REUNIONS—BY CLASS REPRESENTATIVES

Van Cleef Dinner

The customary dinner of early Classes took place in the Blue Room of Sage College Saturday evening. Eighty-two persons were present. Following the plan inaugurated by Mynderse Van Cleef '74, there were present returning alumni of the Classes of '70 to '90, inclusive, and also members of their families. This included children and in many cases grandchildren. These seemed right promising material for future Cornellians. We were honored by the presence of Eugenia Van Cleef, daughter of the founder of these dinners.

President Day favored us with a visit, as he said, to look over the old-timers. By the way, the old-timers are quite sure they made the University what it is to-day. The President gave us a fine talk which was appreciated by all of us.

Nearly every one of the twenty Classes was represented either by a written message or by personal representatives. Last year we were gratified to have with us personal representatives of the first three Classes, '69, '70, and '71. This year we had a message from '70 and personal representation in Royal Taft of '71 and Albert Osborn of '72. Both these men are over ninety and still in full manly vigor.

This was the Sixty-year Reunion of the Class of '81, sponsors of the dinner. The Class was represented by James B. Stearns and Edwin W. Catchpole.

'86 had its Fifty-fifth this year and had the largest representation at the dinner. Ernest Merritt spoke felicitously for this group.

The Van Cleef dinners which bring together the scattering members of the early Classes have always been among the pleasant features of Reunions, and we trust that they will be continued indefinitely.

—S. H. GAGE, Secretary of '77

Class of '91 Golden Anniversary

Those attending the alumni meetings on the Campus and in Barton Hall were interested in a Class button of gold background with a large red "C" and the numerals '91 in the center, which was the insignia of the Fifty-year Class.

Of the original entrance registration of 400 in 1887, of which forty were women, fifty-three members were present at the Class banquet in Balch Hall Saturday evening, together with fifteen guests. The Class president, J. W. Beardsley of Syracuse, was unable to attend, so Alternate President Frank J. Tone of Niagara Falls presided. Other officers present were Secretary Clarence A. Snider of New Rochelle and Treasurer Lewis E. Dofflemyer of Ithaca. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker of Bradford, Pa., acted as toastmaster. Harry C. Davis of Denver, Colo., related his experience when abducted by the Sophomores, while president of our Freshman Class. Interesting remarks were made by E. B. Lovell, E. W. Olmsted, and C. B. King, also by Arturo Rodriguez who came by plane from his home in Porto Rico. Ina E. Genung read a letter of greeting from Mrs. J. H. Tanner.

A memorial service was held Saturday morning in Sage Chapel with Judge Schoonmaker presiding and the Rev. Charles H. McKnight '91 offered prayer.

The highlight of the Reunion was the delightful garden party given by President and Mrs. Day for the Class Saturday afternoon when sixty-four were most cordially received and had the opportunity of the more personal greeting of our gracious President and his wife.

There was a sincere expression of all who attended that this Reunion was a notable success, and a wish that the University and those who arranged for the Reunion should have this appreciation of the Class of '91 brought to their attention.—I. E. G.

Class of '96

The Forty-five-year Reunion was well attended and a delightful gathering. It included five Classmates who never previously had attended a Reunion, some coming from distant cities of New Orleans, Baltimore, and Chicago. For the most part we were housed in Prudence Risley and Anna Comstock Hall, delightfully situated beyond the gorge.

We had our regular evening dinners Friday and Saturday, both largely attended. Friday night, "Tomp" presided and quickly dispatched the Class business so all were free for personal activities of Senior singing, Dramatic and Musical Clubs. Later we congregated at our headquarters in Prudence Risley and discoursed far beyond midnight. Saturday night, our dinner was further increased in attendance. Our president had made a fine selection for toastmaster, Colonel Edward Davis, who amused us with dreams of the previous night which he happily disclosed in rhymes. Following this the toastmaster introduced the speaker of the evening, Dean Dexter S. Kimball, who is an important member of the OPM. Dean Kimball gave us an intimate talk concerning present developments of World War II, and of the future aims of the armed forces. Then we proceeded to Bailey Hall and enjoyed the alumni rally.

As has been our custom for many years, immediately following the rally '96 had a midnight get-together at Prudence Risley, where "Tomp" took charge, conducting an interesting "quiz" concerning athletic and social items of past history of our Class, the successful contestants being awarded appropriate, laugh-producing gifts. Following this, movies of prior Reunions were exhibited, many recalling those present in former years and now gone forever. It is our hope that moving pictures taken this year, many in color, can be made available for our future Reunions. Refreshments were served and in the early morning hours we said good-night, many to meet on Sunday for further greetings and good-byes. The unanimous verdict was: "We are Cornell '96—We'll be back in '46."—A. T. S.

Class of '01

Sixty-nine members of the Class of 1901, sixty-two men and seven women, were given official credit for attendance. This number was within two of the record for the Forty-year Class held by 1894.

On Friday evening, June 13, the men held a dinner at Fontainebleu, eighteen miles southwest of Ithaca on Kayuta Lake. The dinner attended by all members of the Class was held Saturday evening in Prudence Risley Hall. James O'Malley, president of the Class, presided. Willis H. Carrier of Syracuse, a University Trustee and the "father of air-conditioning," delivered a brief formal address. Ezra B. Whitman, also a University Trustee, spoke informally. Whitman was elected vice-president of the Class to succeed William H. Miller, and Roy M. Hart of Brooklyn was elected permanent treasurer to succeed Roger B. Williams, Jr., both of whom died since the Reunion in 1937.

Besides Carrier and Whitman, other members registered who are not in the Class picture were Theodore F. Borst, Leslie V. Grantier, Harry O. Lovejoy, Mabel Crowl Curtis, Clara R. Donaldson, Mary C. Gillette, A. Louella Northrop, Kate Cosad Snyder, Edith Church Ward.—J. O'M.

Class of '06

Class members began to show up at headquarters in Mennen Hall Thursday evening, and by Saturday noon forty-six had arrived. It was unanimously agreed that we fully accomplished our aim of "A Grand Visit with Cornell and with Each Other."

Curt Welch, Jim Braman, and Sy Preston thoroughly approved the workmanship of the baseball team in the game against Dartmouth Friday afternoon, and Ed Foote, Pat Folger, and Carl Johnson joined with others of about our time to show that they haven't forgotten how to make a shell step along.

We held our Class dinner at the Johnny Parson Club Friday evening, joined by a dozen friends from '04 and '05. Life Secretary Al Mellowes reported that after Reunion activities were over, the Class would have about $1700. It was unanimously voted to turn this money over to the University, the income to be divided between the Class for future expenses and the Alumni Fund. Al Mellowes also suggested the election of a new life secretary. This suggestion was received with vociferous applause, and Al Mellowes was immediately unanimously elected to succeed himself.

Most of us went to the Musical Clubs' concert, and had to admit the performance was one of the finest we had ever heard. None of us will forget the magnificent rendition of "Goin' Home" for a long, long time.

Saturday night, we joined '04 and '05 at their dinner where Eddie Holmes '05 kept things moving in a lively strain. Then to the Rally under '26's able direction, followed by the final bull sessions, most of which lasted well into the night, as we reluctantly faced the necessity of starting on our various ways Sunday morning.

Men who registered at Class headquarters but are not in our picture were Forrest Lee,

C. G. Lee, R. C. Gibbs, C. C. Hutton, G. C. Bogert, W. W. Reynolds, H. B. Mann, and H. A. Holmes.

It was a grand get-together, and those of '06 who had to miss it better start planning now to be back with the old crowd in 1946.

Class of '11 Men

Our Thirty-year Reunion has come and gone and is now a part of Cornell history. The close relationship which has developed among those who have attended their Reunions is something which means a great deal to all of us. These associations and our stay on the Campus make us feel that our University is one of the worthwhile things in life.

The Class tent outside headquarters in North Baker was the scene of many small reunions. Here we met old friends and made new ones with the assistance of Ballantine's dispensed by "Stuffy" DeMun. Several Classmates were back for the first time, and enjoyed the Campus Caravan tour of the Campus. The Varsity baseball game with Dartmouth on Friday gave us our first chance to cheer and to loosen up the vocal cords for our close harmony sessions. We have been dubbed the "singing Class" by many old-timers. The party split for Senior singing, the Musical Club concert entitled "Reunion Time," and the Dramatic Club show. Needless to say, they reconvened under the 1911 tent after the performances.

True to our promise, "Hank" Kimball boated a 1911 crew on the inlet Saturday afternoon. This was one of the highlights of the Reunion. "Hank" anticipated the designs of his old buddies, "Bill" Simson and "Sut" Sutton, by jumping overboard.

Every place was taken in the Johnny Parson Club for our Class dinner on Saturday night. Our president, Gene Bennett, presided and called on several Classmates for brief speeches. We presented gifts to Chip Tyson, our general Reunion chairman who unfortunately was unable to attend, and Johnny Rewalt, Class treasurer, in appreciation of their long services to the Class. A prize was awarded to Abe Mahon of Los Angeles for coming the greatest distance. Entertainment was provided by the Glee Club Quartette which was enthusiastically received. A phonograph record of the proceedings was made by Bob Morse, including the yodelling of Vic Ritschard and "One Eyed Riley" by Art Holmes.

Classmates who were there but not in our picture are Charles Beavers, E. W. Benjamin, Joseph B. Campbell, Charles M. Chukrow, W. L. Conwell, C. H. Davidson, S. B. Dicker, J. Carl Fogle, Joseph C. Ford, George S. Frank, We'll be out strong for our Thirty-five-year Reunion, and will have a rehearsal at our Dix plan gathering in 1944.—O. G. M.

Class of '16 Men

The Twenty-fifth Reunion of the Class of 1916 took place under showering skies June 13-15. It was a spectacular success. The Class established a new record for Reunions at Cornell, 285 Classmates returning, of which 253 were men and 32 were women. With fair weather before Reunion and during the first day, we feel we would have attained our goal of 300.

The memorial services in honor of our deceased Classmates were held in Sage Chapel Friday morning. The Rev. Ray Sanford '16, The Common Ground, Chicago, delivered an inspiring address, Professor Paul Weaver presided at the organ, and Gilbert Cobb '41, a gifted vocalist, sang the solos. Cornetists from our Reunion fife and drum corps played "Taps." Following this, the Class marched to the Charles Barrett Memorial at the Field House, led by our fife and drum corps and our bag-pipers. Murray Shelton paid touching tribute to Charlie Barrett and to Gib Cool, Dale Gass, Bill Jameson, Bill Bailey, Fritz Shiverick, Rex Jewett, Maxie Speed, Harry Flood, Sam Strummer, and Will Taylor, all of whom had played on the football teams or squads of Charlie's days. A floral wreath was then placed at the Memorial.

Luncheon at the Drill Hall was followed by the Dartmouth-Cornell baseball game. That night we held a barbecue in the quadrangle at South Baker, and Sam Howe presented Fred Hamm '16 with a portable typewriter as a gift from the Class, to while away his hours at the Veterans' Hospital in Bath where he is staying. The Musical Clubs and Dramatic Club performed Friday night, with great success. A grand impromptu show followed at our Class Tent, paced by Hibby Ayer '14 at the piano, assisted by our band, pipers, accordionist, and singers.

Saturday started off with the annual meetings of the Alumni Fund and Alumni Association, followed by the University luncheon at the Drill Hall where our truly fine musicians put on a great show. That handsome Gael, Ted Jamison, was something to behold in his kilts and wiggle-waggle, and our slightly Nordic Gael, Buddy Fay, garbed in the plaids of dear old Scotland, was the answer to a desperate maiden's prayer.

The Class banquet took place that evening at Willard Straight, with Frank Hunter as toastmaster, showing the same top form that he did in his competitive days at Forest Hills and Wimbledon. President Day, wearing our Reunion coat, was our guest, as were Jack Moakley, Carl Snively, Jim Lynah '05, Doc Peters '14, Emmet Murphy '22, Walt Heasley '30, and Steve Stevenson '19. We also had with us some of our good friends from non-reunion Classes. Four Classmates who had come back from the corners of the earth were called to their feet: Loren Mead from Shanghai, Alex Anderson from Honolulu, Reinaldo Ramirez from Puerto Rico, and Arthur Whitecotton from Paris, France. President Murray Shelton on behalf of the Class presented Bub Pfeiffer with a Sterling silver tea service, Bub responding in character with one of his famous perorations; to wit, "I thank you," accompanied by wet eyes and a full throat. The alumni rally with the Class of '26 as hosts provided a good time for all.

Room 238 of the Ithaca Hotel was in constant operation with Frank Hunter as host, and Charlie Cross, our adopted Classmate, ably assisting. The Dutch was the scene of an impromptu dinner of about forty on Thursday night.

This is a cold, factual report of events. It does not disclose the heart-warming and inspiring days that none of us who were favored to be present will ever forget.

Class of '21 Women

After the usual Reunion activities on Friday, we gathered in the organization room at Risley about eleven o'clock and held our Class meeting. The business consisted mainly of electing a new Class secretary to serve for the next five years and a recording secretary to keep minutes of the meeting. Unanimous votes were cast for Sara Speer Miller for the former and Marjorie Parbury Roedelheim for the latter. Then we proceeded to the real business of bringing the news of each of us up to date.

Our children ranged from "Babe" Faulhaber Brown's nineteen-year-old son to Hazel Day Beagle's four-month-old baby. Sara Speer Miller and Dot Cushman Littlewood both have sons at Cornell. Jean Bright Waller brought her thirteen-year-old daughter all the way from Daytona Beach, Fla. The majority of us are housewives or teachers, two are in business and four in professions, several help their husbands in their businesses. Elsa Schlobohm has recently passed the Bar examinations and is studying for a Master's degree. We talked on until nearly two, and after we were in bed we could still hear voices of those who hated to call it a day.

But there were enough of us up for the 7:30 women's breakfast at Straight to fill a couple of tables and all were on hand in time to get together at the '21 table in Barton Hall for lunch.

Our dinner at Willard Straight had been arranged by Fleta Huff Matson and was attended by forty of the forty-seven Classmates in town. A sudden thunderstorm almost stranded us there, but after singing a few extra songs we found that it had let up enough that with the help of those who had their cars nearby we were able to reach Bailey in time for the rally which proved to be one of the best. We won't be specific as to what happened after the Rally. Some of us went to bed but others—! Well, they were all on hand to enjoy a picnic breakfast in the gorge Sunday morning cooked by Agnes Fowler and Lucy Maltby. Some expressed doubt, as we puffed back up the hill, as to whether that feature of Reunion could be repeated after another five years have taken their toll.

After breakfast, the crowd began to break up and by time the Seniors gathered for their Class Day exercises and final sing in the evening, most of the red and black scarves had been packed away in suitcases and were on their way home to be put in moth balls until the big day five years hence.—C. C. B.

Class of '26 Men

In Reunion there was strength! But this time we confess to an emphasis on robust, rugged quality. After frequent, feverish, frantic last minute hog-calls by the large general Class committees, the fraternity committees, the athletic committees, and Emmet Murphy, but ninety-five valiant returned for the Big Event!—the fewest in our star-spangled history. Cornell '26 bows an humble but shapely knee to the Class of 1916. They were awesome and terrific!

However, all praise to our superbackfield, for whom no apologies are asked or offered, and who so gloriously upheld our cherished traditions in maintaining our over-all Reunion average record for Ballantines '16 consumed. We refer proudly to Heavyweights Affeld, Morris, Eichleay, Brooks, Buckman, Syme, MacDonald, Aronson, Bentley, Kearney, and Edredge.

Our regrets and respects are extended to some half-a-hundred '26ers who, mostly because of defense jobs or commitments, had to cancel reservations in the last few days before Reunion. We had expected to see Don Ferris, Del Vincent, Lee Rostenberg, Dick Field, Hank Russell, George Todd, Whitney Baman, Berlinghof, Zimmer, Craig, Jolly, Hill, Hunter, Breckenridge, Bowdish, and a host of others who accepted, paid, and then regretted. Their absence for the cause indicated is a tribute by the Class in contributing its share to keeping one Adolf Hitler from disturbing our colossal plans for the Twenty-year meeting in 1946. Incidentally, the careful calculations of Investment Counsellor Gene Kaufman were upset no end in the matter of forecasting the number of Class uniforms required.

Special medals for fortitude and endurance were merited, and in due course will be bestowed upon the Iron Men who came from long distances to attend Reunion. Specifically, we refer to Fred Hirsch from Pasadena, Art Schieren from Memphis, Duke Bart from Grand Rapids, George Brumder from Milwaukee, Dick Shepard from Vicksburg, and Mead (good ol' Purina) Summers from St. Louis.

Absentees missed what is proclaimed "the greatest of all Host Class Reunion Rallies in history." Our hats were off to the breathtaking show that Harry Wade put on in Bailey Hall—the audience thought it was in for another Orson Welles broadcast. His able and conniving assistants were Steve MacDonald, Hugh Troy, Duke Bolton, and Johnny Eichleay. The Buildings and Grounds Department almost had "shingles" trying to keep up with Harry and Hugh's early preparations. They grudgingly accepted the proposal to place an Austin car, five live ducks, and other unrelated "props" on the stage, but they turned a stony ear to the idea of Steve MacDonald and the writer riding a span of draft horses down the aisle, flanked by a cordon of motorcycle cops!

For his great and highly imaginative undertaking, Harry Wade has been rewarded with the dubious distinction of being elected Class secretary for the next five years. Personally, we think he is a push-over for chairmanship of the 1946 Reunion. He may count our vote as in.

Don't laugh too much when we tell you that the Class banquet was held at the Lehigh Valley House. It ain't the same old place. Nell has gone, and the drab gray has given way to a Queen Anne front. We won't say anything about the vest. Duke Bolton, after early, copious, but adequate fortifying, escaped before the storm unloosed by George Brumder, Pete Bull, Bud Kuehmsted, and Hunt Bradley really descended upon him. His handling of the over-enthusiastic mob was magnificent, when he kept Duke Burt, Norman McLain, and their table at bay, single-handed. Incidentally, it was not done to the soft accompaniment we all learned to play on Fred Greutsch's ocarinas.

We acknowledge with many sincere thanks the efforts and careful planning of Home Guards Norm Stagg, Jim Mollinson, and Bob Meigs who contributed of their time and substance in preparing the battle-field in advance of the onslaught. Their teamwork with Emmet Murphy '22 served to make the entire Reunion a pleasant marathon.—W. W. B.

Class of '26 Women

Our Fifteen-year Reunion, with Beatrice Boyer Beattie as chairman, was a brilliant success. Sixty women registered. The party got under way snappily Friday night at an open house at headquarters in Sage. Sandwiches and coffee cheered the foot-weary and a highlight of the evening was the calling of the Class roll, during which all absent members were accounted for by friends and erstwhile roommates. About 2 a. m., the customers who had actually paid for the room persuaded the last reluctant guests to sit on the floor instead of the beds, and it is rumored that some sleep was obtained.

Barton Hall looked as gay as usual, and the costumes of the 1926 women were among the neatest and most colorful of all. Bright red feathers in hats, or in the hair if you had lost your hat in the excitement, stunning red silk pocketbooks against white dresses, and handsome red and white gloves. Martha Carpenter Carney selected the costumes. The yellow and white banner was carried by small daughters of 1926, and altogether we cut quite a swath.

The Class banquet in Sage made a tremendous hit. Spontaneous outbursts of song dated 1922-26 were enlivening; even a snake dance proved not too much for the ever-youthful Class. Each member related the story of her life from the epochal year 1926 on to the milestone of 1941.

Among the officers and chairmen present were Ruth Burns McMahon, toastmistress; Billie Burtis Scanlan, chairman of the banquet; Frances Eagan, Class secretary; Marian Quell, financial chairman; Beatrice Boyer Beattie, Reunion chairman; Estelle Randall, Class treasurer; Jeannette Gardiner Powell, chairman of the Ithaca committee; and Jerry Tremaine Thompson, president of '26. Elinor Jennings Wood, chairman of publicity, couldn't come to the Reunion she had efficiently advertised.

The prize for travelling the farthest to get to Reunion was awarded to Janet Nundy Ward of California; for the most interesting career to

Dr. Marguerite Kingsbury; for the most degrees to Dorothy Burnett Townsend; for the most prominent part in defense work to Marjorie Van Order Kinzel. Laura Pedersen Menkoni looked just the same as she did in 1926 and got a prize for doing so. Olive Knight Secour won a close race in the offspring contest because two of her three children are twins.

After dinner, "Eagan" attempted to resign, but her motion was voted down promptly and loudly. The Class voted to celebrate the Twenty-year Reunion in 1946, and to observe the Dix plan reunion only as an informal get-together. Ruth Burns McMahon was unanimously elected Reunion chairman for the Twentieth.

The Class adjourned to Bailey Hall to watch the excellent program put on by the men of '26. Harry Wade, husband of our Agnes Lester, was the master of ceremonies. After the rally, the Sage headquarters hummed with activity again and it is reported that Marian Quell burned the midnight oil 'til the accounts looked black instead of red.—F. L. S.

Class of '31 Women

It was a good Reunion! We might have looked really brilliant if it hadn't been for ye olde Twenty-five-year Classe of '16. They reunited with the slogan that they were the finest in the land, and so people got that impression. They seemed to love the whole business too, though perhaps it was but an act long rehearsed, and really difficult to play. They rehearsed it e'en a twelfth month, I'm told, and the act went well. Dr. Day—he's the new President—got to wearing a '16 blazer come Saturday's rally—or did you know?

But back to us: It was a good reunion! We were officially 69. Gertrude Goodwin reuned for five days; Ruth Palmer, perhaps five hours. No one looked old, everyone looked just the same. "Lovely" really should be our adjective. Just ask the Class of '09! We let one of them be labelled Toots Uetz Felton to quiet him, and another Mary Jane Snyder Mumper, and they looked "lovely," completely satisfied with their lot as they went off beaming and murmuring Toots Toots and Mary Jane.

Neither Mary Jane nor Toots got to Ithaca, you see, nor Fritz Meisse Meincke nor Lefty Hankinson Howe. Hope all is well with them at this point. We missed seeing the Burches too but Saturday is no time for them to play. And Vesta couldn't leave her practice to come over from Lisle. Yet there were pleasant surprises that you and you and I didn't expect. Here are some of them: Betty Muller, Marjorie Swift, Edith Macon Cushman, Miriam Prytherch Chapin, Happy Liable Tallmadge, Grace Aronson Gordon, Helen Wetzler Michaels from Auburn, Clarissa Smith, Frank Young, Mary Fuentes Boynton, Mary Shields Emert, Barbara Crosby, Dee Hall, Mary Hennessey, Doris Brown Hodge, Korry Coe Green, and Flo Van Vranken Grossarth. All those, plus notes of greetings from Marguerite Kline Kingsley, Helene Levenson Goldman, Helen Kreisinger Selvey (who can claim our first twins), Lenny Tobias, and Ginny Urban Hamer, and life felt all but complete. Then also Mardel Ogilvie wished her greetings might have reached Ithaca; Hilda Havens was sorry she was omitted; Marian Ballin asked that every detail be sent her, and so I might go on.

But I will conclude with this: If you would count on getting something done, page Audrey Stiebel Gottschalk (and Robert), Helen McCurdy Grommon and her cohorts, Oddie Worden, Alice Schade Webster and/or Olive Espenschied Emslie. But first, please, you might give them a bit of a holiday!—K.R.G.

Class of '36 Men

Our Fifth was like our Second in at least one respect. We were short on numbers but long on enthusiasm. Although the official count gives us 58 men registered at the Drill Hall, only 32 of these registered with us at our dormitory headquarters. However, our tent at the dormitory was well stocked with provisions and attended in good number throughout the week-end. Our costume, composed of green sailor's blouse with white neckerchief and white sailor's hat, was comfortable, attractive, and well received.

Our main attraction Friday night, exclusive of the brew, was Duke Wood's report on his previous ten days' experiences. It was a baby girl. Saturday night we gathered at the Alhambra for our Class dinner and after doing justice to the same, we descended en masse upon the alumni rally which was a fitting climax to a splendid week-end.

In all, every moment was pleasant. The spirit displayed by our group of '36 men bodes well for those big Reunions to come. To Johnny Humphreys, our Reunion chairman, goes the sincere appreciation of all for the splendid job he turned out.—C.E.D.

Class of '36 Women

Women of the Class of 1936 came back fifty strong for their Five-year Reunion, decorated colorfully with white aprons tied with red sashes and little peaked red and white caps. In the Class headquarters in the top corner of Sage, the "bull sessions" carried on far into the night just as of old. At the luncheon in Barton Hall on Saturday, their ranks were swelled by "sailors" in green middies from the men's Class, and the same sailors helped to enliven the picture-taking ceremony on Hoy Field.

The Class banquet was held out at Old Hundred and was a great success in spite of a terrific thunderstorm. Elizabeth Fessenden showed her colored movies of the Second-year Reunion in 1938 and of President Day's inauguration ceremonies.

Mrs. William C. Eisenberg (Alice Bailey) was in charge of the plans for the banquet and the room reservations, and Mrs. Herbert T. Brunn (Marion Belderman) and Mrs. Douglas V. Lewis (Maida Hooks) took care of the costumes.—M.T.N.

Class of '39 Men

Fifty-two men of the Class of '39 registered in Barton Hall for the first Reunion. While this number is not what we had hoped for, it is good in view of the national situation. Of the 200-odd replies which I received, more than fifty were affiliated or expected to be affiliated with Uncle Sam. Another fifty were working for industries which could not spare them.

However, the fifty-two who were back had a fine time from all the reports that I heard. Not many were back in time for the game on Friday, but in the evening they did start drifting in pretty fast. That night the whole bunch sat together down at the dorms discussing the happenings of the two years since leaving the Hill. We were also entertained by talking with Ernie Pope '31, former correspondent in Berlin, who was back for his Ten-year Reunion. His slants on the foreign situation were interesting.

Saturday noon, the gang congregated at Barton Hall for lunch, and many more of the Class arrived at this time. It was a very hot day, and in the afternoon we got together with the girls of the Class for a beer party down by the Cascadilla tennis courts.

Our banquet at the Delmonica was a great success, and the rally at Bailey Hall that evening was the best in many years. The Class of '26, who were Host Class, should be complimented on their fine job. After the rally, the men went their own way in groups, some to Glenwood, some to the dorms.

Let's hope that when our Five-year Reunion rolls around, conditions will permit more of the Class to enjoy themselves at Cornell again.

—T. I. S. B., Jr.

Class of '39 Women

History is in the making these days. The women of the Class of '39 contributed their share during Reunion week-end. Not world history, but pretty close to it. There were seventy girls in Ithaca. At least we are sure that we saw that many different noses. Those of you who weren't there might like to know what we did during the week-end. I won't attempt to answer for individuals, but in general this is what happened.

Some of the Classes were there early, but '39 toddled in during the early part of Friday afternoon. This was excusable since ours was the baby Reunion, and at the two-year stage we are still a little wobbly. Our headquarters was on the fourth floor of Sage in one of the large corner rooms. It didn't look very large most of the time, because it always seemed to be crowded with people even at very late and early hours. The registration committee was always willing to dock someone for the fee or Class dues.

There was much favorable comment about the costumes. You know how our Class has always vowed to have a costume that would look well on all sizes and shapes. Sally Steinman and her committee deserve much credit for their choice of hair ribbons and large red pocketbooks with shoulder straps. The girls were asked to wear white if possible. Whenever the Class was together as a group they looked very trim in white with their red pocketbooks swinging at their sides.

Since nothing official was scheduled for Friday night, the majority of us took in the Glee Club concert. It was well worth any amount that we could have paid to see it. "The Co-ed's Complaint" and "Co-ediquette" had a barrel full of laughs for everyone. It was thrilling to hear the Glee Clubs as they sang the Cornell songs. The girls took part in this concert, I believe for the first time, and added greatly to the evening's entertainment.

Saturday was the red-letter day. It began with a breakfast in Memorial Room at Willard Straight Hall for all Cornell women. Then the annual alumni meeting was held in Bailey Hall at which President Day spoke. Next came the Drill Hall luncheon. It's officially Barton Hall now. Remember when you were an undergraduate and went to the Luncheon just to see what it was like? You were a little amazed at all the hallowing that went on and a little doubtful about whether you would ever have the same spirit. But it's contagious! Our Class was able to do as much reuniting as any. The parade of the Classes was led by a band of Scottish Highlanders. We '39ers had to bring up the tail end, but we were there about 100 strong, counting both the men and women.

After standing around in the boiling sun waiting to have our Class picture taken, we were very happy to accept the invitation of the men of the Class to a picnic at Cascadilla. People strolled in, stayed for a while, and went on their merry way. It was a typical Cornell picnic. For many of us, it was the first in two years and, therefore, a very welcome one. Somehow, there's only one place for a picnic and that's Ithaca.

The Class banquet was held in the Green Room at Martha Van Rensselaer Hall. Everything was good: the food, the hecklers, and Piney. Everyone will agree that Piney is just about the best toastmistress in our Class, even though she denies it. We had as our guests for the evening, Miss Fitch and Miss Simonds. Miss Fitch is leaving the Campus this summer and our Class was smart and invited her to the banquet before any other group could snare her. She will be in Eugene, Ore. after leaving Ithaca. There will always be a welcome sign for all who wish to come visit when they are in that part of the country. I still am not quite sure why we did so much hilarious laughing throughout the meal. I think that most of it can be attributed to the hecklers at head table who misinterpreted and misunderstood much of what was said. It was all in fun, though, and we are awfully glad that everybody laughed so much. During the banquet, the committee for the Five-year Reunion was chosen: Happy Frankle, chairman; Louise Myers, costumes chairman; Eleanor Culver, registration chairman; Dawn Rochow, banquet chairman.

The rally in Bailey Hall exceeded past performances. The Class of '26 entertained in royal fashion with many of this year's Senior Class taking part. We ended the evening with a midnight-and-after feast. Some other Classes heard about it so we had visitors from '36 and '39.

It was a big week-end for '39. It will be an even bigger one when we go back for our Fifth in 1944. Better put it on the calendar now! You won't want to miss it. With Happy Frankle at the helm, it should be a week-end well worth the time and money.—S. D. S.

WOMEN LEADERS RESIGN Miss Fitch and Miss Seely Leave

R. Louise Fitch, Dean of Women at the University since 1926, has resigned, effective June 30, 1942, and at the end of the Summer Session will leave for Eugene, Ore., on leave of absence. She plans to devote her time to writing and study for a period.

Miss Fitch succeeded Georgia L. White '96 as Dean of Women, coming from Whitman College where she had been dean of women for two years. She received the AB in 1902 and the AM in 1911 at Knox College and engaged in graduate study at the University of California and University of Oregon. In 1932, Knox College conferred upon her the honorary LittD. She taught in Illinois and North Dakota, was editor and manager of the Galva (Ill.) Weekly News for two years and has been editor of The Trident of Delta Delta Delta, the Journal of the American Association of University Women, and other publications. In 1918 she went to France as a special reporter for the YWCA, and her book, Madame France, describes the effect of war on civilian populations. She has contributed articles on co-education and sororities to the Encyclopedia Britannica; is a past national president of Delta Delta Delta, was a vice-president of the League of American Penwomen and national recording secretary of the Women's Overseas Service League, and is a member of Mortar Board, Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Lambda Theta, Delta Kappa Gamma, and Phi Beta.

Grace H. Seely '04 resigned June 30 as head resident of Sage College, where she has been since 1919. She is spending the summer with her brother, Charles A. Seely '04, in Spencer, and next fall will live in the new Westview Terrace Apartments on Tripphammer Road. She plans to continue writing in her chosen field of French biographies, is already at work on a book about Madame deSeigne. Several summers spent in France have resulted in her translation of the diary of La Grande Mademoiselle and several other books, including Diane, the Huntress.

Miss Seely entered Arts and Sciences in 1901 after a year at Elmira College, and received the AB in 1904, returning to the Graduate School from 1908-10 for study in History and Economics. She taught at the National Park Seminary in Washington, D. C., and spent a year overseas in war work for the American Red Cross. She is a member of Alpha Phi.

ENGINEERING COLLEGE BUSY

The College of Engineering is continuing through the summer, under direction of Assistant Dean Arthur S. Adams, defense training courses for men employed in industry or capable of such employment, which it started last fall with sponsorship of the US Office of Education. At the University and in three other centers, enrolment in twenty-six summer courses, given evenings to train men for greater responsibilities in defense industries, approximates 1400.

Many of the courses which began last fall and winter are now completed, and many students have received promotions in their jobs. Courses were given to 1,329 students, which approximately equals the normal enrolment in the College of Engineering at Ithaca. Six full-time and three part-time teachers have been added to the Faculty, three experts have been borrowed from industry, and twenty-six regular members of the College staff give part or full time to the Engineering defense training program. Cost of instruction is borne by the Federal Government, and all courses are of college grade.

In the summer courses, nine given in buildings of the University of Buffalo have enrolment of 770. In a new training center at Endicott High School, six courses have 249 students; five courses at Southside High School, Elmira, have 230; four given at the College of Engineering have 110; and a course in applied mathematics given in Geneva has forty-one enrolled.

In addition, a second group of approximately fifty ensigns in the Naval Reserve arrived last week for a full-time course in Diesel engines given under direction of Professor A. C. Davis '14, Experimental Engineering. They are quartered in North Baker Hall. The first group of forty-seven young officers finish their sixteen-week course July 18 and will be assigned to duty on patrol vessels of the Navy. Besides their work in Sibley Laboratories and classrooms and at the American Locomotive works at Auburn, they were given training in actual operation of a Diesel motor afloat and in navigation and seamanship on Cayuga Lake aboard the forty-foot cruiser, Romance, loaned by its owner, Ernest A. Miller '99 of Ithaca.

Unlike the first group, the newly-arrived officers have had no previous Navy training. They are graduates of engineering colleges commissioned in June, and besides their work in the College of Engineering will be given instruction in Naval customs, some military drill, and other basic Navy training by Ensign Charles W. Frey, a graduate of the US Naval Academy who came with the first group and will remain as commanding officer of this unit.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION ELECT

About fifty alumnae, including representatives from twenty Cornell Women's Clubs, met in Willard Straight Hall June 13. Reports from the various standing committees of the Federation were read and Club affairs and the work of the Federation were discussed. Mrs. William H. Hill (May Thropp) '22 of the Delaware Valley (N. J.) Club was elected first vice-president, and Marguerite Hicks '26 of the New York City Club was elected third vice-president. That evening, Club representatives met with the executive committee for dinner and Club problems were discussed.

CORNELLIANS BROADCAST

Two alumni are broadcasting news from Europe on daily network programs of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

For some time, Charles C. Collingwood '39 has been giving the regular 8 a.m. news reports from London. The son of Professor G. Harris Collingwood, formerly of the Forestry Department, he spent six weeks at Geneva, Switzerland, on a scholarship of the Students International Union the summer of 1939, then travelled in France and entered Oxford University with a Rhodes Scholarship. In November, 1939, he joined the United Press in London; is now with CBS.

Last week, Margaret Bourke-White '27 was heard broadcasting from Moscow on the daily "World Today" program at 6:45 p.m. Before the war, she travelled in Russia photographing the progress of the five-year plan, and published two books, Eyes on Russia, and USSR: A Portfolio of Photographs. She has been a member of the staffs of Life magazine and PM; is the wife of Erskine Caldwell.

ALUMNI FUND BEST IN TEN YEARS

Work of Class Committees Brings Nearly $113,000

Christopher W. Wilson '00, president of the Alumni Fund Council for 1940-41, credits the largest Alumni Fund in more than ten years largely to the personal solicitation of some 1,500 Cornellians who volunteered in Class committees to obtain contributions to carry on the work of the University.

For the year ending June 30, 1941, the unrestricted Alumni Fund totalled $112,901.94 from 7,220 contributors. This is 36 per cent greater than last year's Alumni Fund of $82,806.59, with one more donor counted than last year's total of 7,210. Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30, executive secretary of the Fund, points out, however, that last year approximately 509 persons gave to the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs Scholarship Fund. They were counted as contributor-members of the Alumni Fund, but no solicitation was made for the Scholarship Fund this year. Thus this year's total of contributors to the unrestricted Alumni Fund is actually about 500 greater than last year. Every contributor is a member of the Alumni Fund Council.

Largest general increase over last year is shown by the Class of '10, in which the men's committee under chairmanship of Harold T. Edwards raised $8,124.56 from 242 contributors. The tables following show that the Class of '92 with Robert T. Mickle as chairman gave $10,157.96 to lead all Classes in amount this year, and the Class of '16 under Representative Richard Foster led all Classes in number of contributors, with 246.

ARCHITECTURE ALUMNI

Following the Reunion breakfast of the College of Architecture in White Hall June 14, a record number attended the annual meeting of the Architecture Alumni Association. A review of activities of the Association in organizing district groups of alumni throughout the country and in developing interest to further the objectives was discussed by President George B. Cummings '12 and Secretary-Treasurer Charles C. Colman '12.

Dean Gilmore D. Clarke '13 spoke of the successful activities within the College, the curriculum and continued enrollment, hopes for a new building to house the College properly, and participation of Cornell architects in plans for the new College of Engineering.

New by-laws were adopted, and the previous officers re-elected. Earle W. Bolton, Jr. '27 of Philadelphia, Pa., was added as vice-president.

The meeting was also informed by R. H. Shreve '02, newly elected president of the American Institute of Architects, of the many activities of architects in the national defense program.

OFFER CONCERT RECORDS

Recordings of the farewell concert for George L. Coleman '95 May 23, in which 135 alumni and undergraduate players took part on the Bailey Hall stage, may now be obtained from the Music Department, 320 Wait Avenue, Ithaca. The entire concert was recorded by Elmer S. Phillips '32 and his assistants in the University's WHCU studios, and pressings have been made which Professor Paul J. Weaver, Music, says surpass the usual commercial records. A set of these records was presented to Professor Coleman together with a Victrola, at the banquet given for him in Willard Straight Hall.

Twelve records, comprising the entire concert, may be obtained postpaid in an album at $18.50. Cesar Frank's "Symphony in D Minor," played by the alumni-undergraduate orchestra with Coleman directing, six records in album, is $9.50. Two records of four selections by the string orchestra are priced at $3; six songs by Dorothy Sarnoff '35, three records, are $4.50; and the Fantasia on the "Song of the Volga Boatmen" by Albert Stoessel, sung by the Glee Clubs with orchestra, one record, is $1.50.

CORNELL GREET'S PUNAHOU

At exercises commemorating the 100th anniversary of Punahou School in Honolulu, Hawaii, June 25, the official delegate of Cornell University was Professor Arthur L. Andrews '93 of the University of Hawaii.

Punahou School has sent many of its graduates to Cornell, and has won permanent possession of three gold cups given by the Cornell Club of Hawaii to three-time winners of the annual relay games for Hawaiian schools which the Club has sponsored since 1912. These meets were inaugurated while Professor Andrews was president of the Cornell Club of Hawaii, and at every one he has acted as clerk.

After being instructor in English at the University from 1898 to 1910 except for one year as secretary to President Schurman, Dr. Andrews was appointed professor of English in the College of Hawaii. He became dean of the college of arts and sciences of the University of Hawaii in 1920, and ten years later was appointed dean of the faculties, retiring five years ago as professor, emeritus. He received the BL at Cornell in 1893, the ML in 1895, and the PhD in 1902.

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

You may not enter Willard Straight in slacks or shorts. That's a new rule introduced with this year's Summer School. People who live here divide on the wisdom of it.

By the evening of the first day, three schools of thought on the slacks and shorts controversy were clearly discernible among Campus dwellers and old timers:—(A) Shorts, perhaps, but why bar slacks which are now accepted everywhere outside of Ocean Grove and Zion City. Aren't we striving for the unattainable? (B) Any rule which tends to curb Summer School the least bit is better than no rule at all. (C) It's just a waste of time and effort. The only way to improve Summer School is not to have it.

When interviewed on slacks and shorts by your reporter, Mr. Foster Coffin, Director of Willard Straight Hall, said in substance:

"We were under great pressure. We had to have a rule to show we had a rule, because most of our patrons seemed to think there weren't any rules. It wasn't that the entire Summer School wore slacks and shorts; merely that the wrong ones wore the wrong slacks and shorts, and mostly around Willard Straight. Slacks can be, I know, chic, smart, modest, and pretty, but you'd never know it just from hanging around here. We couldn't say smart slacks can come in and the other kind must stay out, could we? It was all or nothing. And no matter how much suffering the future holds in store for us in the big slacks and shorts fight, nothing could be worse than some of the letters we've had in recent years from alumni who drove up with their families to spend the night, took one quick, birds-eye glance at our slacks and shorts display, and then drove on wearily to sleep at Geneva."

Your reporter can sympathize with Mr. Coffin in his agony of mind, it having been our duty for many years to cooperate with Mr. Walter O'Connell, wrestling coach and swimming director, in the latter's efforts to maintain reasonable standards of dress and deportment at the outdoor swimming pool in Fall Creek. Beset on the one side by local, Presbyterian Trustees and on the other by early manifestations of what has since become the Youth Movement, Mr. O'Connell and your reporter promulgated the dogma that bathing suits, to be regarded as such, must not stop at the equator but must keep on going and cover portions, at least, of the north temperate zone.

But it didn't work. Our definition of bathing suit reached the world the same summer that the craze for sun-tanning the entire person struck with its full fury, and poor Mr. O'Connell was beaten down by the tempest. He did the best a large, powerful wrestling coach could do against the overwhelming opposition of the Cornell Summer Session, but it was a pretty poor best. Ultimately, to save the man's reason, the Athletic Association was forced to compromise. To avoid the vengeance of the local Presbyterian Trustees, the signs defining modest garb were continued unchanged, but Mr. O'Connell was secretly instructed that anything a customer showed up in might henceforward be regarded as a bathing suit within the meaning of the act, and he'd better be thankful for that much.

Mr. Coffin may have better luck as an arbiter of Summer School attire, but you can't blame Mr. O'Connell and your reporter for entertaining doubts. Our stark, raw courage has been demonstrated on too many occasions to be questioned now, but neither of us would care to face a lady who'd just been chucked out of Willard Straight for wearing a pair of $40 slacks that had been guaranteed to knock 'em dead.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

APPRECIATION

TO ROMEYN BERRY:

In my time, which was 1904 to 1908, there was a conflict in schedules which interested John Corbin (I believe) so much that he wrote it up in the Atlantic Monthly in a series of articles he was writing on colleges and scholastic trends.

Two of my Classmates wished to take Abnormal Psychology and second-year Italian, and discovered that they conflicted. Corbin was interested in the fact that they wanted to take such diverse subjects (I suppose Professor Crane must have told him), but he did not add the interesting fact that "Teefy" Crane changed the hour of his course so they could take them both. Your column in the June 12 News reminded me of this past history.

Need I add that I enjoy your column?

About ATHLETICS

POUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA

The Varsity crew finished third in the forty-fourth annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association on the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie June 25, as the Western entries, Washington and California, placed one-two.

Cornell, first of the Eastern crews, trailed Washington by six and one-half lengths and California by four lengths over the four-mile varsity course.

In the three-mile junior varsity race, Cornell finished third, with California this time the winner and Washington second.

The Freshman crew, however, scored the upset of the day by winning the opening two-mile race from a field that included three undefeated crews, with Syracuse and Wisconsin the favorites.

Weather and water conditions were ideal for the first regatta operated by the Central Office for Intercollegiate Athletics.

Syracuse freshmen made the best start, with Cornell off the mark third, but Wisconsin soon took the lead and battled with Syracuse most of the way down the course. Cornell, rowing a powerful beat of 32 strokes to the minute, hung just behind in third place.

Just before the last half-mile, Cornell raised the beat to 36 and began to overhaul the leaders. Cornell caught Syracuse, then Wisconsin, and rowing smoothly, crossed the finish line one and one-half lengths ahead. The order of finish and the times:

Cornell, 9:57.7; Wisconsin, 10:03.4; Syracuse, 10:05.2; Princeton, 10:06.2; MIT, 10:08.5; Columbia, 10:20.5.

In the Freshman boat were: Bow, Theodore Beyer, New York City; 2, Richard Hart, Cazenovia; 3, Allen Webster, Clinton Corners; 4, Braman Pomeroy, Buffalo; 5, Henry Parker, Afton; 6, Richard Cook, Providence, R. I.; 7, John Hobbes, Ithaca; stroke, Richard O. Jones, Milwaukee, Wis.; coxswain, Irvine Lane, Brooklyn.

The junior varsity race started one hour later, and California quickly took command. Cornell once challenged Washington for second place, pulling up to within about fifteen feet with a half-mile to go, but the Westerners sprinted away. California won by one and one-half lengths, with Cornell a length behind Washington and two lengths ahead of Columbia, which finished fourth and last. California finished in 14:40.4; Washington, 14:45.9; Cornell, 14:49.2; Columbia, 14:56.8.

Junior Varsity oarsmen were: Bow, Carl D. Arnold, Jr. '43, Delhi; 2, W. Nicholas Kruse '43, Davenport, Ia.; 3, Stanley W. Allen '41, Glendale, Ohio; 4, Robert J. Harley '41, Westfield; 5, Philip Rosen '42, New York City; 6, Commodore John Kruse '41, Davenport, Ia.; 7, Ormond Hessler '42, Bayside, N. J.; stroke, Joseph Lanman '43, Columbus, Ohio; coxswain, Arthur R. Jones '43, Glencoe, Ill.

The varsity race started under ideal conditions and with a record-equaling line of nine shells. California spurted ahead at the command of "Row" from Referee Howard Robbins, former Syracuse oarsman, amplified from a coast guard patrol boat. Cornell was off eighth. California and Washington traded the lead several times in the first two miles. After one mile of rowing, Cornell climbed to fourth, with Columbia third. The Western eights were already more than a length ahead of the rest.

At the two-mile mark, Washington was in front by fifteen feet and California three lengths ahead of Cornell, now in third place with a length's advantage over Columbia. After another mile of rowing, Washington was a length in front, with California four lengths ahead of Cornell. So they finished, with Cornell two lengths ahead of Syracuse. The times: Washington, 18:53.3; California, 19:02.3; Cornell, 19:14.6; Syracuse, 19:18.9; Princeton, 19:23.4; Wisconsin, 19:29.4; Rutgers, 19:28.8; MIT, 19:32.8; Columbia, 19:35.5.

The Varsity boating: Bow, Richard Davis '41, Arlington, Va.; 2, DuBois Jenkins '43, New Paltz; 3, Robert Gundlach '42, Plainfield, N. J.; 4, John C. Perry '41, Ithaca; 5, Frank Eggert '42, Westfield; 6, William Dickhart '43, Philadelphia, Pa.; 7, John G. Aldworth '42, Garden City; stroke, Mario Cuni-berti '42, California, Md.; coxswain, Charles S. Boak '41, New Haven, Conn.

After the regatta, the oarsmen elected Aldworth commodore for 1942.

WIN EASTERN TENNIS

Captain Kennedy Randall, Jr. '41 of Staten Island and William E. Gifford '41 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, won the Eastern intercollegiate doubles championships in tennis at the Montclair, N. J., Athletic Club July 13. Top-seeded pair in the tournament, Randall and Gifford defeated Mehner and Berg of Utah, 6-2, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1, in the final. The team championship was shared by Cornell and Northwestern, each with 19 points.

In singles, Randall lost to Mehner, 9-7, 7-5, in a quarter-final match. Gifford lost to Toley of Southern California, 6-4, 6-4, in the second round.

Earlier, Randall and Gifford competed in the National intercollegiate doubles at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, Pa., losing to the defending champions, Dee and Wade of Stanford, 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, in a quarter-final match.

ODDS AND ENDS

Walter J. Matuszczak '41, last fall's football captain, has been selected for the Eastern college all-star football team by Coach Jim Crowley of Fordham. The team will meet the New York Giants, a professional team, in the Polo Grounds, New York City, for the benefit of the Herald Tribune's Fresh Air Fund.

Michael J. Ruddy '41, understudy to Captain Matuszczak at blocking back, has signed to play professional football with the New York Giants. He will report to the Giants' training camp at Superior, Wis., August 1. He also plans to enter the Medical College in New York next fall.

Robert J. Kane '34, Assistant Director of Physical Education and Athletics, was elected president of the IC4A at the annual meeting in New York City in June.

Carl Snavely, football coach, scored a hole-in-one on No. 17 hole of the Country Club of Ithaca July 4. The coach used a No. 2 iron on the 180-yard hole, the ball hit short of the pin and rolled into the cup. "That's the only good shot I've had this year," was his comment. A similar feat was performed at the twelfth hole recently by Coach George K. James.

TWO TEACHERS DIE

Within nine days, two beloved teachers died in Ithaca. Professor Chester J. Hunn '08, Ornamental Horticulture, died June 30 after a long period of ill health, and Professor Edwin H. Woodruff '82, former Dean of the Law School, died July 8.

Since his retirement in 1927, Professor Woodruff's home at Aurora and Court Streets has been the mecca of returning alumni. His wise counsel, wit, and the breadth of his interests endeared him to thousands of Cornellians who always called on him when they came to Ithaca.

He was born and had lived most of his seventy-eight years in Ithaca; entered the Science and Letters Course in 1878 and remained for two years, going to New York City to work in the Astor Library in 1883-84. From 1884-87 he worked in the University Library, and there decided to enter the new Law School, receiving the LLB with the first Class, in 1888. After two years as instructor of English, he went to Italy for 1890-91 as librarian of the library of the late Willard Fiske in Florence. Returning, he spent three years as acting professor of law at Stanford University, and in 1896 came back to the University as Professor of Law. During 1914-16, he was Acting Dean of the Law School, and in 1916 he succeeded the late Frank Irvine '80 as Dean, serving until 1921. In 1927 he retired as professor of Law, emeritus.

He was the author of several standard texts, an avid reader and raconteur, and an authority on the early days of Ithaca and the University. He knew and corresponded with many prominent men, and was guide, philosopher, and friend to hundreds of persons who knew and loved him. He is survived by his sister, Mary E. Woodruff who lived with him and a brother, Frederick J. Woodruff.

Professor Hunn was the son of the late Charles E. Hunn, plant propagator and gardener at the University when Professor Liberty Hyde Bailey started the first courses in Horticulture here. Chester Hunn was largely responsible for establishing the courses in nursery management and research in plant propagation; was instrumental in arranging the gift from alumni of trees and other garden materials for the Farrand home in Brewster when President Livingston Farrand retired; and recently had taken active part in assembling and propagating materials for the University Arboretum.

He entered Agriculture in 1904 from Ithaca High School and received the BS in 1908. Immediately, he went to the experiment station in Honolulu, transferred in 1914 to the University of Puerto Rico, and returned to the Graduate School in 1916. During the War he was registrar of the Army Aviation School here, and in 1920 joined the Bureau of Plant Industry in Washington, D. C. Since 1926 he had been assistant professor of Ornamental Horticulture. He was Faculty adviser of his fraternity chapter, Lambda Chi Alpha, and of Scarab, honor society in Agriculture and Hotel Administration, and a member also of Pi Alpha Xi. He was active in organizing the first school track meets run by the Cornell Club of Hawaii, and with Professor Ralph S. Hosmer, Forestry, he organized He Hui Hawaii, comprising students and members of the Faculty who had lived in Hawaii.

He is survived by Mrs. Hunn and their son, Charles H. Hunn '43, and by a sister, Anna E. Hunn '12, and two brothers.

ROCHESTER CLUB ELECTS

Cornell Women's Club of Rochester June 12 elected Mrs. Kenneth B. Spear (Vera Dobert) '24, president; Mrs. Cornelius E. Elmendorf (Mabel Locke) '05, vice-president; Mrs. Robert W. Carter (Marion VonBeck) '22, treasurer; Mrs. Francis M. Shull (Lucy Boldt) '34, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. James Deni (Antoinette Syracuse) '21, recording secretary.

TRUSTEES ORGANIZE

Board of Trustees at its meeting June 19 re-elected to the Board for five-year terms Frank H. Hiscock '75 of Syracuse, Nicholas H. Noyes '06 of Indianapolis, Ind., and Walter S. Carpenter, Jr. '10 of Wilmington, Del. Walter L. Todd '09 of Rochester, who was elected by the Board in 1939 and re-elected last year for a term ending in 1945, resigned.

The Trustees re-elected H. Edward Babcock as chairman of the Board for his annual term of election by the New York State Grange. Frank E. Gannett '98 was elected to the committee on University development in place of Bancroft Gherardi '93; Paul A. Schoellkopf '06 to the committee on buildings and grounds in place of Maurice C. Burritt '08 whose term as Trustee expired; and Floyd L. Carlisle '03 was elected to the Medical College Council in place of the late Henry R. Ickelheimer '88.

The President appointed to the board of editors of the University Press Professor James M. Sherman, Dairy Industry, succeeding Professor Otis F. Curtis, PhD '16, Botany, and Professor Carl Stephenson, History, succeeding Professor Carl L. Becker, History. Appointed by the chairman to the board of governors of Willard Straight Hall was Tell Berna '12, succeeding George H. Rockwell '13, and appointment last year of Alfred H. Hutchinson '09 for three years was reported. Harry G. Stutz '07 was appointed to the University Arboretum policy committee in place of Burritt.

TO BE WOMEN'S COUNSELOR

Thelma L. Brummett (above) will be University Counselor of Women Students, beginning next fall, President Edmund E. Day has announced. She will carry on substantially the work of the former Dean of Women, coordinate with that of Donald H. Moyer, Counselor of Men Students, whose appointment was announced in the last ALUMNI NEWS. Both new officials will have offices in the former Babcock house opposite Sage Chapel lately occupied by the Dean of Women, and both will be responsible to the Dean of the University Faculty, Professor Cornelius Betten, PhD '06.

Miss Brummett comes to Cornell from five years as assistant to the director of the arts program of the Association of American Colleges, in New York City. She received the AB at West Texas State College in 1929 and the MA at Columbia University in 1936, taking graduate work in education and sociology. As an undergraduate, she was assistant to the registrar of her college; has taught in public schools; was secretary to the president of West Texas State College and assistant to the dean of women from 1929-34; assistant in the Bureau of Educational Service and the psychiatric clinic of Teachers College, Columbia; and entered the office of the Association of American Colleges in 1936. The summers of 1938 and 1939 she was director of the national training camp for Girl Scout leaders.

ALUMNI ROW AGAIN

Reunion crowds lined the Inlet opposite the Varsity boathouse June 14 to watch a one-mile race of the Varsity, Junior-Varsity and Freshman crews before they left Ithaca for Poughkeepsie, and to see three crews of former oarsmen in a Reunion regatta.

Stroked by Edward T. Foote, one shell was boated with five others of the '06 men who had rowed in their Freshman crew: William H. Forbes, Paul Folger, Carlton P. Johnson, George Lawson, and W. Forrest Lee. Other places were taken by Asa C. King '99 and Charles A. Lueder '02, with Charles E. Boak '41 as coxswain.

Next oldest boat was stroked by Ernest F. Bowen '12 with Henry J. Kimball '11 as coxswain. In it were Frank C. Bentley '91, Edward J. O'Connor '12, Seymour H. Sutton '11, Marcel K. Sessler '13, George B. Wakeley '12, LeGrand D. Simson '11, and Gustavus E. Bentley '12.

Youngsters among the alumni oarsmen was a shell stroked by Cowles Andrus '16, with Frederick Weisbrod '15, Albert A. Cushing '17, J. Brackin Kirkland '18, Royal G. Bird '16, Ronald Hart '16, H. Leslie Zimmerman '19, and George C. Crabtree '16, with Richard Aronson '26 as coxswain.

ESTABLISH NEW DEGREE

University Board of Trustees at its meeting June 19 authorized the granting of a new degree, Master of Regional Planning, upon recommendation of the Graduate School Faculty. Courses in Regional Planning were inaugurated in February, 1935, jointly by the Colleges of Architecture and Engineering, with a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, when Gilmore D. Clarke '13, now Dean of Architecture, was appointed professor of Regional Planning.

OLIN HALL RISES

Steel is pointing to the sky from the walls of Olin Hall of Chemical Engineering, and the foundations have been faced with native stone. Placing the building on the Government priorities list assures that the required twenty carloads of girders and plates will be here as needed, with walls and roof scheduled for completion the end of August.

This comment on the first work on the building was included in a recent news letter sent to alumni by Professor Fred H. Rhodes, PhD '14, Director of the School of Chemical Engineering:

"The two steam shovels, Adolph and Rudolph, that did such yeoman service in the excavation have pulled out and gone away to wherever steam shovels go when they aren't steam-shoveling. We were sorry to see Adolph leave. In the short period of his stay he had come to seem like a regular member of the Faculty. He would clear his throat very importantly and puff very pompously and then come up bearing, with pride and elation, one small chunk of rock surrounded by an amorphous mass of clay—like a lone idea embedded in a mass of words. Rudolph we could never come to care for. He was serious and conscientious in his work, but definitely lacked social aptitude. He smoked an atrocious brand of coal, and he drooled mud very unesthetically from his flat, receding chin. Besides all that, his parents should have had his teeth straightened while he was yet a mere spade."

WOMEN HELP CAREERS

Cornell Women's Club of New York entertained thirty-five women of the Class of '41 with a buffet supper June 26 at the Club rooms in the Barbizon Hotel. At a meeting following, President Ruth F. Irish '22 reported on the meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs in Ithaca June 12, during Class Reunions. She introduced three alumnae "career women," Mrs. Betty Z. Russell '40, Mrs. S. Overton Mott (Jean Kilkenny) '36, and Mrs. George H. Hill (Dorothy Lampe) '26, who spoke on "Budgeting Your Money In New York," "Budgeting Your Time and Energy," and "Budgeting Your Clothes and Looks."

CHICAGO CLUB OFFICERS

Cornell Club of Chicago, Ill., at its annual meeting June 12 elected Thomas S. McEwan '11, president, succeeding M. Mead Montgomery '24. Vice-presidents are Robert D. Gordon '11 and Richard D. Vanderwarker '33; secretary, John C. Trussell '28; treasurer, Frederick H. Jones, Jr. '23. Elected governors for three-year terms are Malcolm D. Vail '12, Frank A. Gerould '15, and Frederick W. Wendnagel '33. Richard H. Sampson '32 was elected a governor to fill a vacancy until 1943 and Thomas W. Barnes '10 to fill a vacancy for one year.

Montgomery reported at the annual luncheon, at the University Club, that funds are being raised by the Club to support six Alumni Regional Scholarships to be awarded each year by the University to outstanding boys in Chicago and vicinity.

SUMMER THEATRE OPENS

"Candida" by Bernard Shaw, first production of the Summer Theatre, played to capacity audiences in the Willard Straight Theater July 11 and 12. The cast, with one exception, was the same group of Professor Alex M. Drummond's graduate students that presented the play during the Summer Session of 1939 and were called back that fall. With their professional experience and familiarity with the lines and each other, they made the most of the play's Shavian subtlety.

Jonathan W. Curvin '32 as the "pig-headed parson," James Morell, and Mrs. Curvin (Helen Champlin), AM '33, as his wife, Candida, again led the cast. They are in Geneva where Curvin is professor of public speaking and director of the Little Theatre at Hobart. Maryo Gard was again an inspired "Prossy" Garnett, Morell's old-maid secretary, and J. Blaker Herod, AM '40 came back from teaching at the University of West Virginia to repeat his former success as Candida's father. David S. Hawes, AM '40, of Skowhegan, Me., was again the shy poet, Eugene Marchbanks. New to the cast was Archibald McLeod, Grad, of Elizabeth, N. J., and he fully carried out his responsibilities as the curate, "Lexy" Mill.

The Summer Theatre will present "Wild Hills," by Robert E. Gard, AM '38, July 19 and 26, and later "The Male Animal" by James Thurber and Elliot Nugent and Nicolas Evreinoff's "The Chief Thing."

ALUMNI DIRECTORS MEET Committees Report Activities

Directors of the Cornell Alumni Association met in Willard Straight Hall June 13. Report of the treasurer, Archie C. Burnett '90, was presented by Secretary Emmet J. Murphy '22 and Murphy also reported on sales by the Association of recordings of the Glee Club and Chimes, of the new book Songs of Cornell, and of Cornell plates and cups and saucers. He reported that he had during the year visited thirty-two Cornell Clubs, spoke of the work of the Alumni Office, and outlined a program for strengthening Class organizations both of alumni and undergraduates.

Mrs. Allan H. Mogensen (Adele A. Dean) '23, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, reported that twenty of the thirty-five Clubs had co-operated with the Federation in giving teas for prospective women students; that 157 girls had been entertained at Cornell Day in Ithaca; and that this year's conference on fields of work for women had been attended by 225 undergraduates. She said that the first award from the Federation Scholarship Fund raised last year would be made next fall to one of twenty-three applicants of whom about one-third were from outside New York State.

Report of Phillips Wyman '17, chairman of the ALUMNI NEWS committee, was presented, with a chart showing circulation of the News greater than at any time since 1935.

F. Ellis Jackson '00, chairman of the Association's committee on Alumni Trustee nominations, reported that appointments to the committee had been accepted by the Rt. Rev. G. Ashton Oldham '02 of Albany, Edward T. Foote '06 of Milwaukee, Wis., Professor William I. Myers '14, Agricultural Economics, Weyland Pfeiffer '16 of New York City, Mary H. Donlon '20 of New York City, Mrs. Allan H. Morgensen (Adele A. Dean) '23 of Westport, Conn., Max F. Schmitt '24 of New York City, and Walter W. Buckley '26 of Philadelphia, Pa. The committee has collected information from a former committee of the Board of Trustees on Trustee election campaigns headed by Roger H. Williams '95; from Neal D. Becker '05, chairman of the Trustee committee on nominations for Board election; and on procedures in electing alumni trustees by other colleges and universities.

Max Schmitt '24, chairman of a committee on class organization, reported that handbooks for class secretaries from several other colleges and universities had been studied and an outline prepared for a new guide for Cornell Class secretaries. This is expected to be completed next fall.

Christopher W. Wilson '00, president of the Alumni Fund Council, reported on the work of the Fund for the year.

William J. Thorne '11, chairman of the committee on relations with secondary schools since it was established eight years ago, presented his resignation effective when a new chairman should be appointed. He expressed his opinion that the work with secondary schools would benefit by having periodically "new ideas and new leadership," and presented a recommendation of the executive committee for reorganization of the committee with eighteen members, each to serve for three-year terms in groups of six and be eligible for one additional term. Thorne was presented with a desk set on behalf of the Association in recognition of his valuable services in the secondary school program.

President Edmund E. Day attended the meeting and expressed his gratification at the "real progress" for effective aid to the University which the Alumni Association has made during his four years at Cornell. A letter of thanks was read from Professor George L. Coleman '95, Music, Emeritus, who retired this year, for the gift of a travelling bag presented to him by the Association.

President Creed W. Fulton '09 appointed as a finance committee, to study and report on the income and expenses of the Association, Treasurer Burnett, chairman, and Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda T. Swenson) '20 and Robert P. Butler '05. He appointed an auditing committee with Edgar A. Whiting '29, chairman, and James B. Trousdale '22 and Robert E. Terwilligar '30.

Besides those mentioned, directors present were Mrs. R. H. Shreve (Ruth Bentley) '02, Henry R. Gundlach '11, A. Wright Gibson '17, Herbert R. Johnston '17, Howard J. Ludington '17, Clarence P. Zepp '19, and Mrs. Whiton Powell (Jeannette A. Gardiner) '26, with Paul O. Reyneau '13, secretary of the Cornell Society of Engineers; Ray S. Ashbery '25, Alumni Field Secretary; and H. A. Stevenson '19 of the ALUMNI NEWS.

AT ALUMNI CONFERENCE

Five Cornellians attended the annual conference of The American Alumni Council at Atlantic City, N. J., June 25-28. This is the organization of professional alumni workers in colleges and universities of the United States and Canada. From Ithaca went R. W. Sailor '07, editor of the Council and of the ALUMNI NEWS; Provost H. W. Peters '14; Emmet J. Murphy '22, Alumni Secretary of the University; Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30, executive secretary of the Alumni Fund; and H. A. Stevenson '19, managing editor of the News.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

NEW FEATURE of the Summer Session this year is a "Workshop" in Education where a group of sixty-five school teachers and supervisors are studying how to fit the curriculum to "the principles and processes of democratic living." Led by Professor Melvin L. Hulse, PhD '34, Education, members of the Faculty in Education, Home Economics, Agriculture, Social Studies, English, and Science are directing the work. Nineteen members of the staff of the Peru Central School are here with Principal Allan S. Hurlburt '33, working out a new curriculum for their own school based on surveys of the community made largely by Marcel F. Mulbury '39, teacher of agriculture, with assistance from six members of the Education Faculty who visited the school last year.

LAW SCHOOL summer term, in which instruction is given voluntarily by members of the Faculty to benefit students who may be called for military service, has enrolment of forty. Six courses with full credit are being given in the ten-week term which ends August 27.

SUCCESSION of conferences and meetings have kept the Campus lively both before and during the Summer Session. Three days after Commencement, some 150 scientists of the American Chemical Society and National Research Council came to town for a three-day Colloid Symposium dedicated to Professor Wilder D. Bancroft, Physical Chemistry, Emeritus. Then June 24-26, 127 poultrymen of New York State held a conference with members of the Agriculture Faculty and guest speakers, and June 28 a group of lily fanciers of the American Horticultural Society came down from Geneva to visit the University test gardens and the collections of Professor Laurence H. MacDaniels, PhD '17, Floriculture, and of Donald Simmons of the Ithaca Journal and to dine in Willard Straight Hall. Last day of June and the first two of July, the University was taken over by 1,590 high-ranking boys and girls of the 4-H Clubs in fifty-one counties of the State and their leaders. They lived in the dormitories, danced in Barton Hall, gave a "show" in SUMMER SESSION enrolment will approximate 1,650 including a few short unit courses not yet started, Director Loren C. Petry predicts. This is about 400 fewer than last year, the decrease mainly in teachers, graduate students here for the first time, and undergraduates from other colleges. An unusually large number of undergraduates are taking summer work in the College of Engineering, but in the Summer Session generally the proportion of women to men is noticeably larger than in previous years. All of these differences this year Professor Petry attributes largely to the national defense emergency.

Bailey, and took part in a continuous and varied program of sports, judging contests, and demonstrations at the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics. Fifty-first annual conference of the State Veterinary Medical Society brought 360, July 1-3, and growers of certified seed came for their annual field day at the College of Agriculture July 7. Conference on nutrition at Martha Van Rensselaer Hall July 10-12 brought some 500 teachers, professional workers, and members of city and county nutrition committees formed in New York State since last November in the interests of improved health and national defense.

FIFTY STUDENTS from Thailand who are in some thirty American colleges attended a convention of the Thai Alliance in America at the Cosmopolitan Club June 20-30. Hosts were the twelve Thai students now at Cornell, assisted by Donald C. Kerr '12, University Counsellor to Foreign Students. M. R. V. Seni Pramaj, Thai Minister to the United States, spent three days here and was guest at a reception given at the Club for the community.

AMMUNITION DEPOT will be constructed by the War Department on a 12,000-acre site between Cayuga and Seneca Lakes forty miles north of Ithaca. Rock formation there is said to be such as would dampen possible explosions of shells and bombs stored underground. The reservation will contain some 700 underground concrete "igloo" magazines of a new type designed by Professor Leonard C. Urquhart '09, Civil Engineering, who is on leave of absence in the Office of the Quartermaster General, US Army, as chief of special structures in the construction division.

FIRST DAY of the bass season, July 1, brought to the wife of Bernard L. Clynes '13 a 15½-inch black bass which she caught fishing from the dock in front of their cottage at Willow Point near McKinneys on the east shore of Cayuga Lake.

SOARING SOCIETY of America held its twelfth annual soaring contest June 29-July 13. Pilots flew their motorless gliders nearly 200 miles, and some came over Ithaca. The University was made the Society's official station in the North-eastern States for calibrating barographs, and Professor Cyril W. Terry '26, Aeronautical Engineering, is in charge.

STUDENT in the Summer Session is Su Tu Hu, the second son of Dr. Hu Shih '14, Chinese Ambassador to the United States. He recently arrived in this country from China; will enter Haverford College next fall. The eldest son, Tsu-wang Hu, Senior in Mechanical Engineering next year, is working in New York City this summer.

SENIOR CLASS of Ithaca High School paid tribute at its class banquet to two teachers retiring this year, Mary V. McAllister '96 and Clara S. Apgar '05. Head of the English department, Miss McAllister has taught in the Ithaca schools since 1898; Miss Apgar has taught Latin and served as head of the foreign language department since 1905.

CHINESE AND JAPANESE Language Institute, sponsored by the Summer Session and committees of the American Council of Learned Societies, with Professor Knight Biggerstaff, Chinese History, as secretary, has brought twenty-four scholars from colleges as far south as Texas and west to the Pacific Coast. Classes are being held in Boardman Hall.

STONE QUARRY across West Avenue from the men's dormitories has now been filled with dirt taken from the excavation for Olin Hall, and smoothly graded and seeded by the Department of Buildings and Grounds. This rocky cliff has been a distinctive feature of the Campus since the quarry was opened to get stone for building Baker Court and Founders Hall.

NEW PRESIDENT of Mortar Board, Senior women's honor society, is Jane C. Smiley '42, daughter of Dr. Dean F. Smiley '16, University Health Officer. Ruth Freile of Maplewood, N. J., is vice-president; Winona W. Chambers of White Plains, treasurer; Emily W. Germer of Milburn, N. J., secretary; Elizabeth F. Schlamm of Great Neck, scribe.

THEATRE ARTS magazine in its July issue, devoted to the growth of "tributary theatres" and their influence on American drama, pictures a scene from the Cornell University Theatre production of "The Star Wagon." Ingenious staging of the many scenes of the play by David Heilweil '37 and Herbert Phillippi, designer, is described. Professor Walter H. Stainton '19 directed the production.

DEANS AND COUNSELLORS

The title of Dean, as applied in the educational world, has varied meanings. Generally, doubtless, a dean is the head of an academic division such as the College of Arts and Sciences. Loosely it is applied, of course, to the oldest veteran who continues to live. In many colleges the significance of the academic leadership has been lost with respect to one type of dean and there are deans of men, deans of women, and just deans. Their functions range from those of probation officers and deputy sheriff to those of social mentor, academic consultant, and vocational adviser.

Cornell has not had a dean of men. For more than a quarter century, either as Adviser for Women or as Dean of Women, Mrs. Martin, Dr. White, and Miss Fitch, under one title or the other—the change came in Dr. White's tenure of office—have been the Deans of Women in the commonly understood sense of the title as used in other colleges. They have hammered away quietly, patiently efficiently, and unremittingly at many problems—social, academic, psychiatric, financial—for and with their student clientele. Their work has rarely had wholehearted support, has often not been well understood, has never been adequately financed.

These courageous women have done their best under difficult circumstances. They have had to respond to many calls from the deanless men students whose problems they could understand sometimes more sympathetically than any other person whose services were available.

The University has held that it did not wish to act in loco parentis, at least to the male undergraduates. This often has resulted in what seemed like a capricious attitude toward various problems which concern both sexes.

Probation, for example, has usually been rather rigidly mathematical in its causes and enforcement. A given degree of mediocrity in academic work brought exclusion from student activities, where the activity was judged to be "representative of the University." Possibly the real cause might have been overindulgence in motoring, cinema, bridge, or Kelly pool, and the victim might never have competed for a sport or run for office, and consequently felt no weight from the probation. Interference with personal action has the taint of "loco parentis" and has rarely been undertaken except sometimes by unofficial, friendly advisers with individual students.

There is much more involved in the positions of dean of women, or of men, than nomenclature, or discipline, or academic advice. A large university is a cold, unsympathetic place to an eighteen-year-old who is on his own for the first time in his life. Many, many problems loom large to him. They range from the choice of a fraternity to obtaining adequate counsel in court; from the first adjustment to the new environment to contemplation of self-destruction.

Two new University officers have just been appointed, under direction of the Dean of the Faculty, to counsel the men and the women students respectively. Their titles are unusual indeed and possibly the undergraduates will devise something more practical. These officers will undertake to handle some of the problems that deans of men, deans of women, or just deans in other colleges and universities regard as their field. Mr. Dean anywhere approaches omniscience sufficiently to understand them all.

So, regardless of titles, regardless of powers granted to them officially, these newly-appointed Counsellors have an opportunity for contributing to the progress and happiness of youth at Cornell as perhaps no one before has ever had. Given personalities that will engage the confidence of their charges, their newly-created offices can be made to yield to them and to all undergraduates a higher psychic income than any others in all Cornell.

Concerning THE FACULTY

GUESTS at the President's House for the summer are President and Mrs. Day's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Copeland of West Hartford, Conn. Their son, Dr. Emerson Day, and Mrs. Day and their two grandsons, Edmund and Robert Day, of Baltimore, Md., spent two weeks with them.

TELL BERNA '12, Alumni Trustee and general manager of the National Machine Tool Builders' Association, writes the leading article in The American Legion Magazine for July, "Speed Up Those Weapons." It is the basis of an organized campaign by the Legion to help supply the 1,150,000 workers needed in defense industries. Berna shows that eighteen men are needed in industry for every soldier; advocates rehiring older men, training young workers in technical schools "working three shifts a day," deferment of all draftees with industrial skills, and return to industry of graduate engineers of the Army Reserve who have been called to active duty. "A soldier in training is no good without a gun," he says; "a tank corps is futile without its tanks, and who's going to make the stuff?"

HENRY A. LADD, brother of Dean William S. Ladd of the Medical College, died suddenly at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, where he had been a member of the faculty for ten years. Graduate of Amherst College in 1918, he studied Literature and Philosophy in the Graduate School during 1919-20; at his death was engaged in research with a grant from the General Education Board.

DEAN CARL E. LADD '12, Agriculture and Home Economics, commencement speaker at the University of Maine June 9, received the honorary LLD in recognition of his "notable career as an educator and of the long-established bonds of tradition and service in a common cause that unite Cornell and Maine." Speaking on "The Land Grant College in Changing Times," Dean Ladd predicted that these colleges in the next generation would solve problems of distribution by scientific methods just as they have the problems of production. "The present supply of food crops in the nation as a whole is much more nearly in adjustment to population needs than most people appreciate . . . we need to re-examine our thinking on this whole food situation . . ."

DONALD CAMERON, PhD '39, former instructor in Zoology and coach and organizer of the rugby team before he resigned in April, 1940, to join the Royal Canadian Air Force, was killed while flying near Malta in the Mediterranean. Graduate of McGill University, he was enrolled in the Graduate School from 1937-39. He trained as an observer at Malton Field in Canada and was sent to Scotland, his native country, about three months ago.

RAY S. ASHBERY '25, Alumni Field Secretary, and Mrs. Ashbery (Jean Bradley) '37 have a daughter, Sarah Lee Ashbery, born June 26. They live in Trumansburg.

CECILIA WERNER, Social Director of Willard Straight Hall, and Gertrude E. Johnson '38, secretary to Provost H. W. Peters '14, were injured in an automobile accident near Charleston, S. C., July 6. They are in Roper Hospital, Charleston, both with fractured knee caps and head injuries, Miss Werner with a fractured wrist and Miss Johnson with a fractured arm. Incomplete reports are that they were involved in a head-on collision in Miss Werner's car and may be confined to the hospital until the end of July.

PROFESSOR HAROLD V. HAWKINS, PhD '37, Civil Engineering, who last year taught Engineering defense courses in Buffalo, has resigned from the Faculty to enter the employ of Bell Aircraft Co. He and Mrs. Hawkins live at 3442 North Main Street, Buffalo. He was appointed instructor in Hydraulics in 1936.

PROFESSOR CARL CRANDALL '12, Civil Engineering, has been elected chairman of Selective Service Board 495 in Ithaca. He has been a member of the Board since it was established.

CONDEMNATION of pending anti-strike bills was recently expressed to Congress by twenty economists and political scientists of as many colleges and universities, among them Professor Royal E. Montgomery, Economics, and Professor Colston E. Warne '20 of Amherst. Their joint letter asserted that "voluntarism and co-operation lie at the basis of our democratic institutions," and objected to the proposed measures as "but the latest in a long series of efforts to emasculate the National Labor Relations Act, to render collective bargaining ineffective, and to return to a situation where the employer is the absolute dictator of industrial relations." Professor Warne is secretary of the educators' committee.

PROFESSOR JAMES N. GOODIER, Mechanics, is one of several lecturers in a course on mechanics applied to defense industries, at Brown University this summer. Sixteen technical articles by him are listed in the current report of the Ontario Research Foundation, with which he was associated before he joined the Faculty three years ago. One of these, "Distribution of Load on the Threads of Screws," has been reprinted as a Bulletin of the Engineering Experiment Station.

CLASS OF 1915

By Hugh C. Edmiston, Correspondent
Short Hills, N. J.

Take off the beret or the pith helmet, as the case may be, and wave it high in salute! When we put down the pen, the oar, and the slide rule after graduation twenty-six years ago, we realized that 1916 was a Class as fit as we had been to take over leadership on the Hill. As Seniors, they bettered our records. Now, as the Twenty-five-year Reunion Class, they have bettered our all-time Reunion record, set a year ago. It may be that Youth must be served, but on the record, 1916 has done a better job than we did. 1915 salutes you, 1916, every last one of you, and especially Bub Pfeiffer, and is proud in having had a hand in bringing you up!

More than thirty members of 1915 drifted into Ithaca for Reunion this year, most of them with the taste of our Twenty-fifth still on them. The Twenty-sixth is most definitely different from the Twenty-fifth but make no mistake, a grand time may be had in an "off" year. The youngsters of 1916 opened their hearts (and their tent) to us, and invited us to be their guests. Their ladies adopted our ladies, and their men extended our men the courtesies of the house. They even had Sophomore Eddie Anderson '17 on hand to wait on us! We were their guests in their tent, at their Memorial services (for those whom we, too, knew well and loved), and at their banquet, and they made every one of us feel welcome.

It's good to find that old friendships have held over the years, and many of us look forward to a joint "off year" Reunion in 1942 in which 1915 and 1916 can set the pace for quiet enjoyment. Make your dates now, and mark the calendar.

We are sending this issue of the ALUMNI NEWS to all '39 women so that you who couldn't come to Reunion may get an inkling of what happened (see page 477).

This column of personal items about '39 will continue throughout the year, you know. I'll try to keep you up-to-date with the latest news of Classmates. The NEWS is the best medium we have for keeping you informed not only about the women of '39 but also about Cornell. New things are happening all the time: a new Chemical Engineering Building is going up; the Drill Hall is renamed; new dormitories are being opened for girls.

Cornell will mean more to you if you know what is happening every month of the year. Don't wait until you are told by some other person; know it yourself! The ALUMNI NEWS is well worth the investment. How about our Class making it an important way of keeping all of us informed?

Check this against PERFECTION!

Ideas about hotels in New York—like ideas about people—differ. Check this list of Grosvenor virtues against your standards of comfortable living. . . .

Atmosphere Not too large, not too small, the Grosvenor is agreeably different. . . a trim, alert, hospitable home on tree-lined lower Fifth Avenue.

Modernity Wide-windowed rooms, larger than average, attractively appointed, with running ice water and tub and shower.

Quiet Few squawks of traffic at the Grosvenor. Quiet nights for refreshing sleep.

Convenience Three blocks (or less) to 4 subways and 4 major bus routes that take you anywhere. Fifth Avenue buses (Radio City, shops, museums, etc.) at the door.

Economy Large single rooms from $3.50 to $6.00. Double rooms with twin beds from $5.00 to $8.00. Attractive suites from $8.00.

RUSS HOPPING was working for Bell Aircraft in Buffalo but was drafted in February and he now is at Fort Benning, Ga., in the new 2d Arsenal Division. He hopes to get a second lieutenant's commission in the near future.

HERB KNEELAND writes some interesting news from Gunter Field at Montgomery, Ala., where he is assistant engineering officer of one of the school squadrons. He states that JACK DONOGHUE is there as a cadet but almost through the basic course. He will soon move on to Maxwell, Ala., for advanced work. Herb expected to be sent to Macon, Ga., shortly.

A message from CARL RIEDE, who is at Fort Devens, Mass., in the 33d Field Artillery Battalion, states that he has run across JOHN HAGEMAN and CARL BROWN there. They are both in the 26th Infantry. Also located at that camp are ED DRISCOLL, who is with the 16th Infantry, and TED DEDOWITZ and DICK LINDO in the 5th Artillery. He states that they are all in the fast-moving, hard-hitting First Division. In addition to my appreciation for this contribution, Carl deserves our heartiest congratulations; his engagement to Barbara E. Jones of Burlington, Vt., was recently announced.

Happy news from Almond, N. Y.: on May 4, EARLE K. BILLINGTON became the proud father of an eight-pound-one-ounce boy named Kirke Jay. Earle has been teaching vocational agriculture at the Alfred-Almond Central School. He mentions that he often runs across JIM YOUNG, who is teaching at the Fillmore Central School, and SEWARD FOOTE of Andover Central School.

TRUMAN FOSSUM writes that he has been given duties at Ohio State University additional to his work towards his Master's degree in science. It is pleasing to have him say, "It certainly has been a pleasure to receive the ALUMNI NEWS since leaving Cornell."
