Violets on Schoellkopf in Full Bloom--Sept. 25

That's the date of Cornell's first football game of the 1948 season—New York University's Violets will provide the opposition in what should be the most attractive inaugural at Ithaca in many seasons.

After NYU, The Big Red will be at home on these occasions:

Oct. 9.....	Harvard
Oct. 23.....	Army
Nov. 6.....	Colgate
Nov. 13.....	Dartmouth

YOU'LL LIKE THIS TEAM BETTER THAN ANY YOU'VE SEEN
SINCE 1940!

Get your reservations now, but if you must stay at home, order the programs—They have a distinct alumni appeal in recalling the past while keeping pace with the present—Feature stories by those who in their undergraduate days covered Cornell sports events are to be offered by Frank Gannett, Harry Stutz, Ralph Owen, Bob Hutchinson and Bill Waters, along with Rym Berry whose articles will appear in all home game programs.

Try to see this new Cornell team, but if you can't then order the home game programs which will be mailed the Sunday after each event upon receipt of a check for $1.75, payable to "CUAA—Programs."

Why water gets better all the time

Most people take purified water for granted today. But water now gets other scientific "treatments" as well . . . to do highly specialized jobs.

New chemicals, for example, make hard water soft . . . for a quicker, cleaner job of washing and laundering. And, important to industry, are other chemicals that war on corrosion . . . and lower the freezing point of water.

There is wetter-water, too . . . water chemically treated so that it penetrates more quickly, spreads more evenly. It helps do a better dyeing job on the clothes we wear. In fire-fighting, wetter-water soaks in faster, quenches stubborn blazes swiftly . . . and cuts fire and water damage.

To get the full benefits of water, we need today's engineering advances and better materials. New plastics now used in our tough, long-lasting, lightweight garden hose. Also, improved alloy steels in today's pumps, pipelines, tanks . . . that bring water from reservoir to your home or factory, where it's always on tap.

The people of Union Carbide produce these and many other materials essential to the handling and treatment of water. They also produce hundreds of other materials for the use of science and industry, thus helping maintain American leadership in meeting the needs of mankind.

"Will you marry me?"

"I know I haven't got much to offer right now. But I love you and I'll work hard. And someday——"

Is that enough for marriage? Certainly it is. With her love and help, there'll be no stopping you.

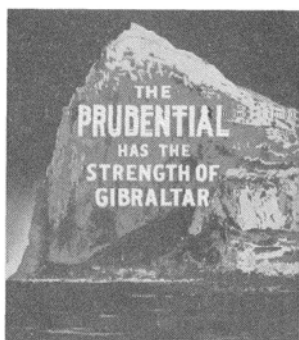

The girl you've chosen wants happiness more than wealth and possessions. And if she's like most wives, a great deal of her happiness will depend on a simple feeling of security.

The Prudential's business is providing security. You will find that the Prudential—through a life insurance plan within your means—enables you to offer your wife guaranteed protection for the future which is worth a very great deal in terms of happiness now.

One of the advantages of seeing a representative of the Prudential is that he will show you how you can determine your own needs for protection.

Alumni Fund Sets New Record With $407,611 from 14,210 Givers

FROM PRESIDENT DAY:

That the 14,210 donors who contributed $407,611 through the Alumni Fund in 1947-48 broke all records is not a surprise. Breaking records has become the normal way for the Fund to do business.

"But I wonder if Cornellians realize how much their support means to the University. If this sum had not been available, the surplus of $22,544 in the academic operation at the end of the fiscal year would have been replaced by a deficit of some $375,000—a formidable amount even in a financial operation the size of ours. To put it another way, the 14,210 donors, by their combined efforts, gave the University a sum equal to the income on $10,000,000 of additional endowment.

"That is a great achievement. To the donors, the Class representatives, the national leaders under the splendid direction of Harold Edwards, to all who in any way took part in the Fund's work, I say again that you have my heartfelt thanks and the deepest gratitude of the University."

CORNELL Alumni Fund of unrestricted gifts for current expenses of the University for the year which ended June 30 shows unprecedented gain and has again set new high records, with a total of $407,611.04 given by 14,210 contributors. This exceeds the previous year's high total by nearly $54,000 and is a gain of 1245 contributors.

Several Classes Excel

A new record for any Class was set by '13 men under chairmanship of Jessel S. Whyte as the Class Alumni Fund representative. The '13 total of $40,230.03 from 372 donors, as its Thirty-five-year Anniversary gift, exceeds by more than $7,000 the 1946-47 record-breaking Thirty-year gift of 1917. Whyte and Joseph C. J. Strahan organized and directed the nation-wide efforts of a '13 Fund committee of more than 150 Classmates.

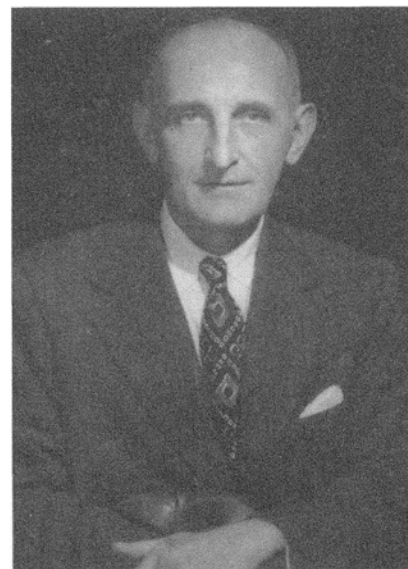

Quinquennial Anniversary Classes, organized under the chairmanship of Willard I. Emerson '19, gave to the 1947-48 Alumni Fund more than $180,000. Under chairmanship of P. Paul Miller, the Quinquennial Class of '18 men also exceeded its Thirty-year Anniversary goal of $1000 for each year out of college, with $31,125.62 from 350 contributors. Effective work by the Class committee brought gifts to the Fund considerably greater than any previous '18 total.

With 3,442 members of Class committees personally soliciting Classmates for the Fund and the resulting competition between Classes, more of them show increases both in number of contributors and in amount given than ever before. The Class tabulation shows that seventy-nine committees achieved a gain over the previous year in amount and seventy-five committees increased the number of donors.

Following the record-breaking performances of '13 and '18, the men of '08 with Herbert E. Mitler as Class representative took third place in amount given. Next come '14 men under chairmanship of Edward M. Carman, with '10, led by Harold T.

Edwards, president of the Fund Council, in fifth place.

Alumni Fund Class representative and chairman of '13 committee responsible for a record total from any Class

In number of donors, '13 and '18 men also lead. Next in order come the '21 men with Willard A. Kiggins their Class representative; '20 directed by Donald E. Leith; and '14. In percentage of living members contributing, the Class of '97 repeated its Fifty-year Anniversary achievement of leading all other Classes, with 72 per cent giving. Next is the Class of '95 under Harry J. Clark. The Class of '96 with Allen E. Whiting as Fund representative celebrated its Fifty-year Anniversary with third place and by also setting a new record for the Class. '13 and '14 are fourth and fifth, respectively, in percentage of contributors.

Alumnae Also Gain

Both number and amount of gifts from alumnae show the greatest increases ever, with 1245 more contributors giving $4,812.99 more than last year. A women's committee under chairmanship of Mrs. Roger M. Woolley (Virginia Van Vranken) '25, operating for the second year, assisted the Classes to organize with evident results.

Women of '23, under chairmanship of Mrs. W. O. Wyckoff (Katharine Slater) again top all others both in amount given and number of donors. Second place in both is taken by '26, led by Mrs. George H. Hill (Dorothy Lampe). In third place in amount collected are '20 women with Mrs. Leif G. Jensen (Alice Callahan) as Fund representative; followed by '24, Florence Daly; and '27, Mrs. Stanley C. Allen (Sylvia Wells). Class of '24 is third in number of donors, with '27 fourth and the Class of '43, led by Peggy Pierce, in fifth place.

In percentage of women contributing, the Class of '12 leads, with Mrs. Karl E. Pfeiffer (Annie Bullivant) as Fund representative. Next is '23, then '03 under Lucy N. Tomkins, followed by '16 under Mrs. Lloyd E. Moore (Helen Irish), and '14 with Eva M. Haigh as chairman.

Edwards Summarizes Result

Harold T. Edwards '10, president of the Alumni Fund Council the last two years and chairman of the Greater Cornell Committee which is engaged in raising capital funds for the University, says of the 1947-48 Alumni Fund:

"The year's all-time record in amount and number of givers shows that when organized and cognizant of needs, Cornellians in loyalty and efforts are not exceeded by any alumni body. Last year's Alumni Fund tops Dartmouth in amount and may well lead Yale, whose figures are as yet unreported. If this be so, Cornell has gone from third in 1946-47 to the nation's top.

"Advised that extraordinary help for the Fund was needed to enable Cornell to maintain its high educational standards without budgetary deficits, the alumni, spurred by the Class representatives, gave that help. Felicitations and appreciation are indeed due to all.

"Team play accomplished this result. An increased number of Class representatives were in it: nearly 3,500, distributed among the old and young Classes and men and women. From '98 and '97's high amounts and theirs and '95's superb percentages of givers, to the magnificent efforts of Q Classes like '13 and '18, not to omit '08 and '23, the improvement was general. Especially noteworthy is the record of the younger men's Classes: all from '30 to '47 except one Q Class of the previous year show increases in amount given. The women's Classes also show fine improvement, being up considerably in number of contributors and up about 20 per cent in amount.

"The 1947-48 result, viewed against a total Alumni Fund of but $75,000 nine years ago and with the Fund now a great bulwark for Cornell, is an augury for the Fund's participation with the Greater Cornell Committee in the University's coming drive for $12,500,000 plus in capital and other funds."

Living Costs Increase

ALL students who had arranged to live in University dormitories this fall were mailed a letter dated August 2 from Vice-president George F. Rogalsky '07 announcing increases in the rates for room and board, and explaining the reasons for this action by the Trustees.

Rates beginning this fall for rooms in the permanent men's dormitories are $225 to $323 a year and in the temporary men's dormitories, $151 to $185. Room, board, and laundry for women now costs $850 a year; most women are required to live and eat in the University dormitories.

Rogalsky's letter follows:

At the last meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, held July 24, 1948, the results of the past academic year's operations of the dormitory and dining divisions of the University came under critical review. The net deficit for the last year, (July 1, 1947-June 30, 1948), reached the staggering sum of $235,489.80. In the previous academic year the deficit was $119,144.38. In the middle of that year it became necessary to adjust the salaries and hourly wages of the entire staff and to adopt a basic 40-hour week, with time and a half for overtime. If that had not been done, we would have had to face the loss of substantial numbers of our employees and, with no adequate replacements in sight, the effect of such losses would have been disastrous. Last year was the first in which the full impact of this adjustment was effective, but it was hoped these increased costs might be partially offset by a lower cost of food and housekeeping supplies. In fact, early last spring basic food and housekeeping supplies did weaken and it looked as though the peak had been passed; therefore only a modest increase in room and board rates was made. This downward movement, however, only turned out to be a temporary flurry and soon prices again resumed their steady and relentless advance. For instance, in June came an increase of 20 cents in the price of coal, followed early in July, thanks to John L. Lewis's new contract for his miners, by another 55 cent increase. We use in our Central Heating Plant some 40,000 tons of coal annually; these two sudden increases alone will cost us $30,000, and that figure does not include the increased freight rates. Our dormitories are large users of heat.

The two annual deficits, aggregating some $345,000, more than wiped out the accumulated dining and dormitory reserves that had been carefully husbanded over the years to take care of the inevitable "rainy day." In fact we enter the year $26,140.84 in the red. The Trustees state that the University cannot afford to subsidize the living expenses of our students, that they more than have their hands full in trying to cover the ever-increasing academic costs, as may be gathered from the fact that to meet such costs and to cover the academic deficit already incurred, they are putting on a campaign for some $12,500,000 of new funds which they expect to raise in the next two years.

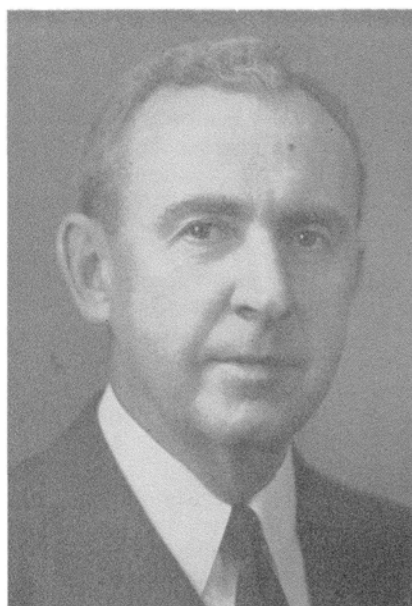

Increases in the charges for room and board are therefore unavoidable. For the men living in our dormitories, the increase in room rents has been fixed at $50 each for the next academic year, or $12.50 a quarter, over and above the rates announced last spring; for the women, the rates for room and board have been increased by $100 for the academic year, or $25 a quarter, over and above the rate announced last spring.

However, the Trustees also took into consideration that in this inflationary period there undoubtedly are a number of you who may find these increases difficult and burdensome to meet. To help those of you so situated, the Trustees have made it possible for you to avoid all or part of this increased charge, if you will inconvenience yourself to the extent of "doubling up"; i.e., sharing a room with another student. Those now in a room that is normally a double may elect to take in a third person, with a proportionately somewhat smaller saving to each occupant. In some locations it will not be possible to double up; if the lessee of such a room wants to avoid the increased rate, he will be assigned wherever possible to a room with a roommate. If you are interested in "doubling up," you should notify the Office of Residential Halls not later than August 20, making any suggestions you have. The Department will endeavor to carry out your suggestions. If you have none, the Department will use its best judgment. Some adjustments will, of necessity, be deferred until the opening of school.

It was this expedient of "doubling up" that enabled us to get through the war years without deficits, and if we do the same in our war against inflation, we may again win out and get back to normal sooner. In other words, these higher costs of today can partially be met by intensified occupancy of our dormitory space wherever that may be practical. We know it isn't ideal, but it does help the student with limited means, and it helps pull your University out of a financial hole.

There, ladies and gentlemen, you have the story. We hope you will all realize that only the utmost necessity impelled the Trustees to take the above action. We beg your wholehearted co-operation. It may be expecting too much, human nature being what it is, to hope for a unanimous acceptance of this new program. If you have gripes, please let the writer have them and don't take them out on the subordinate members of the staff that perforce must carry out their duties as prescribed.

Back in 1940, our rate for board and room to our women students was $525; rooms in our men's dormitories averaged $190. Including the new rates, the total increase in board and room to our women students since 1940 is $325, or 62%; the total average increase in our rates to our men students (room only) is $75, or approximately 40%. Compare these increases with the indices of the US Bureau of Labor Statistics: On food the index in 1940 equalled 96.6; in May, 1948, (latest available figure) the food index equalled 210.9. The fuel index in 1940 equalled 96.3; in March, 1948, (latest available figure) the fuel index is 166. On house furnishings the index in 1940 equalled 100.5; in May, 1948, (latest available figure) the house furnishings index is 193.6. Whether we can hold the line with these new rates remains to be seen. With the whole hearted co-operation of all of you we certainly will try our best to do so.

The Board of Trustees at its June meeting approved an increase in tuition and fees in the School of Nursing in New York, beginning the fall of 1949, from $301 to $560 for the three-year course. Tuition will be increased from $200 for the three years to $450, with small increases in other fees. In addition to tuition and fees paid to the University, students in the School of Nursing pay other fees totalling $75.75 to the Visiting Nurse Service and to student organizations.

Brokers Fifty Years

CELEBRATING its fiftieth year of continuous operation under the same name is the brokerage firm of Jas. H. Oliphant & Co. of New York and Chicago. The company confines its activities to a commission business and does no underwriting; in addition to brokerage work, they supervise several hundred investment portfolios. Among the eleven partners, all of whom have come up through the organization, are four Cornellians: John J. Bryant, Jr. '98, Floyd W. Mundy '98, Winton G. Rossiter '11, and Floyd W. Mundy, Jr. '27. New York City offices are at 61 Broadway.

Meet in Korea

CORNELLIANS in Seoul, Korea, gave a picnic send-off, July 11, to Kim Hong Bom, 1942 graduate of Waseda University in Tokyo, Japan, and chief of the supply section, department of agriculture, of the South Korean Government, who comes to the Graduate School to study Farm Management. Those who attended were Edgar A. J. Johnson, chief advisor to the US Military Governor of Korea and former assistant professor of Economics, and Mrs. Johnson; Bruce L. Melvin, former member of the Rural Social Organization Faculty, now in the Office of Property Custody, and Mrs. Melvin, MS '28; Sidney L. Suib '39, entomologist with the Military Government, XXIV Corps; J. Leslie Grimes '42, in the Office of Civil Information, and Mrs. Grimes; Robert J. Manovil '43 of the Department of Agriculture, Military Government; and the Rev. James H. Moore, MS '46, Methodist missionary.

Collyer Heads Fund

PRESIDENT Edmund E. Day announced in July appointment of John L. Collyer '17 (above) as national chairman of the Greater Cornell Fund. Objective of the Fund is $12,500,000 to be raised in two years to meet the most urgent needs of the University, the first phase of a long-range development program. The Greater Cornell Committee, composed of 270 Cornellians and other friends of the University, which was organized last May to assist the Board of Trustees to meet the immediate and long-range needs, is still headed by Harold T. Edwards '10, attorney in New York City and for the last two years president of the Alumni Fund Council.

Collyer, former Varsity oarsman and rowing coach, is president of the B. F. Goodrich Co., Akron, Ohio, chairman of the business advisory council of the US Department of Commerce, a trustee of the Committee for Economic Development, and a member of a special committee of business men appointed by President Truman to advise on the extent of economic aid from the United States to other countries. In 1945, he was director of rubber programs for the War Production Board, and received the Medal for Merit for his "foresight, ability, and energy in the development and execution of a program to provide the armed forces and the country with rubber products needed in the war efforts."

He received the ME in 1917 and is president of the Class of '17, a director of the Cornell Research Foundation and a member of the Council for the State School of Industrial and Labor Relations; was elected a Trustee of the University by the Board in 1941 and re-elected in 1945 for a five-year term; is a member of the Trustee planning and development committee. He became vice-president of Dunlop Tire & Rubber Co. in Buffalo in 1923, went to England in 1929 as works director of Dunlop Rubber Co., Ltd. and there became the company's director of manufacture and then managing director, going to Goodrich as president in 1939. Member of Chi Phi and Quill and Dagger, he was captain of the Varsity crew as a Junior and assistant coach as a Senior and was president of the Student Council.

Middletown Women

AT a picnic meeting at her home, June 19, of the Cornell Women's Club of Middletown, the president, Mrs. George D. Musser (Maxine Montgomery) '18, reported on the Federation annual meeting in Ithaca. Mrs. J. L. DeJong (Esther Grimes) '18 was a guest. A gift and a red and white corsage were presented to Mary L. McCutcheon '42 in honor of her approaching marriage to Richard Milburn of Middletown. Fannie H. Dudley '15 assisted the hostess.

Summer Was Busy

SUMMER SESSION enrolment in some 400 courses was 2449 students, from forty-three States and eighteen foreign countries. This is somewhat fewer than the 1947 record-breaking enrolment of 2775. The Graduate School had 1096 students in the six-week Summer Session ending August 14, most of whom were teachers and school officials. Of the 1353 undergraduates enrolled, 1062 were candidates for degrees. About 120 persons registered for unit courses in Hotel Administration and sixty-six in an Extension school in Agriculture and Home Economics.

About 150 Arts and Sciences undergraduates who are war veterans and who maintained high standing in the regular Summer Session are continuing in a dozen courses, ending September 17. A full term of instruction was given to students in the Law School and Chemical Engineering ending September 4, in Architecture to September 11, and to students in the cooperative program with industry from Electrical and Mechanical Engineering ending September 18.

Besides regular course instruction, the summer has seen a constant succession of conferences and short courses which have brought several hundred persons in many fields to the University.

Forty physiologists and pharmacologists came from twenty-five veterinary and medical colleges for lecture-demonstrations on methods of teaching physiology by Professor Henry H. Dukes, Veterinary, July 5-10. Some forty professional workers and officials attended the first session, July 5-16, of the State Institute for Public Welfare, sponsored by the Department of Rural Sociology, and about sixty the second session, July 26-August 6. About 350 members of the State Extension Service in Agriculture and Home Economics, including many alumni, were here for their annual conference, July 8-10. July 12-24 brought twenty-five city supervisors of home economics from fourteen States for a "workshop" in Van Rensselaer Hall. At the same time, the College of Engineering was host to some sixty "students" from the machine tool industry for a two-week course in sales engineering. July 19 and 20 brought seventy-five professional workers for the Annual State Nutrition Institute. New York State Flower Growers, Inc. had 150 members at their annual meeting in the Plant Science Building, July 22. About forty industrial executives attended the second annual conference of plant training directors sponsored by the School of Industrial and Labor Relations, July 18-20. Immediately followed in Barnes Hall a ten-day Institute of International Relations held by the American Friends Service Committee with 150 delegates from New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

Britons Study Here

Especially interesting and interested were twenty-two representatives in America of British industrial and commercial concerns who spent two weeks, August 2-14, some with their families, learning about American small-town and rural life, as taught by British-born Professor Frederick G. Marcham, PhD '26, History, and many others of the University and in nearby communities. Members of the State Legislature joint committee on housing and multiple dwellings and of its lay advisory council deliberated here August 9 and 10 proposed legislation in this field. Nearly 300 chicken and turkey raisers from ten States, including Henry B. Wallace, son of the Presidential candidate from Iowa, came to exchange experiences and learn the latest practices at the Agriculture and Veterinary Colleges, August 10-12. Industrial and Labor Relations School held a seminar for church workers of the State, August 12-14. Sixty-six bankers of the Northeast enrolled for their third annual school in Agriculture, August 16-20. August 25-31, the School of Industrial and Labor Relations was host to a conference of college and university teachers on the teaching of labor economics. Some 500 operators of milk and dairy plants, manufacturers of dairy products, and officials, were expected for their annual dairy industry conference at the College of Agriculture, September 2 and 3.

Now, in My Time!

By Conway Perry

THE Ithaca Journal publishes in each issue a brief resumé of what was going on fifty years ago downtown and in the University. Old Timers turn to that column at once, after a quick preliminary glance at the headlines, the weather report, the obituaries, and the baseball scores.

The fifty-year item has not yet caught up with your correspondent, but it's getting close; we can feel its hot breath on our heaving flanks. It's beginning to mention familiar names and events that were still being talked about when we arrived. Next summer, we'll be able to check the Journal for accurate reporting against the photographic memory of a newly-arrived Cornell sub-Freshman. After that, no doubt, the headlines, the weather, the obituaries, and the baseball scores will just have to wait until we've read and digested the spot news of 1899!

The human memory is a strange piece of mechanism. At the moment of going to press, we'd be put to it to recall where we put our hat and spectacles just a moment ago, but the picture of Cornell University, Ithaca, and Renwick Park as they were in 1899 stands fixed upon our retina in the clear-cut lines of a steel engraving.

The tutoring school of Professor Piute Jones, in which we became enrolled as a member on July 5, conducted recitations in Barnes Hall every afternoon from 3 to 6. From breakfast on each day, the students were expected to study intensively in their rooms: mathematics exclusively on one day, Greek the next, and Latin on the third. But after supper every day, and all day on Sunday, they were sternly admonished to relax, divert their minds, and exercise their bodies.

And what a place to relax in and divert the mind was the Cornell and the Ithaca of 1899! The very first Sunday the new trolley-line was ceremoniously opened across Tripphammer Bridge, over the newly-developed Cornell Heights, and back over Fall Creek gorge by way of Stewart Avenue. On that day, all rides were free. Every night, Patsy Conway's Band gave free concerts at Renwick (now Stewart) Park and everybody went. Each fraternity house apparently was open and in operation for the special benefit of Sibley students getting off their shop work. And the second week, there was a Firemen's Convention which filled the town for five days and made it a bad time for anybody to have a fire. Most everything was free again except the public dances in Military Hall, for which the charge was a nickel a dance. Your correspondent had never before seen that system in operation and regarded it as particularly ingenious.

We roomed that summer on Catherine Street, one of those short highways which connect Huestis Street (now College Avenue) with Eddy, and took our meals at a boarding house at the top of Buffalo Hill. Board was $3 a week and the room was $1 for the summer, $2 a week after the University opened.

That is enough to indicate to readers of all ages how exciting will be the fifty-year column of the Ithaca Journal when it begins to report anew the news of the spectacular summer of 1899. We shall read eagerly of the arrival in town of the new man engaged to be both trainer of the football team and coach of track: the name, John F. Moakley. The Cornell Navy will hereafter build its own shells at the boathouse under the direction of John Hoyle, lately imported from Philadelphia. Some time later, it will make the suicidal error of giving a second-hand boat to the University of Washington to encourage that institution to take up rowing as a sport. That act of generosity now seems to have been as unintelligent as shipping scrap iron to Japan in 1940!

We'll be curious to see just how the Journal handles in 1949 a news item to which it gave no play at all in 1899: the engagement as a flat-foot reporter of Frank Gannett '98, who now owns the sheet along with many others.

Coaching Staff Changes

NEW assistant coaches in track and wrestling were appointed in mid-summer, along with reassignments in the football staff under Head Coach George K. James.

Louis C. Montgomery of Buffalo was named assistant track coach, succeeding Edward G. Ratkoski '35 who resigned early in July to enter business in Ithaca. For many years, Montgomery has been the starter for Cornell's outdoor and indoor meets here. He has coached teams at Bennett and Kensington High Schools in Buffalo to eighteen district championships in the last twenty years. His cross country teams have won six championships. Montgomery was graduated from Indianapolis, Ind., Normal College in 1924.

Erie J. Miller, Jr. '44 was named assistant wrestling coach and will be acting coach during the 1948-49 season, pending the recovery from illness of Coach Walter C. O'Connell '11. He will be assisted, after the football season, by Pat Filley, who handled the team last season after Coach O'Connell was stricken in December, 1947.

Miller won the Eastern Intercollegiate 145-pound championship when he was captain of the Varsity wrestling team in 1946. He held the National AAU title at that weight in 1945 and 1946, representing the Ithaca YMCA. This year, he placed third in the AAU title tests and third in the final Olympic trials. Miller joined the Naval Air Corps in 1940. At the Iowa Pre-flight School, he was assistant wrestling coach under Coach Archie Matthews, formerly of Washington and Lee. He received the BS in 1946; is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho and Quill and Dagger; has been assistant county agent in Cortland County.

For the football practice season opening September 2, James designated Arthur B. Boeringer line coach, Alva E. Kelley '41 end coach, and Harold F. McCullough '41 backfield coach. McCullough coached the Freshman team a year ago, and will be succeeded there by Edward I. Pierce, who directed the 150-pound squad last year. Pierce's assistant last year, Thomas J. Kane '46, brother of Robert J. Kane '34, Director of Physical Education and Athletics, will coach the lightweights this fall. The other assistant coaches are Mose P. Quinn, Filley, and Robert L. Culen. There will be no Junior Varsity coach this year. Teams will be chosen from the Varsity squad for Junior Varsity contests.

Tennis Players Win

A CORNELL tennis team won the annual Eastern Intercollegiate tennis tournament at Montclair, N.J., early in July. This was in addition to the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association title. Cornell was represented by Captain Richard Savitt '50 and Leonard L. Steiner '51, No. 1 and 2, respectively, on the Varsity last spring.

In the individual title competition at Montclair, Steiner lost in the semifinals to Charles Oliver of the US Military Academy. Oliver and Savitt met in the final, with Oliver the victor, 6-3, 3-6, 6-4, 8-10, 6-1. Savitt thus gave up the singles title he won the year before.

Savitt and Steiner combined with two Princeton players, William Vogt and Dean Mathey, to defeat an Oxford-Cambridge team from England at Sea Bright, N.J., July 17. Savitt defeated the British No. 1 player, J. P. Jackson of Oxford, Irish champion, 6-4, 6-3, and Steiner defeated L. T. Highewitt of Cambridge, 6-0, 6-1. Savitt and Steiner also won two doubles matches.

In the New York State championships at Forest Hills, Savitt went to the semifinal round, where he lost to Don McNeill. McNeill also eliminated Steiner in an earlier round.

Fall Sports Schedules

CORNELL teams will have forty-six contests in football, soccer, and cross country this fall. The schedules:

Varsity Football

- Sept. 25 New York University at Ithaca
- Oct. 2 US Naval Academy at Baltimore
- 9 Harvard at Ithaca
- 16 Syracuse at Syracuse
- 23 US Military Academy at Ithaca
- 30 Columbia at New York
- Nov. 6 Colgate at Ithaca
- 13 Dartmouth at Ithaca
- 25 Pennsylvania at Philadelphia

Junior Varsity Football

- Oct. 8 Cortland State Teachers at Cortland
- 15 Syracuse at Ithaca
- 23 US Military Academy at Ithaca
- Nov. 25 Pennsylvania at Philadelphia

Freshman Football

- Oct. 9 Cortland State Teachers at Ithaca
- 16 Kiski School at Saltsburg
- 30 Syracuse at Ithaca
- Nov. 6 Colgate at Ithaca
- 20 Pennsylvania at Ithaca

150-Pound Football

- Oct. 16 Rutgers at Ithaca
- 22 US Naval Academy at Annapolis
- 30 Princeton at Princeton

- Nov. 6 Pennsylvania at Ithaca
- 12 Villanova at Ithaca

Varsity Soccer

- Oct. 2 US Naval Academy at Annapolis
- 9 Harvard at Ithaca
- 16 Princeton at Princeton
- 23 US Military Academy at Ithaca
- 30 Pennsylvania at Ithaca
- Nov. 6 Colgate at Ithaca
- 13 Penn State at State College
- 20 Syracuse at Syracuse

Freshman Soccer

- Oct. 2 Sampson College at Ithaca
- 9 Manlius School at Ithaca
- 16 Colgate at Ithaca
- 22 Manlius School at Manlius
- 29 Syracuse at Syracuse
- Nov. 12 Sampson College at Sampson

Varsity Cross Country

- Oct. 2 Colgate at Ithaca
- 9 Dartmouth at Hanover
- 15 US Military Academy at West Point
- 22 Syracuse at Syracuse

- Nov. 6 Heptagonals at New York City
- 15 Intercollegiates at New York City

Freshman Cross Country

- Oct. 22 Syracuse at Syracuse
- Nov. 15 Intercollegiates at New York City

Crew Fails Olympics

THE Varsity crew, fourth in the Intercollegiates at Poughkeepsie June 22, failed to make the Olympic grade in tryouts on Lake Carnegie at Princeton, June 30-July 4.

Cornell started the trials by defeating Harvard and the West Side Rowing Club of Buffalo over a 2,000-meter course in a record-smashing 5:56.4. The old mark of 6:04.8 was set by Washington in 1936. Princeton, Washington, and California also won their heats in the opening round.

But the Olympic system provides a second chance for beaten crews. In the "repechage" heats, Harvard, the West Side Club, and Yale won. The luck of the draw put Cornell and Harvard into the same semi-final heat. This time Harvard won; by a full length. In the final, however, Harvard bowed to California, with Princeton third. California went on to win the Olympic championship at Henley, England.

Four members of the Cornell crew then formed a combination for the four-oared competition, with coxswain. They were Albert B. Bishop III '50, bow; Wilbur R. Dameron '49, No. 2; Charles P. E. von Wrangell '47, No. 3; and Richard L. Randolph '48, stroke; with Lloyd L. Conable, Jr. '49, coxswain. They borrowed a shell from the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia. The Cornell four lost to the Shrewsbury, Mass., Rowing Club in the first round and to the West Side Rowing Club in the "repechage" heats.

Von Wrangell was chosen by coaches and officials at the trials a member of an all-America crew. He and O'Connor of Princeton and Strong of Harvard were almost unanimous choices.

And as the rowing season ended, the oarsmen elected Junior Peter B. Allsopp '46 of New York City, No. 4 in the Varsity crew, as captain for 1949, succeeding Allen Webster '44 of Clinton Corners, the Varsity bow last season.

For the Record

The Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League season closed in last June with Dartmouth the champion for the fourth time since 1930, and Cornell in fifth place with three victories and four defeats. Cornell was fifth in team batting with .238 and ninth in fielding with .913. Cornell led the League in double plays, with six, and turned in the only triple play of the season.

Robert C. Mealey '51 of Malverne set a new Cornell record for the 880-yard run, June 26, when he finished second to Pearman of NYU in the Metropolitan AAU championships at Randall's Island, New York City. Mealey was timed in 1:52.3, as compared to the 1:53.4 set by David S. Caldwell '14 at Cambridge, Mass., May 30, 1914. Seeking an Olympic berth in the National AAU meet at Milwaukee, Wis., July 4, Mealey was eliminated in the 800 meters when he fell on the first lap.

Robert J. Kane '34, Director of Physical Education and Athletics, has been elected president of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America for the second time. He succeeds R. Kenneth Fairman of Princeton. Kane also headed the Association in 1941-42.

Writing a guest "Sport Tower" column in The Ithaca Journal August 10, Kane remarked that "for the first time the Athletic Association is receiving almost daily requests for permission to buy season tickets by non-residents of Ithaca. Sorry, no sale."

The basketball team will play Alabama, Illinois, and Muhlenberg, among others, next season. Cornell will play Illinois at Champaign, December 21, and Alabama, December 30 in Buffalo Memorial Auditorium. The game with Muhlenberg, Middle Atlantic Conference champion the last two years, will be in Barton Hall, February 2, 1949.

Intramural athletics attracted 8,078 participants last year. All told, there were 42 leagues, 546 teams, and 1,426 contests in golf, tennis, touch football, swimming, boxing, basketball, table tennis, billiards, skiing, track, volleyball, badminton, wrestling, fencing, softball, and cross country.

Letters

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

Thanks From Trustee

TO THE ALUMNI:

I wish to express my gratitude to you for your confidence in electing me and as an expression of my appreciation I pledge to perform the duties assigned to me to the best of my ability.—JOHN S. PARKE '23

Physicists Still Able

TO THE EDITOR:

When I studied for the Doctorate in Physics at Cornell, I was privileged to have a most able and eminent committee: Richtmyer, Bedell, Merritt, and Murdock. The first three mentioned are no longer Campus figures; two are dead and one is retired.

I felt, and rightly enough, that such men could not be replaced. On my last visit to the Campus, in May of this year, I attended Physics seminars and was agreeably impressed: the eminence of the Cornell Physics Faculty has been maintained. Following Richtmyer, Bedell, and Merritt is a group of extraordinarily able young men, and these in turn have attracted graduate students of real promise.

I noticed another thing on my visit: gone is the dilettante from the Cornell scene. The veteran has proved to be a valuable "shot in the arm" for campuses in general. There is a new earnestness and keenness for learning. One cannot fail to regard this as an improvement.

This being the case, an old grad's heart is warmed. These are signs, and definite ones, that the maintenance of Cornell's eminence among universities is assured.—F. R. HIRSH, JR. '26

Have Teaching Fellows

TO EMERSON HINCHLIFF:

I have read with interest your column in the April 1 ALUMNI NEWS which deals with operations of the Division of Modern Languages. It seems to me you have made as good a report as you were able to within such short compass. However, there is one statement in your column which I feel is incorrect and misleading. It reads: "A loss already visible is the absence of young graduate students working for the PhD and earning money on the side while accumulating the knowledge that can best be acquired by attempting to teach the subject to someone else." The implication is that Cornell will no longer turn out qualified graduate students in language and literature who have had teaching experience as part of their preparation.

It would hardly be worthwhile taking exception to your statement if it did not echo what seems to be an opinion rather widely held on the Campus. I should hope that the knowledge that there are now twelve graduate students who are giving instruction as teaching fellows in the Division might help to lay this ghost. Professors Bishop and Dale tell me there has been no significant change in the number of teaching fellows in Romance Studies since the organization of the Division of Modern Languages. Professor Lange feels that such change as there has been [in Germanic Studies] represents an improvement.

Two of our present instructors in Spanish completed their Doctorates here while holding teaching fellowships in the Division. Two other instructors started the year as graduate teaching fellows, but temporarily dropped their studies when the opportunity for full-time instruction showed up. Finally, it should be mentioned that three teaching fellows who completed the Doctorate in the Division last year have gone to teaching posts at other universities.

We aren't doing so badly by graduate students!—J. M. COWAN, Director, Division of Modern Languages

Vassar Fathers

VASSAR Alumnae Magazine tabulates the college affiliations of last fall's entering freshmen at Vassar and finds that Cornellian fathers were third in number with 28, behind Yale with 4 and Harvard with 44. Twenty-seven fathers of the Vassar class of '51 went to Columbia and 25 are Princeton alumni.

New "Ivy League"

IVY LEAGUE of Northern California was organized at its first annual picnic, June 5, when twenty-three Cornellians of Classes ranging from '02 to '41 joined with alumni of Brown, Columbia, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Yale in a successful field day at the American Legion Cabin near San Anselmo. Athletic contests gave Dartmouth first place in tennis and baseball and third in golf for the award of a ship's bell for use at their alumni luncheons. Cornell was second in golf; Princeton took first in golf and third in baseball; Columbia was second in tennis, with Brown third; and Yale took second in baseball. General chairman was Seibert L. Sefton '29.

Work Starts on Statler Hall For Hotel Administration

EXCAVATING began August 2 for Statler Hall, given to the University to house the Department of Hotel Administration. The same day, to clear the site for the new building, demolition was started of four former Faculty homes on East Avenue above Sage College and in front of Barton Hall.

Statler Hall is the gift of the Statler Foundation, established in the will of the late Ellsworth M. Statler, founder and operator of the Statler Hotels, who died in 1928. Trustees of the Foundation, Mrs. Statler, Edward H. Letchworth, and the late Frank A. McKowne, announced the gift of the memorial building to Cornell in 1941 and established the Statler Fund at the University. This Fund last June 30 had grown to $1,142,990.

The four-story building, of stone and brick, will be erected and equipped at cost of $2,550,000. It was designed by Holabird & Root & Burgee, architects and engineers who designed the newest Statler Hotel, in Washington, D. C.; is being erected by John W. Cowper Co., Inc. of Buffalo, with completion expected early in 1950.

The main portion, to the south, is for instruction in Hotel Administration. Entered from East Avenue through an arcade terrace, the first floor will contain executive offices of the Department, a library and adjoining seminar room, classrooms, and a Hotel Engineering laboratory. On the second floor will be an auditorium with seats for 400 persons which can also be used as a dining room for 360, with an adjoining Faculty lounge which opens to enlarge the dining room capacity by one-fourth, a student lounge, a laboratory for preparing foods in large quantities, two laboratories for small-quantity food preparation of unique design developed by Professor Howard B. Meek, head of the Department, and members of the Faculty, and a nutrition laboratory. The third floor will contain Faculty offices, a textiles laboratory, and six classrooms. On the fourth floor will be the accounting and computing laboratory for "front office" practice and eight other laboratories and classrooms. The basement of this wing will have two engineering laboratories, a shop, storage space, and a place for a future laundering laboratory.

To House Faculty Club

The north wing will be equipped as a "practice hotel," to be operated by students of the Department for a Faculty Club. It will have its own entrance with a lobby and front office desk and also on the first floor a women's lounge and card room, a men's lounge, card room, and library, and two open terraces for members and guests. The second floor will have a Club dining room seating 222 persons, a breakfast room seating 40 in which private parties will be served for luncheon and dinner, three smaller dining rooms for ten to twenty persons each, and a kitchen to serve all these and banquets in the auditorium-dining room of the other wing. Third and fourth floors of the Club wing will have thirty-six bedrooms, each with bath and most of them the combination living room-bedrooms first used in the Washington Statler Hotel. These rooms will be available for transient guests of Faculty Club members and of the University. The basement floor of the Club wing will have a rathskeller with seats for eighty-four, its kitchen and one private dining room, and space which may later accommodate a bowling alley, billiard room, and eight more private dining rooms.

Facilities of the Faculty Club wing were developed in consultation with the architects and the Statler Foundation trustees by a Faculty committee appointed several years ago by President Edmund E. Day to look into the needs for a Faculty Club on the Campus. Chairman of the committee is Professor Arthur J. Keffe '24, Law, and Professor Meek is a member. The committee studied faculty clubs at other universities and is expected to take the lead in organizing a Faculty Club which will fill the needs of the Campus and give Hotel Administration students opportunity for practical training in operating that part of the building.

Ellsworth M. Statler, to whom the new building will be a memorial, was one of the early supporters of the Department of Hotel Administration when it was organized by Professor Meek in 1922, the first of its kind in this country. Through his membership on a committee of the American Hotel Association, he enlisted the Association's early assistance to the Department, which has no financial support from the State or the University but has grants from many hotel associations, hotel operators, and allied concerns. All Hotel students pay tuition, now $550 a year, and the Department pays for the instruction its students receive in the endowed Colleges and the State Colleges and for its present quarters in Martha Van Rensselaer Hall. The Department has always worked closely with the College of Home Economics, and Professor Meek says that it will continue in its own building to interchange instruction and research with that College.

The Department now gives instruction to 360 students in the four-year course leading to the BS degree, and gives numerous summer short courses for persons in the industry. Its full-time Faculty numbers twenty, and almost as many others from the hotel and restaurant business, including numerous alumni, come to Ithaca to give part-time instruction. The Cornell Society of Hotelmen, which includes all alumni of the Department, numbers about 1,000 men and women, most of whom are in hotels, restaurants, or allied businesses in every State and abroad.

Construction of Statler Hall has necessitated the razing of four of the five Faculty homes in the block above Sage College. Only one of the group remains: No. 7 East Avenue at the corner of Campus Road, still occupied as for many years by Professor Wilder D. Bancroft, Chemistry, Emeritus.

The house at 9 East Avenue, next north of Bancroft's, was built for the University in 1886 by Henry W. Sage. It bore an ornately carved stone tablet which said: "This home was built for the occupant of the Chair of Christian Ethics and Philosophy founded by Henry W. Sage in memory of his wife Susan E. Linn." First occupant was Professor Jacob Gould Schurman; later, it was the home of Professor Charles M. Tyler, then of Dean Frank Thilly. Since 1942, it has been operated as a student dormitory, with Army students in it for a year.

The home at 11 East Avenue was occupied first by Professor Herbert Tuttle, International Law; then by Professor Willard W. Rowlee '88, Botany; and recently by Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government.

Next door, No. 13 was built by Professor Estevan A. Fuertes, Civil Engineering. Later, it was occupied by Professors William L. Drew, Law; Samuel P. Orth, Political Science; and Professor Albert W. Smith '78; then briefly by Army students, followed by the Office of Veterans Education and then the Naval ROTC.

The green house at 15 East, at the corner of the road to the Veterinary College and Barton Hall, was built by Director Robert H. Thurston of Sibley College. After his death in 1903, Hiram W. Sibley bought it and gave it to the University as a home for the Dean of Sibley, and it was occupied by Dean Albert W. Smith and his family until given up in 1923 for use as a student dormitory. It has since been occupied alternately by women and men students and for a year by the Army.

Fulton-Montgomery Club

TWENTY-ONE alumnae from Amsterdam, Canajoharie, Fort Plain, Gloversville, Hagaman, and Johnstown met for a picnic supper June 23 at the home of Mrs. Albert D. Fonda (Helen Clark) '17 at Fonda, reactivating the Fulton-Montgomery Counties Cornell Women's Club. With Mrs. Lloyd E. Moore (Helen Irish) '16 presiding, plans were made to sell the 1949 Cornell Engagement Calendar and for other projects to benefit the Federation Scholarship Fund, and Mrs. Laurence C. Boylan (Elizabeth Eldridge) '37 was elected chairman of the committee on relations with secondary schools. Mrs. Moore reported on the June Federation meeting and Reunions in Ithaca. Lou E. Young '98 of Gloversville received the congratulations of the Club on the fiftieth anniversary of her graduation.

Intelligence

By Emerson Hinchliff '14

They have a pleasant custom in the dining rooms of the lodges in the national parks at Grand Canyon, Bryce, and Zion—to speak from experience so far on a pleasant summer jaunt to the West Coast—of propping up a card on the table giving the name and the college of your waitress. From the youth of the help in general, it is apparent that virtually all of them hail from Western colleges. It's service with a smile and a fine breeziness, though I might record that it is not nearly up to the standards of speed and efficiency to which one is accustomed in Willard Straight Hall! This is especially true in the cafeteria or soda fountain annexes, which pale in comparison with our Domecon or Straight assembly lines.

Another super-breezy custom I had heard about I witnessed for the first time at Zion National Park. Four busses were lined up for departure, and at a signal about forty of the staff formed a semi-circle and serenaded the departing guests. Not only that; they sent them off in a fine flurry of mass osculation, both male and female. The lipstick-marked features of a couple of young blades who went down the whole line were a sight; one short and jolly old baldy even had a couple of prints on his pate! Incidentally, you get no such attentions if you travel by car, so go by bus or organized tour if you are inclined thataway.

Since this column is supposed to have an educational slant, I might mention that you can pick up a lot of interesting geological, botanical, and ornithological knowledge by attending the talks and movies by the Forest Ranger naturalist each evening.

After these talks, the staff puts on an entertainment. The three that I have seen have really been quite good in their transplanted college atmosphere. As a volunteer scout for the Glee Club, I might pass along a suggestion for a couple of skits. One was a male trio in which the main singer was called Mr. Monotone and could sing only one note, though the other two put on embellishments. The other was a supposed violin rendition of "Night and Day," but all the fiddler could do was saw out a single repetitive note all through the piece, while the flashy pianist really carried the tune.

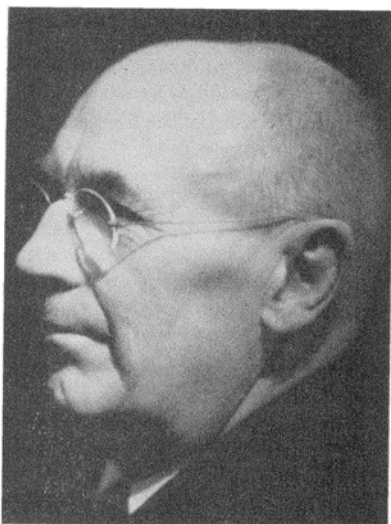

Cleveland Women Elect

AT its annual meeting in May, the Cornell Women's Club of Cleveland, Ohio, elected Mrs. Kent L. Brown (Betty Myers) '37, president; Mrs. Harry J. Scheifele (Violet Brundidge) '20, vice-president; Mrs. Lowell W. Bassett '35, treasurer; and Helen B. Wright '36, secretary. The occasion was a picnic supper at the home of Mrs. Loyal G. Tinker (Marjorie Cole) '21, who was shortly to move to Ridgewood, N. J. It was presided over by Mrs. Ira Wieder (Judith Marx) '37, who appointed Mrs. William J. Corrigan (Marjorie Wilson) '13 and Mrs. Edward MacLennan (Rika Gillett) '25 as delegates to the annual meeting of the Women's Clubs Federation.

Patterson '95 Dies

WOODFORD PATTERSON, for two decades Secretary of the University and University Publisher, but known to many more alumni through being editor-in-chief of the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS from 1906-1917, died August 2 from a fall at his home in Newark Valley, twenty-seven miles east of Ithaca.

He was born October 6, 1870, entered Cornell with the Class of 1895, and graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta. For nine years he was on the editorial staff of the New York Evening Sun. In 1906, John L. Senior '01, president of the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Co., got Patterson to come to Ithaca as editor-in-chief.

"Pat" followed many hobbies and avocations during his life in Ithaca. Stamp collecting passed early, perhaps because of comparison with the nationally-known collection of his brother, Lincoln Patterson. He played rather good golf, taking it up in the early 20's and continuing it until ill health prohibited the activity about ten years ago. Devotion to wide reading, of course, continued throughout his life, and he was an authority on heraldry and typography. He was a vestryman of St. John's Episcopal Church in Ithaca, and a Democrat. He was unmarried, and has no surviving relatives.

On his return to Ithaca in 1906, he joined with a group of bachelors that lived successively in various apartments and of course with varying membership. As I recall this group, with no records to go by, it included Senior, Graduate Manager; John Kline, druggist; Bill Dugan '07, Graduate Manager; Jack Scott '09, Graduate Manager; Doc Peters '14, Secretary of the University; Lawrence Pumpelly, Grad, professor of French; Phil Mallory '04, architect; Erv Kent

'10, Graduate Manager; and possibly others. With the breaking up of the group after the first World War, Pat took up quarters at the University Club in Sage Cottage, and later at One East Avenue. There he lived until he retired to Newark Valley, late in 1944.

For many years these and other Ithacans, including Sam Halliday '70, Billy Wood, (who wrote the music of the "Alumni Song", "Crew Song," and others), Lou Smith, Howard Cobb '96, Fordyce Cobb '93, Brock Storm '07, Charlie Bostwick '92, Charlie Blood '90, and Rusty Rumsey '11, cooperated in a summer club on Cayuga Lake called "Umphville."

As Secretary of the University, Patterson's devotion to duty, meticulous regard for the rights and needs of others, and exquisite diction, found broad fields. His activities comprised many that had not always been those of the Secretary. They included the maintenance of alumni mailing lists, the granting of scholarships and student loans, reception of University preachers, notification to parents of illness or death of undergraduates, friendly advice and counsel to many students, the design and writing of official documents, memorials, and insignia on University buildings, design of the University coat-of-arms, arranging Commencements and other official functions, preparation of diplomas, the University publications, establishing and managing the University Press, and managing Comstock Publishing Co. for the University.

It seems to me that Pat, as a writer, was unusually gifted. He was so careful and concise that editing could not improve his copy. His editorials were masterpieces. So were his news stories. He did not need or use expletives, either in writing or conversation. He always had the precise word. Actually, his facts about Cornell were from first-hand observation, except for the period from 1896 to 1906. He left records of his association with the University in his Guide to the Campus, his booklet on the War Memorial (for which he wrote the inscriptions and selected and arranged the many carved devices which ornament the buildings), his ALUMNI NEWS editorials and news stories; and he very definitely left his mark on Cornell writing, serious and otherwise. It is Cornell's great loss that he was not commissioned to write a comprehensive history of the University. As with his illustrious cousin, Professor George L. Burr '81, stores of knowledge have died with Pat, leaving only hearsay.

The sense of loss to the University is intensified in the personal loss felt by all Cornellians who had been associated with Woodford Patterson through the years and had come to know and appreciate him.

—R. W. SAILOR '07

After Pat left Ithaca, the ALUMNI NEWS of January 15, 1945, printed a rather extended account of his accomplishments and of his situation in his ancestral home in Newark Valley, together with a picture of him and Romeyn Berry '04, taken from the back, going into Alumni House. In the next issue, we printed this letter:

"My copy of the ALUMNI NEWS for January 15 arrived late. No wonder it was so long on the road, loaded down as it was with the burden of Patterson '95 and his grandfather's desk.

"It was startling—and made me feel over-exposed—when I seemed to see my name and backside featuring a whole page of the NEWS. But then I observed with relief that a good share of the page had been allotted to Rym and his backside: a legitimate feature.

"If any reader complains that the space given to my exit exceeds the decent limit, you may promise that the ultimate obituary, when its time comes, can be cut to the bones, thus: 'See Vol. 47, p. 282.'

"It was a happy thought of the make-up man to offset those receding rumps with a stickful of 'Coming Events.'

—WOODFORD PATTERSON '95."

No reader complained!—Ed.

On The Campus and Down the Hill

Big Red Band will appear at the first football game, September 25, in newly-designed uniforms, the first in ten years. Carnelian whipcord blouses, patterned after those of the Army Air Force, with patch packets trimmed with white and white Sam Browne belts top black elastique trousers with white stripes down the seams.

State Architect Cornelius J. White detailed $19,600,000 to be spent by New York for new construction at the University, in a speech before the National Association of Teacher Executives in Colorado Springs, Col., August 18. He included new Library, Agricultural Engineering, Agronomy, Animal Husbandry, and Entomology buildings and greenhouses for the College of Agriculture; the $6,450,000 building for the School of Industrial and Labor Relations; and $2,600,000 for new facilities of the Veterinary College.

Canadian flag has been presented to the Department of Hotel Administration by H. Alexander MacLennan '25, vice-president and general manager of the Cardy Hotels in Canada. He brought it on a visit last spring when he spoke to Hotel students, among whom is his daughter, Sondra MacLennan '51.

Winner of the 1948 Luana L. Messenger Prize of $220 is Irene D. Neu, Grad, of Cincinnati, Ohio, for her essay, "Furnace and Forge: The Iron Industry of New York Before 1800." Endowed by the late Hiram J. Messenger, Jr. '80, the Prize is awarded annually for an essay "giving evidence of the best research and most fruitful thought in the field of human progress or the evolution of civilization . . ."

Ralph C. Williams '50 of Chevy Chase, Md., is pictured at his daily Campus activities in three pages of Varsity magazine for August, as "College Fraternity Man—1948." Son of the US Assistant Surgeon General, Williams entered Arts in 1946 from St. Albans School, with the Cornell National Scholarship endowed by Eugene Meyer in memory of his brother, Edgar J. Meyer '04. He is a member of Sigma Phi and on the Interfraternity Council, won the "C" for Junior Varsity football and was on the track squad, has received honorable mention for his paintings in student art shows, and has been on the Dean's list for high scholarship two years. With assistance from the University Department of Public Information, Varsity photographer Myron Ehrenberg spent a week here photographing Williams, last February.

Coronet picture-story in color for September, on "The Ivy League," includes a color photograph of the Quadrangle, Boardman Hall, and the Library, taken at night by Arthur Lavine, and a facing page describing the University.

Savage Club of Ithaca has elected William B. Corcoran '23 as president, succeeding Professor Charles K. Thomas '22, Speech. Professor Elmer S. Phillips '32, Extension Teaching and Information, is re-elected treasurer.

AIEE student branch elected Norman E. McIver '49 of Rochester, president for 1948-9. Robert G. Watson '50 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, is vice-president; Howard Lemelson '49 of Staten Island, secretary; and Robert E. Whitman '49 of West Englewood, N. J., treasurer.

Visitor at the Alumni Office in August was Professor Emeritus Francis C. Caldwell '90, former head of electrical engineering at Ohio State University. Born on Christmas Day, 1868, the son of Professor and Mrs. George C. Caldwell, Agricultural Chemistry, he was the first Faculty child to arrive at the new University. The family home was on Central Avenue where Willard Straight Hall now stands. He visited in Ithaca his sister, Mrs. George R. Chamberlain (Grace Caldwell) '92, who is the widow of Professor George R. Chamberlain '91, Architecture.

CONSTRUCTION of Statler Hall for the Department of Hotel Administration as a memorial to Ellsworth M. Statler recalls an early story of the founder of the great hotel chain. When Statler bought his first hotel, in Buffalo, he had trouble getting credit for chinaware and kitchen equipment. Finally he came to the late Jacob Rothschild, father of Leon D. Rothschild '09, who with his brother sold hotel and fraternity china in their Ithaca store, and was given a full line of credit. Thereafter, while Statler lived, all the chinaware for the Statler Hotels was bought through Rothschild Brothers.

Serious loss from a night fire in the Mechanical Engineering aircraft engines laboratory at the East Hill airport was averted July 5 by the prompt action of Bruce Laverty, Civil Engineering instructor, and J. Paul Rems, Jr. '49 of Belmont. The two were riding near the airport, noticed the flames, and after giving an alarm, broke into the building for extinguishers and got the fire under control before apparatus arrived. They received letters of thanks from President Edmund E. Day for their "extraordinary presence of mind and courage" in preventing serious loss to the University.

University Library has purchased in Scotland three rare tracts written by Daniel Defoe early in the eighteenth century, aimed "towards removing national prejudices against the union of Scotland with England."

Chamber of Commerce folder on Ithaca has been revised and reprinted by The Cayuga Press. It has many pictures of the University, of the country around Ithaca, and an illustrated map of the Finger Lakes Region. About 10,000 copies a year are distributed by The Chamber of Commerce, of which Ralph C. Smith '15 is executive secretary.

Mortar Board Senior officers for 1948-49 are Virginia B. Wylie, Wilkinsburg, Pa., president; Dorothy J. Rynalksi, Manhasset, vice-president; Lois Ann Bergen, East Williston, secretary; and Martha J. Coler, Great Neck, treasurer.

Draft board for Tompkins County, reorganized for the new Selective Service Act, includes Clarence F. Morse '14 as secretary and Professor Donald L. Finlayson, Fine Arts. Both were volunteer members of the Ithaca Selective Service Board during the war.

Three Architecture Juniors won prizes in a Chicago Tribune "Better Rooms" contest which had entries from 1250 professional and student designers. Olaf W. Shulgren, Jr. '48 of Buffalo won first prize of $1000 for his design of a dining room. Eugene M. Bertin '43 of Rochester received $100 for his bedroom design. Craighead Cowden '47 of Dayton, Ohio, won $100 for a combination living-dining room. Shulgren and Bertin were awarded first prize in a store-modernization competition in New York City last year.

The Faculty

University Trustee Stanton Griffis '10, US Ambassador to Poland, was appointed Ambassador to Egypt by President Truman, July 8. Griffis's father, the Rev. William Elliot Griffis, who was the first American educator in the Orient, is the subject of a biography, Yankee Schoolmaster in Japan, by William Vogel, Jr. to be published this fall by Howell, Soskin.

Professor Liberty Hyde Bailey, Agriculture, Emeritus, was presented the Distinguished Service Award of the American Agricultural Editors' Association June 26. His citation said in part: "During the entire lifetime of most of the Association members, the name of Dr. Bailey has been a household word wherever men grew and loved choice products of the soil. His long, vigorous, and unselfishly useful career has demonstrated his virtues of continuous study, renewed zest for new facts, and an inquiring and eager mind. . . . No man has done more or served longer in the great field of agriculture than Dr. Bailey." The August issue of Science Illustrated has a picture of Professor Bailey holding a palm. Professor Bailey is now revising his Hortus, "the Webster's Dictionary of the plant world."

US Senator Irving M. Ives, first Dean of the School of Industrial and Labor Relations, and Mrs. Marion Mead Crain were married July 12 in Bethesda, Md. Senator Ives's best man was his son, George S. Ives, Senior in the Law School. Mrs. Ives, who has been secretary to Senator Ives for about thirteen years, is the widow of Alfred V. Crain of Buffalo. The first Mrs. Ives died last year after a long illness.

Edward K. Graham, PhD '38, former Secretary of the University, has been appointed acting dean of faculties at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. He has been assistant dean of faculties at Washington since September, 1947.

University Provost Cornelis W. DeKiewiet and Dean S. C. Hollister, Engineering, were designated by President Edmund E. Day to be guests of the Navy Department on cruises from the West Coast with Naval ROTC students this summer. Provost DeKiewiet sailed from San Francisco aboard the aircraft carrier, USS Boxer, June 26, disembarked at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and was flown back in a Navy plane, arriving July 10. Dean Hollister sailed on the cruiser, USS Pasadena, leaving San Pedro July 12, and was also flown back from Pearl Harbor, arriving in the United States August 7.

Michael R. Hanna, director of University Stations WHCU and WHCU-FM, married Kay T. Harding of Los Angeles, Cal., July 6 in Ithaca. Mrs. Hanna, a graduate of Beaver College, has been in public relations work on the West Coast and was Hollywood representative of the International Rescue and Relief Committee.

Director Clifford C. Furnas of the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo told how research will open new energy sources when present-day supplies of petroleum and natural gas are exhausted in an article, "On Being

Professor Wilson Dies

PROFESSOR James Kenneth Wilson, PhD '14, Agronomy, died July 28, 1948, in Waterbury, Conn., following an operation. He had been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Henry Hutchinson (Geraldine Wilson) '31 in Thomaston, Conn.

A graduate of Oklahoma State College, Professor Wilson was assistant bacteriologist at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva for six years before coming here in 1912 as a graduate assistant in Plant Physiology. When he received the PhD, he became assistant professor of Soil Technology, and in 1920 was promoted to professor. Professor Wilson, who wrote numerous publications in the field of microbiology, was an authority on nodule bacteria of legume plants. His method of preserving grass and legume fodder was widely adopted by farmers. He also did much work on the presence of nitrates and nitrites in human food, including baby foods, research which brought him the Chilean Nitrate Award in 1933.

Professor Wilson was a member of Sigma Xi and several professional societies, and was listed in American Men of Science. He was president and a founder of the Faculty Tennis Club; held the Ithaca tennis championship for three years. Besides Mrs. Wilson and his daughter, Mrs. Hutchinson, he leaves a son, Kenneth P. Wilson '33, and another daughter, Mrs. Matthew Jones (Jeanne Wilson) '37. Their home was 202 Dearborn Place.

Resourceful," in the August number of Monsanto Magazine of the Monsanto Chemical Co., St. Louis, Mo. A biographical note discloses that Dr. Furnas competed in the 500-meter event in the 1920 Olympics and won the Big Ten Conference medal for the best combined scholastic and athletic record in 1922.

University delegate to the 12th International Congress of Psychology in Edinburgh, Scotland, in July, was Professor Morton E. Bitterman, PhD '45, who addressed the Congress on "Muscular Tension as an Index of Visual Efficiency."

Expedition to Alaska this summer in search of the nest of the Bristle-thighed Curlew, led by Professor Arthur A. Allen '08, Ornithology, proved successful, thus ending a 163-year quest. Sponsors of the expedition, which also included Professor Allen's son, David G. Allen '49, and two Alaskan naturalists, were the National Geographic Society, Cornell, and the Arctic Institute of North America.

Commander Russell B. Allen, USN, executive officer of the University ROTC since November, 1945, has been ordered to the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea as engineering officer. He left in mid-August, and Commander Charles C. Coley, USN, has relieved him here as assistant professor of Naval Science. Commander Coley, who graduated from the Naval Academy in 1934, was aide and flag secretary on the staff of the commander, Service Fleet, of the Atlantic Fleet during the war, and later commanded the destroyer Fred T. Berry operating in the Pacific. He had been chief staff officer on the staff of the commander, Transport Division, since last October.

Director William R. Sears of the Graduate School of Aeronautical Engineering addressed a national meeting of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences in Los Angeles, Cal., July 16, on "Some Aero-Elastic Properties of Sweptback Wings," a paper he wrote with Professor Shih-Pai of National Central University of Nanking, China, who is a post-doctorate fellow here this year.

"Avon Park: Unspoiled as the Garden of Eden," a full-page illustrated article on Avon Park, Fla., by Professor Riverda H. Jordan, Education, Emeritus, who is president of the city's chamber of commerce, appeared July 23 in the Avon Park Sun. Professor Jordan attended a regional meeting in Lakeland, Fla., sponsored by the US Chamber of Commerce for discussion of national affairs.

News of the Alumni

Personal items and newspaper clippings about Cornellians are earnestly solicited

'93—In the '93 Class Reunion picture on page 20 in the July ALUMNI NEWS, the third and fourth persons from the left in the top row are David C. Rutford and Robert Hoxie Rutford, grandsons of Kinney C. Hoxie.

'93 AB—Dr. Walter W. Hyde, professor emeritus of Greek and ancient history, was granted the honorary LittD June 15 at the University of Pennsylvania, where he taught from 1910-40. Author of Ancient Greek Mariners and of Paganism to Christianity in the Roman Empire, Dr. Hyde was instructor in Greek at Cornell, 1909-10.

'95 CE—Reginald H. Keays lives at 77-12 Thirty-fifth Avenue, Jackson Heights, L. I. He is inspecting engineer for the Reconstruction Finance Corp., Brooklyn Battery Tunnel, New York City.

'02 ME—Class Secretary William J. Norton married Marguerite Wales, May 29 in Pasadena, Cal. They are now living on Buttonwood Lane, Rumson, N. J., but after October 15 they will be at Palm Wells, Morongo Valley, Cal.

'03 Men's Reunion—Full fifty ebullient, effulgent athletes returned for our Forty-five-year Reunion. We came from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Boston to San Diego, Texas, Colorado and points in between. Our natty sailor caps set us off as a crew apart, and no pate was too large or too small to be properly fitted. Headquarters and living accommodations were provided, in, where do you think? Sage College. Think of that.

The Class dinner was held in Willard Straight, with Sao-Ke Alfred Sze '01 as the guest of honor. At the suggestion of Hank Epley, he was unanimously acclaimed an honorary member of the Class. An election was held, in which Ray Morse was elected president of the Class, filling the vacancy created by the death of Floyd Carlisle. Ray continues as Class secretary and Aud Whittemore as treasurer.

Many attended the Glee Club concert, to hear the best glee club in all collegedom put on the top concert of all time. During the evening and far into the night our headquarters were crowded, our men enjoying each others' company and also the fine refreshment, liquid and otherwise, supplied under the loving ministrations of our own, and the only, "Kid Kugler," than whom there is no whomer. The high spot of the evening from an intellectual viewpoint was the Kid's impersonation of himself impersonating the late Houdini. Our own "Bunny" Mott, whose voice has retained its sweetness through all these years, sang our loved songs as only he can sing them.

Saturday evening we had our Class

'03 MEN SET NEW FORTY-FIVE-YEAR REUNION ATTENDANCE RECORD

banquet in the Johnny Parson Club. Jack Moakley, who came to Cornell as we did in 1899, was the guest of the evening, and on motion of Dan Bellinger, was unanimously elected a member of the Class. Jack accepted the election in a short and very fine speech. Professor Bristow Adams gave a short talk on the new things in prospect for Cornell. Each man was called on for a short talk regarding himself, his family, and future plans.

We are sorry more of you fellows could not have been here, but let's all now resolve to make our next Reunion the best ever. It was a pleasure to have had a part in the planning and arranging for this meeting and while the Reunion chairman fully appreciates the many kind things said of him, and the vote of thanks, he knows that his efforts would have been in vain had it not been for the very great help given by the members of the Reunion committee and the men of the Class. They are a grand lot, doing well the work of the world, and here's hoping they may enjoy many more Reunions.—H.E.E.

'03 Women's Reunion—Fifteen women attended the Forty-five-year Reunion of the Class of 1903: Grace Andrews, Brooklyn; Edith Graves Beatty, Denver, Colo.; Helen Riedel Blenderman, Haddonfield, N. J.; Edna Tree Cornell, Ithaca; Esther Crockett, Keene, N. H.; Lillian Dunn, Brooklyn; Kate Gay Eells, Walton; Mary Park Glasson, Durham, N. C.; Juliet Crossett Kent, Park Ridge, Ill.; Camilla Bolles Life, Oneida; Harriet Bishop Rose, Elmira; Carrie Lewis Shanks, Catskill; Eva Humphreys Underwood, Ithaca; Olive Morrison Waud, Chicago, Ill.; Carrie V. P. Young, Williamsport, Pa.

Aside from the joy of revisiting scene dear in memory, and renewing precious friendships, perhaps the highlights of our Reunion were the picnic in the Underwoods' back yard on Friday evening and the Class dinner in Willard Straight on Saturday evening. At the picnic we had as guests Sara Gaither '04, Lillian Purvis Heller '04, Dr. Esther Parker '05, and Mabel E. Wilmot '08. After supper we read aloud letters and telegrams sent by regretful absentees, showed pictures of our beautiful grandchildren, and brought our life stories up to date.

At the Class dinner we enjoyed having with us Beatrice Gilson Slocumbe '04, and the wives of four 1903 men, Mrs. Aiken, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. H. D. A. Donovan, and Mrs. Epley, wife of the men's Reunion chairman. Helen Blenderman, Reunion chairman, asked each one to describe the most embarrassing incident in her life at Cornell. Dark secrets were revealed amid great hilarity. A telegram was sent to Lucy Tompkins, expressing our thanks and appreciation for her excellent work as our Class representative, placing 1903 women fifth from the top in the amount of money contributed to the Alumni Fund by Class women as of May 31, 1948. In the brief business meeting, Helen Riedel Blenderman was re-elected Reunion chairman, and Eva Humphreys Underwood secretary-treasurer.

After the Rally in Bailey Hall, we parted regretfully, hoping to meet again in 1953, with more of our Classmates to join us. As Maida Rossiter Bailey out in Oregon said in her telegram, "When gray ladies get together, it's good fun."—E.H.U.

'04 EE—Roberto J. Shalders of Rua Ivinheima 78, Sao Paulo, S. P., Brazil, S. A., wants to hear from Classmates: "where they are, what they are doing, and news of their doings during these last forty-four years."

'05 AB; '07; '18, '31 WA—William A. Vawter II, Jay L. Hench '07, and Wesley M. Dixon '18 are members of the board of trustees of Northwestern University, Chicago and Evanston, Ill.

'06 ME—George T. Johnson resigned recently as president and general manager of Buckeye Steel Castings Co., Columbus, Ohio. His address is 38 Preston Road, Columbus 9, Ohio.

'07 BArch—Thomas A. Russell of RD 2, Elizabeth, Pa., is a registered architect with National Tube Co., McKeesport, Pa.

'08—Herbert O. Tiffany of Nelson, Wis., is engaged in lumbering and ranching in Buffalo County, Wis.

'09—Dr. Charles F. Pabst has been reelected president of the medical board of the Greenpoint Hospital, Brooklyn, where he is director of the department of dermatology. He maintains his office and residence at 15 Clark Street, Brooklyn. Dr. Pabst originated the term "athlete's foot" and has secured almost universal adoption of a distinctive shape and color for bichloride of mercury tablets.

'11 ME—Julian P. Hickok of 315 Zeralda Street, Philadelphia 44, Pa., is back at Northeast High School in Philadelphia, teaching mechanical drawing, where he started in 1921. He was again with the Nature Museums at Bear Mountain this summer.

'12 BS—Edward L. Bernays, public relations counsel, gave the baccalaureate address at the New York State Teachers College at New Paltz, June 13. The next day, at the invitation of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in Washington, D. C., he appeared before approximately 115 Army, Navy, and Air Force officers and members of the staff of the College. He discussed the mobilization of public opinion and his address was the final lecture in a course in which Dr. George H. Gallup, Elmer Davis, Dr. Z. Chaffee, Jr., and others participated. Bernays has his office at 26 East Sixty-fourth Street, New York City 21.

'12—Henry A. Schwedes has been secretary and business manager of the Board of Education of Irvington, N. J., for twenty-two years. He is town historian for Irvington and has been a trustee of the library for thirty-three years. His address there is 1253 Clinton Avenue.

'13, '14 AB—Frank S. Bache, who breeds pure-bred Angus cattle and Yorkshire and Hampshire hogs on the eastern shore of Maryland, says he spent the day before his Thirty-five-year Reunion this June inspecting the Cornell Aberdeen-Angus herd and barns. His farm, called the Canton Farm, is located in St. Michaels, Md.

'13 Men's Reunion—For five years we looked forward to the "next one." It has come—and gone! But, oh, what a memory and what a Class! And what a privilege to return!

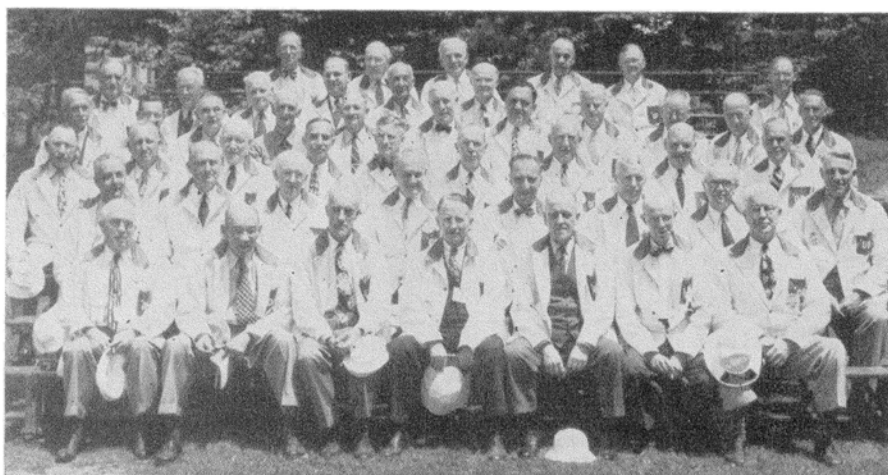

The first young squirt to arrive was some baboon of no consequence from New Hampshire who opened the doors Wednesday night. But dawn had scarcely peered over the mists of Cayuga's waters when the hordes started to descend on Baker Tower. They crawled in like ants (they got much lower later in the Reunion) from San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans, and one "poured" in from Brooklyn, Conn. Another's train was cut in half at the wrong place (paging Cedric Major!).

Somebody erected a large vacuum machine in "Tom Herson's Finishing School" and so most of us were sucked in there. And as the afternoon wore sweetly away, about forty of us sat down to dinner (it was becoming more difficult to stand up) in the same institution. Hearts warmed up as glasses were filled (water is a substance used for washing). More chairs were pulled up and we listened to a few surprise speeches. It was late when Mr. Herson's favorite pupils finished their "finals."

Next morning, 1913's headquarters began to look like a railway terminal during commuters' hours. Some clever inventor had designed something called a tent and a still more clever guy had found a way of wheeling a keg under it. Most of us went to see what this amazing combination looked like; and we stayed.

Suddenly music sounded; or was it music? At least it was a group of scallywags with instruments devised to produce music that entered the tent and regaled us with noise until it became time to streak up the Hill behind them for the Drill Hall luncheon. The line seemed endless; so did the Hill! But, by golly, we made it in the fantastic time of 19:13. Folks in the Drill Hall gasped as our Class romped and cavorted during its "peerade." As far as the eye could reach there were '13 men to be seen, some even standing up! And after luncheon, we shot behind our musicians over to the ball game to see a pretty listless exhibition of what Cornell had for a ball team. The crowd's only thrill came when 1913 pealed its famous yell: "We are the cream, we are the cream. Cornell, I yell 1913."

We were royally escorted to Taughanock Falls for something that was "one for the book" in the way of food; loads of it; and excellent (orchids to "Vic" Underwood)! There were many delightful highlights at this superlative gathering, among them unscheduled speeches from table tops, one of which averred "that even those who were not engineers were perfectly welcome." (Sixty-five per cent of the living 1913 BChem grads attended.) Another was the presentation of a rare piece of beautiful enamelware, a loving cup, to the young squirt among us with the greatest number of grandchildren. One had eight, but refused to divulge his secret, yet nevertheless sipped of its questionable contents after receiving it with roars of approval. We left the place with joy in our hearts.

Saturday morning, the Campus began to bulge with additional cohorts of the worthiest of Classes. Do the figures of tabulating machines go up that high? Yes, but the machines bent, for we had broken the record for men for the Thirty-five-year Reunion in spite of the 1912 fire engine!

Another grand afternoon in the tent brought us to the Class banquet. Here we listened to one member back for the first time in thirty-five years spent in the Philippines with a thrilling account of his war experiences. Other speeches followed of a historical report and a report of the Alumni Fund, which with everybody's unselfish help could still reach $35,000 for the Class. The highlight of the dinner was the conferring of several honorary degrees on one of the sparkplugs of the Fund, who "in absentia" was ushered dolefully through the crowd in proper vestments and honored with a degree of Dr. of Hosiery. Dean Joseph C. Hinsey of the Medical College was elected an honorary member of the Class.

The good old tent and its cash customers didn't fold up that Saturday night until 4 a.m., long after a rather boring and poorly run Rally had completed its cycle. And so another 1913 Reunion passes into glorious history; and for all of this joy let us present Freddy Norton with a metaphorical "Oscar." He thoroughly earned it!

I cannot refrain from repeating the words of one of my Classmates in the washroom Sunday morning: "Gosh, we had a swell time! The guy who doesn't come back to his Reunion is a — fool." He hit it right on the head, brothers. And so, so long until 1949!

'19—While this is old news, it is always comforting to learn that some of our Classmates are not so infirm that they cannot last through an 18-hole golf match. And so with pride, I report that Clyde Christie shot a 79 in a Bergen County, N. J., Cornell Club tourney last June.

Johnny Leppart was elected vice-president and director of Mathiesen Chemical Corp. He formerly was vice-president of Prior Chemical Co.

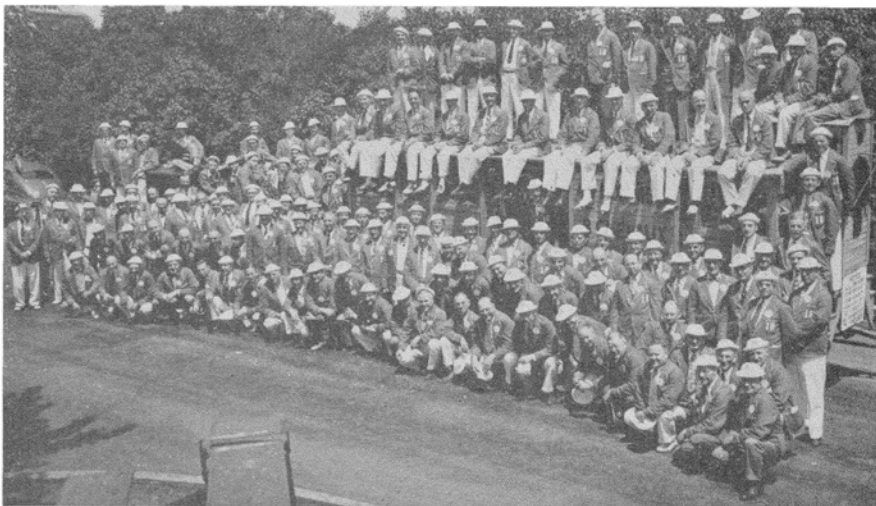

Bill Emerson has been named a director of The Norfolk & Southern Railway. He should be the ideal man for chairman of the transportation committee at our 30th Reunion. In spite of all his business activities, Bill has taken the time to prepare a proposed Class constitution. Our Class is much indebted to him for a really excellent job which has long been needed. It will give us a fine workable organization and may well be the pattern other Classes will soon follow. A complete draft of this constitution will soon be sent to every Classmate. Watch for it and after you have read it carefully, Bill would like your comments.

Speaking of architects reminds me that Fig Newton is being requested (or is commissioned the proper term?) to do a little art work for Class use. And if you don't know, Fig is the professor of landscape architecture at Harvard. He returned to this post from the Army where he held the rank of Major. He was fine arts officer with the British Eighth Army during the Italian Campaign.

Spring Brook Water Service Co., which serves a large area in northeastern Pennsylvania, including Wilkes-Barre and Scranton. He was manager of the Long Island properties of New York Water Service Corp. and South Bay Consolidated Water Co. Ogden lives at 60 Glen Street, Glen Cove.

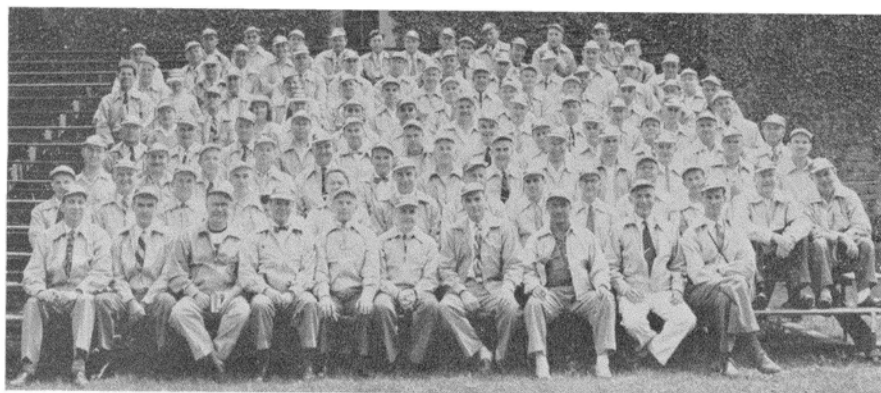

'28 Men's Reunion—The 124 men who actually participated in Reunion had the time of their lives. Many had never reuned before and found they had been missing much. Ted Vose came all the way from Chico, Cal.; and Don Exner brought his family, equipped with cameras, from way out in Seattle. South, east, north and west, they all made up a happy gang. A few others registered at Barton, but missed all of the fun. Four men, including Bill Simms who detoured on a flight in his own plane from New York City back to Dayton, Ohio, piled in Saturday night for the dinner. We even had a '27 man with us!

From Thursday evening, when some of the gang started early at North Baker, until late Sunday the men searched for scenes of their student days, visited the profs still on deck, and made merry with old and new pals. Alumni luncheons found the Class making a fine appearance in gray windbreakers and red-and-white Adm. Mitcher caps flaunting a perky '28. Baseball game Friday p.m. was kinda dull, so some one imported some beer and things were brighter. The Class tent was the center of much activity, lots of singing and talking over old times, as fellow reuners from nearby tents strolled across the Libe slope.

Friday night a whang-dinger of a clam-bake was spread at Lyme Fisher's farm, where some of the chaps did a dip in Lyme's private pond. The gang consumed 3,200 clams, then popped their eyes at the Musical Clubs show at Bailey. Late to bed, then off to an early start Saturday.

After lunch, the Class of '23 failed to pick up the challenge (we collected a half of beer later as forfeit) in softball, so we had an intra-Class game, with Dick Wake-man vs. Charley MacBeth in the box. Score: 7-7 at end of five innings. Several sore muscles resulted, especially when Jack Blair (wt. 125 soaking wet) tried to block Deggy Degenhardt (wt. 225 not wet) at the plate. Saturday evening banquet at Leonardo's found many again trying that old experiment of adding liquor on top of much beer. Result: chaos. But no one threw things as they did in 1938! An attempt was made to elect officers for the next five years, but with two slates nominated, everyone voted "aye," and again "no," so election will be held by letter ballot.

At the Rally, the Class nearly ruined the Alumni Office's well-laid program by an impromptu march on to the stage where they sang "Lord Jeffrey Amherst" to ear-rending applause. Naturally, this was the best part of the evening, although Bozo Bowen almost swallowed the mike. Late singing and skylarking followed until sun-up, with unwary Classmates roused from their beds (including the writer) about 5:30. Late breakfast found a couple of the boys unwillingly convinced that they had made wonderful speeches at the Rally.

Highlights were the swell job done by the New York committee headed by Bowen in lining up a gang steered by Johnny Young onto special cars with club car attached (only Class thus well fortified); the wonderful program arranged by the Ithaca bunch of Fisher, Hart, Lacey, Brown, Barnard and Metzger; and the evident enjoyment all had in getting together. Not too many gray hairs, paunches, nor bald pates were in evidence, so each man promised to be back in 1953 and to bring two or more of the Class with him.

'28 Women's Reunion—The Twenty-year women had such a wonderful time in Ithaca that plans are already being made for our Twenty-five-year Reunion. Each one of us is a walking advertisement for Cornell, Ithaca, our 1928 women, and our 1928 men! We were all pleased with ourselves and with each other. We radiated good will. And we will be back in 1953 in droves. We have all "worn well": the men are handsome, distinguished, gracious, and wonderful hosts; and the women are young, attractive, and charming. An ideal combination!

A fine program was planned for us; while it gave us a great many things to do, it also gave us a certain amount of free time in which to catch up with personal matters and interests. We looked up friends in town and our old professors. We visited our old lecture halls and classrooms. We returned to our old Campus haunts—the Suspension Bridge, Forest Home walk, and the back of Risley. We literally revelled in nostalgic pursuits.

Friday night, we had an indoor picnic at Martha Van Rensselaer Hall. Winifred Burns, the dietician at Clara Dickson Hall, put up delicious box lunches for us. Nellie Wilson Pond was chairman and the '28 Ithaca girls acted as co-hostesses with her.

Most of us took the bus tours of the Campus which the Alumni Office so thoughtfully provided. We really got a quick, panoramic view of the Cornell plant, which we never could have done on our own two feet. After all, we are the Class of '28!

At night we went to the thrilling Glee Club concert in Bailey Hall. We were greatly moved and many memories were evoked by the beauty of the men's voices. After the Glee Club, we visited around and had fun together reminiscing. I might even say we "fraternized."

Our Class picture was taken Saturday afternoon and we are a very photogenic group. In the evening we held our banquet in beautiful Balch Hall. Midge Blair Perkins, who has retained all her charm and sweetness and serenity, was toast-mistress. The banquet was almost a quiz program, from which everyone took home a prize, beautiful little ceramic ash trays that Louise Angell Emery had made as souvenirs of the Reunion. We answered so many questions that we discovered a great deal of pertinent—and impertinent—information about one another. We just loved it; it was such constructive gossip. We elected this slate of officers at the banquet: president, Jo White Thomas; vice-president, May Elish Markewich; "forever treasurer," Ruth Lyon; secretary, Mildred Rosenberry Munschauer; Reunion chairman, Kay Altemeier Yohn. After the banquet some of us rushed to the Dramatic Club show and some to the Rally.

About fifty-five women were back. We did a great deal of informal entertaining among ourselves in Clara Dickson Hall, which in our wildest undergraduate imaginings we could not have dreamed up. Several of the girls had children along; those who didn't had pictures. Several husbands were along also. I guess these husbands felt as if they had fifty-five wives.

"Sunny" Worden Carpenter, Class secretary, did a wonderful job as Reunion chairman. Lucille Lotridge Grant provided each of us with a '28 button and with a carnation in a small glass vase. They made a very attractive "costume," which only enhanced our natural attractions.

For most of us, however, there was a serious undercurrent to our pleasure. We felt that we had been fortunate indeed to have been born in our wonderful country and to have spent four beautiful, interesting, valuable years at Cornell. We had studied with some very great men, many of whose faces we sorely missed. We felt that with our privileges went fine responsibilities which we were happy to accept: towards our college, our country, and our fellow-men. We want to say, and I say it for the Class of 1928, "Thank you, Cornell!"—MAY ELISH MARKEWICH

PRESENTED TO GEORGE H. SABINE

The colleagues and former students who contributed articles to this volume honoring Professor Sabine upon the occasion of his retirement from teaching ably represent that generation of friends and students who are intellectually indebted to an outstanding teacher and scholar, a man who guided men by showing them facts amidst appearances without attachment to those facts. These distinguished articles, edited by Milton R. Konvitz and Arthur E. Murphy, both of Cornell University, reflect the influence of Professor Sabine's mind and personality upon philosophical thought of today.

The Liberal Spirit

ESSAYS ON PROBLEMS OF FREEDOM
IN THE MODERN WORLD

Human societies have always been faced with the encroachment of institutions and ideologies of power upon the free conscience of man. These addresses and essays by Horace M. Kallen of the New School for Social Research illuminate this conflict over the period of the past twenty years. Some of the essays are concerned with the freedom that is central to liberal thinking; others deal with interactions between this spirit and institutions; and still others discuss the interplay of these factors and their effects upon freedom as fact and as ideal.

'43 Women's Reunion—It is a real pleasure to reminisce and report to you that our Fifth was a wonderful Reunion celebration, with a total of 53 girls in attendance. Our Class was housed together in the new Clara Dickson dorm, on the fifth floor which at times was a challenge. The entire week end offered a busy program of events, a feature attraction being the men's beer tent on the slope behind Willard Straight, presided over by Jack Slater, Reunion chairman of the men's Class.

Headed by Mrs. "Willie" DeGolyer (Marydith Van Cise), the alumnae residing in Ithaca were hostesses at a picnic near the toboggan slide on Beebe Lake. The members of her committee included Mrs. James Bennett (Ruth Hillman), Betsy Kerr, Mrs. Robert Ladd (Carol Bowman), Mrs. Clarence Victor (Katherine Petzold), and Mrs. Paul Yager (Naomi Rosehaus).

The Class banquet was highlighted by presentation of prizes by Caroline Norfleet, Class secretary, to the following: Mrs.

Francis Bruce (Priscilla Slimm) as the one who came the farthest to attend Reunion, all the way from Oak Ridge, Tenn. Mrs. Walter Peters (Betty Irish) came in a close second for this prize, having traveled from St. Louis, Mo., with a stop-over at Cleveland, Ohio, and bringing both her mother and baby son with her. The prize awarded to the young matron with the youngest baby went to Mrs. William H. McDonald, Jr. (R. Jeannette Robbins). Mrs. Jules Graubard (Helen "Happy" Gehle) won the prize as the newest newlywed. Our Alumni Fund representative, Peggy Pierce, was awarded a special prize for all her excellent efforts in putting our Class on top in the Alumni Fund drive. Marion Rockett acted as song leader at the banquet. Mrs. Thomas Johnson (Barbara Larrabee) was cited for her work as costumes chairman in the selection of the attractive Cornell Scarfs. A great deal was accomplished at a special Class meeting conducted by Caroline Norfleet, Class secretary.

Forthcoming in the mail soon will be your ballot to vote for new Class officers including president, Class secretary, treasurer, Alumni Fund representative, and Reunion chairman. There will be space available on the ballot for write-in votes, thus giving all of you an opportunity to elect the girls you want to represent you for a term of five years. The suggestion that a special booklet be published by the Class containing a complete roster of names and addresses will materialize in the very near future. If you have any corrections in this information, please notify the Alumni Office.

Socially and financially, our Reunion was a tremendous success. We missed all of you who couldn't attend and do hope that you will plan to be there at the TENTH!—NINA A. FENSON

'46 Women's Reunion—One more, and it could have been said that forty-six '46'ers were back for their baby Reunion. But despite that, it was a grand number. Babies or new husbands kept most of the others away.

Those who were there had a fine time, and felt mighty thankful for their big straw hats when it poured so hard Saturday night. The gals want to keep the "farmerette" theme, and add a jacket, perhaps, to the bright red bandanna and hat for their "fifth." (Just in case it pours in 1951!) Clara Dickson was a grand place to stay, even though it did mean climbing to the top floor. (Residential Halls must have thought we were young and spry. Why, oh why then, did some of us get "Freshman cramps"?)

Friday night's picnic on the women's playing field behind Balch was fun. And it even continued unofficially back in Clara Dickson with some of the late arrivals enjoying a midnight snack. Saturday's banquet was another highlight. Cascadilla dining room made a grand and exclusive site. It was especially appropriate since Classmate Ann Harper Powers was dietitian there. Miss Schmid stopped in at the banquet to welcome the "baby Class," and to tell them of Jan Basset Summerville's telegram saying how sorry she was to miss Reunion. Everyone was sorry, too, because each had wanted to thank her for the grand job she had done as Class secretary for the last two years, and to tell her what a wonderful news letter she got out in February. But Jan and Skip have just found an apartment in Cleveland (832 152d Street) and are busy getting settled after a two-month honeymoon through the West.

An important part of the Class banquet was election of officers, who will serve for the next three years. Jan Summerville was reelected secretary and Marje Montrose, Alumni Fund chairman. New officers are: Mavis Gillette, Reunion chairman; Nancy Hubbard, treasurer; and Polly Ryder, corresponding secretary. Hub urges everyone who hasn't paid her Class dues to please send a dollar to her at 41-16 Glenwood Street, Little Neck.

To those of you who were not there, everyone sends their greetings and hopes for your return at 1946's next Reunion in 1951.—M.P.H.

'47 AB—Class Secretary Barbara A. Everitt, daughter of William L. Everitt '21 and Mrs. Everitt (Dorothy Wallace) '23, was married August 14 to John H. Bryant of Clyde, Tex. Lois J. Stamey '47 was maid of honor and Elizabeth M. Kennedy '47 was a bridesmaid. Mrs. Bryant, who was women's editor of the Cornell Daily Sun, has been art editor of Chemical Engineering magazine at McGraw Hill Publishing Co. in New York City for the last year. A graduate of A & M College of Texas and the University of Illinois, Bryant is working for the PhD at the latter institution. He is a member of Sigma Xi.

'47 BS—Charles K. Butler is purchasing agent and executive steward at the Biltmore Hotel, Dayton, Ohio. His address at the Biltmore is Suite 1229.

'47—Approximately thirty women of the Class of '47 gathered in New York June 4 for a "What a difference a year makes" buffet supper. Main entertainment of the evening was gossiping about what had happened in the year after college. Unlike most dinners, this was followed by no long-winded speeches. Only formal words said was a three-minute boost for the Alumni Fund from Class Fund chairman Joy Peters.—Barbara Everitt Bryant, Class secretary.

'47 BS, DVM—Dr. Estelle Hecht and Lester M. Geller '47 will be married in New York City this September. Until June director of the experimental animal laboratories of the New York Medical College, Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospitals, Dr. Hecht is now with the central research committee of the US Veteran's Hospital, Kingsbridge Road, the Bronx. Since last September, Geller has been a member of the Veterans Administration training program in clinical psychology, serving his internship at the Fort Custer Neuropsychiatric Hospital in Michigan and taking courses for the PhD in clinical psychology at Michigan State College. He received the AM this summer. Last May, he presented a paper, the "Symbolic and Logical Aspects of Schizophrenic Thought" before the Midwestern Psychological Association annual meeting. Geller's address is 512 Hillcrest Avenue, East Lansing, Mich.

'47 BS—Alice M. Klinko is food technologist in charge of the quality control laboratory at Hill Brothers Co. in Lyons.

'47 PhD—Eunice S. Matthew, professor of education at Tennessee A & I State College, Nashville, Tenn., has been appointed a member of the State Department of Education of Tennessee to serve as consultant for the in-service education of teachers.

'47 AB—From Patricia L. Sinnott of 1713 Thirty-seventh Street, Washington 7, D. C.: "I have just joined the press section, Department of the Army, in the Pentagon where the clouds of smoke and profusion of paper remind me of the Sun office on State Street. Betty Young '47 is already employed here as a clerk typist, and we keep one another posted on the latest Ithaca news."

"The book OUR CORNELL is one of the most fascinating publications I have ever received. It was a brilliant idea to take the published writings of such people as Ken Roberts and Dana Burnet and put them into a single volume where everybody can enjoy them. My copy will probably have a circulation of about fifty people before it gets back to my bookshelf."—Charles L. Funnell '16

*"There is no magic like that of Ireland.
There are no skies like Irish skies.
There is no air like Irish air.
The Irish climate will make the stiffest and slowest mind flexible for life;
And you can now go on to London by air in less than two hours
instead of sixteen by rail and unquiet sea."*

G. Bernard Shaw

Ashford Castle on Lough Corrib in County Mayo offers excellent hotel accommodations. On its 3500 green acres you can fish, hunt, or play golf under Irish skies!

Dublin is an architecturally noble metropolis of over half a million. Wild mountain scenery is nearby—and a tram drive takes you to "a seaside that rivals the Bay of Naples."

Figures of O'Connell and other Irish "greats" decorate the front of this typical Dublin "pub." You can reach Dublin or other parts of Ireland by air, rail or bus from Shannon.
