PROFESSOR DURAND RESIGNS.

Will Become Director of Department of Mechanical Engineering at Leland Stanford University—Thirteen Years Professor at Cornell.

Professor William F. Durand, organizer and for thirteen years head of the department of marine engineering in Sibley College, tendered his resignation to the University Trustees on Monday and has accepted the chair of mechanical engineering at Leland Stanford University. Professor Durand's resignation came as a complete surprise in University circles and his loss is considered by Alumni, undergraduates and faculty alike, as one of the severest the teaching staff of the University has sustained in years.

Professor Durand was born in Bethany, Conn., in 1859 and was graduated from the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1880. From 1883 to 1885 he continued his studies in engineering at Lafayette College and in '87 received the degree of Ph.D. from that institution. He served as professor of marine engineering in the Michigan College of Agriculture and Mechanics and in 1891 came to Cornell to establish a department of marine engineering at this University.

At the time of his coming to Cornell, Sibley College had no department of marine engineering. Professor Thurston had long desired to establish such a department and chose Professor Durand to undertake the work. The choice proved a wise one, and under his leadership the work of the department was begun and rapidly developed, until today it has made Sibley College one of the greatest schools of marine engineering in the world. For over thirteen years Professor Durand was associated with Director Thurston, and served for years as secretary of the Sibley faculty. When Director Thurston died in October last Professor Durand was chosen acting director and he has brought the work of the year to a successful conclusion.

Professor Durand has been closely identified with the student activities of Sibley College and of the University and his resignation is a great loss to the whole University. For three years he served as Navy Director on the Athletic Council, and last year was chosen its President. During his service at Cornell Professor Durand published his "Resistance and Propulsion of Ships" and many articles in engineering journals. He is a life member and gold-medalist of the American Society of Naval Engineers, and a member of American Section Society of Mechanical Engineers, and the Society of Naval Engineers and Architects.

Dr. Durand will leave Ithaca about July 1st, to make preliminary arrangements for undertaking the work of his new position in the Fall.

The Work of Professor Duncan Campbell Lee who has Resigned from the University Faculty.

By the resignation of Professor D. C. Lee, Cornell loses one of her strongest teachers. In his eleven years of constant service, he has made a deep impression upon hundreds of Cornellians, and regret at his resignation will be sincere and general. He has taught a subject not always respected, and has made it thoroughly worthy to hold its place in a university curriculum. Starting with a determination that his work should be intellectual, he has made war upon bombast, insincerity, and all the disagreeable qualities that "elocution" has come to suggest, and has insisted constantly, that public speaking should be purposeful and sincere, and that good delivery depends primarily upon right thinking. "Better no speech than a messageless speech", "Think while you speak", and like expressions have been the familiar injunction of his teaching. And the high key-note of his work has been individuality. To his assistants he has said "Do not dogmatize"; to his students, "Do not imitate; be yourself; work out the best there is in you."

Those who have watched his work know that, beyond question, his students have learned to speak and to speak well—not in an overdone, "highfalutin" manner, but in

CREWS LEAVE FOR POUGHKEEPSIE.

Twenty-four Cornell Oarsmen Will Practice on the Hudson on Friday—Freshmen and Varsity Four Fast—Varsity Slow yet Formidable.

Tomorrow evening at 6:27 some five hundred or more undergraduates will gather at the Lehigh station to give a rousing send-off to the fourteen Varsity oarsmen and ten freshmen who will represent the University in the Poughkeepsie regatta on June 28th. The oarsmen, accompanied by Coach Courtney, Manager Hurd Aldrich, Assistant-coach C. A. Lueder, Assistant-manager E. J. Blair, and Boatbuilder John Hoyle, will arrive at Highland in good time for breakfast at The Oakes on Friday morning. Weather permitting, practice will be held twice a day, except Sunday, from Friday morning until Saturday the 25th.

Cornell men naturally take a somewhat optimistic view of the outcome of the races and look forward to another triple victory on the 28th. And there is a good deal of reason for their optimism for two of the crews, the four and the freshmen, compare very favorably with the crews of last year and two years ago while the Varsity eight, though not the equal of the 1901, 1902 and 1903 eights is not composed entirely of cripples (see statistics) and will probably conduct itself very properly when the time comes.

The Varsity four and the freshman eight are fast crews; so fast that last night Mr. Courtney went so far as to assure the NEWS that "no moss would grow on the bottom of their boats during the race." That is quite a good sign for Mr. Courtney is not in the habit of giving a crew credit for much speed until the races are over. The four is made up of the strongest men from last year's freshman crew and in weight averages up to most Varsity crews. The freshmen are a powerful lot, averaging 171 pounds in weight and practically six feet in height. The crew is made-up of probably the soundest lot of youngsters that has sat in a freshman boat and unless some accident befalls them they will probably capture their event in the big regatta. But a freshman race—like a race of three-year-olds—is always an uncertainty for one can never tell what a lot of freshmen will do.

The Varsity crew is many seconds slower in four miles than was the crew which last year won the Poughkeepsie race by some twelve or fifteen lengths. And yet it could very well be many seconds slower than that crew and still be very fast and capable of winning on the 28th. And such it is. The best indication that the crew is strong is found in the fact that Captain A. R. Coffin, usually considered one of the two greatest strokes that has sat in a Cornell shell, has been moved from his old position and given a place at No. 2. That shift is a significant omen.

The Varsity crew possesses all the qualifications of a winning crew. The men are mature in years and that is a distinct advantage for it's the strength that comes with years, and not the extra pounds in weight, that counts in the last dozen rods of a slashing four-mile race. And besides the years they have the weight—averaging 174½ pounds to the man—and the lank, powerful physiques typical of the best oarsmen who have sat in Cornell's winning boats. It isn't a smooth rowing machine, this 1904 Varsity crew, but it will do very nicely and the crew that beats it down the home stretch will know that it has been out for something more than a practice paddle.

The statistics of the three Cornell crews follow:

a way that has enabled them to go without modification into the pulpit, the legislature, or the law court, and meet on equal terms their older rivals.

But the more thoughtful of his students have been impressed, not so much by the fact that Professor Lee has been developing speakers, as by the fact that he has been educating men. With him, the man is more important than the speaker; rather, the speaker is the man. He has stimulated them to think clearly and independently, to study and develop their own powers, to come out of themselves and shake off the effects of the student-repressing lecture system. "His work has made me want to do something for myself" said a student recently, and that idea is echoed in many current comments. To this fine result, not only his methods have contributed, but also, his stimulating personality.

Professor Lee's work has not been confined to the class-room. For many years he labored efficiently for Cornell athletics as a member of the Athletic Council. He has found time to make himself an influence in the business, religious and political life of Ithaca, and a factor in the politics of the State. He combines with broad culture, marked ability to do things, and adding to all a generous idealism, he stands as a fine type of the educated citizen.

It seems probable that the world of practical affairs will claim his energies in the future. But, whatever his work and success, to those who have known him here, he will remain essentially the teacher, and a teacher of the kind that we can ill afford to lose.

Ithaca in 1890 and in 1904.

The Cornell man who has not been in Ithaca since 1890 and who will return to the city on June 22nd will not only find changes which have completely transformed the appearance of the Campus but will find in Ithaca a city which little resembles the rural town he left fifteen years ago.

The first street paved in Ithaca was Aurora street and the work was done in 1890. Since that year State street, Tioga, Cayuga, Buffalo, Seneca, Eddy, Huestis, Stewart avenue, and in fact practically every thoroughfare east of Albany street, has been paved with brick making Ithaca one of the cleanest cities in the State. Even Hazen street, in which the good house-wives emptied their ash-cans as late as 1900, has been included in the extensive scheme of street improvement and that once winding lane has been converted into a broad macadam road as fine as one sees in the parks of the large cities. Since '98, Stewart avenue, State street (above Stewart), Eddy, Buffalo, Huestis and the rest of the streets in the hill district have been paved.

And the "old boys" who have not been up the hill since '92 will ride in a trolley car instead of a stage coach. In '92, the trolley line, following State and Eddy streets, was opened up and extended as far as Huestis street. Two years later it was extended to the Library on the Campus.

The loop route, over which, according to former President Andrew D. White, one gets the best five-cent ride in the world, was opened in 1900. The loop route follows State street to Stewart avenue, traverses that thoroughfare past Buffalo street, Edgemore lane, South avenue, and University avenue and, just above the tunnel, crosses Fall creek gorge to Cornell Heights from which one gets a splendid view of the lake and valley. The gorge is re-crossed a few hundred feet west of Triphammer Falls, the line following East avenue to the Library. Returning to the city the cars follow East avenue, Eddy street and State street. Cars going to the Campus by way of Eddy street return to the city by way of the loop.

And Ithaca is a more accessible town today than it was fifteen years ago. It no longer takes a whole day to come from Buffalo to Ithaca. One now gets on the Black Diamond Express in Buffalo at 11 A.M. and steps off at a fine stone station in Ithaca three hours later; one boards a sleeping car in Chicago this afternoon and never leaves his car until tomorrow morning when he reaches Ithaca. And leaving the city, too, one goes to Detroit, Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis without change. East and west the railroad service of Ithaca is excellent. The Lackawanna, by its Ithaca-Owego branch, connects with the best trains on its main line, while the best trains on the main line of the Lehigh Valley pass through the city. This is Ithaca of today.

Harvard's Financial Policy in Athletics.

The Athletic Committee at Harvard has adopted the following rules regulating the collection of funds for the support of Harvard athletic teams:

1. The four major sports, football, baseball, rowing, and track athletics shall be supported from the general gate receipt fund in those branches, and in addition, it shall be necessary for the track team and crew managements to raise $2,500 and $3,000 respectively in subscriptions.

2. All minor sports shall be self-supporting and receive no appropriation from the Athletic Committee, except for permanent equipment.

3. In case there be a deficit in any one branch of athletics, this deficit shall be made up before inter-collegiate contests in that branch are permitted to be continued.

4. The Freshman teams shall be considered on the same basis as the minor sports.

5. Professional trainers are necessary to the football and track teams.

6. No prizes or insignia shall be awarded by the Athletic Committee to men who have not discharged all training table obligations. The Committee also voted to refuse any ticket privileges under the direction of the Committee to persons in arrears for training table dues.

A POINT TO INSIST ON.

There are endless numbers of traveling people who go regularly from New York to Chicago and vice versa several times a month, who have never gone over any other road but the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, because this road is "good enough" for them. It's good enough for anybody, the fastest, safest, most convenient and most comfortable road in America. Once you travel over the Lake Shore and you will not want to experiment with any other road. People who know the comforts and discomforts of traveling, and what they have a right to expect, always insist on their tickets reading by way of the Lake Shore. So should you.

ALUMNI-VARSITY BASEBALL GAME.

Team Composed of Luminaries of Varsity Nines Since '87 will Meet 1904 Team on Percy Field, Tuesday, June 21st.

Tuesday, June 21st, the Varsity baseball team will meet the strongest Nine to be played this season—the Alumni Nine—and if the undergraduates are let down without a sound trouncing they will have just cause to be exceedingly thankful.

The Alumni team will be an all-star aggregation composed of the luminaries of most of the teams since '87. Thomas McNeil, '95, will be captain and will cover first base. In '92 and '93 McNeil played in right field; in '94 and '95 he covered first base.

Behind the bat Ed Young—"one of the Youngs"—will officiate. He too is a veteran of the Varsity Nine. In '92 he played second and third; in '93 short stop; and in '94 he caught. The '93 and '94 teams were among the best Cornell has had, the former winning fifteen games and losing four and the latter winning fourteen and losing five. Among its victories the '93 team numbered three over the University of Pennsylvania, two over Michigan and one over Georgetown. The '94 team twice triumphed over Pennsylvania and once over Michigan.

In the box, the Alumni team will be strong with C. V. P. Young, '99, and J. B. Chase, '03, delivering up as choice an assortment of curves as Captain Brewster's men will solve—or will try to solve—this season. Young pitched on the '96 team, caught on the '97 and '98 teams and again pitched in '99. Chase played center field in '00, his freshman year, and pitched during the three succeeding years. Twice Princeton went down before him; once in his sophomore year when Cornell won out 6 to 1 and once in his senior year when the tallies were 12 and 4 in Cornell's favor.

Harry L. Taylor, '88, will play next to McNeil in the infield. He has the record of having played five years on Cornell teams. In '85 he was third baseman and in '86, '87, '88, and '93 was catcher. Clyde Johnson will be at short stop, ready to play in the form he showed in '93, '94 and '95. In those days he was both an infielder and an outfielder and a by no means unskillful artist with a bat. Frank Affeld, '97, third baseman in '94, '95, '96 and '97 will be back in his old position.

In the field there will be W. R. Miller, one of the greatest players Cornell has had and who left behind him the marvelous record of having played for four years without making an error. Miller played in '96, '97, '98 and '99. C. V. P. Young or Chase will be in center field and W. E. Best '94, who played ed in the outfield in '93 and '94 will play in right field.

The game will be played on Percy Field and will be called at promptly 3 o'clock.

Some Figures Showing the Volume of Business Done by the Cornell Athletic Association.

The receipts of the Cornell Athletic Association from crew, track, baseball, football and season tickets from September 1st 1903 to date amount to $38,555.24; the expenditures to date for crew, track, baseball, and football, to $25,807.54. The figures show only the expenses in the four branches named but indicate somewhat clearly the magnitude of the business carried on by the association.

The receipts for crew to date are $2,652.09 and the expenditures $5,715.41. The crews last year cost $7,991.93 and in 1902, $10,962.01. The cost this year will probably amount to $9,000.

The receipts of the baseball team to date are $5,347.97 and the expenses $4,698.94. The receipts of the team last year were $6,089.29 and its expenses $7,569.20.

The track account to date shows receipts of $2,376.27 and expenditures of $4,800.87. The receipts last year were $2,948.53 and the expenses $6,373.87.

For football the receipts were $18,578.91 and the expenditures $10,592.32. A year ago the receipts were more than $21,000 and the expenditures more than $13,000.

The accounts of the Athletic Association do not close until August and before that time the expenses of the Poughkeepsie trip and the western trip of the baseball team must be defrayed, together with installments on the salaries of the coaches, accounts for supplies in most of the branches, and current expenses. The season will not be finished with a big balance on the credit side of the ledger—for college athletics are not run for that purpose—nor will it finish with a deficit.

Every Cornell team is better equipped today than it was even in January 1901 when Graduate Treasurer R. H. Treman, '78, made his last report to the Athletic Council. That report showed expenditures on the crews of the preceding year of $3,841.34; on the baseball team, $5,119.26; and on the track team, $1,961.08. The football men were lavish spenders that year and rolled up a record of $14,159.82. It was in that year that Alumni offerings for current expenses of teams were withdrawn and a resulting deficit of over $5,000 was raised at a mass meeting called by the class of 1901. In the following year the season ticket plan was inaugurated and the deficit was less than $1,000. Since that time the balance has been on the other side of the books.

the change. In three years they have established the season ticket system and increased the receipts therefrom from $7,800 to $9,400 to $9,600. At the same time the gate receipts at Percy Field have fallen but little below the receipts at the time when there were no season tickets. And so without a dollar of assistance from Alumni the Cornell teams are today as well equipped as any college teams in the country.

Entered as second class matter at Ithaca P. O.

ITHACA, N. Y., JUNE 15, 1904.

The next issue of the ALUMNI NEWS will come from the press early in July and will be a double number containing a complete account of the Commencement exercises, the reunions of the classes of '69, '74, '79, '84, '89, '94, '99 and 1901, and of the boat races at Poughkeepsie, illustrated with group photographs of the graduating class, the classes holding reunions and the winning Cornell crews.

Next week our services are at the disposal of Alumni returning to the city. If on arriving in the city, you have not already arranged for accommodations, come to the office of the ALUMNI NEWS, Room 5, Blood Block, 111 North Tioga street, and by telephone connection with the Committee at Barnes Hall we will learn for you just where board and lodging are to be had in the city. If you wish to telephone or telegraph as soon as you arrive in town leave the car at State and Tioga streets for we have both wires in the building. If you are in search of some of your old friends we can locate them for you; we may know them and if we don't we will know someone to whom we can telephone and who will know them. On Tuesday and Wednesday the office will be open from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.; during the remainder of the week from 8 A. M. to 5:30 P. M. If we can be of any service to you before you arrive, write or wire us.

The first concern of every returning Alumnus should be to register with the Committee at Barnes Hall and with the class secretary. On Tuesday and Thursday every man's time is his own for whatever social engagements he may choose to make; but on Wednesday, the 22nd, the reunion classes claim the whole time of their members and on that day there are for them no engagements other than those made by their classes.

Students from Ithaca Division of Medical College Won the Honors in New York.

Of the twenty-one students in the graduating class at the New York Medical school who took more or less of their course in the academic or medical departments in Ithaca there were five who graduated in the honor list of the first ten in the class. The first and second places were obtained respectively by G. W. Cottis and Miss Helen L. Carter, both from Ithaca. Thirteen of the twenty-one students from Ithaca have obtained hospital positions after competitive examinations, and it is noteworthy that among these positions the best invariably were allotted to students who had had a preliminary education in the Arts and Sciences.

Cornell Hospitality.

A communication in the Harvard Crimson speaks of the friendliness with which Cornell entertained the Harvard crew on the occasion of its visit to Ithaca. After mentioning in detail the several courtesies extended to the visitors the Crimson says:

"These are facts which speak for themselves. The contest was friendly from the start, and when it was over, there was neither condescension from Cornell nor bitterness from Harvard. If we are as broad-minded here at Harvard as our ideals would have us, we cannot fail to profit by the gentlemanly example of the men at Cornell who have proved themselves such excellent hosts."

OFFICIAL:

EIGHTY-FOUR'S HONOR ROLL.

The following Eighty-four men have signified their intention of being in Ithaca on June 22nd:

Herbert L. Aldrich, New York City; Howard E. Case, Wichita, Kansas; William F. Cassidy, Newburg, N. Y.; Lewis H. Cowles, Cleveland, Ohio; George B. Davidson, Scranton, Pa.; Delbert H. Decker, Washington, D. C.; Henry P. de Forest, New York City; George F. Ditmars, Geneva, N. Y.

Ernest W. Huffcut, Cornell University; William C. Krauss, Buffalo; Edward Maguire, Beaver Falls, Pa.; Charles D. Norton, New York City; Fred C. Olin, Buffalo, N. Y.; Henry J. Patten, Chicago, Ill.; Herbert D. Sibley, Olean, N. Y.; Henry L. Shively, New York City; Elmer G. Story, New York City.

Charles M. Thorp, Pittsburg, Pa.; Charles J. Walch, Syracuse, N. Y.; Lewis H. Tuthill, New York City; Oscar D. Weed, New York City; Charles A. Brewster, Painted Post, N. Y.; Wilson N. Bering, Decatur, Ill.; George M. Carpenter, Scranton, Pa.

Frank P. Ingalls, New York City; Wilbur S. Knowles, New York City; Edward F. Morse, Trumansburg, N. Y.; John H. Skillicorn, Albany, N. Y.; Walter L. Webb, Philadelphia; Horton D. Wright, Gloversville, N. Y.; Hudson P. Rose, New York City.

"C. U. ! C. U. ! '89."

'89 enjoys the distinction of having had the largest Five and Ten-Year Reunions, in proportion to its size, of any class that has been graduated from Cornell. From present indications it will hold its record in its Fifteen-Year gathering next week, as sixty members of the class are now expecting to return, including a number who have not been back since graduation.

Our class is widely scattered. Kirkland is in Africa; Durland and Miss Ritchie in Europe; Nakano, Naruse and Okami in Japan; Balch, Bennett, Hamilton, Lee, Morehouse, Peet and Price are on the Pacific Coast and the others are scattered from Minnesota to Georgia and from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Eight have died, and a few have been unsuccessful, but in the main we are doing fairly well and are trying, each in his own way, to live out the Cornell spirit we acquired during our four years of association with it.

Our "Class Memorial," Robert Johnson, is at present residing in Chicago and he hopes to be present and officiate at our banquet as he did nineteen years ago when we were freshmen.

It is the earnest wish of the Reunion Committee that this last word may bring back every member of '89 who has not heretofore planned to come and that a "here" will be heard to every name, as of old, when the roll is called.

(Signed)

C. E. TREMAN.

HALF OF CLASS OF '89 COMING.

Secretary Henry H. Ogden of the class of '89 reports that the following men will be in Ithaca on Wednesday, June 22nd:

NINETY-FOUR'S PROGRAMME.

The editor of the ALUMNI NEWS has requested me to describe the latest arrangements for the '94 reunion. Little can be added to the letter which Secretary Bogart recently mailed to each member of the class, except to mention the decision of several prominent '94 men to abandon other plans and cancel engagements in order to join their classmates on the twenty-second of June. The secretary's list, for example, did not contain the names of Messrs. Hall and Slater. The former, now dean of the University of Chicago Law School, had planned an early departure for Europe, but was unable to resist the attraction of a reunion at which so many of his old associates would be present and has consequently altered his plans; while former Senator Slater has given up a trip to the Republican National Convention in order to attend the reunion. Many others have sacrificed some cherished plan for the sake of joining the class, a goodly proportion of which we can count on seeing in Ithaca during Commencement Week.

All '94 men and women are requested to register early Wednesday morning at class headquarters in Barnes Hall, where from 9 to 10:30 A. M. there will be an informal gathering. At 10:30 we shall tour the Campus, if weather permits, and at 12:45 P. M. form in line and march in a body to the Armory to participate in the Alumni reunion and luncheon. Thereafter members will be free to attend the annual meeting of the Associate Alumni and the Alumni reception of President and Mrs. Schurman. At 7 o'clock the class reunion and dinner will be held at the Ithaca Hotel. The dinner will be given in the main dining room of the hotel, but before that begins there will be a meeting of the class for roll-call and reading of messages from absent members. Members of the class and all other Cornellians who obtained degrees in '94 are invited to bring their wives, or husbands, and other guests. But tickets must be procured (at class headquarters or through Secretary Bogart) before noon of June 22, as the order to the caterer will have to be given at that hour.

THE LARGEST ISSUE OF THE PAPER EVER PRINTED.

Will contain group photographs of the class of Sixty-nine, Seventy-four, Seventy-nine, Eighty-four, Eighty-nine, Ninety-four, Ninety-nine and Nineteen-one, together with groups of the graduating class and half-tone cuts of Cornell's winning crews on the Hudson River.

The President's address and the principal addresses at the Alumni Luncheon will be printed verbatim. Class reunions, Commencement exercises and Poughkeepsie races covered in detail.

EXTRA COPIES, - - - 25 CENTS.

Although we hope to avoid the formality imposed upon many banquets by set speeches, our dinner will nevertheless be a feast of reason and flow of soul, for we shall hear in the course of the evening from our favorite orators and men of action.

Decennial Reunion of '94 Cornellians at Ithaca, Wednesday, June 22, 1904.

There will be "something doing" all day, Wednesday, June 22nd, from 10 A. M. until—who shall say what hour? Barnes Hall will be headquarters where all will register, and from which point our class will be conducted in a body about the Campus. Maybe you think a guide will not be necessary. Wait and see. If you haven't visited Alma Mater since '94 you will scarcely feel at home until the changes of recent years are explained. At 1:00 P. M., is the University luncheon; at 4:00 P. M., the annual meeting of Alumni in Barnes Hall; from 5:00 to 7:00 President and Mrs. Schurman give a reception to all Alumni; at 7:00 P. M. the '94 class dinner at the Ithaca hotel. Dinner will be ordered only for those who shall, during the morning of June 22nd, notify the secretary in person or by mail, that they will attend. Remember that ladies are to attend our dinner. Wives and husbands of all '94 Cornellians are invited. The dinner will cost $1.00 per plate.

A few send word that business engagements or great distances prevent their attendance. We don't believe it. Others have not yet sent definite replies. But the following ninety-four (isn't the number a significant omen?) members of our class are coming and have said so:

June 12, Ithaca, N. Y.

TO NINETEEN-ONE.

The advance guard of 1901—including Metcalf, Little, Thomas, Alexander, and Robertson—will arrive in Ithaca on Tuesday morning, June 21st to have a look at final arrangements for the Triennial reunion of the class on the following day. Tuesday night all 1901 men will gather at Theodore's. On Wednesday morning the clan will assemble at the class tent (no, brethren, this tent is not to sleep in) and at 1 P. M., will attend the Alumni Luncheon in the Armory where the class will have a speaker. At 2 P. M., headed by the colored band of Ithaca, the greatest class that ever left Cornell will hold the greatest pee-rade ever seen on the Campus. It will wind up at the class headquarters—said tent. The band is ours for the afternoon and at 6 P. M. pee-rade No. 2 will move to the hotel. At 10:30 P. M. the class smoker will be held in the Dutch Kitchen—old boys and bubbling kids cleared out, for the Kitchen is ours. A hundred and sixty men have promised to be there and that alone will make it the greatest reunion ever held in Ithaca. "Meet me at the 1901 tent", is the watchword. Be there with nothing to do but to spend the day with the fellows of your class.

THE TRIENNIAL COMMITTEE.

NINETEEN-ONE TRIENNIAL.

To the Editor of CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS:

DEAR SIR:—Will you kindly announce through your columns that there will be a meeting of all members of 1901 in Ithaca on Tuesday night the twenty-first at Theodore's at eight o'clock. Final arrangements will be then made for stunt parade on the following day. Every man is urged to bring some sort of a costume with him. Do not wait

The case is to be argued before the Right Honorable "Father" Miller in Theodore's immediately after meeting referred to above.

As the court does not care to be disturbed in this its first important meeting, Spigot Massey, George VanNamee "Jug" Chatillon and "Fat" Bennet are to act as special policemen.

Schenectady has but two 1901 representatives and both will be on hand. Eells told me so today. Massey, Purcell and VanNamee of Watertown have promised to report on the 21st. Chatillon will be there on the same date. 1901 members of the New York Cornell club will reach Ithaca in a bunch on the "Black Diamond" Tuesday night.

If the other sections of the country send back as many men as the New York, Schenectady, Albany, Troy and Watertown sections, Izzie, the Heathen and Stuart Lang will be the only ones missing.

Commencement at Cornell Medical College in New York.

Forty-eight men and five women received degrees at the sixth annual Commencement of the Cornell University Medical College held in Carnegie Hall, New York City, on Wednesday evening. The graduating address was delivered by Professor William W. Keen of Jefferson College, Philadelphia, and the degrees were conferred by President Schurman. Prizes were awarded to the three members of the class attaining the highest standing during their course. George W. Cottis was awarded first prize, $150; Miss Helen L. Carter, second prize, $100; and Samuel Feldman, third prize, $50. The honor men of the class, ranking after the prize winners, were: Charles A. Squires, Ellery N. Peck, William Grossmah, Jacob M. Goldberg, Henry C. Becker, Louis A. Parmenter and Herbert C. Gifford. The prize for the best work in otology was won by C. A. Squires and in neurology by C. L. Nichols.

As the Ithaca Journal Sees Chancellor Day.

Chancellor Day is a hard loser. He can't get over the defeat of his efforts to hurt Cornell University. This is shown in his report to the trustees of Syracuse University where he refers to "that unjust competition that is forced upon us, in common with many of the other colleges, by the unfair and partial discrimination of the politicians in our Legislature, who do not represent the sentiment of the State nor the interests of higher education." It also seems quite as hard for the Chancellor to be just as it is for him to lose.

"When you see a man who says he never worries, you can be pretty certain that some one is doing his worrying for him."—H. L. Meader, Cornell, '97.

And at Cornell it is pretty sure to be the old man at home who carries the burden. This may be lightened by ten cents on every dollar you spend the year round at Sherwood's.
