assistance of the rhetorician, the historian, the poet, and the philosophical commentator is essential to the achievement of enduring military fame. Furthermore, the generals know it. That's why all early expeditions over seas always carried along a good bard to sing the merits of the chief. Once the guns are silenced by victory, the sciences, pure and applied, will step back and once again the Humanist will be sought for.

The Professor of Rhetoric seemed only mildly cheered by these considerations!

CHICAGO WOMEN ACTIVE

At a meeting of the Cornell Women's Club of Chicago, Ill., May 8, Mrs. Lawrence B. Perkins (Margery Blair) '28 spoke on "Planning for the Post-war World." She has studied in Germany and has recently been a research assistant on world social problems at Northwestern University. It was disclosed that 90 per cent of the members of the Club are actively engaged in war work. The Club has presented a $25 War Bond to the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Frederick W. Merrifield (Katherine Brooks) '24 was re-elected president of the Club and Mrs. Alvin H. Eichholz (Rhoda Linville) '32 was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

GANNETT '98 IN PITTSBURGH

Frank E. Gannett '98, chairman of the executive committee of the University Board of Trustees, was the speaker at the annual banquet of the Cornell Club of Pittsburgh, Pa., May 12. He reviewed the effects of the war upon the University, spoke of the important part that alumni are taking in war production, and paid tribute to President Edmund E. Day as "an exceptionally capable administrator" who is doing well a difficult job. Gannett spoke also of the future responsibilities of the United States in world affairs, and said that "Cornell University will be in position to make a great contribution to the public welfare" through its School of Nutrition. "We have been developing there the greatest nutrition school in the world," he said. "Cornell scientists have made discoveries that will be invaluable in promoting health in the face of shortages. They are finding ways to make smaller quantities of food do the work of our usual big helpings. The world is still woefully ignorant in the field of nutrition."

ANNOUNCE ALUMNI REGISTRIES

For Cornellians in Armed Forces

Cornell Alumni Association has joined with some seventy other colleges and universities in the College Registration Service to provide facilities for college men and women in the armed forces to locate fellow alumni of their colleges who are in their same camps and stations and who may live nearby.

College registration centers are already operating in some twenty-five cities over the country, and others are being organized. Centers have been opened in: Atlanta, Ga.; American Women's Volunteer Services, 294½ Peachtree St. Baltimore, Md.; Emerson Hotel Biloxi, Miss.: Chamber of Commerce Bldg.

College Registration Service is sponsored by the Association of American Colleges and the American Alumni Council. It has offices at 19 West Forty-fourth Street, New York City, with Dr. James E. Allen, former president of Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., as director. It was started as an experiment last January by alumni of a few colleges, and is now being expanded, the participating colleges paying the cost of the central organization pro-rata according to their numbers of alumni.

The proposed services to college men and women are summarized as follows:

"(1) that there be established, preferably in a hotel if available, near camps and training centers, a College Registration Center where alumni there in service may register to the end that they may find each other and fellow alumni living in that locality; (2) that notice of the location of the College Registration Center be posted in the camps and training centers, and published in the alumni magazines of the respective colleges; and (3) that each alumnus who learns of this program is requested to get in touch with local leaders of other alumni groups in his city to work out with them the methods of setting up the local College

Registration Center and making it effective."

It has been agreed "(1) that the College Registration Service should make no discrimination as to sex, age, race, creed, color, or rank; (2) that local alumni should be requested to do only a few simple chores; namely, meet with other active local alumni, agree upon a public place for the Center—preferably a hotel—buy a loose-leaf index book, arrange to have the book available for use at the place agreed upon, arrange to post notice of the Center in each nearby military post, and finally to report the opening of the Center to their respective alumni organizations and the Director of the College Registration Service; and (3) that local alumni would not be expected to furnish entertainment, unless they wished to do so, because it was believed that if fellow alumni in service could readily locate each other and local resident fellow alumni, entertainment would take care of itself."

JERSEY CLUB ELECTS

Eighteen members of the Cornell Club of Monmouth County, N. J., met for the annual dinner May 10 at the Molly Pitcher Hotel in Red Bank. Bernard A. Savage '25, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Cornell Club of New York, told of the regional scholarships supported by his Club and how boys are selected. Richard S. Stark '34 told of his experiences as a radio station announcer.

J. D. Tuller '09, the Club's first president, gave a brief resumé of activities since it was organized a little more than a year ago. Tuller was succeeded by Ward Kremer '13, advanced from vice-president. Harry W. Crawford '29 was elected vice-president; C. Powell Beyland '31, secretary; and Ignacio S.

Molinet '27, treasurer. Tuller was elected to the board of governors, with Harry G. Burd '09 and John E. Simonds '14.

TO CHANGE ISLAND LAW

When President Roosevelt asked Congress in a special message last March to enact legislation to permit election of the Governor of Puerto Rico by the people of the Territory, he announced that he had appointed a committee of four Puerto Ricans and four representatives of the United States to advise the President concerning desirable changes in the organic law.

One of the four Puerto Ricans on this committee is Senor Martin Travieso '03, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the Island and a long-time advocate of home rule for Puerto Rico. In 1919 as Secretary of State there, a position to which President Wilson appointed him, he pleaded for a fully native government which would "get credit for what we accomplish in progress." He declared that if Puerto Rico had a home government "the independence movement would fall of its own weight. With the exception of the period in which I was acting Governor, Puerto Rico has not had a native governor for 400 years." Travieso felt that a truly native government "would take the wind out of the sails of the demagogue who cries for independence." His influence and following have from time to time been credited with preventing anti-American domination in Puerto Rican political affairs.

This intense love for his native home perhaps goes back to 1903 when he began practice as a lawyer in New York City. Because of the difficulties of being admitted to the Bar then, he was compelled to become a naturalized American citizen, although it was his firm contention, which he publicly acclaimed, that he had a right as such as a native of Puerto Rico. After his return to the Island, he was elected prosecuting attorney of the district of Mayaguez, and in 1919 returned to the United States as head of a committee to raise a million dollars as a relief fund for sufferers of the earthquake and tidal wave which struck the western part of the Island in 1918.

Travieso served as a member of the Executive Council of Puerto Rico under the administrations of Theodore Roosevelt and Taft. He was a member of the Dominican Claims Commission in 1917, and in 1920 was mayor of San Juan where he practiced law. In 1938 his appointment to the Supreme Court of Puerto Rico was made.

One of Justice Travieso's associates on the Supreme Court bench is Angel R. deJesus '13, and the other, R. H. Todd, Jr., has a son, Roberto J. Todd, who is a member of the Law School Class of 1944. Justice deJesus was municipal judge of Juana Diaz, and in 1917 moved to San Juan. He was appointed to the Supreme Court by President Roosevelt in July, 1938.

STUDY RUSSIAN LIFE

Williams, author and lecturer who lived in Russia for ten years; John Scott, author and former correspondent in Russia; Dr. H. W. L. Dana, authority and lecturer on the Soviet theatre; Professor William H. E. Johnson of Panzer College, specialist in education; Vladimir D. Kazakevich, economist; Captain Sergei N. Kournakoff, former officer in the Russian Imperial Army, a specialist in the military and naval history of Soviet Russia; Dr. Corliss Lamont, author and former teacher at Columbia and the New School for Social Research; Harriet Moore, secretary of the American Council, Institute of Pacific Relations, and of the American Russian Institute; and Nicolas Slonimsky, Russian pianist, conductor, and music critic.

The program is offered not only for undergraduates of Cornell and other colleges but for men and women in government agencies, in industry, the armed services, and for teachers, because of the importance of present and future relations between the United States and Soviet Russia. Enrollment will be limited to those who are especially qualified, usually to those who have had at least two years of college training. University credit of eighteen hours will be given for the course, the students from outside the University registering as special students in the College of Arts and Sciences. Tuition is $200.

The course in Russian civilization will

UNIVERSITY RUSHES ADDITION TO NAVY MESS HALL

In preparation for the 1642 Navy enlisted men expected July 2 for the Navy college training program, the University Department of Buildings and Grounds is enlarging the temporary mess hall built last summer near the men's dormitories to feed the student officers of the Naval Training School here. Seating capacity will be increased from 544 to 1300 by the extension of the present dining wing 68 feet and addition of a new far wing 214 feet long. Present kitchen is in the end structure nearest the camera, and this will be enlarged with a 200-foot center structure for additional kitchen and refrigerating equipment. Olive Worden '31, who formerly ran the dining room in Prudence Risley Hall, operates the mess hall under direction of Mrs. Anna Fielden Grace '10, University Manager of Residential Halls. begin concurrently with the tenth intensive course in the Russian language, the first of which was started here a year ago under direction of Professor Simmons with sponsorship of the American Council of Learned Societies. Of the seventy students who have completed the twelve-week beginning and twelve-week advanced study in these courses, many are putting their work to immediate use.

Lieutenant Paul S. Hall '42, who studied Russian while a member of the advanced ROTC, has been commissioned in Military Intelligence and assigned to Moscow as assistant military attaché at the American Embassy. Eight members of the first class of fifteen students went to the US Signal Corps Cryptography School at Warrenton, Va. Among them are Louis C. Boochever, Jr. '41, Alex Ingeles '41, Louis Fishman '42, Robert M. Hankin '42, and Norman Singer '42. Ruth N. Denny, wife of Reuel Denny who received a Guggenheim Fellowship for poetry, completed the twenty-four weeks of study last April and is a civilian cryptographic assistant with the Signal Corps at Arlington, Va. Ethel Takce, Sp '43, has a post at the Brooklyn Navy Yard and five other women graduates of the course are in similar occupations.

REUNION BONDS INCREASE

Four additional Classes, of 1900, '10, '11, '29, and '30, are represented in Series F War Savings Bonds or the equivalent in cash and War Stamps given to the University for Bonded Reunions in the last week.

In the seven days ending May 31, sixty-two $25 War Bonds or equivalent, with additional War Stamps, came to the Alumni Fund office to bring the total received for Bonded Reunions to $8,381.55. This is an increase of $2,307.75 since May 24, and brings the number of Classes represented to forty-nine.

During last week, eight bonds were credited to the Class of '15; six to the Class of '18; five each to '03, '23, and '28; four to '09; three each to '00, '11, and '14; two each to '10, '13, '16, '21, '27, and '41; and one each to '90, '93, '05, '08, '29, '30, '33, and '38.

Series F War Bonds payable to Cornell University—A Corporation, Ithaca, N. Y., which are received by the Alumni Fund, 3 East Avenue, by June 30 will be credited to the donor's Class in the 1943 Alumni Fund. Bonds will be exchanged by the University for uninvested funds, so the Bonds may be held to maturity and cash released to meet current expenses. Series F War Bonds in the $25 denomination may be purchased at all banks and post-offices at $18.50.

JOHN M. MORRISON, who ran a tailor shop at Aurora and Seneca Streets in Ithaca from 1900 to 1917, died May 27 in Miami, Fla., where he made his home.

About ATHLETICS

BASEBALL SEASON CLOSES

The baseball team finished its season Commencement Day by defeating Colgate, 6-1, on Hoy Field, with a mere scattering of spectators. It was Cornell's first baseball victory over Colgate in thirteen games since 1937.

The team won five games and lost two this season. In Eastern Intercollegiate League competition, Cornell won three and lost one, tying Pennsylvania for the championship.

Final League statistics showed that Donald R. Clay '45 of Milton, Mass., and Edwin L. Bell '44 of Albion were the leading pitchers, each with an earned run average of 1.80. Each pitched fifteen innings, Clay winning two games and Bell one.

The League's top hitter was Carl W. E. Almquist '45 of Alden, but because he did not have the required minimum of twenty times at bat, the Charles H. Blair '97 silver bat for the best hitter went to Talcott of Princeton. Talcott batted .385, making ten hits in twenty-six times at bat. Almquist's mark of .538 was fashioned from seven hits in thirteen times at bat. The only players eligible for the Blair Bat were on the Pennsylvania and Princeton teams, each of which played eight games. Cornell, Columbia, and Dartmouth were able to play only four games apiece because of adverse weather. In team batting Cornell, with .209, was fourth, and in team fielding Cornell, with .969, was second to Dartmouth. Over the entire season, including non-League games, Almquist topped the hitters with .480. Norman J. Dawson '46 of Oak Park, Ill., was second. Among Almquist's twelve hits were four doubles.

Coach George K. James made but few changes in the lineup during the season. The infield remained intact, with Dawson at first, Captain Jerome A. Batt '43 of Buffalo at second, Edward S. Steitz '43 of Beacon at third, and Wildred R. Loeser '46 of Rego Park at shortstop. Charles P. Weiss '44 of Putnam, Conn., played left field, Charles R. Robinson '44 of Madison N. J., center field, and Almquist right field. Dennis C. Redden '45 of West Hartford, Conn., finished the season in center, and Arthur H. Kesten '44 of Malverne played a bit in center and left field.

John M. Tully '46 of Memphis, Tenn., was the catcher in every game. Clay pitched thirty-eight innings in five games, gave 26 hits, struck out 31, and walked 19. Bell appeared in 17 2/3 innings in three games, gave seven hits, struck out 12, and walked 10.

Clay held Colgate to four hits in the final game, despite poor support in the first inning when three Cornell errors permitted Colgate to score its one run. Clay had to pitch the whole game, for no other pitchers were available. That morning Bell, Allen J. Albright '44 of Ontario, and Pearne W. Billings '44 of Oneida Castle, the only other pitchers, reported in the Army at Fort Niagara.

Captain and third baseman of the Colgate team, Gregory Batt, is the brother of Cornell Captain Jerome A. Batt '43 of Buffalo.

SEASON'S SPORTS RECORD

Skiing: Assistant manager, Roger F. Milnes '45 of Oneida.

Elected in the cheerleading competition were: Head cheerleader, John B. Cummings '44 of Binghamton; assistants, Alfred M. Hotaling, Jr. '45 of Valley Stream, Robert H. Lyon '46 of Silver Spring, Md., and Robert F. Randolph '46 of Ithaca.

FIVE OF FACULTY BECOME EMERITUS

University Board of Trustees at its Commencement Day meeting conferred emeritus rank upon three members of the Faculty who retire officially June 30, and two already retired.

Professor Lane Cooper, whose teaching was recognized in 1927 as the Department of the Comparative Study of Literature in the College of Arts Sciences, becomes professor of the English Language and Literature, emeritus. Graduate of Rutgers College in 1896, he came to the University in 1902 as instructor in English, became assistant professor of English in 1906, and has been professor of the English Language and Literature since 1915. Since 1941 he has held the John Wendell Anderson Professorship. He studied at Columbia, received the MA at Yale in 1898, went abroad to study at the Universities of Berlin and Leipzig, where he received the PhD in 1901, then went to the College de France in Paris. Rutgers conferred on him the honorary LittD in 1921. He has published many books and translations in the field of classical literature and teaching, and the University Press will shortly publish his Experiments in Education, a collection of articles and addresses with a new section describing the courses he has given and his recommendations for the teaching of literature. Professor Cooper was for five years president of the Class of '96 of Rutgers College; was president of the New York Theta Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa; is a member of Delta Phi. He will continue his residence in the former Comstock house at 123 Roberts Place, continuing to give attention to his farms ten miles north of Ithaca above Rogue's Harbor, and will devote some time to study and travel.

Professor George A. Everett '99 becomes emeritus professor of Extension Teaching, having taught thousands of students in Agriculture and Home Economics the art of thinking on their feet since he joined the Faculty of Agriculture in 1913 as an assistant professor. While he was still a Senior in Arts, he was appointed assistant in Elocution and Oratory; he received the AB in 1899 and the LLB in 1901. In 1904 he became instructor in Oratory and Debate, was assistant professor of Elocution and Oratory in 1906-7, and rejoined the Arts College Faculty in 1910. Since 1915 he has been professor of Extension Teaching in Agriculture. At a recent farewell dinner, his associates and former students presented him with a complete fly-fishing outfit and testimonial scroll. Professor Everett plans to spend summers at his camp on Lake Ozonia and his farm near Fort Jackson in northern New York and winters in Ithaca.

Professor Walter King Stone, who has taught in the College of Architecture for twenty-three years, will become associate professor of Fine Arts, emeritus. He and Mrs. Stone have opened their home in Forest Home to hundreds of students at their "Thursday nights," and Professor Stone is widely sought as a speaker at student gatherings. He has illustrated many books and magazine articles, and his pictures have been shown in many galleries, constituting a one-man exhibit at the National Museum in Washington, D. C., this month. He was educated at Mechanics Institute in Rochester and Pratt Institute, Brooklyn; came to Cornell in 1920 as acting assistant professor of Drawing in the College of Architecture. He was appointed assistant professor in 1922, became assistant professor of Fine Arts in 1939, and associate professor in 1942. His son is Alan Stone '26. Professor Stone has been on leave of absence since January; will continue to live and paint in Ithaca.

Professor John H. Barron '06, who retired March 1 because of ill health, was the first county agent of the Agricultural Extension Service when he entered the employ of the Binghamton Chamber of Commerce, the Lackawanna Railroad, and the College of Agriculture for work in Broome County in 1911. He has run his home farm in Livingston County, and joined the College of Agriculture in 1914 as assistant professor of Farm Crops. He was made a member of the Extension staff in 1915, became Extension professor of Farm Crops in 1920, Extension professor of Field Crops in 1921. He received the BSA in 1906. His emeritus rank dates from March 1. His sons are John H. Barron, Jr. '36 and Vincent J. Barron '44.

Professor William J. Wright, for twenty-five years State Leader of 4-H

Clubs, becomes emeritus professor in Extension Service as of last December 31, when he retired to care for his aged parents in Stockbridge, Mich. He received the BS in 1904 at Michigan Agricultural College and the MS in 1912 at Pennsylvania State College. He was assistant professor of horticulture at Penn State for two years and was for six years director of the State School of Agriculture at Alfred University, coming to the University in 1918 as Extension professor of Rural Education and State Leader of Junior Extension Work; and was appointed professor in the Extension Service in 1928. He is a member of Alpha Zeta. His son is James R. Wright '41.

Professor Bristow Adams, Editor of Publications of the College of Agriculture and since 1914 teacher of courses in conservation and agricultural journalism, became eligible for retirement because of age this June. But at the request of the Board of Trustees and Dean Carl E. Ladd '12, he will remain on active duty for another year.

CORNELLIANS SERVE IN USO

Cornellians are doing important work among the 600,000 volunteers and the paid employees who constitute the United Service Organizations "army behind the army," serving millions of men and women in the armed forces and industrial workers in certain sections.

Today, a little more than two years since its inception, the USO has 994 clubs for service men and women in military areas all over this country and at hemisphere bases: 1,460 total operations. At the clubs, men and women find a place for rest, recreation, companionship, and counsel. Dances, social clubs, picnics, movies, games, sports are among the innumerable activities planned for uniformed visitors who look upon the USO as a "home away from home." The term total operations includes other extra-club services such as station lounges for troops in transit, information desks, home hospitality, mobile services which are special automobile units ranging the coasts to take books, food, and smokes to men on outpost duty, and, of course, the famous USO-Camp Shows which sends the best Broadway and Hollywood talent to every camp and theatre of combat.

Secretary of the United Service Organizations is Randall J. LeBoeuf, Jr. '19, lawyer and an officer in World War I. LeBoeuf was a deputy assistant State attorney-general from 1925 to 1927, was a special counsel and commissioner of the census investigation in 1927 and 1928. He has been general counsel of the Niagara Hudson Power Corp. since 1928. Senior partner in the New York City law firm of LeBoeuf & Lamb, he is the son of the late Randall J. LeBoeuf '92; was editor-in-chief of The Era and colonel in the ROTC; is a member of Delta Chi. Mrs. LeBoeuf is the former Harriett Ross '19. In addition to his service to the USO, LeBoeuf is a director of the recently formed National War Fund of which the USO is a member agency, and is president of the National Travelers Aid Association. He is also a director of the National Information Bureau.

USO national headquarters, in the Empire State Building, New York City, has also the services of another Cornellian, A. Lincoln Lavine '09, who is general counsel for the USO. Like LeBoeuf, Lavine is a lawyer still in private practice and was an officer in World War I. Lavine founded the law department at the School of Commerce of St. John's University, Brooklyn, in 1928 and has been chairman of the department since that date. Active in the New York County Lawyers' Association, he is now vice-chairman of the committee on unlawful practice of the law; is the author of Circuits of Victory, a book on the work of the Signal Corps in the last war, and of several textbooks on commercial law. He received the AB in 1909, was a speaker in the '94 Memorial Debate.

Sarah G. Blanding, Dean of the College of Home Economics, is a member of the national board of the YWCA, a USO member agency

Four Run USO Clubs

The YMCA, also a member agency, has three Cornellians in USO work. James C. Thomas '12 is director of Negro services at the Hempstead, L. I., USO Club. Arthur E. Niedeck, AM '42, is assistant director of the USO Club at Biloxi, Miss., and Leo Weisenfluh, AM '30, is director of a USO Club at Marianna, Fla.

Simon M. Abrahams '20 is active in the Jewish Welfare Board, another USO member agency. And recently H. John Letteer '39 has gone to Bermuda to supervise restaurants at USO clubs there.

ALBANY WOMEN ELECT

Annual meeting of the Cornell Women's Club of Albany re-elected Mrs. William Streets (Ruth Luscher) '22, president for the coming year. Mrs. Peter C. Gallivan (Margaret Kelly) '24 is vice-president; Mrs. David M. Plotke (Sophie Harvith) '18, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Wesley S. Knighton (Ruth Hendryx) '26, recording secretary; Marjorie A. Stodart '39, treasurer. The meeting was May 6, at Mrs. Gallivan's home, with thirty-seven members present. Donation of $25 was voted to the American Red Cross.

Avery D. Gentle '37, assistant to Professor Thomas N. Hurd, PhD '36, State Farm Manpower Director, spoke on the work of that office.

TRUSTEE, FACULTY APPOINTMENTS

University Board of Trustees at its meeting Commencement Day approved two new appointments to the Faculty and a number of promotions.

Charles S. Hobbs, PhD '41, is appointed Extension associate professor of Animal Husbandry. Formerly manager of a 6,000-acre cattle ranch in the Southwest, he graduated at Oklahoma A & M College in 1938 and came to the Graduate School for study in Animal Husbandry and Animal Nutrition, receiving the MS in Agriculture in 1939 and the PhD two years later. While here he taught several courses and helped in research with sheep, swine, and beef cattle.

New assistant professor of Clinical Medicine is Dr. Helen Elston, who received the MD at the Medical College in New York in 1927. After receiving the BS at Elmira College in 1916, she taught in high schools at Andover and Bay Shore. She was supervisor of nurses at Flower Hospital, New York City, for two years and for a year taught in the nurses' training school at the Medical School of North Carolina. From 1929-42 she was medical supervisor of public schools in Elmira, and last year received the Master of Public Health degree at MIT.

Faculty Promotions

Advanced to professorships are John B. Rosser, Mathematics; Howard R. Anderson, Education; Raymond W. Ager, Lawrence A. Burckmyer, Jr. '25, Michel G. Malti, PhD '27, and Everett M. Strong Grad, Electrical Engineering; Georges A. Knaysi '24, Bacteriology; Allan G. Newhall, PhD '29, Plant Pathology; and John P. Willman, PhD '33, Animal Husbandry.

New associate professors advanced from assistant professors are John C. Adams '26, English; LeRoy L. Barnes, PhD '32, Biophysics; John M. Kuypers, Music; Frederick M. Watkins, Government; True McLean '22 and Burdette K. Northrop '18, Electrical Engineering; Charles I. Sayles '26, Institutional Engineering; in the College of Agriculture, William M. Curtiss, PhD '36, Marketing, Arthur W. Dimock, Plant Pathology, John P. Hertel '34, Personnel Administration, J. Douglas Hood, PhD '32, Biology, Wilford F. Lamoreux, PhD '38, and Alexis L. Romanoff '25, Poultry Husbandry, John K. Loosli, PhD '38, Animal Nutrition, Michael Pecch, Soil Science, Hans Platenius, PhD '31, Vegetable Crops, Sanford R. Shapley '28, Extension Service; in Home Economics, Gladys Butt, Jean Failing, Margaret L. Humphrey, and Katherine Reeves; at the Geneva Experiment Station, George L. McNew, Plant Pathology. Extension associate professors of Home Economics are Helen P. Smith, Delpha E. Wiesen-danger, MS '35, and Lucille J. Williamson.

Twenty-four instructors were named assistant professors. In Agriculture they are Marlin G. Cline, Agronomy; Charles F. Niven, Jr., PhD '38, Bacteriology; Harry B. Naylor, Grad, Dairy; Thomas C. Watkins, Entomology; Joseph A. Evans, PhD '42, Extension Entomology; D. Leo Hayes and Iva M. Gross, Extension Service; Josephine Strode, Rural Sociology; Margaret Hutchins, PhD '34, Rural Education; and Robert D. Sweet, PhD '41, Vegetable Crops. Frank A. Lee is assistant professor of Chemistry at the Geneva Experiment Station. Assistant professors in Home Economics are Mary Ford, Family Life; Mrs. Grace Foster, Foods and Nutrition; Mrs. Helena P. Leahy, MS '40, and Marion Neidert, Institution Management; Eugene Undine, Household Art; Mrs. Inez Prudent, Extension Foods and Nutrition; and Anne E. Kuhn '35, Extension Family Life.

In Arts and Sciences, Perry W. Gilbert, PhD '40, was named assistant professor of Zoology; Elias Huzar, Government; Mark Kac, Mathematics; and Ralph L. Ward, Classics. Four in Engineering are Gerald W. Erhart and Edwin B. Watson, Engineering Materials; Roger L. Geer '28, Materials Processing; and Louis L. Otto '33, Automotive Engineering. Lewis Eldred, PhD '42, becomes assistant professor of Education.

Trustees Organize Committees

The Trustees re-elected to the Board executive committee Frank E. Gannett '98 and Thomas I. S. Boak '14; to the committee on buildings and grounds, Franklin W. Olin '86, Ezra B. Whitman '01, George H. Rockwell '13, and Boak; to the Board on Physical Education and Athletics, Robert E. Treman '09 and Tell Berna '12; to the Board on Student Health and Hygiene, Jervis Landon '97, Matthew Carey '15, and Mary H. Donlon '20; to the Joint Administrative Board of New York Hospital—Cornell Medical College Association, President Edmund E. Day, Trustee Neal D. Becker '05, and Joseph P. Ripley '12. Trustee Harry G. Stutz '07 was re-elected to the Library Board, where Professor Donald L. Finlayson, Fine Arts, replaces Professor John A. Hartell '24, Architecture.

Dr. Lucius A. Wing '07 was elected a member of the Medical College Council in place of Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04 who is a member from the Medical College Alumni Association. Trustee Albert R. Mann '04 was re-elected to this Council.

To the College of Architecture Council the Trustees elected Nathaniel A. Owings '27, and it was reported that the Faculty had elected Professor Hubert E. Baxter '10.

To the Council for the State College of Agriculture and Experiment Stations the Trustees re-elected Gannett and Walter J. Rich of Salem and elected Ralph B. Cole of Newburgh, with Professors Lewis Knudson, PhD '11, Botany, and Harry H. Love, PhD '09, Plant Breeding, as Faculty members.

For the Home Economics College Council were elected Eloise Davison, director of the New York Herald-Tribune Home Institute, Mrs. W. H. Potter whose husband is Dr. Wilburn H. Potter '18 of Truxton, and Mrs. Leigh Husted of Red Hook, with Professor Katharine W. Harris '22 as Faculty member.

The Trustees elected Victor Emanuel '19 to the Veterinary College Council, with Dr. E. Veranus Moore '17 of Cortland, son of the late Dean Veranus A. Moore '87, and Drs. Ernest Dann of Hamden and George H. Hobson of New York City.

President Day reappointed Trustee H. Edward Babcock and Dean George H. Sabine '03 of the Graduate School to the Trustee-Faculty committee on research and appointed Professor Edward K. Brown, English. Professor John G. Kirkwood, Chemistry, was appointed to the University Press board of editors.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

SULLIVAN THREATENS US

TO THE EDITOR:

Those members of the Cornell Club of New York are such a bunch of Republican highway robbers that they even swipe the ALUMNI NEWS, so that I did not see the May 6 issue with my picture, in curls, until I came up here to Saratoga and my sister flaunted it at me with a titter.

I suspected some dark and foul plot was afoot when Charlie Blair and John Nell wouldn't give the picture back when I showed it to them, in an ill-timed moment of confidence.

When I get my work done here, I am going to make it my summer's task to scour the countryside and find portraits of you and Blair, the kind they used to take of little babies on bearskin rugs, with their bottoms heaving in the air and cute expressions on their pans. These portraits I shall have published in the Dartmouth Alumni Monthly and the New York Times. And possibly the Police Gazette! —FRANK SULLIVAN '14

BARNES SHAKESPEARE PRIZE of about $40 was awarded to Carla Small '44 of Mt. Vernon, for her essay, "Hamlet, a Revenge Tragedy."

NEXT ISSUE IN JULY

This is the last weekly issue of the ALUMNI NEWS for this academic year. It is also the last number of Volume 45.

Our next issue will appear in July, and will contain an important announcement.

Heretofore, the publication year of the NEWS has started with September to accord with the academic year of the University. But students will be entering Cornell in July this year for regular Freshman work, with the University going to its new wartime schedule of three terms a year. Thus a shift in the publication year of the ALUMNI NEWS becomes desirable. So our next issue will be Volume 46, Number 1.

STUDY DEHYDRATED FOODS

Research looking toward improving the dehydrated foods which are going in increasing quantities to US military forces and their Allies is being started at the University with a grant of $3,500 from the Nutrition Foundation, Inc., President Edmund E. Day has announced. Supervised by Professors Leonard A. Maynard, PhD '15, and Willis A. Gortner of the School of Nutrition, studies will be made of "the effect of processing and storage on the nutritive factors in dehydrated vegetables." A similar grant has been made to Columbia University, where scientists will cooperate in the study.

"Importance of maintaining the nutritional value of the dehydrated foods shipped to our forces overseas and through Lend-Lease to our Allies, is generally recognized," Professor Maynard says, "but there is little information on how well these foods retain their protective factors, such as vitamins and minerals." To approximate storage temperatures and time periods as they occur in shipping and field storage, dehydrated vegetables will be stored in high and low temperature cabinets in which humidity is regulated. After undergoing the simulated heat of the tropics and the coolness of other climates, the vegetables will be analyzed for the effect on principal vitamins and minerals.

Samples will also be shipped to Columbia for analysis of "enzyme systems" which might be responsible for nutritive losses. Besides gaining information on the extent of vitamin losses arising from dehydration, it is hoped to correlate the changes in nutrients during storage with certain of the enzyme systems, Dr. Maynard says.

ASSOCIATION DIRECTORS

Commerce and Industry Association of New York has re-elected as directors Neal D. Becker '05, president of the Association and of the Intertype Corp., and Victor Emanuel '19, president of Aviation Corp. Both Cornellians are members of the University Board of Trustees.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

STUDENT COUNCIL at its last meeting before Commencement designated Edward D. Eddy '44 of Ithaca, editor of the Sun, as acting president in the absence of William A. Basse '44 of Highland Park, Mich., who had been elected. Eleanor Dickie '45 of White Plains was appointed chairman of a Freshman orientation program for students entering this summer, and William W. Ward '44 of Haddon Heights, N. J., and Josephine Borland '44 of Oil City, Pa., are co-chairmen of the Cornell-for-Victory Council.

CORNELL-FOR-VICTORY committee as its final activity of the year cooperated with CURW in a campaign which collected more than a ton of clothing to be given to refugees in Europe and more than 1,000 textbooks to be distributed through the International YMCA to students in prison camps. The campaign was headed by Milton Stolaroff '44 of Roswell, N. Mex.

CORSON PRIZE of $50 for the best essay on subjects in French philology or French literature was divided this year between Edward A. Jones, Grad, of Atlanta, Ga., and Peter F. Oliva '44 of Liberty. Jones wrote on "Moliere and the Moderns" and Oliva's subject was "Figaro and the Revolution."

FATHER DONALD M. CLEARY, former Catholic student pastor at the University and now a first lieutenant and chaplain with the 326th Fighter Group, US Army Air Forces, at Westover Field, Mass., preached the masses in the Catholic chapel in Barnes Hall Commencement Sunday, May 23.

CAYUGA HEIGHTS school district re-elected its president of the school board, Charles H. Newman '13, and elected Professor Forrest F. Hill, PhD '30, Agricultural Economics, to the board for three-year terms.

CLASS OF '45 women have elected Margaret Hammersley of Hamburg the Class president, with Thelma E. Emile of Staten Island, vice-president, and Priscilla A. Okie of Lansdowne, Pa., secretary-treasurer.

CORSON BROWNING PRIZE for this year has been awarded to Margaret A. Kirkwood '43 of Wichita, Kans. Her essay, "Browning's Treatment of Evil," won her the choice of a gold medal or $50 for the best competitive essay on Robert Browning.

PHI KAPPA PHI, honor society in Education, has elected Professor George J. Thompson, Law, president of the Cornell chapter. Vice-president is Professor Marion Pfund, Home Economics; and MARCHING MEN in uniform still people the Campus. Most civilian students are gone, for the moment, and Faculty members are catching their breath or finishing up those special jobs in preparation for the rush that is to come next month. The Naval Training School graduated a class of Reserve officers last week, and another delegation of 160 arrived June 1 to take their places. An addition to the Navy mess hall grows apace in preparation for the 1600 apprentice seamen expected July 2, and the Diesel Engine Laboratory on Sage Green is being expanded to twice its present size to take more engines. Squads of the 250 Army enlisted men quartered in Cascadilla march up and down and are drilled daily outside Barton Hall. In the last few days before Commencement, there was frantic scurrying in fraternity houses to store away the furniture in readiness for the occupation of co-eds and the Army and Navy.

the secretary-treasurer, Professor Howard S. Tyler, PhD '38, Agriculture, and Journal correspondent, Elaine Knowles, MS '38, were re-elected. Three members of the Faculty and 103 graduate and undergraduate students were initiated into the society this year.

PSI UPSILON won the two-day interfraternity track meet, leading its nearest rival, Delta Chi, 63½-27½ points. Alpha Delta Phi team scored 27, Tau Epsilon Phi 24, Omega Tau Sigma 14½.

V-BOOK for women of the Class of '47, compiled by Pi Gamma Delta, women's journalistic honor society, will have as co-editors Guinevere G. Griest '44 of Chicago, Ill., and Marjorie O. Sandy '44 of Glenshaw, Pa.

J. G. WHITE PRIZE of $100 for proficiency in Spanish was awarded to Edward D. Lewis of Patchogue, Senior in Mechanical Engineering.

CORNELL DAILY SUN will publish three times a week, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday mornings, through the summer term of the University. Before it suspended publication at the beginning of finals, it announced election of Allen Kaufman '46 of Elizabeth, N. J., as associate editor and Richard Holman '44 of New York City, Albert B. Miller '45 of Richmond Hill, and Eugene Lessere '45 of New York City as editorial assistants. To the news board were elected Winona H. Sherlock '45 of Sharpville, Pa., Caroline M. Steinholz '45 of New York City, Carol P. Nevans '46 of New York City, Elaine J. Schmidt '46 of New York City, and Sylvia R. Siegel '46 of Newark, N. J.

MEMORIAL DAY speaker at exercises at the Soldiers' Monument in the Ithaca City Cemetery was Captain Burton W. Chippendale, USN, commanding the Naval Training School at the University.

NAVAL AVIATION CADETS assigned to the University for ground school and flight training at the Ithaca Airport under the CAA War Training Service now number eighty-one. A new dispensation makes Cornell one of six universities in New York State with enlarged quotas, with others discontinued. Lieutenant Walter Benson, USNR, of the Cadet Selection Board, Third Naval District, is assigned as officer in charge, and Foster M. Coffin '12 is still University coordinator. The men are quartered at 102 West Avenue and 15 South Avenue and eat in the Navy mess hall.

OFFICERS of the Student Law Association for the spring and summer terms are George E. Schott '43 of Elmira, president; Richard I. Fricke '43 of Ithaca, vice-president; and Marcella J. Lipowicz '43 of Buffalo, secretary-treasurer. Fricke is now in the Army.

BESS BERLOW COHAN PRIZE of $100, established in 1939 by Max J. Cohan for award annually to the student who shows greatest progress in combined study of English and the classics, was won this year by Mrs. Herbert L. Marx (Miriam Freund) '43. She is the daughter of Mrs. E. Martin Freund (Rose Boochever) '15 of Albany.

FREDERICK E. JOHNSON, whose boat yard near the mouth of Cascadilla Creek used to be the home port of the small sloops and catboats that Cornellians rented for sailing on the Lake, died May 11. In recent years, the Johnson yard has been the fitting-out place and mooring basin for many of the privately-owned power boats and sailboats at this end of Cayuga Lake.

WOMEN'S GLEE CLUB has elected Nancy P. Clancy '44 of Brookline, Pa., president for next year. Vice-president is Nancy B. Hawkins '44 of Tenafly, N. J.; secretary-treasurer, Betty J. Reynolds '45 of Plainfield, N. J.; manager, Barbara S. Flagg '44 of St. Simon's Island, Ga.

PI LAMBDA PHI fraternity house at 410 Thurston Avenue will be occupied by undergraduate women next year, in addition to the seven others previously reported. The University will operate a dining room there for girls in this and nearby houses. Members of the fraternity who will return have arranged for quarters at 505 Wyckoff Avenue and will take their meals at the Beta Sigma Rho house.

Concerning THE FACULTY

TRUSTEE H. EDWARD BABCOCK, chairman of the New York State Food Commission, Dean Sarah G. Blanding, Home Economics, and Professor William I. Myers '14, Agricultural Economics, will be among the speakers at a Food Forum sponsored by the Dairymen's League Co-operative Association in New York City, June 15-16, "to acquaint the public with the magnitude and importance of the food problem."

ALUMNI TRUSTEE GEORGE H. ROCKWELL '13 plans to go abroad again about June 15 for three or four months on business for the United-Carr Fastener Corp., Cambridge, Mass., of which he is an executive, and other missions. He spent last summer in England, Ireland, and Scotland, where he went to reorganize the British firm of United-Carr Fastener Corp., whose plant near Nottingham is busy with war production.

Mrs. DOROTHY RIDDLE, former librarian of the College of Home Economics, who returned to her home in Australia last August, is working for the South Australia Housing Trust, which deals with the acute housing situation. Her address is "Cartref," 339 Wakefield Street, Adelaide, South Australia.

PROFESSOR GEORGE J. THOMPSON, Law, warns of the steady advance in Federal regulations of business beneath the surface of emergency war powers in an article in the Cornell Law Quarterly and declares this path tends to end in "economic power-politics which has always spelled bloody politics: only those in power eat." He asks, "Can an America so centralized escape the very fate from which it now seeks to deliver other nations, and become the one shining exception on the pages of history?" Professor Thompson taught law at Pei Yang University, China, Harvard University, and Pittsburgh before coming to Cornell in 1926 and is a member of the State Bars of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and the United States Court of China, the extra-territorial body which our country recently relinquished.

PROFESSOR JUAN E. REYNA '98, Agricultural Engineering, has been granted a leave of absence to go to Washington, D. C., as a special consultant and head designing engineer in the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs. Professor Reyna will work on a program to assist Latin American peoples in the production of essential tools and equipment which can no longer be shipped to them from the United States.

THE MAMMALS of Eastern United ★ States, by Professor William J. Hamilton, Jr. '26, Zoology, now a captain in the Army Medical Corps, has appeared from the Comstock Publishing Co. The second volume in a series of Handbooks of American Natural History, it describes the life history of each of the land animals found today east of the Mississippi River. The book includes maps, photographs, and thirty of E. L. Poole's drawings.

PROFESSOR JAMES B. SUMNER and Dr. G. F. Somers, PhD '42, Biochemistry, are authors of a new textbook, Chemistry and Methods of Enzymes, published by The Academic Press, Inc., New York City. It deals with the history, occurrence, action, specificity, activity measurement, preparation, and properties of the most important enzymes.

ORNAMENTAL CRABAPPLE developed by the Late Glen P. Van Eseltine, associate research associate in Horticulture at the Geneva Experiment Station from 1927 until his death in 1938, has been renamed the Van Eseltine from the Geneva Crabapple.

PROFESSOR ARTHUR C. DAHLBERG, Dairying at the Geneva Experiment Station, now on a special mission for the Federal Government in Central America, will transfer July 1 from the Geneva Experiment Station to become professor of Dairy Manufacturing at the University, Dean Carl E. Ladd '12 has announced.

PROFESSOR PHILIP E. MOSELY, who has taught modern European history since 1936, has resigned and is reported to be appointed professor of history at Hunter College, New York City. This year, he has been on leave to work with the division of special research in the State Department. He received the AB in 1927 and the PhD in 1933 at Harvard, spent fifteen months in the Balkan countries, and taught at Princeton and Union before coming to Cornell.

MAX V. EXNER, Extension instructor ★ in music, who entered the Army a year ago, has recovered from injuries received last March 25 when his jeep collided with a truck in the combat area in North Africa and has returned to duty with his Signal Corps unit.

CHARLES E. WILLIAMSON, graduate ★ assistant in Plant Pathology from 1937-42, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Forces upon completion of a course in meteorology at New York University in May. Mrs. Williamson (MILDRED J. HASLETT) '42, has been living in Ithaca.

ROY HARRIS, Composer-in-Residence since 1941, and his wife, Johanna Harris, Music, have resigned. Dr. Harris has been commissioned to compose a Sixth Symphony by Mark Woods, president of the Blue Network.

DR. NORMAN S. MOORE '23, Director of the University Clinic, has been elected second vice-president of the New York State Medical Society.

WESLEY L. HERSHEY, assistant director of CURW, has been granted a year's leave of absence to complete his graduate study at the Yale Divinity School. From June 28 to August 9 he will direct Camp Tousey, the joint Syracuse-Watertown YMCA camp near Watertown.

PROFESSOR VINCENT DU VIGNEAUD, head of the Department of Biochemistry at the Medical College in New York City, was elected chairman of the New York section of the American Chemical Society at a meeting in New York City, May 7. Professor du Vigneaud is the discoverer of the powerful vitamin, biotin. Professor Peter Debye, Chemistry, addressed the meeting on "Reaction Rates in Solution."

THIS COMING YEAR, Robert E. Gard, AM '38, Speech and Drama, will collect historical material for a new Alberta folklore project sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation in the interests of international good will and to help preserve those elements in the "way of life" for which men now fight. The project is based on the one successfully pioneered in New York State by Professor Alex M. Drummond and Gard in four years of research, playwrighting, and play production throughout the State.

ESTHER FORBES, sister of Professor William T. M. Forbes, Grad '09, Entomology, has been awarded the Pulitzer Prize for her book on American history, Paul Revere and the World He Lived In.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

'72 AB—ALBERT OSBORN of Washington Grove, Md., has been at American University, Washington, D. C., for the last fifty-two years and is now serving as historian in his ninety-fourth year. He contributed three poems to the Spirit of America, published in 1943 by the Haven Press, New York City. Osborn was an editor and business manager of the Cornell Era in 1870-71.

JOHN L. COLLYER '17, president of B. F. Goodrich Co., are among the trustees of the Automotive Safety Foundation, Washington, D.C., which is concerned with revision and expansion of a Standard Highway Safety Program to mobilize the highway traffic forces of the nation for wartime service.

'06 AB—Mrs. William L. Spalding (ALICE F. BROWN) has moved from Westfield, N. J., to 5900 Merrymount Road, Westover Hills, Fort Worth, Tex., where her husband is manager of Texas plants for American Cynamid & Chemical Co. They have two sons in the Army. Their daughter is a junior at William & Mary College, Williamsburg, Va.

'07 ME—J. WALTER SCHWARZ is in the industrial sales department of Taylor Instrument Companies, Rochester.

'08 BSA—VAUGHAN MACCAUGHEY is editor of Sierra Educational News, official journal of the California Teachers' Association of which he is secretary. He was head of the department of natural science at Teachers College, Hawaii, from 1908-23 when he became editor of the Educational News. His address is 726 Cragmont Avenue, Berkeley, Cal.

'08 ME—FRED A. POSTEL is a naval architect for the Navy Department in the office of the Supervisor of Shipbuilding, 11 Broadway, New York City. His address is 53 Sperling Street, Fort Wadsworth, S. I.

'09 CE; '08 AB—GEORGE R. B. SYMONDS and Mrs. Symonds (CLAIRE L. SOUTHWORTH) '08 have moved from Nutley, N. J., to 1819 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Symonds is in the office of the Chief of Engineers, US Army.

'10 ME; '40 MS—STANLEY G. ★ PALMER is dean of the College of Engineering at the University of Nevada. His son, Lieutenant Colonel ROBERT S. PALMER, MS '40, was graduated at West Point in 1937.

'10 AM; '14 ME—DIEDRICH H. WARD has been nominated for president of the Life Underwriters Association of the City of New York, Inc. He is with the C. B. Knight Agency of the Union Central Life Insurance Co. and has been administrative vice-president for the last year. J. CARLTON WARD, JR. '14 is his brother.

'11 AB—JAMES S. ELSTON, assistant actuary of The Travelers Insurance Co., Hartford, Conn., has compiled a genealogy "The Elston Family in America." Along with a wide study of census records, Elston has worked on marriage, birth, death, deed and mortgage records in New Jersey, Missouri, Michigan, and Kentucky, and consulted inscriptions in cemeteries from Woodbridge, N. J., to Elston, Mo. He has presented a copy of his book to the University Library.

'12—FRANK MORGAN, who was Frank

Wupperman when he attended Cornell in 1908-09, will play the role of a typical American father in "The White Cliffs of Dover," new MGM picture starring Irene Dunn and based upon the poem by Alice Duer Miller.

'12 B Arch—EDWARD J. O'CONNOR is in New Orleans, La., working for Turner-Raymond Construction Co. on the new Higgins plant there. LOUIS C. BOOCHEVER '12 writes of having dinner with O'Connor and LEOPOLD TSCHIRKY '12, who was visiting in New Orleans.

'13 AB—Tompkins County Attorney CHARLES H. NEWMAN has been reappointed to the committee on American citizenship of the New York Bar Association.

WANTED:

A Cornellian with magazine or newspaper experience, for a full-time, permanent job as assistant editor of a magazine in Ithaca. Duties will include writing and preparing copy, work on layout and makeup, and general assistance in editorial office. Experience in photography will be helpful.

The person required can make more money elsewhere and is probably already doing so. But this job will pay an adequate wage to the right Cornellian, man or woman, who is ready to trade a big-city salary for the many other compensations of living in Ithaca and working in close association with the University. It can start July 1.

Please reply by letter, giving complete information about your qualifications and experience, draft and/or family status, names of persons of whom inquiry about your work can be made, and minimum salary required.

Degrees

Degrees are hot news in June, whether they come from halls of learning or a thermometer out of control. Not everyone rates the alphabet kind, but very few escape the mercury.

Reason enough for choosing a hotel with pleasant airy rooms, wide windows and air-conditioned dining-rooms where, no matter how hot the day, one can entertain one's friends either in the little Lounge Bar or the Wedgwood Room in cool comfort. Add to comfort top food and service, a smart Fifth Avenue address, easy transportation, and you have the

MEN IN SERVICE!

To receive your ALUMNI NEWS regularly, it is important that you keep us informed of your correct address.

A new Postoffice Department order requires that periodicals mailed to Army addresses outside the United States must come direct from the publisher only, and upon written request of the subscriber. If your paper has been forwarded from your home, it must now be mailed directly to you by us if through an APO. So be sure to send us your service address at once.

No matter where you are in military service, your NEWS will reach you most promptly if it comes direct. We are glad to change your address as often as we are notified.
