JUNIOR WEEK PASSES Guests Enjoy Week End

"No serious injuries; no accidents; no arrests," was the report of the Ithaca Police Department on Junior Week, as quoted in Monday's Cornell Daily Sun. And this in spite of icy streets and considerable student dissatisfaction and confusion over the rules for conducting houseparties as set up by the Interfraternity Council! Leading Sun editorial Monday urged the immediate need of "revising the code of conduct now in effect," especially as to its provision for rooms for "mixed drinking" during houseparties, and "by cutting out such vague nonsense as the requirement that only girls of 'highest moral character' be admitted to the houses. The implication that girls of any other character would be invited is an insult both to fraternity men and to their guests."

Winter storm which hit most of the rest of the country sidestepped Ithaca, so that Beebe Lake was not frozen for the scheduled Ice Carnival Thursday night. Frantic work by the committee and the cooperation of city officials, however, made it possible at the last minute to transfer the festivities to Six Mile Creek above Vannatta's dam. There 1200 persons enjoyed watching the professional skaters and heard Owen H. Klepper '39 "dedicate" the Junior Week time capsule, as advertised. The capsule itself was formally buried in Fall Creek gorge the next day.

There was enough snow left over from last week's storms to enable many fraternities to enter snow sculptures for a gold cup offered by the Balfour Company. A committee of Faculty judges awarded the cup to Seal and Serpent for a massive statue of "King Winter" on his throne, and honorable mention to Kappa Alpha for an amusing Ferdinand the Bull and to Pi Kappa Alpha for an ice-walled maze, "Wanderland," by which guests entered their house.

Bailey Hall was completely "sold out" Friday night for "Shifting Scenes," in which the Musical Clubs were introduced, "broadcasting" from both sides of the Atlantic. Successive "radio announcers" for Stations WHEE, WHY, WHAT, and WHO were Charles J. Gaupp, Jr., and George E. Marx, Jr., seated at opposite ends of the stage. Both are graduate students in Dramatic Production, from the University of California at Los Angeles, and reputed to be experienced motion picture script writers. Gaupp collaborated with T. Nelson Magill, AM '37, in writing the show and Magill had a busy week end appearing in and directing Sir Arthur Sullivan's "Cox and Box," which was a part of this show, and directing also the Dramatic Club's production of "Tovarich" Friday and Saturday evenings in the Willard Straight Theater.

"Shifting Scenes" was varied and appreciated Junior Week entertainment. The Glee Club in its several songs, led by Thomas B. Tracy '31, was well received, and the Instrumental Club, led by Charles R. Milford III '39, was more than usually sprightly in its numbers. Director for one number, a "Pizzicato Polka," was a comic figure dressed in Tyrolean shorts, tail coat, and red wig, whose identity even the management professes not to know. R. Selden Brewer '40 officiated as "The Great Hoodunit," magician, and several solo numbers by members of the Clubs were enjoyed.

Junior Prom Friday night was announced as utilizing more than an acre of the Drill Hall floor, and the dancing space was converted to a "Winter Wonderland" with ice-blue draperies, an "aurora borealis" in changing colored lights, and humorous drawings of winter scenes around the walls above the fraternity boxes. Three famous orchestras, of "Duke" Ellington, "Jimmy" Lunceford, and "Les" Brown, played alternately until 3:30 a.m., as 2,000 couples danced.

Before 2:30 Saturday afternoon, the Drill Hall floor had been miraculously converted to a basketball court, with not a trace of the Prom decorations remaining. Balcony and wooden stands surrounding the playing floor were crowded with 3,500 persons come to see the Varsity team defeat Pennsylvania.

The Dramatic Club presentations of "Tovarich" also played to capacity

CLUBS TO RAISE FUND For Women's Scholarships

Announcement of a concerted campaign to be carried on by the thirty-three Cornell Women's Clubs and among individuals for a Federation Scholarship Fund, to endow scholarships for women at the University students, was made at the Founder's Day luncheon of the Cornell Women's Club of New York, January 28. Gathered at the Hotel Astor Roof, 180 alumnae and guests were told of plans for the Fund by Mrs. R. C. Osborn (Agda Swenson) '20, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, and Mrs. R. H. Shreve (Ruth Bentley) '02, chairman of the Fund committee.

Mrs. Osborn said that most of the women's colleges offer generous scholarships to attract and assist promising students, but that Cornell has virtually no scholarships specifically for women. Some Cornell Women's Clubs have provided a few limited scholarships, but the Federation Scholarship Fund would be a nation-wide effort of all Clubs to provide University endowment for the assistance of the most able and promising women students from all parts of the country. The campaign for contributions is approved by the Cornellian Council to run until June 30, 1940, but an objective of $10,000 is set to be raised by next June. This will provide one $400 scholarship or two of $200 each.

Each Cornell Women's Club is being asked by Mrs. Shreve to appoint a member of a national committee, which will also include persons not representing Clubs, and both Club contributions and gifts from individuals will be sought. Mrs. Shreve announced that the first $1,000 from individuals is already pledged, and said the committee had determined for its first goal to seek at least 100 women who would each agree to give or raise $100 for the Fund.

Marie Reith '21, president of the Club, presided at the luncheon. Professor Alex M. Drummond, Director of the University Theatre, spoke on academic freedom, especially as a Cornell tradition, and touched on the opportunities for student self-expression afforded by study of the drama and theatre. Jacob S. Fassett, Jr. '12 entertained with monologues, and Dorothy Sarnoff '35 and Vivian Bauer sang the duet from "Norma." Helen Speyer '27 was chairman of the luncheon committee.

TELEPHONES in Ithaca now number more than 10,000, which is believed to be a record number for a city of 22,000 population. Of these, approximately 2,000 are in University buildings.

BERRY ON HARMONIZING

Romeyn Berry '04 writes on "Practical Tenors" in the Music Clubs Magazine for January-February. He decries the current lack of "harmonizing" among amateur singers, and especially the "virtual disappearance of the practical tenor."

"I don't refer to the sweet-voiced soloist with visions of the Metropolitan or a national hook-up on the radio. What I mean is the humble, useful citizen who stood ready, at any given moment when duty called, to leap in and take the tenor, or give it a battle anyway. I claim that the practical tenor who never gargled or wore rubbers, who could sing his part right through, or over, the most terrific head-cold, who could harmonize cheerfully while waiting for the last trolley in a blizzard—I claim that man was God's gift to universities and that his passing is a public calamity."

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS DINE

An impromptu dinner in New York City January 25, during the annual meetings of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, brought together seventeen Electrical Engineering alumni and eight members of the Faculty, and may be the beginning of regular monthly meetings of alumni "within flying distance of New York."

The new Director of Electrical Engineering, Dr. William A. Lewis, Jr., being then still an employee of Westinghouse, was suitably greeted by Alexander C. Stevens '07 of General Electric, after Professor William C. Ballard, Jr. '10 had introduced Dr. Lewis. Professor Vladimir Karapetoff entertained with anecdotes from a recent trip to the British West Indies, including description of a native revolution at Kingston. Successively, each person present was called upon to introduce himself and tell of his work and experiences.

Besides those named, Faculty members present were Lawrence A. Burckmyer '24, Walter W. Cotner '28, A. Berry Credle '30, True McLean '22, and Everett M. Strong, Grad '24-6. Other alumni who attended were Ira E. Cole '15, William L. Everitt '20, Benjamin F. Lewis '21, John M. Gilchrist '25, William R. McDonald, Jr. '32, Kenneth C. Hollister '34, DuMonte W. Hunt '34, Robert F. Miller '34, V. Larry Dzwonczyk '35, A. Roy Longenecker '35, John B. Maggio '35, William R. Harry '36, Edward C. Liebrecht '36, and Emanuel J. Shapiro '36.

OLDEST LIVING GRADUATES

Recent research by the Alumni Office indicates that the oldest living person who received a degree from the University is I. Thornton Osmond, MS '87. He is not, of course, the first person now living to receive a Cornell degree. That honor rests with John A. Rea '69 of Tacoma, Wash., but Rea is a mere youth of ninety years, while Osmond at ninety-four may properly claim the title of Cornell's oldest living graduate.

Born near Philadelphia, Pa., April 24, 1844, Osmond attended Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, and there received the AB in 1871 and the AM in 1874. He was a graduate student in Physics and Mathematics at the University during the years 1877-8 and 1878-9, having taught at Mount Union, at Polytechnic College in Philadelphia, and at Clinton Liberal Institute in New York State. In 1879 he joined the faculty of Pennsylvania State College as professor of physics, and now, as professor emeritus, he lives in Chambersburg, Pa.

Only one graduate of each of Cornell's first three Classes now survives. The three are Rea '69; Dr. Brandt V. B. Dixon '70, president-emeritus of H. Sophie Newcomb Memorial College, New Orleans, La.; and Royal Taft '71 of Scranton, Pa. Rea has promised to be in Ithaca June 16-18, to celebrate his ninety-first birthday and the seventy-year reunion of his Class, and it is hoped that the other two may also be here.

Several other alumni antedate these three in age. Records of the Alumni Office show that the ten oldest living graduates of the University are:

CAMPUS IRREVERENCE

"Berry Patch" by Robert Chuckrow '39 in a recent issue of the Sun draws a moral from the undergraduate records of certain Cornellians who have achieved prominence. Chuckrow's caption is "Big Oaks from Little Dopes." He has this to say:

"Just by accident, while running through a 1927 copy of the Cornellian the other day, we ran across the picture of a delicate sensitive-looking lad, whose photographic outline shone forth boldly eclipsing the vague features of the numerous other men of '27 who shared the page. The picture was one of Cornell's own Number 1 Glamour Boy, Mr. Fanchot [sic] Tone. We were amazed to notice the string of societies and Greek letters that trailed along after his name, and if these were any indication, Mr. Tone '27 was an unusually gifted and well-rounded young man. He was a scholar—Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. He was a tippler—Kappa Beta Phi. He had talent—the Savage Club. He was a leader—president of the Dramatic Club. He was everything a fraternity could demand—he was a big shot.

"But Fanchot Tone was the exception

ROYAL TAFT '71 ENJOYS SKATING

The Scranton (Pa.) Republican published this picture, taken three years ago when Taft was eighty-six. This year, at eighty-nine, he still enjoys skating on Lake Lincoln near his home, and in the summer plays croquet.

that proves the rule. We have been told many times that invariably, the man most likely to succeed is the man you would pick as most likely not to succeed; or more probably you would not pick him for anything. He would be too inconspicuous. Adolph Menjou, for instance, was far less known about town than was his little brother, Hank. Hank made a considerably greater impression, by being a general run-around, and on one occasion quit school to help the French quell a Riff rebellion. It was quelled.

"The man who now juggles the finances of the Nation was also a rose who bloomed rather late. Secretary Morgenthau, who now squares off with the world's leading economists, in his undergraduate days was often hard put to add up his tuition fees. A classmate of his reports that throughout his college career he was constantly pushed along by as varied an assortment of tutors as ever tooted a man into a cap and gown.

"It all, of course, resolves itself down into nothing. Please don't get down-hearted if at present you are the most popular man in your class. You might have a chance in spite of yourself. This is merely appeal for the stooge whose name you just can't seem to remember; for the unfortunate fellow who never has to apply soothing balms to his back to ease the sting of repeated slapping. It is a reminder that the Cellar Squad is full of dark horses, and every horse must have its day.

"After all, the best politician is the far sighted one, and you never can tell when you'll need a job. So let's start a movement, a selfish one, but a worthy one: The Society for the Cultivation of the Little Men on the Hill. Some day they may be your boss."

BUFFALO ENTERTAINS MEEK

Professor Howard B. Meek, Hotel Administration, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Cornell Club of Buffalo, February 3. He discussed "Side-lights on World Affairs as Seen By a Tourist," relating experiences of the Meek family on a recent trip around the world. He was introduced by Arthur E. Buddenhagen '27, a former student of his now at the Hotel Touraine in Buffalo.

Carlton P. Cooke '21, chairman of the banquet committee, announced that President Edmund E. Day and Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, would speak at the Club's annual banquet, February 25 at the Hotel Buffalo.

The evening before the Cornell Club luncheon fifteen members of the recently-organized Buffalo branch of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen met at the call of President Eugene L. Bostrom '36, for dinner with Professor Meek at the Buffalo Athletic Club. It is reported that the "talkfest" lasted "far into the night."

TWO ALUMNI TRUSTEES NOMINATED

Two nominations of candidates for Alumni Trustees were filed with the University Treasurer February 7, for J. Brackin Kirkland '18 and Paul A. Schoellkopf '06. They are nominated for five-year terms as members of the Board of Trustees, beginning next June.

J. Brackin Kirkland '18

Kirkland since 1931 has been an executive of Boys' Clubs of America, Inc., in New York City, first as director of promotion, then as director of finance and assistant treasurer, and February 1 was appointed associate director. This is a federation of some 300 organizations throughout the United States, of which Herbert Hoover is chairman of the board of directors and President Emeritus Livingston Farrand is chairman of its national committee on health education.

Born on a farm in Mississippi, Kirkland entered the College of Agriculture in 1914 and received the BS in '18. For two years he lived in the home of President Andrew D. White and worked there to help pay his college expenses. He rowed in Freshman, Junior Varsity, and Varsity crews; was a member of the Major Sports Council of the Athletic Association and of the Student Council; member of the Glee Club; and won the Rochester Stage and competed on the '86 Memorial Stage and Eastman Stage. He is a member of Alpha Zeta, Sphinx Head, and Aleph Samach.

For two years, 1918-20, he was instructor in Farm Practice at the College of Agriculture; was superintendent of the George Junior Republic near Freeville during 1920-25; then returned to the Graduate School for work in Rural Education and Economics and as an instructor in Extension Service, receiving the MS degree in 1926. For three years thereafter he was secretary of divisions with the Boys' Club Federation International, and returned to George Junior Republic for two years as its executive director.

He was president of the Alumni Association of the College of Agriculture in 1929-30 and its secretary-treasurer in 1925-26; has served as president of the Citizens' Association, equivalent to mayor, in Radburn, N. J., where he lives; and for 1938-39 is vice-president of a group of financial secretaries representing more than 100 national and local welfare organizations. He is a thirty-second degree Mason, life member of the Town Hall Club of New York City, and a member of the Cornell Club of New York.

Mrs. Kirkland is the former Eleanor M. George '20; they have four children. His brother is Luther C. Kirkland '19.

Paul A. Schoellkopf '06

Paul A. Schoellkopf is president of the Niagara Falls Power Co., vice-chairman of the board of the Niagara Hudson Power Corporation, a director and chairman of the board of the Buffalo, Niagara & Eastern Power Corporation, and a director of many other industrial and financial corporations; chairman of the board of the Power City Trust Co., and president of Gluck Realty Co., Lewiston Heights Co., and Schoellkopf Apartments, Inc., all of Niagara Falls.

He was born in Niagara Falls, attended Cascadilla School and the University Preparatory School in Ithaca, and entered the College of Arts and Sciences in 1902, receiving the AB in '06. He was a member of the Varsity football team of 1903, member of the Glee Club, Masque, Savage Club, Mummy Club, and Undine; is a member of Zeta Psi and Quill and Dagger.

After graduation he went into business with his father, later succeeded him as treasurer and general manager of the Hydraulic Power Co., and upon its consolidation with the Niagara Falls Power Co. in 1919 was elected president.

He served two years as a vice-president of the Cornellian Council and for three years, 1931-34, was president. During this time the Council was instrumental in establishing the University Placement Bureau. With his cousins, J. Frederick Schoellkopf '05, Walter H. Schoellkopf '08, and William G. Schoellkopf '19 and other children and grandchildren of Jacob F. Schoellkopf, he was a contributor to the fund which in 1914 paid for completing Schoellkopf Field and building the original stadium.

Schoellkopf is chairman of the Niagara Frontier Bridge Commission, a director of Falls Memorial Hospital and the YMCA, and member of numerous clubs, including the Cornell Club of New York. He and Mrs. Schoellkopf have a daughter and a son, Paul A. Schoellkopf, Jr. '41.

Two Alumni Trustees are elected to the Board each year for five-year terms, by means of ballots mailed to all degree holders immediately after April 1. Announcement of the election is made at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Corporation in Ithaca, this year June 17. The Alumni Trustees whose terms expire next June are Charles H. Blair '97 and James W. Parker '08.

The charter of the University provides that: "Any ten or more alumni [interpreted as degree-holders] may file with the Treasurer, on or before the first day of April in each year, written nominations of the Trustees to be elected by the alumni at the next Commencement."

NEW OFFICERS IN TUCSON

Cornell Club of Tucson, Ariz., held its annual business meeting January 5, at luncheon at the Pioneer Hotel. John D. Lyons, Jr. '23, retiring president of the Club, presided. The following officers for 1939 were elected: President, Dr. Alfred Atkinson, MSA '12; vice-president, John L. Creveling '95; secretary-treasurer, G. Van McKay '31. Plans were discussed for the Cornellian Council roll call of all Cornellians in Tucson.

houses in the Willard Straight Theater Friday and Saturday nights. The leading parts, of Grand Duchess Tatiana Petrovna and Prince Mikail Alexandrovitch Ouratieff, were exceedingly well cast and capably handled by Janet Wasserman '39 of Mr. Vernon and Lynton I. Briggs '39 of Ithaca. They made very real the exiled Russian couple who found happiness in domestic service in the Paris home of Banker Charles Dupont and his wife, played by Peter Kuchmy '39 of Rochester and Roberta R. Sumner '39 of Jackson, Miss. Other parts especially well rendered were those of Helene Dupont, by M. Elizabeth Brown '39 of Ventnor, N. J., and of Commissar Gorotchenko, by Theodore F. Jaszczak '40 of North Tonawanda. The Club will give "Tovarich" again March 3.

A continuous round of fraternity dinners, hayrides, tobogganing parties, and dances ended Sunday morning, as the 1,000 or more tired houseparty guests departed Ithaca by trains, busses, and automobiles. Their hosts returned to sleep, in preparation for the resumption of classes Monday morning for the University's second term.

About ATHLETICS

POLO TEAM BEATS HARVARD

The ROTC polo team scored a notable victory over Harvard, 13-12, before a capacity Junior Week crowd in the Riding Hall last Saturday.

Harvard holds the intercollegiate outdoor polo championship. The team is ranked at seven goals to Cornell's four, but under intercollegiate rules these handicaps were not applied in last week's game.

Cornell won in dramatic fashion. Rules provide that after the final whistle, play shall not stop until the ball strikes a boundary wall. From a stiff scrimmage, Merton F. Gerhauser '39 of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, tallied the winning goal after the whistle.

Cornell had led by four goals with one minute fifteen seconds to play, but Forbes and Gay Dillingham of Harvard tied the score with two goals each, in a furious rally.

Gerhauser's final tally was his third in the game. He rode at No. 1. Captain Arthur B. Christian '39 of Elmira, riding at No. 2, scored 6, and Henry J. Lawrence '40 of Smithtown Branch, No. 3, scored 4.

Before the game, the Riding and Polo Club entertained the crowd with an abbreviated horse show.

DEFEAT PENNSYLVANIA

The basketball team scored its eighth victory and was charged with its ninth defeat last week.

After losing, 36-32, to Syracuse at Syracuse February 8, the team scored a 39-35 victory over Pennsylvania in an Eastern Intercollegiate League game in the Drill Hall Saturday afternoon, witnessed by a Junior Week crowd of some 3,500 persons.

Captain Walter H. Foertsch '39 of Rochester was "on" against Pennsylvania, scoring 20 points. His goals midway in the first half broke an 8-8 tie. Cornell pulled ahead to an 18-14 lead, but Pennsylvania, converting three free throws, cut the margin to one point at the half.

Playing methodical basketball and setting up shots by accurate passing, Cornell gained a 9-point edge midway in the second half, but Pennsylvania rallied in the closing minutes as Coach Gullion sent in the reserves.

Mischo of Pennsylvania topped his team with 14 points.

The Syracuse game was marked principally by the fifty-four fouls called by the officials. Syracuse converted twenty-two free throws and thereby won the game, as Cornell scored more field goals. Wellington L. Ramsey '41 of Haverford, Pa., was the leading scorer, with 6 points.

The victory over Pennsylvania left Cornell in third place in the League:

WRESTLERS LOSE

The Varsity wrestling team lost to Syracuse at Syracuse last Saturday, 18-16, when the home team heavyweight, Hooper, threw Paul J. Blasko '41 of Perth Amboy, N. J., in the final bout.

Several changes were made in the Cornell lineup for the Syracuse meet. The undefeated 125-pound intercollegiate champion, Robert H. Mathers '40 of Upper Darby, Pa., wrestled at 121 pounds instead of 128. He won. William A. Leavitt '39 of Gabriels, wrestling in the 175-pound class in place of Achilles L. Jeannopoulos '40 of New York City, scored a fall.

Carlton O. Blackmore '39 of Akron, taking Mathers' usual place in the 128-pound division, was thrown. James N. Trousdell '40 of Glen Cove scored Cornell's other fall.

The summaries:

121 pounds—Mathers, Cornell, defeated Stevens, decision.

128 pounds—Patten, Syracuse, threw Blackmore with half-nelson and figure four (overtime).

135 pounds—Gregg, Cornell, defeated Wilder, decision.

145 pounds—Becker, Syracuse, defeated Hunt, decision.

155 pounds—Trousdell, Cornell, threw Baker with body press in 5:41.

165 pounds—Mathieson, Syracuse, threw Oaks with half-nelson and body press in 6:54.

175 pounds—Leavitt, Cornell, threw Sheldon with half-nelson and body press (overtime).

Heavyweights—Hooper, Syracuse, threw Blasko with bar arm and scissors in 1:31.

RELAY TEAM AHEAD

A mile relay team defeated Princeton and MIT in the fiftieth annual Boston Athletic Association indoor games in Boston last Saturday. Cornell, timed in 3:24.8, finished twenty yards ahead of Princeton.

James B. Pender '39 of Lawrence, Mass., Alexander E. Walker, Jr. '41 of Pittsburgh, Pa., Walter W. Zittel, Jr. '40 of Buffalo, and John H. Nevius '39 of Flemington, N. J., ran in that order.

Nevius ran a fifty second quarter-mile as he pulled away from the Princeton anchor man.

FENCERS DEFEAT COLUMBIA

One-point margins in the foil and epee divisions earned the fencing team a 14-13 victory over Columbia in the Drill Hall Saturday afternoon. The visitors won the saber bouts by a like margin.

Charles N. Lowenfeld '40 of New York City and Benjamin Suchoff '40 of Brooklyn each scored three points, Lowenfeld in foils and Suchoff in sabers. Jack L. Ratzkin '40 of Brooklyn turned in two victories and a tie in the epee bouts.

It was the team's second successive victory.

ARMY DEFEATS BOXERS

The boxing team lost to Army, 5-3, at West Point last Saturday.

Co-captain Moses L. Goldbas '39 of Utica scored the only technical knockout of the meet. Goldbas fought at 127 pounds for the first time this season. He won the intercollegiate championship at 125 pounds last year, but in previous matches this season had fought at 135 pounds.

The shift of Goldbas took Gregory D. Santos '41 of Ithaca out of the lineup, Nixon Griffis '40 of New Canaan, Conn., fighting in the 135-pound class. Griffis lost a decision.

Louis Grossman '39, returning to the team after an illness and replacing George D. Grant '39 of Redfield, won a decision, as did Cornell's other co-captain, the intercollegiate heavyweight champion, Frederic C. Siemer '39 of Buffalo.

The summaries:

120 pounds—Lavendusky, Army, defeated Heimes, decision.

127 pounds—Goldbas, Cornell, defeated Bristol, technical knockout in 1:32 (2).

135 pounds—Clement, Army, defeated Griffis, decision.

145 pounds—Shanley, Army, defeated Fine, decision.

155 pounds—Hull, Army, defeated Clark, decision.

165 pounds—Negley, Army, defeated Peace, decision.

175 pounds—Grossman, Cornell, defeated Irwin, decision.

Heavyweights—Siemer, Cornell, defeated Coughlin, decision.

SKI TEAM SECOND

The ski team lost to Princeton, 293.9-280.02, in the Caroline and Virgil hills near Ithaca last Friday and Saturday. The week before, Cornell placed second to Colgate, with Syracuse third, in a meet at Syracuse.

Frederick A. Potter, Jr. '41 of Saranac Lake finished second in the eight-mile cross country race, five seconds behind Ross of Princeton. Arnold Nye '41 of Bronxville took third in the downhill race, and Dana B. Waring '39 of Ithaca placed second in the slalom race.

Coach Ernst Engel turned in record-breaking time of 0:33 for a half-mile downhill course at Virgil. The old record was 1:20.

ODDS AND ENDS

The swimming team lost to Dartmouth, 42-23, at Hanover last Friday.

Two Junior Varsity teams broke even in engagements last week. The basketball team lost to Syracuse, 36-34, at Syracuse February 8, but the wrestlers, meeting Syracuse at Syracuse, three days later, won, 22-10.

Lone Freshman engagement last week brought defeat to '42 boxers at West Point Saturday. Army, taking three bouts by forfeits, scored a 7-1 victory.

Kasimir E. Hipolit '41 of South Bound Brook, N. J., who underwent an operation during the Christmas holidays for the removal of a kidney abscess, was sufficiently recovered to take mid-year examinations. Hipolit is a reserve end on the football team.

Another football player, Jerome H. Holland '39 of Auburn, utilized the mid-year recess to have his tonsils removed.

Harvard will replace Yale as Cornell's guest at indoor track meets in the Drill Hall, beginning in 1940. Yale was last here in 1938 and Dartmouth will compete this year, March 18.

Frank Leahy, new Boston College football coach succeeding Gilmour Dobie, last summer assisted Coach Carl G. Snively in his school for coaches at Cornell.

ANNIVERSARY IN BUFFALO

About eighty members of the Cornell Women's Club of Buffalo met for an anniversary luncheon January 21, in the banquet room of Gerry's Restaurant. Olive Northup Snyder '22, Assistant Alumni Representative, was the guest of honor.

Seven of the women who founded the Buffalo Club, just thirty years ago, were present. They were Mrs. Kathrine W. Simpson (Kathrine Woodford) '94, May Sickmon '05, Mrs. Walter M. the first secretary, read the minutes of the meeting at which the Club was founded, January 22, 1909, at the home of Mrs. Simpson.

Mrs. Snyder spoke on "Cornell Today and Yesterday," pointing out the many changes which have taken place on the Campus in the last thirty years.

REFUSE GERMAN INVITATION

TO THE EDITOR:

Cornell alumni are entitled to know about an invitation which the University has received from a German University Service recently established in New York City. The invitation was to cooperate with that Service as an agency designed to supervise the visits of German university students to American institutions and of American university students to German institutions.

The Cornell University Faculty referred the invitation to a committee, which reported that the new Service would be unnecessary because its proper work would duplicate what had been done satisfactorily for twenty years by the International Institute of Education, set up in New York even before the treaties of 1919 were signed; and that its other work would not conform to American standards and would do harm because the Service, being controlled by the German Ministry of Education, would inevitably become a political agency utilizing for purposes of propaganda German students who were visiting American institutions and training them to become persuasive advocates of Nazi doctrine.

For these reasons the committee recommended that the invitation be not accepted and that relations with the International Institute of Education be continued. This recommendation, being unanimously approved first by the Faculty's standing committee on university policy and later by the Faculty, has been adopted and the invitation declined. —WALTER F. LYCEUM REMINISCENCES

TO THE EDITOR:

I was interested in reading Romeyn Berry's account about the old Lyceum Theater in this week's ALUMNI NEWS; also about my old boss, Walter Distler. He was superintendent on a big job in Baltimore in 1915 for the George A. Fuller Co.

The old Lyceum brings back memories of the riot there during my college days, around this time of year. I was unable to get tickets to one of Grace George's shows on a Saturday night, so waited in line for standing room inside. When the doors started to open, some one at the end of the line made a break for the door, but the old door was too small for the crowd so a jam occurred and no one got in.

I retraced my steps up Buffalo Street and retired for the evening. Was I surprised to read in the Sun next morning that the crowd inside had broken up the show with eggs, tomatoes, cabbages, etc., which resulted in the arrest of several students. It was a long time before the affair was forgotten; this was a big event at the old Lyceum.

RUSSELL D. WELCH '13
Denver, Colo.

DEAR RYM:

Your article on the old Lyceum was greatly enjoyed. It reminded me of the days when the Widow board, taking itself seriously, used to invite some of the "stars" (and others), with varying degrees of success.

I remember one night, being on a committee, when some one got the brilliant idea of emptying a bag of Washburn-Crosby on the evening-dressed Sigma Phi—toppers and all. You can guess the result! The flour descended less noiselessly than the soft snow, and was on them before they knew it.

By the way, you are 100 percent right on football: I had your same experience with the Rose Bowl game.

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

That piece about Alumni Trustee elections in the ALUMNI NEWS of February 2 seems to have created a wrong impression in some groups. Answering a substantial number of emotional correspondents in print and en bloc, I repeat that active campaigns of long duration and complicated strategy are interesting, salutary, and lots of fun for spectators. But I did not mean to imply that all campaigns of by-gone days had been so conducted, or that all successful candidates of the past had been elected only after long, bitter struggles conducted by experts. Indeed, some of our better Alumni Trustees were just wafted into office by circumstance, without effort on their part and with little work on the part of their friends.

Take the late Charles E. Treman '89, for example, and the beginning of his long and useful service as University Trustee which lasted from his original election in 1902 until his death in 1930. I've heard him tell about it and shake with merriment over it lots of times.

He was sitting at home, he said, thinking about the fine points of the hardware business and about going to bed, when he was called on the telephone by the late Charles E. Bostwick '92, then Treasurer of the University. "Charlie," Mr. Bostwick called, "Want to be an Alumni Trustee? Sure you can be elected; it's a cinch. Here it is ten o'clock and the nominations close in another two hours. There are two places to be filled and nobody nominated except George Turner. All you have to do is say 'yes'."

So Charles Treman said "yes" and Charlie Bostwick got ten Kaps out of bed to sign a petition which he deposited with the Treasurer before midnight, and that's all there was to it. With only two nominations for two vacancies, the election was an empty formality.

The more recent nomination and election of Mr. George Pfann '24, in 1935, was almost equally sketchy. The idea of making Mr. Pfann an Alumnus Trustee seems to have been born spontaneously in a back room of the Cornell Club of New York just about supper time on the last day on which nominations could be made. News of the plan reached Ithaca late that night in a long, expensive telegram to Trustee Robert E. Treman which was cast in the form of a nominating petition and bore the telegraphed names (including nicknames) of all the members and a few of the help who happened to be snoozing around the Club at that hour. Mr. Bostwick, then Comptroller, having given it as his opinion (over the telephone and from his bedchamber) that this foggy telegram could not be accepted as a nominating petition, the many Ithaca friends of Mr. Pfann were aroused from their slumbers to sign a new petition, hurriedly drawn. This petition so signed was rushed to Morrill Hall and deposited with Mr. Ken Isaacs (also aroused and rushed to the Treasurer's office to receive it), just as the fatal hour of midnight sounded from the Library Tower. The only person who didn't rush was Mr. Pfann. He just strolled into office without turning a hair.

But in spite of these illustrations, I still vastly prefer vivid contests. The prospects of having a good one this year look better every minute.

The candidacies of Mr. Paul Schoellkopf '06 and of Mr. J. Brackin Kirkland '18 are announced in another part of this paper. The many friends of Mr. Charles H. Blair '97 are goading him into running again; and Mr. Jim Parker '08 is being similarly urged.

It might be that between now and April 1 there'd be a pretty good horse race organized, after all!

OFFICIALS IN PITTSBURGH

For the annual dinner meeting of the Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania, January 30 at the University Club in Pittsburgh, 140 alumni braved a storm to hear President Day, Provost H. W. Peters '14, Bancroft Gherardi '93, chairman of the Trustees' committee on general administration, and Dean S. C. Hollister discuss the proposed plans for the expansion of the College of Engineering.

President Day was quoted by the press as saying that "American industry twenty years hence will need engineers of broad education and who 'know how to talk.' That will mean that this engineer must know something of psychology, chemistry, biology, speech, and economics; he must supply energetic and effective leadership for business."

Henry C. Givan, Jr. '24, president of the Club, presided at the banquet, and Henry M. Hughes '13 was toastmaster.

The University officers were met by a half-dozen Pittsburgh alumni for breakfast and spent the morning with them. They were entertained at luncheon with about forty-five Cornellians by William K. Frank '11, and later were guests at a tea given by the Cornell Women's Club of Pittsburgh at the home of Mrs. C. L. Dunham (Rhoda F. White) '11.

'13 REPORTS REUNION

Class of '13 has epitomized its successful twenty-five-year Reunion last June in an attractive illustrated booklet which is being mailed to a new "A" mailing list of the Class. Announcement from George H. Rockwell, Class secretary, printed in the booklet, says that this "A" list is comprised of the 587 men who have either paid Class dues, ordered the Reunion

Classbook, Then and Now, returned the Reunion questionnaire, sent in a "now" photograph, attended the Reunion, "or shown some other signs of your interest in Class affairs." Others are invited to "get on the list by kicking the secretary or otherwise demonstrating signs of life."

The booklet contains the Reunion picture of the Class and two pages of candid camera pictures taken last June;

a story of the Reunion written by Tristan Antell, Class historian; the secretary's message and one from the Class treasurer, Donald P. Beardsley; and many letters of appreciation from those who attended. Brief account of the "Little '13 Reunion" in Ithaca the day of the Dartmouth game, November 12, is also included, and the Class is urged to "get into the habit of coming back every June, as some of us do!"

WHAT CAN I DO FOR CORNELL?

By R. H. Jordan, Professor of Education

"What does Cornell expect of me?" "Aside from giving money, what can I do for the University?" Such questions are asked constantly by Cornellians. Especially alumni who are far from Ithaca, occupied with their homes and families and absorbed in the daily round of business, sometimes conclude that they can do little to help Cornell.

Last fall Professor Jordan spoke on this subject at the Alumni Corporation convention in Chicago. His ideas were so concrete, his facts so well stated, that the ALUMNI NEWS persuaded him to set them down, for the information of all Cornellians. First of his four articles appears below.

Cornell is Professor Jordan's hobby. A Yale man of the class of '93, he was a successful high school teacher, principal, and director of athletics, and taught at University of Minnesota and Dartmouth before he joined the Cornell Faculty in 1921. For many years he has been chairman of the Faculty committee on relations with secondary schools:

one of the "traveling professors" working with Cornell Clubs to interest students in the University. He has talked with literally thousands of Cornell men and women; is known everywhere as one of our best informed and most ardent Cornellians.

Take Pride in Your University

Do you realize that Cornell is a national university? It serves not merely the State of New York, but the entire nation.

Do you realize that it is a great university? We have not merely an engineering school, important as that College is; nor just an agricultural school, famous as is that College; not only a college of arts and sciences, outstanding as is that College; or a school of hotel management, or of architecture and fine arts, or of veterinary science, or of home economics—but a great University, each of whose Schools and Colleges is internationally known.

Do you realize that Cornell is one of the greatest universities? President Hutchins of the University of Chicago, in a recent Saturday Evening Post article listed the first ten universities of America, quoting Professor W. C. Eels of Stanford. The interesting President did not quote Professor Eels correctly, for Cornell was not included in his list of the first ten. Actually, Professor Eels' list, as given in School and Society of August 28, 1937, ranked universities as follows: Harvard, Chicago, Columbia, Yale, California, Johns Hopkins, Cornell, Princeton, Michigan, Wisconsin. Many other ratings have been made, but by any criterion Cornell, rated variously, has never been placed lower than seventh.

Many Cornellians do not know the truly high standing of their University. Knowing these facts, the alumnus may realize that he represents one of the seven great national universities of America!

Cornell has been traditionally modest about her attainments. We have not maintained expensive press bureaus; we have not "advertised." We have felt that the men and women who have received their training here are our best advertisements.

But our alumni have not always felt this responsibility. Within the year I have heard of several instances where two Cornellians worked side by side, sometimes for years, without learning that both were Cornell men. There is such a thing as an excess of modesty!

If we depend upon our alumni to give the world a favorable impression of Cornell, should we not expect every Cornellian at least to let his associates know that he is a proud alumnus of this great University? And shouldn't we perhaps inform our friends and acquaintances how advanced is Cornell's position in the world of science and letters? Such information spread abroad builds good will, which is as important for educational institutions as it is for business.

What is more logical than that alumni should be focal sources of information about Cornell, for prospective students, donors, and collaborators?

The second of Professor Jordan's articles, "Know Your University," will appear next week.—ED.

FOR STUDENT COUNSELLOR

The University Faculty at its meeting February 8 voted to recommend to the Board of Trustees the creation of a new University official, a counsellor of students. The Faculty's action was taken in accepting reports of its committees on student activities and on University policy.

Dean Cornelius Betten, PhD '05, indicated that the proposed new officer would not have disciplinary duties, but rather would be expected "to look at the whole operation of the University through student eyes," and to make suggestions concerning student welfare. He would be available for advice and assistance to students, and would give information on such matters as student loans, scholarships, placement tests, and other non-scholastic offerings of the University.

CHICAGO TALKS MONEY

Cornell Club of Chicago, at its regular Thursday luncheon February 2 at the University Club, had as speaker Edwin E. Sheridan '11. He discussed "Modern Money Management."

MESSENGER LECTURERS

Two series of "Messenger Lectures on the Evolution of Civilization" have been announced by the University for this year.

Dr. George Plimpton Adams, professor of mental and moral philosophy in the University of California, will discuss "Ethics and Modern Life" in six lectures beginning February 20, on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. He will treat of the possibility of knowing moral values, the conflict between theory and practice, modern distrust of ideas and search for immediacy, and the "great tensions" in history and in morals.

Dr. Charles Howard McIlwain, Eaton professor of the science of government in Harvard University, will give the second series of lectures, in May. His subject is "Some Phases in the History of Constitutionalism."

CLEVELAND HEARS RICE '90

Cornell Club of Cleveland at its regular Thursday luncheon February 2 at the Mid-Day Club, learned about the World's Poultry Congress which opens in Cleveland next July 28. Speaker was Professor James E. Rice '90, Poultry Husbandry, Emeritus, who is general chairman of the Conference. He showed color motion pictures taken on a recent airplane trip over South America in the interests of the World's Poultry Conference.

Chairman of a new committee to set up ways and means for establishing a Club regional scholarship is Ladimir R. Zeman '16.

SNAVELY AT CLUBS

Coach Carl G. Snavely will be guest of honor and the principal speaker at the annual dinner and smoker of the Cornell Club of Essex County, N. J., February 21, at the Montclair Golf Club at seven. William W. Sproul '28 is general chairman of the committee, which includes many other members residing in suburban Essex County and Newark. Sproul will be master of ceremonies, and Andrew J. Whinery '10 will be toastmaster, and other universities with whom Cornell has athletic relations will be represented among the speakers and guests.

The following day, February 22, Snavely will speak and show football motion pictures at a meeting of the Cornell Club of Staten Island. Chairman of the committee is Clarence H. Davidson '11, 25-20 Forty-first Avenue, Long Island City.

NEW YORK BOWLERS AHEAD

Bowling teams of the Cornell Club of New York have won the first two of three rounds in the Intercollegiate Clubs' Bowling League, defeating Columbia, Harvard, Princeton, and Williams. The Cornell "A" team won the second round matches, concluded February 1, and the Cornell "B" team, winners of the first round, were runners-up. Playoffs will be in April.

Captain of the "A" team is Malcolm B. Carroll '18; its members, Burton J. Lemon '08, Ernest J. J. Kluge '13, William J. McCarthy '14, Dean C. Wiggins '19, and Thomas A. Bissell '22. The "B" team is headed by Adelbert P. Mills '36, replacing John W. Cobb '35 who is now with the Ditto Company in Washington, D. C. Its other members are Robert L. Bliss '30, John W. Laughlin '35, Robert J. McNamara '37, and John B. Macreary '38.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

FIGURE SKATING CLUB has flooded the tennis courts north of Sage College, and its Faculty, graduate student, and undergraduate members spend many a graceful hour pirouetting there to the music of a loud speaker set on a snow-drift. The Club entertained Vivi-Anne Hulten and the other star figure skaters who were here for the Junior Week Ice Carnival, at dinner at Willard Straight Hall last Thursday evening.

HEAVY SNOWS and higher-than-average temperatures were reported by the Weather Bureau in Ithaca for January. Precipitation was 2.82 inches, as compared with normal of 2.19, and the mean temperature for the month was 2.1 degrees above average. Only one day of the thirty-one was recorded as entirely clear.

GEORGE C. CARENS, sports editor of the Boston Evening Transcript, quotes an authoritative tribute to Cornell from George C. Peterson, the billiard expert who recently put on his annual show in the Willard Straight game room. Peterson's full-time job is to demonstrate difficult billiard shots in universities and colleges all over the country; last year he visited 132, and this year has booked appearances at 151. Asked his opinion as to which college has the most beautiful campus, Carens quotes Peterson's reply: "Cornell; you can't beat it, with its rolling country."

INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE has joined those of other colleges and universities in opposing application of the Social Security Act to students who work to pay college expenses. Provisions of the Act are seen both as a financial hardship to these students and as an expensive accounting burden on fraternity chapters that hire them.

MISSIONARIES of a dozen denominations, home on furlough, have been studying at the College of Agriculture since January 23, and will stay through Farm and Home Week. Members of the Faculty have given special courses for this tenth annual School for Missionaries, and within the year all sixty of them will return to their posts, scattered all over the world.

MILK FROM ALL OVER the State, selected at random from distributors' trucks, is tested three times a year at the University's Dairy Building, in a "contest" in which some 175 distributors take part. Sample bottles of milk are collected without warning by State Department of Agriculture inspectors and sent to Professor Herman J. Brueckner, PhD '31, Dairy Industry Extension, who judges them for quality and condition. Distributors whose samples score above

JUNIOR WEEK passes; Farm and Home Week begins. Almost as the last house-party guest leaves Ithaca, the first of the Farm and Home Week crowd arrives. Sunny skies and clear roads brought the vanguard to the upper Campus early Monday morning. A first-day registration nearly 1,500 greater than last year promised to overflow Ithaca during the week with a record number of visitors, considerably exceeding last year's total of some 14,000. So far as could be ascertained, no Junior Week visitors stayed over for Farm and Home Week.

ninety percent receive a certificate of merit, and those who have troubles have the assistance of Professor Brueckner in solving them, at their plants.

WOMEN STUDENTS last year earned the equivalent of approximately $90,000 working for room and board, according to Miss R. Louise Fitch, Dean of Women. Those who received cash remuneration earned a total of $2,732.74. Slightly more than a third of all women students worked to earn some part of their college expenses. They listed forty-six different kinds of jobs.

CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS
BOX 575 ITHACA, N. Y.

"I Wonder What Time My Daddy Will Telephone?"

"The minute he calls up I'm going to speak to him about Bobby. He's my cousin, and he's just five weeks old. And they haven't got a telephone where he lives!

"One of these days his mother's going to run out of his talcum. Or she'll want his father to stop at the drug store on the way home for oil. Or maybe she'll want to ask the doctor about that rash on his back — Bobby's back, I mean.

"Then suppose some week he gains six ounces. Don't they expect to tell their friends news like that?

"Well, how is Bobby's mother going to do all those things besides her marketing?

"I'm going to see if my Daddy can't fix it. He's always saying how good telephone service is — and how cheap."
