For Your Home in Ithaca . . .

THIS home is located on Cayuga Heights Road, one mile from Cayuga Heights School, one and one-half miles from Cornell University, and two and one-half miles from the business section of the City of Ithaca; in a neighborhood of home-owned residences in the best residential section of suburban Ithaca.

A Pleasant, Lasting Home—The house is of the English type, lastingly constructed of brick and cement, with a heavy slate roof which will insure a minimum of upkeep.

The property has a frontage of over 350 feet on the road, with easy access to house provided by a circular drive; lawns at either side of the house, with plenty of attractively arranged shrubbery.

This Finger Lakes Region is notable for its scenery and in taking advantage of it, the architect has provided a comfortable paved terrace immediately outside the living quarters from which there is a splendid view of Cayuga Lake and opposite hills.

Planned for Comfortable Living—Entering, there is a reception hall with coat closet and lavatory; an alcove with entrance to playroom in the basement; a large panelled living room with fireplace; off which is an alcove arranged for a library; a pleasant dining room, also with a fireplace; a breakfast room; and a convenient kitchen with pantry.

On the second floor are seven bedrooms, and four modern bathrooms with tile floors and walls. There are closets with each bedroom, and numerous others, conveniently spaced.

Vapour heat is well provided for by a good Spencer boiler, with Motor-stoker connected to coal bin.

There are a one and a two-car, fireproof garages attached to the house.

Unusual Opportunity—This section is fortunate in having a low tax rate, so that the total maintenance cost, including taxes, water, insurance and heating, would not average $1,100 annually.

For a quick sale, this house is now available for $22,500, with a moderate down payment and liberal terms for the balance.

It is seldom that a property so well situated is placed on the market, and anyone looking for a real home would find it to his best interests to investigate.

STUDENTS PLAN CONCERT at Town Hall, New York

Cornell Women's Club of New York will sponsor a concert by the Cornell Chorus and Thelma E. Emile '45, pianist, in the Town Hall, New York City, Saturday afternoon, April 3. Proceeds of the concert will go to the Federation Scholarship Fund which the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs maintains to provide scholarships for undergraduate women at the University.

The Cornell Chorus is a new group of some thirty mixed voices organized among students last fall by Professor John M. Kuypers when he joined the Department of Music. All of the thirty-five members of the Chorus have had previous training in the Glee Clubs and Sage Chapel Choir. It specializes in a cappella singing, and in its Town Hall concert will present a group of Early English madrigals and folk songs, another of sacred music by classic and modern composers, and another group with accompaniment by Barbara A. Prescott '43 of Sandy Creek including "Freedom's Land" by Roy Harris, University Composer-in-Residence. Not since the Musical Clubs ended a Christmas recess tour with a Town Hall concert January 3, 1925, has a Cornell student group of singers appeared in that auditorium.

Scholarship Holder Soloist

Miss Emile entered the College of Arts and Sciences in 1941, the first recipient of the Federation Scholarship. Her father is a member of the music department of Hunter College and she is studying with Dr. Egon Petri, University Pianist-in-Residence, with brilliant success. She gave a series of concerts in Norway, has made several public appearances in this country, and her concerts in Ithaca are always popular.

Honorary chairman of the concert committee for the Cornell Women's Club of New York is Dr. Mary M. Crawford '04, and the list of patrons is headed by President and Mrs. Edmund E. Day. All boxes for the concert have already been subscribed with a committee headed by Alumni Trustee Mary H. Donlon '20. Ticket reservations are in charge of Mrs. Joseph Hajek (Olga Weber) '29, 325 East Seventy-second Street, New York City, and William T. Dunn, Jr. '43, manager of the Cornell Chorus, 2 Central Avenue, Ithaca.

In November, 1941, the Cornell Women's Club of New York sponsored a Town Hall concert by Dr. Petri, Dorothy Sarnoff '35, and Bruce Boyce '33 which was enjoyed by 1300 persons and brought approximately $1,000 to the Federation Scholarship Fund. The concert April 3 promises to be equally distinguished and successful.

MILITARY COURSES NEAR Navy Announces Plans

The War Manpower Commission announced in Washington March 2 an additional list of colleges and universities approved for use by the Army and Navy for their projected war training programs. Cornell was approved "for inspection and possible contract by the Navy Department for basic training in the new Navy college program, V-12"; "for inspection and possible contract by the War Department for basic training in the Army specialized training program"; "for inspection and possible contract by the War Department for area and language training in the Army specialized training program;" and "for inspection and possible contract for pre-medical training." In a previous list, Cornell was certified to both the War and Navy Departments "for training engineers."

To Send Men July 1

The Navy Department has announced that its V-12 program of officer training in colleges and universities will be started about July 1, with students assigned to colleges in uniform and with pay as apprentice seamen. They are to be selected from among high school and preparatory school students and from the present enlisted ranks of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard. It was announced that after the first class beginning July 1, other groups would be sent to colleges November 1, 1943, and March 1, 1944. Instruction will be given throughout the year in three sixteen-week terms, the first two terms emphasizing fundamental college work in mathematics, science, English, history, engineering drawing, and physical training. Length of course and curriculum will vary with the different fields of specialization. University officials here have been negotiating with both Army and Navy representatives on instruction to be offered by the University and facilities for housing and feeding men that may be sent here.

Professor Cornelius Betten, PhD '06, Dean of the University Faculty, announced last week that qualifying tests for men who wish to enter the Navy V-12 training program will be given at the University April 2 from 9 to 11 a. m. Application forms for the tests will shortly be available here, and the same tests will be given in many high schools. Candidates must have attained their seventeenth but not their twentieth birthdays by next July 1, must be unmarried, morally and physically qualified, including uncorrected vision of 18/20 for each eye, and possess potential officer qualifications. They may be high school and preparatory school seniors graduating by July 1, graduates of such schools whether in college or not, or those now in college not graduates of secondary schools or not in a military reserve. Successful candidates may request assignment to a particular college, and such preferences will be respected as far as possible, the Navy has announced.

Students in the University who are enrolled in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps, Professor A. Wright Gibson '17 said March 2, "can count on remaining in school until after March 20, unless all assurances given me by the Army are countermanded in a new and revolutionary order." March 20 is the halfway date of the present term which was set by the Faculty for a full term's credit to be given to students who remain with satisfactory academic record until that time. No members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps have been called to active duty from the University unless they have been dropped, put on probation, or requested active duty, Professor Gibson said. "Enlisted Reserve Corps notices will be delivered to student homes a week after the University is informed, and the University at this time has received no indication that the Enlisted Reserve Corps will be called in the near future or tomorrow."

Ninety-one Seniors in the advanced ROTC courses who volunteered for the Enlisted Reserve Corps were sent to Syracuse to be sworn in last week, and a few more will be. They, like other members of the Reserve, remain on inactive duty until called out.

CONSULTANTS ON FOOD

Research on food for the Army and Navy will be aided by two members of the University Faculty, cooperating with the US Agricultural Research Administration headed by Dr. Eugene C. Auchter '12. Members of a consulting committee on nutrition are Professor Leonard A. Maynard, PhD '15, Nutrition and Director of the US Nutrition Laboratory at the University, and Professor Vincent du Vigneaud, head of the Department of Biochemistry at the Medical College in New York. Their committee is one of two appointed, in collaboration with the Quartermaster Corps of the Army and the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts of the Navy, to cooperate and advise with the Agricultural Research Administration on food problems. The other committee represents the food processing industry.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

VERIFICATION

TO ROMEYN BERRY:

Your reference in the NEWS of February 18 is correct for February 21, 1904, as the date of the skating fatality of Louis T. Dickinson '04. A companion was also drowned, as I recall it, and it happened near Atwater.

Dickinson was related to Charles C. Dickinson, then president of the Carnegie Trust Co. in New York. Dickinson, Sr. came to Ithaca and spent two months trying to recover the body and all known methods for such purpose were used without avail. I believe the Lake is still their tomb.—HENRY C. FREY '04

SUGGESTION

TO THE EDITOR:

You all are doing a fine job on the ALUMNI NEWS, in my opinion. If there are any additions, might I suggest a continuous bearing down on "Constitutional Americanism," pure, simple, and forceful? In my opinion, most university people take for granted their sovereign rights as citizens, and forget the obligation to preserve them for posterity. In times such as we now face, and will continue to face for a long time, we are apt to lose much that has made the United States, with encroachment of alien "isms."

Any man or woman, exposed to the atmosphere of Cornell for any length of time, should be vitally interested, or quickly get interested, to correct the cancerous "boring from within" which has taken place in our Government. If, as Harry Hopkins is reported to have said, "the people are too damn dumb to understand," then there ought to be enough Cornell people spread across the country personally to inform others, and reinforce the web and woof of our way of life.—LOFTUS G. CLARK '16

APPRECIATION

TO THE EDITOR:

Just dropping you a line to inform you of my changed address. It is now APO 846, Care of Postmaster, New York City, rather than APO 847.

I still find the NEWS about the most interesting reading material I receive. Even the enlisted men, who know Cornell only as a school with a swell football team, read it from cover to cover.

(I had a lot of trouble convincing these Philadelphia boys!)

I was delighted to read that Bruce Cormack '39 is alive although a prisoner. Bruce, Carl Rhodes '38, and myself entered the Army together, with the same outfit, and but for a queer quirk of fate we would all be together today. I hope you will have good news about Carl in the near future.

Just reading Romeyn Berry's column on Ithaca winter made me reach for an extra blanket! In three days, I will have completed two years of tropical duty. I couldn't be bribed into Ithaca before June, at the earliest! On one of our coldest winter nights recently, we decided to check the temperature so we could tell the folks back home how really cold it gets down here. Imagine our chagrin when the thermometer dropped to but 61 degrees, and that on the highest mountain peak!

The only improvement I would suggest for the NEWS would be more information on "who's what and where," but I must admit that even this has been steadily improving. I would sure hate to miss an issue.

"LAMENT"

There has, of course, existed a deplorable housing situation in Ithaca which is known, properly enough, as "the housing situation," upon which Areopagus or Trend, defunct Campus opinion magazines, used to base issue after issue—the word "issue" is ambiguous at best—and about which nothing is ever done.

The "housing situation" is equalled at present, if not overshadowed, by what we shall call "the athletic facility situation." With some 4,100 students taking physical fitness three hours a week and with a flexible number—always over a thousand—Naval officers and future officers using these facilities daily, a "situation" has developed.

Long before the war and the resultant physical fitness drive, a good rhetorical question was "Why the Old Armory?"

The question has not lost its verve.

The Old Armory houses a swimming pool which is too small to meet intercollegiate requirements and which is saved only by the roof from being termed a bird-bath. The Old Armory houses one badly lighted basketball court. It houses outmoded rowing machines on which, to the surprise of everyone, Cornell men learn how to row as well as anyone else in the East. It houses an indoor track about the size of a doughnut. It houses a locker room, a boxing ring, a solarium.

Cornell also has a Field House which can accommodate the outdoor sports teams. There is Bacon Cage, large enough to contain a baseball infield. There are bathhouses on the Inlet and on the lake.

There is Barton Hall with acres of floor space, but with comparative inches of locker space. Students are jammed several in a locker; the Navy travels to and from workouts in sweatsuits. Students are uncomfortable; the Navy grumbles.

What can be done about it? Right now, nothing. America is building ships and airplanes and Naval bases and Army camps, but very few gymnasiums. We can, however, go up to the Field House and gaze longingly at the architect's drawings of the proposed gymnasium. We can heave an admiring sigh. And we can hope that, when we have camphored away our uniforms for good, that gymnasium will stand majestic somewhere within walking distance of the Soda Bar.

SEVEN TAKE ARMY COURSE

Seven Cornellians attended the third Army orientation course for civilians at the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., during January. Among the eighty-seven business men taking the course were also nine Yale alumni and seven of Princeton. Cornellians attending were Joseph P. Ripley '12, Earle H. McHugh '12, George P. McNear, Jr. '13, Irving S. Florsheim '14, William H. Ball '18, Herbert F. Bruning '24, and Fred C. Wood '24.

ALUMNI CLUB IN LONDON

Announcement is made by the University of London that the American University Union has opened headquarters at 1 Gordon Square, Bloomsbury, London, W.C. 1, and invites all American college men who may be in the British Isles to register there. The Union provides a place for both officers and enlisted men who are alumni of American colleges and universities to meet and enjoy privileges of reading and writing rooms, library, and other conveniences.

Cornellians who were in France during the last war found the American University Union headquarters in the Royal Palace Hotel in Paris a welcome gathering place. About forty American colleges and universities were then members of the Union. Some had their own bureaus at the Union headquarters, in charge of resident alumni, and the Union offered Club facilities to college men on leave in Paris, served as an information bureau about alumni in service for its member colleges, their parents and friends, arranged for visiting the sick and wounded and for communication between persons in America and their college friends in service.

Alphonse D. Weil '86, who had long lived in Paris, was in charge of the Cornell Bureau and was a member of the University Union's advisory council. He arranged a number of Cornell dinners and other gatherings, one of which, September 4, 1918, was in honor of President Jacob Gould Schurman who was in France for the YMCA. An English branch of the American University Union was opened in London in May, 1918, with accommodations for alumni arranged at the St. James' Palace Hotel in Bury Street.

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

Most alumni aren't much interested in the annual election of Alumni Trustees. As much as a third of them sometimes vote. But particular clubs, groups, colleges, and sexes become intensely interested on occasions. They nominate a candidate, get mad, and go all out to elect the candidate. That's a good thing! Nothing serves so well to keep a volunteer fire department steamed up and efficient as to pull a box once a year and let the company run to an imaginary fire.

One exception to the general state of alumni apathy may be found at Ithaca and, apart from New York City, the largest concentration of Cornell's qualified voters exists right here in Tompkins County. To Ithaca, the elections are an annual horse-race without which life would be drab indeed.

Once in a while, there's a local horse in the race and commonly one or more of the jockeys is an Ithaca boy (or girl) riding for a non-resident owner and wearing the colors of the Cornell Club of Walla Walla, Wash. But you'd never guess that—about the jockeys—from just reading the program.

There is no apathy at Ithaca! If you live here, you are mixed up with racing one way or another. If you aren't a horse, you try either to ride one or act as local representative of the owner. Failing that, you can make book, or at least place a bet and pull for your selection. If you are both a voter and a high University official, you are, of course, out of luck. About all you can do then is hold an anxious eye on the jockeys and try to keep the sport clean.

Under the circumstances described, you'd think the Ithaca vote would exert a disproportional influence on the results of the elections. But it doesn't work out that way. The Ithaca vote splits just as many ways as there are candidates, and thereby nullifies itself. It's all just a bit of good clean fun, hereabouts.

Periodically, somebody rises to point out that treating the election of Trustees as a horse race is not quite dignified nor in accord with academic etiquette, forgetting that the first thing Ezra Cornell and Andrew D. White did in organizing the University was to tear up the book on academic etiquette and throw it down the gorge. Letting alumni vote for Trustees wasn't etiquette in 1865. It has since become common practice.

Last year, a committee was appointed by the Alumni Association to curb horse racing, but nothing has yet been heard from the committee and here it is March with the nominations closing April 1. You just can't expect the Jockey Club to wait. Indeed, your reporter suspects it started not waiting months ago, and one hears of three or four likely-looking colts and fillies being warmed up in concealing blankets back of the stables every morning for weeks and weeks.

And remind us sometime to tell you about (1) what happened in the annual alumni meeting the time Senator Foraker of Ohio was running for Trustee and Mynderse Van Cleef was both presiding and backing another horse; (2) how 800 bona-fide signatures got added to Brick Metcalf's nominating petition in twenty minutes at Franklin Field; and (3) how the Cornell Club of New York nominated George Pfann by telegram on the last day and how Charlie Bostwick (the old fussy) ruled at 11 p.m. that names on telegrams weren't "signatures," and what professors had to be yanked out of bed to sign a fresh petition in order to get George legally nominated two minutes before the polls closed.

WOMEN STUDY ENGINEERING

Special courses of sixteen weeks are given in the University's Engineering, Science, and Management War Training program directed by Professor Walter L. Conwell '11, to prepare women and others for jobs in war industries. These two students are testing materials on the Olsen testing machine in the Sibley Mechanical Laboratories.

MORE WIN ARMY-NAVY "E"

The War and Navy Departments announced in Washington February 8 that twelve construction contractors on war plants would receive the Army-Navy "E" Award for excellence in production. E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., of which University Trustee Walter S. Carpenter, Jr. '10 is president, receives the award for construction of the Chickisaw Ordnance Works at Millington, Tenn., and the Wabash River Ordnance Works at Newport, Ind.

Hunkin-Conkey Construction Co., of which Samuel E. Hunkin '16 is vice-president and treasurer, is commended for its work on the Cleveland Aircraft assembly plant at Cliff Park Village, Ohio. Hunkin was also in charge of construction for his firm of the $35,000,000 Ravenna, Ohio, Ordnance Plant built in 1941, and was project manager of the Scioto Ordnance Plant at Marion, Ohio, contractor-manager of the Palmer-Venoy housing project at Wayne, Mich., providing 1900 worker homes for the Ford bomber plant. He is also a director of Pacific Contractors, Inc., building Shasta Dam at Redding, Cal.

Footo-Pierson & Co., Inc., Newark, N. J., was awarded the Army-Navy "E" pennant February 17 at ceremonies in the Mosque Theater. William F. Cassidy, Jr. '19, vice-president, received the pennant for the company.

WORKERS WANTED

Job Bulletin 117 of the University Placement Bureau is one of the largest ever issued. It lists "Positions Open" for men and women in virtually every field of engineering, industry, research, promotion, merchandising, personnel, and administration.

Job Bulletins are mailed periodically to all alumni who register with the Placement Bureau, either at the office in Willard Straight Hall, Ithaca, or at the Cornell Club of New York.

ON WAR LABOR BOARD

Regional War Labor Board No. 6, established in Chicago, Ill., by the National War Labor Board, has as chairman of its members representing industry John W. O'Leary '99. This regional board has jurisdiction in labor disputes and must approve virtually all changes in wages and salaries in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota.

O'Leary is chairman of Arthur J. O'Leary & Son Co., 221 North LaSalle Street, Chicago, manufacturers of iron and steel products. He has been president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Chicago Association of Commerce, and National Metal Trades Association; is now chairman of the executive committee of the national Chamber and of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute. He was a member of President Woodrow Wilson's first industrial conference and was appointed by President Calvin Coolidge to represent the United States at the International Economic Conference in Geneva in 1927. O'Leary received the ME in 1899; is a member of Sigma Chi and the Cornell Club of New York.

BREAK SCORING RECORDS

The basketball team scored 141 points in two games in Barton Hall last week and won both of them.

In a late afternoon contest Wednesday, Cornell defeated Harvard, 63-43, for its fifth Eastern Intercollegiate League victory, against five defeats, and in a night game Saturday broke all Barton Hall scoring records in a 78-49 conquest of Colgate.

Top scorer in these two performances was Richard K. Giles '45, forward. He scored 22 points against Harvard, 23 against Colgate. Cornell used fourteen players in each game.

In the Harvard game, there was no scoring for two and a half minutes, then Robert E. Gallagher '44, forward, converted a free throw. Giles and Roger D. Booze '45 threw in field goals before Hennessey scored Harvard's first points from the floor. From there on, Cornell pulled steadily ahead to a lead of 32-18 at the intermission. Giles scored eight field goals in the half.

Harvard rallied at the start of the second half, cutting its deficit from 14 to 9 points at 36-27, but Cornell poured in a string of 9 points and Harvard never again threatened, even when second- and third-string reserves replaced Cornell's regulars. With three and a half minutes left to play, Cornell held its longest lead of the game, 23 points, at 59-36. Harvard scored 7 points before a pair of Freshman reserves, Richard H. Wagner and Harry C. Middleton III, scored field goals to put Cornell over the 60-point mark for the first time this season.

In the Colgate game, Cornell scored 7 points, starting with Gallagher's free throw, before the visitors connected from the floor, and ran the count to 15-2 before another Colgate field goal. Cornell was ahead, 37-23, at the half.

Reserves were fed into the lineup during the second half as Cornell kept forging ahead to its record score. Ten players figured in the scoring, with Booze tallying 13 and Gallagher 10.

The teams combined total of 127 points also set a new record for the Barton Hall court, surpassing the 121 points registered last year when Dartmouth beat Cornell, 68-53.

TRACK TEAM THIRD

With five men sharing the scoring, the track team finished third in the Indoor Intercollegiates in Madison Square Garden, New York City, Saturday night. They scored 13 points in placing behind NYU, the winner, and Fordham.

Clark R. Sanford '44 of Potsdam came within an inch of winning the thirty-five-pound weight throw with his mark of 50 feet 7½ inches, but Fisher of Harvard was first with 50 feet 8½ inches. Sanford scored 4 points.

Charles E. Shaw, Jr. '43 of Scarsdale placed third behind Conwell of NYU and Kelsey of Princeton in the sixty-yard dash. Conwell was timed in :006.3. Shaw scored 3 points.

Captain Lyman W. Warfield '43 of Winnetka, Ill., placed fourth in the sixty-yard high hurdles. He was originally announced as having placed third, but the judges later listed Todd of Virginia the winner in :07.4, Alberghini of Northeastern second, and Halliburton of NYU third. Warfield had reported for duty with the Army Air Forces after the Penn State meet in Barton Hall February 20, but could not be immediately accommodated and returned just in time for this meet. He scored 2 points.

Paul M. Kelsey '43 of Ithaca placed fourth in the mile, scoring 2 points. He finished behind Burnham of Dartmouth, the winner in 4:16.6, Dixon of NYU, and Walsh of Manhattan.

Sharing in a three-way tie for third place in the pole vault, Richard M. Junge '43 of Ridgewood, N.J., also scored 2 points. He vaulted 12 feet 6 inches, as did Mooney of Alfred and Erbe of Syracuse. Morcom of New Hampshire won at 14 feet, with Broemel of Columbia second at 13 feet 6 inches.

The team totals: NYU 48, Fordham 20½, Cornell 13, New Hampshire 12, US Military Academy 11, Columbia and Penn State 9 each, Manhattan and Virginia 7 each, Colgate 6, Dartmouth, Harvard, and Pennsylvania 5 each, Northeastern, Princeton, St. John's, Syracuse, and Tufts 4 each, Villanova, Yale, and MIT 3 each, Alfred, Boston College, and Brown 2 each, Colby 1½, and Georgetown 1.

Cornell's showing was its best since 1935, when it finished second.

SWIMMERS WIN AGAIN

The swimming team scored its sixth successive victory with a 59-16 win over Pennsylvania in Philadelphia last Saturday. Cornell won eight of nine first places, losing only in the diving event.

Captain Warren H. Fisher '43 won the 220-yard freestyle in 2:23.7 and the 440-yard freestyle in 5:16.7. John B. Rogers '45 won the 50-yard freestyle, and lost to his teammate, Robert K. Dennett '45, at 100 yards as the judges called it a tie for second between Rogers and Ames of Pennsylvania.

In the specialty races, Paul L. Klein '46 won the 150-yard backstroke and Burton Preston III '45, the 200-yard breaststroke. Preston also competed on the 300-yard medley relay team, and Rogers and Dennett participated in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

The summaries:

300-yard medley relay: Won by Cornell (Hughes, Preston, Reynolds); second, Pennsylvania. Time, 3:10.8.

220-yard freestyle: Won by Fisher, Cornell; second, Calsetta, Cornell; third, Ellis, Pennsylvania. Time, 2:23.7.

50-yard freestyle: Won by Rogers, Cornell; second, Ames, Pennsylvania; third, Furlong, Pennsylvania. Time, 0:24.6.

Diving: Won by Cant, Pennsylvania, 87.5 points; second, Eppler, Cornell; third, Nehili, Pennsylvania.

110-yard freestyle: Won by Dennett, Cornell; tie for second between Rogers, Cornell, and Ames, Pennsylvania. Time, 0:56.4.

150-yard backstroke: Won by Klein, Cornell; second, Ornitz, Cornell; third, MacCabe, Pennsylvania. Time, 50.2.

200-yard breaststroke: Won by Preston, Cornell; second, Hickman, Cornell; third, Wissocker, Pennsylvania. Time, 2:40.

440-yard freestyle: Won by Fisher, Cornell; second, Weaver, Cornell; third, Lilly, Pennsylvania. Time, 5:16.7.

400-yard freestyle relay: Won by Cornell (Rogers, Dennett, Reynolds, Moore); second, Pennsylvania. Time, 3:49.4.

MEETS CALLED OFF

Postponement of the annual indoor track meet of Cornell, Colgate, and Syracuse from March 20 to the outdoor season was announced last week, along with several cancellations because of transportation problems and losses of men to the armed services.

The Varsity and Junior Varsity wrestling meets with Syracuse for March 6 were cancelled, along with a Varsity hockey match with Hamilton at Clinton. Thus the dual meet season of wrestling ends with the Varsity having lost all five of its meets and the Junior Varsity won its two. The hockey team won two and lost two games in its abbreviated season.

COMMITTEE WITHDRAWS To Function Later

Committee on Alumni Trustee nominations, appointed after the Alumni Association convention in New York City last October, held its third meeting at the Cornell Club of New York, March 6. After discussion of its duties and policies, the committee unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"In view of the extreme importance of problems to be solved, the committee feels it necessary to give further time and continued study to formulating the policies required to carry out its several assignments. For this reason, it is deemed advisable that no action be taken this year with respect to suggested candidates for Alumni Trustees."

The committee's function was described when it was established as one "that would endeavor to serve the University by stimulating greater interest in Alumni Trustee nominations, by working with the various constituent groups of the Alumni Association to see that the most able alumni—and those best fitted to serve the needs of the University at any particular time—would be placed in nomination; by making those groups aware of openings on the Board that are to be filled; by advising them as to what type of alumni are needed by the University to answer problems and questions likely to arise in the years directly ahead; by beginning to work with these groups as early as September of the year preceding Trustee elections; by leaving it to each constituent group to select its own candidate for election and in no sense of the word trying to control nominations, but at the same time making plain to these groups that the interests of the University can best be served by a Board that adequately represents the entire alumni body and is not top-heavy with representatives of one particular group at any given time; by establishing a sharply defined and clearly understood system of informing graduates of the qualifications of all candidates, so as to eliminate the present evils of campaigning and to give each voter an opportunity to cast his ballot solely on the basis of the candidates' ability for service to the University; by doing nothing, however, to interfere with the present system, as covered in the revised Charter of Cornell University, which gives any alumnus the right to be nominated, provided his nomination is sponsored by ten or more alumni."

January 9, the committee requested from the officers of Cornell Clubs and other member organizations of the Alumni Association names of possible candidates for election as Alumni Trustees this spring.

Newton C. Farr '09 is chairman of the committee and represents the Alumni Association. Its other members are Albert R. Mann '04 from the Alumni Trustees; Weyland Pfeiffer '16, Association of Class Secretaries; Harold L. Bache '16, Alumni Fund; Katherine R. Buckley '01, Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs; Allan H. Treman '21, Law Association; Dr. John G. Wills '06, Veterinary Alumni Association; and H. Victor Grohman '28, Society of Hotelmen. All members attended the meeting, together with F. Ellis Jackson '00, who was invited, and Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30, secretary.

The charter of the University provides that any person may be nominated for Alumni Trustee of the University, the nominations to be signed by ten or more degree holders and filed with the University Treasurer on or before April 1. Two Trustees are elected each year for five-year terms by ballots mailed to all degree holders shortly after April 1, the results of the election announced at the annual meeting of the Alumni Association in Ithaca at the time of Commencement. Alumni Trustees whose terms expire this year are George H. Rockwell '13 and Thomas I. S. Boak '14.

PETRI PLAYS MASTERFULLY

Dr. Egon Petri, University Pianist-in-Residence, charmed an audience that virtually filled Bailey Hall March 2 for an extra concert arranged by the Department of Music in the University series. His consummate artistry in the Beethoven "Hammerklavier Sonata," so difficult that it is played by only a few of the greatest pianists, was the highlight of the evening. Petri played it from memory, as he does almost entirely; and gave masterful interpretation of its varied moods.

The artist's accomplished musicianship was also displayed in the opening selection, Busoni's "Fantasy in F Minor After Bach," and in the final group which included the "Nocturne in C Minor" and "Fantasy in F Minor" of Chopin and the "Hungarian Rhapsody" by Franz Liszt. As an encore, Petri played the "Soiree de Vienne" by Schubert-Liszt.

OFFICIALS HAIL "BONDED REUNIONS"

Treasury, ODT Cite Cornell's Example

News services from Washington, D. C., March 3 carried announcement that Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr. '13 joined with Federal Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman in endorsing Cornell's plan of "Bonded Reunions" and urged alumni of all schools, colleges and universities to follow Cornell's lead in abandoning class reunions for the duration and devoting travel costs and other reunion expenses to War Bonds.

Secretary Morgenthau called the Cornell plan "a double-barrelled contribution to the war effort" and said: "By following Cornell's example, thousands of schools and colleges could help bring victory nearer and at the same time strengthen their educational resources for after the war."

All Classes Participate

The "Bonded Reunion" plan was unanimously adopted by the Association of Class Secretaries at its meeting in New York City February 20, and Dr. Lyman R. Fisher '28, whose committee proposed it, was continued as chairman to direct the plan. It has received the enthusiastic endorsement of President Edmund E. Day and of H. Edward Babcock, chairman of the University Board of Trustees. The Class Secretaries' Association voted to give a $100 War Bond from its treasury to start the plan.

All Class secretaries will this spring devote their Reunion efforts to getting their Classmates to purchase at least one Series F War Bond in the name of Cornell University with what they would otherwise spend to attend Class Reunions in Ithaca. Because of the war, Reunions will not be held here this year, and the loss of students for war service makes the University's need for alumni support especially acute, President Day has pointed out.

"The Trustees have authorized the exchange of uninvested University endowment funds for War Bonds which come through the Alumni Fund, and these will be held to maturity as University investments. Their equivalent in cash is thus made available for current University expenses, along with the rest of the Alumni Fund," President Day says.

Series F War Bonds made out to Cornell University can be purchased at all banks and postoffices, costing $18.50 for the $25 denomination. Their purchase price will be credited to the donor's Class quota if they are mailed to the Alumni Fund, 3 East Avenue, Ithaca. Members of all Classes will shortly receive complete information about "Bonded Reunions" from their Class secretaries and the Reunion committee.

Besides Dr. Fisher, the "Bonded Reunions" committee includes Class Secretaries Clark S. Northup '93, Anna Fielden Grace '10, Harriet Hosmer '18, Henry W. Roden '18, Mrs. Alvin R. Carpenter (Helen Worden) '28, and James D. Pond '28.

PROFESSORS TO TRAVEL Aid Club Schools Programs

Members of the Faculty committee on relations with secondary schools will begin March 25 ten days of intensive work with Cornell Clubs toward informing prospective students about the University. Professor John C. Adams '26, English, who is devoting part time to this work through the Alumni Office, has arranged with Club committees along the Eastern seaboard for a group of Faculty members to speak at their secondary school parties and talk with boys and girls interested in entering Cornell.

Professor Adams, Dr. Eugene F. Bradford, Director of Admissions; Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications; Director William L. Malcolm, PhD '37, Civil Engineering; and Professor Blanchard L. Rideout, PhD '36, underclass adviser in Arts, will attend four Club parties in New Jersey and the annual secondary school party of the Cornell Club of New York. March 25, they will visit a Lackawanna Cornell Club party at the Beechwood Hotel in Summit, N. J., with George B. Webber '23 chairman of the committee. Next day, the speakers will appear for the Cornell Club of Essex County at Newark Academy, with arrangements in charge of J. Paul Leinroth '12. They will attend a tea for high-school girls of the Cornell Women's Club of Northern New Jersey, arranged by Mrs. Martin A. Goerges (Frankie Culpepper) '30, March 27, and that evening the party for boys of the Monmouth County Cornell Club. Boys from schools in New York City, Long Island, Westchester County, and nearby Connecticut will be entertained at the Cornell Club of New York March 29, in charge of Bernard A. Savage '25.

Director William A. Lewis, Electrical Engineering, will accompany Professor John Adams to a party of the Cornell Club of Philadelphia March 30, arranged by Donald E. Maclay '17; to one of the Cornell Club of Delaware in Wilmington arranged by Frank H. McCormick '10, March 31; Cornell Club of Washington, D. C., John S. Gorrell '05, chairman, April 1; and Cornell Club of Maryland in Baltimore April 2, Edward H. Carman, Jr. '16, chairman.

Adams and Professor Rideout will spend April 5-7 with the Cornell Club of New England in Boston and vicinity, the secondary schools committee headed by Charles M. Werly '27.

HELPED BUILD FIRST PLANE

How Edmund W. Roberts '95 wrote a letter to the great inventor, Hiram Maxim, and became his assistant in constructing what he still insists was the first airplane to make a flight under its own power, was recounted recently in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Roberts recalls that he helped Maxim build a steam-powered airplane which made a short flight July 31, 1894, more than nine years before the Wright brothers made their first flight at Kitty Hawk. The propellers of the machine measured 17 feet 10 inches, making them longer than those on the recently completed giant Mars flying boat.

Roberts was a student in Sibley College when he read a magazine account of Maxim's aeronautical experiments. He had written his thesis on "Aeronautics" and, on reading the article, wrote to Maxim asking permission to pass part of the summer with him. Maxim invited him to participate in the experiments.

Maxim's machine is described by Roberts as being a biplane with 4,000 square feet of lifting, or wing surface, and a spread of 104 feet. It was powered by two steam engines of 160 horsepower each. The machine weighed 7,800 pounds, or nearly four tons. For a long time after airplanes came into use, it was the largest ever built, he says. Steam engines were used because it was not until the development of the automobile that light engines suitable for airplanes were available. According to Roberts, even the early automobile engines were too heavy, for they weighed as much as twenty pounds to a horsepower. Maxim's power plant, including the boilers, weighed but ten pounds to a horsepower.

The plane was wrecked during a trial flight, in which it traveled 200 feet off the ground. Maxim's backers decided that the money which they had put into the enterprise was all they cared to contribute, so the project was dropped. The machine was placed in the Kensington Museum in London, England. After Maxim had discontinued his experiments, Roberts went to Germany to visit another aviation pioneer, Otto Lillenthal, who was experimenting with gliders.

A consulting engineer for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics during World War I, Roberts was associated with his brother in the Roberts Motor Co., Sandusky, Ohio, one of the nation's leading aviation motor manufacturing companies in the early days of flying. He designed 130 types of motors for automobiles, boats, and airplanes. The first parachute jump in history was made from an airplane powered by a Roberts motor. The jump was made at St. Louis, Mo., March 12, 1912, by Captain Bert Berry, Roberts says. The plane was piloted by Anthony Jannus.

Roberts also designed automobiles, was editor of the Gas Engine Magazine, and is the author of a Gas Engine Handbook and seven other books on engines. He now lives in Cincinnati.

CALIFORNIA WOMEN

Founder's Day luncheon of the Cornell Women's Club of Northern California was January 9 at the College Women's Club in Berkeley. Mrs. Van Ness DeLaMater (Jacqueline Newton), Grad '00-'01, and Mrs. Joseph J. Rosedale (Esther Toor) '10 were hostesses.

Mrs. Finis E. Yoakum (Wilhelmine Wissman) '11 told of her activities as executive secretary of the International Institute of Alameda County and of a recent trip to Washington, D. C., in connection with her work with foreign born persons and their families. She spent a day in Ithaca during her trip, and described recent changes on the Campus.

TWO NEW SHIPS HONOR UNIVERSITY

SS Andrew D. White and Cornell Launched Same Day

In two oceans at either side of the continent January 28, two ships were launched which have special significance to all Cornellians.

At the yards of the Marinship Corp., Sausalito, Cal., the SS Andrew D. White, named for the University's first President, took the water to become the tenth Liberty ship launched by this yard for the American "Victory Fleet." It was the occasion also of presentation to Marinship of the Maritime Commission's "M" pennant, the Victory Eagle flag, and Maritime Labor Merit Badges "for contributing more during 1942 in ship production than any other six-way yard started during the spring of 1942." Edward C. Panton '14, as construction manager of Marinship Corp., directed the building of this yard, and University Trustee Maxwell M. Upson '99 is interested in Marinship through the affiliated Raymond Concrete Pile Co. of which he is president.

On the same day at Sparrows Point, Md., Bethlehem-Sparrows Point Shipyards, Inc., launched the SS Cornell, the second of a group of twenty-six Navy tankers named for leading colleges and universities. This 16,000-ton tanker left the ways ninety-nine days after her keel was laid, beating by seventeen days Henry J. Kaiser's construction record for a tanker of similar size.

STATLER FUND GROWS

The Statler Foundation has added $55,000 to the Statler Fund which it established in December, 1941, for a new building for the Department of Hotel Administration, President Edmund E. Day announced last week.

Planned for erection after the war, Statler Hall will stand between the Forest Home road and Beebe Lake, east of Triphammer bridge. It will be named in memory of the late Ellsworth M. Statler, who greatly aided in his lifetime the establishment and maintenance of hotel courses at the University. Holabird & Root, architects of the new Statler Hotel in Washington, D. C., are at work on preliminary plans to provide not only classrooms and laboratories for the Department but a "model hotel" of some thirty bedrooms and with dining rooms and other facilities which students will operate.

CORNELLIAN BUILDS RECORD-BREAKING SHIPYARDS ON WEST COAST

MESSENGER LECTURES

Messenger Lectures are being given Tuesdays and Thursdays, March 9-25, by Henri M. Peyre, Sterling professor of French and chairman of the department at Yale University. His subject is "Writers and Their Critics: A Study of Misunderstanding," the six lectures titled "How It Strikes a Contemporary," "Critics Versus Authors," "The Prospects for a Better Criticism," "Obscurity and Obscurism in Literature," "The Search for Standards and the Myth of Posterity," and "For a Reconciliation of Scholarship, Criticism, and Literature."

Fellow of Timothy Dwight College at Yale and head of the French department there since 1938, Dr. Peyre is one of the most highly regarded younger French literary critics. He was born and educated in Paris, and still holds the professorship of comparative literature at the University of Lyons, France; has taught at Bryn Mawr and the Universities of Buenos Aires, Cairo, and at Columbia. He lectured at Cornell in 1934 and during the Summer Session of 1938.

The Messenger Lectures on "the evolution of civilization," begun in 1924-25 from a bequest of the late Hiram J. Messenger '80, have brought a succession of distinguished speakers to the University. They have included such authorities as Robert A. Millikan in physics, E. L. Thorndike in psychology, Roscoe Pound in law, Sir Arthur Eddington in astronomy, Robert Hegner in zoology, W. C. Mitchell in economics, H. M. Evans in endocrinology, and a score of others.

MORTAR BOARD ELECTS

Eleven Junior Women

At the annual women's mass meeting in Bailey Hall March 1 for election of WSGA officers, eleven members of the Class of '44 were "tapped" for next year's chapter of Mortar Board, Senior women's honor society. The new members of Mortar Board are:

Josephine Borland, Oil City, Pa.; Arts; Glee Club, Anna Comstock House vice-president, Raven and Serpent; Alpha Phi.

Barbara A. Chapin, daughter of Harry G. Chapin '20 and Helen Adams Chapin '17, Lyons; Home Economics; Home Economics Club secretary, Arete secretary.

Barbara Gans, New York City; Arts; Cornellian board, Junior and Freshman Class secretary, Raven and Serpent.

A. Nancy L. Green, LeRoy; Arts; Willard Straight Hall board of managers, Cornellian board, Dramatic Club, Pan Hellenic Council, Raven and Serpent; Phi Beta Pi.

G. Gloria Griest, Chicago, Ill.; Arts; Sun board, Risley vice-president, Dance Club.

ROCHESTER HEARS ALUMNI

Cornell Club of Rochester luncheon speaker March 3 at the University Club was Grover W. Lapp '07. Member of a local tax committee to study the desirability of taxes versus bond issues for financing war and preventing inflation, he spoke on "Financing War."

At the March 10 luncheon, John F. McManus '36 gave an illustrated talk on "Aerial Bombardment Protection." He is resident administrator of the University's Niagara Frontier office in Buffalo, in charge of the ESMWT courses given in that area.

MUSIC HALL SHOW

The Dramatic Club's "Music Hall Show" in the Willard Straight Theater March 5 and 6 gave riotous evenings of good old-fashioned vaudeville. The seventeen skits, complete with songs, dances, and patter, were written and performed by a large number of the Club members, to make a fast-moving and diverting show. In numerous black-outs between the acts, Edward D. Eddy '44 and Jean M. Saks '43 turned up everywhere as "Cohan" and "Harris," on the stage, in the audience, and even in the balcony, to keep the audience amused.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

APHA CHI RHO chapter is reported to have concurred with the advice of its national office and surrendered its charter for the duration of the war, the members voting to disband as a chapter but continuing to live in the house at 726 University Avenue. The fifteen men still here are taking their meals at the Sigma Pi house next door. Delta Phi has closed its dining room and its members are eating at the Delta Upsilon house. Calls to war service have depleted the membership of most fraternities.

SEVENTH PLACE in straight rail billiards among the teams of nine college and university unions was garnered by the Cornell team playing in Willard Straight Hall. All teams played set shots and mailed their scores to Edgar A. Whiting '29, secretary of the Association of College Unions. Cornell placed behind University of Florida, Michigan, Purdue, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Minnesota. High scorer here was J. David Nelles '42 of Detroit, Mich., who made 46 of a possible 200 points and was fifteenth in intercollegiate ranking.

LECTURES on "Thinking About Marriage in Wartime" which the Rev. Frederick W. Brink, Presbyterian University pastor, gave last term he is repeating in Barnes Hall at the request of students.

SNOW, ICE, and bitter March winds did not deter the Physical Education Department from announcing in the Sun last week that spring courses in canoeing for women are again planned for Beebe Lake. The Ski Club, somewhat more realistic, announced that a meet for the University championships will be run off on Tar Young Hill March 14.

CORNELL CHORUS and the string section of the University Orchestra gave a well-attended concert in Willard Straight Memorial Room March 7. Both organizations are directed by Professor John Kuypers, Music.

CORNELL-FOR-VICTORY Council collected dividend slips of the Co-Op and Triangle Book Store in boxes placed about the Campus March 5, to buy books for men in the armed forces. Chairman of the drive was Maxine L. Katz '45 of Manchester, N.H.

MISUNDERSTANDINGS of the recent Faculty ruling which provided that a full term's University credit should be given students in good standing who are called to military service after March 20, were clarified last week by Dr. Cornelius Berten, PhD '06, Dean of the Faculty. In a statement to the Sun, Dean Berten said that special circumstances might justify giving credit to students called before that date, if requested, and that jurisdiction in such cases resides with the respective College Faculties.

STUDENTS living in Cascadilla Hall and the University house for graduate students at 15 South Avenue received notices last week requesting that they vacate their rooms by the beginning of the spring recess, March 28, to make room for Army men that may be sent here. It is said that the Army may detail about 400 men for courses in the College of Engineering about April 1, but no official announcement has been made.

PROFESSOR BRISTOW ADAMS, Agriculture Publications, was the speaker at the Freshman banquet in Willard Straight Memorial Room March 6. This affair, advertised as "the last Class get-together," was in charge of Frank M. Wright of Troy, Ill. It was followed by the '46 Day Dance, to which all students were invited.

EDWARD F. BRUNDAGE '06, president of the Finger Lakes Chemical Co. at Etna, has been elected a director of the Ithaca Chamber of Commerce.

ALBERT E. KOEHL '28, president of Swafford & Koehl, Inc., New York and Cleveland advertising agency, comes to Ithaca Mondays this term to give his course in hotel advertising to Hotel Administration students.

ROGER F. DYKES '44 of Flushing, newly elected president of the men's cabinet of CURW, was a speaker at a conference of the Student Christian Movement at University of Rochester last week end. The conference was devoted to "Laying the Foundation for Tomorrow's World."

OFFICERS' CLUB at the Sampson Naval Training Station on Seneca Lake is directed by Lieutenant (jg) Paul R. Gros Jean '35, who also has charge of the officers' quarters at the Station. Resident manager of the Club is Carl J. Gillette '28, proprietor of Gillette's Cafeteria on College Avenue. Professor John Courtney '25, Hotel Administration, handles the Club accounts and other Hotel alumni on the Sampson Station staff are James R. McKowne, Jr. '32, Campbell B. Chase '33, and Edward K. Clark '37.

WOMEN'S CABINET of CURW has elected as chairman for next year Marjory N. Underwood '44 of Buffalo. Vice-chairman is Jane E. Knauss '45 of Poughkeepsie, and the secretary-treasurer is Constance R. Wallis '46 of Buffalo.

WSGA ELECTIONS in Bailey Hall March 1 brought four Home Economics Juniors to head the Association next year. Katherine K. Snell of Herkimer was elected president of WSGA, succeeding Doris E. Fenton '43 of Port Washington. Vice-president is Martha A. Edson of LeRoy; secretary, Jean M. Waterbury, daughter of the late Clarence M. Waterbury '02 of Whitesboro; and the treasurer is Mrs. Barbara Cross Naylor, daughter of Roger H. Cross '14 and Grace Bristol Cross '13 of Fayetteville.

NEW MEMBERS of the Willard Straight Hall board of managers, elected at the women's mass meeting, are A. Nancy L. Green '44 of LeRoy, Nancy C. Barone '45 of LeRoy, and Maralyn Winsow '45, daughter of Professor Andrew L. Winsor, PhD '29, Rural Education.

PROFESSOR CARL BECKER, History Emeritus and University Historian, lectured on the Goldwin Smith Foundation March 8 on the subject, "How New Will the Better World Be?"

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER March 14 is the Rev. Charles W. Gilkey, Dean of the University Chapel, University of Chicago.

ARMANDO D'ANS, chief architect of the city of Buenos Aires, who is studying here on a Telluride Association scholarship, lectured in Franklin Hall March 4 on "The Origin of the City of Buenos Aires and Its Colonial Architecture."

EXHIBITION SKATERS at the regular Friday and Saturday evening roller skating sessions conducted in the Old Armory by the Department of Physical Education were Barbara Killif and Thomas Toye. Proceeds were given to the Red Cross.

UNIVERSITY CLUB in Syracuse now has a photograph of the Cornell Campus in its collection of college pictures. Cornell Club of Syracuse recently delegated its president, Warren R. Bentley '26, to have an enlargement of the familiar picture of the Clock Tower with Cayuga Lake in the background made for the University Club by J. Hubert Fenner, University photographer.

UNDERCLASS WOMEN who are candidates for vice-presidents in the women's dormitories and University cottages are undergoing a three-week training course arranged by the officers of the WSGA and Thelma L. Brummett, Counselor of Students. They are addressed by upperclass officers, attend house committee meetings, and are given opportunity to ask questions in small groups. The course ends with an examination March 18.

BOOKS By Cornellians

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE

An Adventure in Education. By the Faculty of Swarthmore College. The Macmillan Co., New York. $2.50.

In this book, which describes the program and progress of Swarthmore College under the presidency of Frank Aydelotte, the only signed chapter, "An External Examiner Looks at External Examinations," is by Hoyt H. Hudson, PhD '23, now a member of the new division of humanities at Stanford. The thirteen other chapters, which discuss Swarthmore's principles of education, various aspects of the training program, the role of the administration, faculty research, and the effect of the college on community life, were written by an anonymous committee of faculty members, who must have included Dean Everett L. Hunt, formerly, like Professor Hudson, a member of the Department of Public Speaking at Cornell. The book gives an excellent account of the Swarthmore plan, which has been widely influential among American colleges.

Concerning THE FACULTY

JAY BRADLEY, editor of the Knickerbocker Weekly of New York City, in an article about Professor Peter J. W. Debye, Chemistry, winner of the Nobel Prize, says that he came to this country because he considered it a greater honor to remain a Netherlands citizen than to stay in Germany as head of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Physics at Dahlem. It was in 1936, while he was at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute, that he received the Nobel Prize in Chemistry for research on the structure of molecules. In the fall of 1939, Dr. Debye was told that in order to continue his study and experiments in Germany he must relinquish his Netherlands citizenship. He came to Cornell as the Baker lecturer in 1939 and when Holland was invaded he accepted the University's invitation to remain as chairman of the Department of Chemistry.

THE REV. GERALD B. O'GRADY, JR. is the new Episcopal student pastor at the University, succeeding the Rev. William J. Chase, now an Army chaplain at Maxwell Field, Ala. Son of Lieutenant Colonel Gerald B. O'Grady of Paterson, N. J., he was graduated at Williams College in 1940 and at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, Mass., last January, and married February 6.

AMHERST GRADUATES' QUARTERLY for February publishes "A Message From 'Eighty-four'" by Professor Walter F. Willcox, Economics and Statistics, Emeritus. He tells of the fourteen members voting in '84 to hold annual reunions until only two attended and that last October nine Classmates gathered for their seventy-first reunion at the Amherst Club in New York City. Professor Willcox sketches "a major revolution in the thought of the world during the same two generations through its effects on the outstanding member of the class, the late James H. Tufts, and on the writer, his classmate and friend." Professor Tufts started teaching philosophy at the University of Michigan and Professor Willcox at Cornell. In 1892 Tufts went to the newly-opened University of Chicago as did four members of the economics staff at Cornell. Professor Willcox was then "drawn from the over-crowded department of philosophy, where I had only a toehold and where my work was on the borderline between the two departments. Thereafter I seldom met Tufts except casually at class reunions, but both of us were gratified to find, when the end of our teaching had left us with time for non-professional correspondence, that we had reached much the same conclusions about fundamentals."

PROFESSOR HALLDOR HERMANSSON, Scandinavian Languages and Literatures and curator of the Fiske Icelandic Collection, has been elected a trustee of the American-Scandinavian Foundation, New York City.

A NEW METHOD of preserving apples by "controlled-atmosphere" storage is described by Professor Robert M. Smock, Pomology, in an article in The Country Gentleman for March.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL JOHN R. PITMAN, JR. was reported missing in an Army plane crash in the Pacific area, February 7. Then a captain, Pitman was on duty with the ROTC at Cornell from 1935-39.

JOHN D. BATES, graduate assistant in Geology, left February 18 for war construction work with Stone & Webster Engineering Co. at Knoxville, Tenn. He is the son of Ellis A. Bates '05 and the late Mrs. Alleine Davis Bates '98 of Nyack, formerly of Ithaca.

"THE PINE WOODS," a landscape painting by Tarmo A. Pasto '32, drawing instructor in Agriculture, is on display at the National Academy of Design in New York City.

LEONARD C. THOMPSON, son of Professor George J. Thompson, Law, was graduated at Williams College in February and reported at the Naval Reserve training school for deck officers at Columbia University.

WORD has been received of the safe arrival in England of Professor D. Bowes Johnstone-Wallace, Agrostology, and Mrs. Wallace and their daughter, Norah '44. Professor Johnstone-Wallace is on leave to do special work for the British Ministry of Agriculture. He traveled by bomber plane and his wife and daughter went by ship.

DEDICATED to "the heroic and freedom-loving people of our great ally, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics," the evening performance of Fifth Symphony by Roy Harris, Composer in Residence, was broadcast over the Blue Network and was short-waved to Europe February 27. Shortly afterward Dr. Harris received a cable signed by the nine most important Soviet composers, extending "Greetings to Roy Harris from the composers of USSR. We greet in your person young music of American people. Across seas and oceans we extend you our hand in sincere fraternal handshake."

FRANKLIN INSTITUTE JOURNAL for February publishes two papers by Professor Michel G. Malti, PhD '27, and his research associate, Dr. M. Golomb, on "Electric Propagation on Long Lines Terminated by Lump Networks."

'14 ME—Establishment of the six-day work week in key war production areas is an important step in the right direction in the opinion of J. CARLTON WARD, JR., president of the Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp. In a statement to the Union League Club of New York City he emphasized the need for increased aircraft production to supplement that of the British. Ward's statement, which was read because illness prevented his attendance, said in part, "Various types of craft manufactured here complement those now made in Britain to produce a complete unit for global warfare. Britain is dependent on us for naval aircraft. The Ministry of Aircraft Production quickly acknowledges those types of American craft which are superior, and we likewise have no illusions regarding British superiority of certain other types. In Britain, with a total population of around forty million, there are twenty-two and a half million engaged in war work. . . . We must rapidly approach that mark."

'15 LLB—County Judge SAMUEL S. LEIBOWITZ of Brooklyn has proposed the removal of adolescent cases from the magistrates' courts to the supervision of youth courts to be administered by county judges.

A message was sent to Lieutenant Commander BUDDY FAY, now serving with the Naval Air Force at Pensacola. Mayor DICK PHILIPS of Plainfield, N. J., gave a political touch. The evening must have been good because the boys were clamoring for more dinners of the same kind. An air-raid drill and blackout could not stop the talented orators, and their honeyed words continued through the ebon gloom, with only glowing cigarette ends showing through.—H. F. B.

Every branch of the Armed Services uses the telephone. No. 1 of a series, Anti-Aircraft.

To his mother and dad it seems only yesterday that he was using the family telephone to call his high school sweetheart. But today the orders he sends and receives over his wartime telephone help speed the day when love and laughter, peace and progress shall again rule the world.
