Conference Considers Committees

INVITATION by the 200 students of the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration to attend their Ninth Annual Management Conference, "He's In a Meeting," April 5-6, in Statler Hall, was accepted by 115 businessmen, government officials, and educators. The guests found their two days filled with talks, conferences, and panels on the important and current topic of using committees in management. This completely student-arranged event came off most successfully this year under Wilber A. Lewis, '57 B&PA, of Cincinnati, Ohio, as general chairman, and a corps of fifty-five students. Help came from an advisory committee which included Donald McMaster '16, P. Paul Miller '18, Alumni Trustee William Littlewood '20, Trustee Walker L. Cisler '22, Dexter M. Keezer, MA '23, Henry E. Abt '25, Eugene M. Kaufmann, Jr. '26, Alumni Trustee Dexter S. Kimball, Jr. '27, Joseph C. Pursglove, Jr. '30, and Joseph E. Griesedieck '40.

The first morning was devoted to talks by Charles L. Huston, Jr., president of Lukens Steel Co., William M. Collins, secretary of the operations policy and administration committees of General Motors Corp., and Robert C. Hood, president of Ansul Chemical Co. In discussion sessions in the afternoon, such topics were considered as the use of committees to evaluate and plan the development of personnel, use and misuse of committees, and decision making around the conference table. O. Townsend MacMillan '24, vice-president, upstate, for New York Telephone Co., participated in the first discussion mentioned.

Speaking at the Conference banquet, Friday evening, on "Individualism Contrasted to the Use of Committees," Roy T. Hurley, chairman and president of Curtiss-Wright Corp., stressed the importance of giving recognition to the individual employee. An intensive employee rating system and a well planned distribution of responsibility implement the individualistic concept, he said. A party at the Cornell Heights Residential Club closed the day.

way, Maxwell M. Rabb, secretary to President Eisenhower's Executive Cabinet, told the audience that Government procedures can actually teach something to business. The US Government now employs 2,350,000 people, he said, and "this is big business unparalleled in the history of the world." He called the Cabinet "the granddaddy of all coordinating boards in the Government." Discussion sessions followed on preparation and follow-up of committee meetings, use of committees in marketing management, and how committees and conferences facilitate communication. H. Ellis Ross, Jr. '38, sales manager of Cooperative GLF Exchange, Inc., participated in the second session. A summary panel composed of Rabb, MacMillan, Huston, and Hood, with Dean C. Stewart Sheppard as moderator, agreed that committee deliberations are only necessary when a given department cannot do an adequate job on its own. The grave danger in committees is that they may tend to outlive their usefulness and forget their original intentions, the speakers said. An "Executives' Ball" at Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity closed the Conference.

Accounting Quarterly Here

GRADUATE SCHOOL of Business & Public Administration arranged with the Federal Government Accountants Association to share in publishing the quarterly journal, The Federal Accountant, starting with the April issue. The journal is now edited by Professor David A. Thomas along with H. E. Breen and H. C. Walling of the accountants' group. A School advisory committee includes Dean C. Stewart Sheppard and Professors A. Miller Hillhouse, John G. B. Hutchins, Arthur E. Nilsson, and Paul P. Van Riper. The University Press is handling the publication.

The FGAA, founded in 1949, has more than 2000 members from twenty-seven Federal agencies. Its journal discusses such topics as auditing, cost accounting, financial management, and reporting aspects of the Federal Government functions.

Bequests To Aid Students

WILL of Florence May Smith '07, who died February 5, leaves her residuary estate to the University to establish scholarships for students of languages in Arts & Sciences, with preference for those studying classical languages. The amount of the bequest may exceed $100,000.

Miss Smith taught in high schools in New York and New Jersey after she received the AB in 1907. She went to Far Rockaway High School, New York City, in 1915 and retired in 1942 as classics teacher there, returning to live in Trumansburg, her childhood home. She was the daughter of the late Clarence L. Smith '73; attended Ithaca High School, and entered the Arts College in 1903. The 1907 Class Book says of her: "She has devoted her time almost exclusively to Latin and as a result attained the honor of Phi Beta Kappa in her Junior year."

Mrs. Lilian M. Pearsall, who died March 25, provided in her will for scholarships to be awarded by the University to students of ability and need. Her estate, estimated at some $200,000, will constitute a perpetual trust fund with life income to five beneficiaries. The income thereafter will come to the University to support scholarships named for Samuel and Lilian Pearsall. Mrs. Pearsall was the mother of George M. Pearsall '14.

Brandeis Centennial

TRIBUTE to the late Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis was paid in a program arranged by the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation in Anabel Taylor Hall auditorium, April 2. During the ceremony, a Brandeis Centennial Medallion authorized by the US Congress was presented to Cornell from Brandeis University.

First, a group of Faculty members outlined the contributions of the great justice. Professor Michael H. Cardozo, Law, spoke on "Brandeis and Savings Bank Insurance;" Professor Alfred E. Kahn, Economics, "Brandeis's Economic Policy;" Professor Rudolf B. Schlesinger, Law, "Brandeis and The Impact on Legal Method;" Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, "Brandeis and Civil Liberties;" and Professor Milton R. Konvitz, PhD '33, Industrial & Labor Relations, "Brandeis and Zionism."

The Brandeis Centennial Medallion was presented by Professor Konvitz for President Abram L. Sachar of Brandeis University, in the presence of Mrs. Susan Brandeis Gilbert, daughter of Justice Brandeis. Dean Gray Thoron of the Law School accepted for the University. Mrs. Gilbert spoke briefly. Professor Konvitz said:

It is in the spirit of Justice Brandeis that the medal that commemorates his birth 100 years ago be presented to Cornell University.

For Cornell University has consistently and nobly adhered to and fulfilled the demands of freedom. In times of stress and panic, the University has withstood pressures to conform to what the passing moment pointed to as the expedient, the opportune, the safe way of conduct for institutions and individuals. In their recent study, The Development of Academic Freedom in the United States, Richard Hofstadter and Walter Metzger repeatedly mention Cornell University as a model of a free university. The University is not bound by commitment to any creed, ideology, or partisan platform, and professors and students here are free, like Ulysses in Tennyson's poem: "To follow knowledge like a sinking star, Beyond the utmost bound of human thought;" and here professors and students are free intellectually "To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield."

And Cornell University is free in another sense, too; for here there is no discrimination against students or professors on account of race, creed, religion, or national origin. There are no racial or religious quotas for students or Faculty. Equal opportunities are afforded to all who seek to come here to study or to teach if intellectually they qualify for life and work in the University. Thus Cornell University fulfills the ideals of freedom and equality that played central roles in the philosophy of Justice Brandeis.

Yet another ideal to which Brandeis devoted most of the years of his life has found a home at Cornell University. This is the ideal of the rule of law. Cornell Law School has been devoted to the furtherance of legal education on the highest levels of intellectual and moral competence. From Cornell Law School have gone forth thousands of men and women who have, by their work on the bench and at the bar and in government offices, maintained and strengthened the rule of law as a prominent aspect of American life and American institutions.

Without the ideals of freedom, equality, and the rule of law civilization, and even humanity, is impossible. In a multiplicity of ways, Justice Brandeis devoted his life to the teaching and the strengthening of this truth; and this devotion is shared and carried on by Cornell University.

Opera Concert

DE PAUR OPERA COMPANY closed the University concert series in Bailey Hall, April 9, with a varied and entertaining program. Its highlight was a selection of Gershwin songs from "Porgy and Bess." They were masterfully sung by the former stage principals of the opera, Inez Matthews and Lawrence Winters, with chorus and orchestra directed by Leonard De Paur. Miss Matthews was an attractive Carmen, with Winters as Husky Miller and Luther Saxon as Corporal Joe, in the scene in Billy Pastor's Cafe from "Carmen Jones" by Oscar Hammerstein II and Georges Bizet.

The audience was forewarned by the conductor that Gertrude Stein's libretto for the opera, "Four Saints in Three Acts," was not meant to be comprehended. But the extracts presented were nevertheless enjoyed by some of the audience.

New Field for Engineers

SERIES of elective courses started in the fall of 1955 in the School of Chemical & Metallurgical Engineering enable a student to specialize in "bioengineering," the processing and production of biological materials. These include vitamins, antibiotics, vaccines, and many foods. Five undergraduates and four graduate students in the School are now taking the courses, which are directed by Professor Robert K. Finn '41.

They have to do with processing heat-sensitive and expensive biological materials, fermentation engineering, and the techniques of large-scale production of bacteria and molds. These microorganisms, Professor Finn explains, are really miniature chemical factories that are induced to produce a variety of antibiotics, vitamins, and hormones. The courses deal with fermentation products like cheese and beer and also prepare students for work in branches of the food industry that require considerable processing, such as soluble coffee, cake mixes, and peanut butter.

Professor Finn, who joined the Faculty in 1955 after several years as a research chemical engineer with Merck & Co. and six years of teaching at University of Illinois, also directs several research projects in this field. One, partly supported by the American Cancer Society, is on how mechanical shear forces affect living tissue and how this injury affects cell growth. Another, supported by the US Public Health Service, is to devise an electrical technique for purifying certain biochemicals. The aim is to transform the laboratory method into one suitable for large-scale manufacture of such products as vaccines and enzymes.

Chicago Engineers Elect

CHICAGO CHAPTER of the Cornell Society of Engineers, at its April 8 meeting, elected Frederick M. Gillies '18, president, John P. Gnaedinger '47, vice-president, and N. Austin Weston '50, secretary-treasurer. Director Harry J. Loberg '29 of the School of Mechanical Engineering spoke on the work of the College of Engineering and described the new building program.

A Treat in Music

ITHACA MUSIC LOVERS had a rare opportunity to hear one of music's truly monumental works on Palm Sunday, April 14, when the Department of Music and the University Faculty Committee on Music presented a performance in Bailey Hall of "The Passion of Our Lord According to Saint Matthew" by Johann Sebastian Bach. The work, which is nearly four hours long, was given in its entirety except for one tenor aria and was presented in two sections, with a two and one-half hour intermission for dinner.

Several noted soloists joined the University Chorus, University Orchestra, and Sage Chapel Choir to present this massive work, which was under the able direction of Professor Donald J. Grout. Adele Addison, soprano, a member of the New York City Opera and the New England Opera Company, and Carol Smith, contralto, and Norman Farrow, bass-baritone, of the Bach Aria Group, all performed their lyrical arias with beauty and deep feeling. Eugene Conley, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, was excellent in the long and taxing role of the Evangelist. The central role of the work, that of Jesus, was sung with musical beauty and a feeling for dramatic intensity by Professor Keith Falkner, Music, who has sung this role many times before with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and in London with the Bach Choir. The 133-voice University Chorus, composed of students, student wives, Faculty members, and area residents, handled itself with a high degree of professional competence, as did the Sage Chapel Choir under direction of Professor John Kirkpatrick. Ably assisting the singers was the University Orchestra, with Professor William W. Austin, harpsichord, Charles S. McClain, graduate assistant in Music, organ, and R. Bruce Archibald '55, harmonium. John Hsu, Music, was outstanding as cello soloist.

The magnificence of the production had the local reviewers the next day reaching for superlatives and moved the music critic for the Cornell Daily Sun to state: "This was a glorious culmination of an entire year's work, the finest and most rewarding concert we have attended at Cornell."

University Budget Tops $65,000,000

BUDGET of the University for 1957-58 is more than $65,000,000. This includes operating expenses for the endowed divisions at Ithaca of $27,534,554; for the State-supported divisions at Ithaca and Geneva $17,091,359; for the Medical College and School of Nursing in New York City $5,136,342; and for subsidiary corporations owned by the University such as the Aeronautical Laboratory in Buffalo, Campus Store, and Research Foundation $16,000,000.

Increases Benefit Faculty & Students

Income for the endowed divisions at Ithaca is estimated at $26,951,071. This would make an operating deficit of $583,483. It is estimated that $7,882,000 will come from tuition and fees paid by students; $1,793,000 from endowment funds; $1,000,000 from unrestricted gifts, including the Cornell Fund; $230,000 from Federal & State funds; $2,500,000 from research grants and contracts; $12,128,071 from dormitories, dining halls, and similar services; and $1,418,000 from other sources. Operating budget for the endowed divisions at Ithaca is $1,214,523 more than the 1956-57 estimate. Ninety per cent of the increase is appropriated for improvement in instruction, including higher Faculty salaries and benefits, improved facilities, and $117,400 more for financial aid to students.

For operating the State-supported divisions in the fiscal year that started April 1, the New York Legislature appropriated $11,763,511. An additional appropriation for increasing salaries of all State employees may bring about $695,000 for the Faculty and staff of these divisions. Federal appropriations for the State units amount to $2,266,623; research grants and contracts $669,500; other income $2,391,725; for a total operating budget of $17,091,359 as detailed in the accompanying table.

State Provides for New Buildings

The Legislature also appropriated $3,400,000 for a new Animal Husbandry building and $300,000 for equipment for the Food Processing building now being erected at the Geneva Experiment Station. The Animal Husbandry building will go at the corner of Tower Road and Judd Falls Road, east of the Dairy Building. Wing Hall, which now houses Animal Husbandry, will be put to other use. Building appropriations made last year are continued: $2,000,000 for the School of Industrial & Labor Relations plant on the site of James Law Hall and remodeling Moore Laboratory and the present Veterinary buildings on Garden Avenue; $500,000 for a Poultry Husbandry research building near Rice Hall; and $150,000 for a building for studying virus diseases of poultry in the new Veterinary College.

Trustees of the State University of New York have recommended a future five-year building program that includes a new Agronomy building estimated at $4,000,000; one for Entomology and administration at $4,000,000; a wing of Martha Van Rensselaer Hall for the College of Home Economics $415,000; greenhouses $3,600,000; and other construction here and at the Geneva Experiment Station to total $25,170,000.

A Unique Manuscript

By JOHANN S. HANNESSON, Curator, Icelandic Collection

WILLARD FISKE did not collect manuscripts. He was on principle opposed to removing manuscripts from the country of their origin and for this reason turned down an offer of at least one sizable collection of Icelandic manuscripts. As a result, the Fiske Icelandic Collection in the University Library contains only a handful of manuscripts, most of them unimportant. The small holding has, however, recently been enriched by a remarkable eighteenth century manuscript, the gift of Charles J. Paterson '07 of Cleveland, Ohio.

This manuscript is not primarily interesting for its contents. It is a copy of a translation, made in 1670, of the Danish translation of Henrich Bünting's Itinerarium Sacrae Scripturae, a description of all the places visited in their travels by all the principal characters of the Bible, from the Patriarchs to the Apostles, to which is attached a treatise on ancient weights and measures. This work, first published in 1581, is now of little value, although it was popular enough in its own day to go through numerous editions and be translated into Latin, Danish, Swedish, Dutch, English, and Icelandic. There are at least two separate Icelandic translations, of which the present manuscript appears to be the only complete one extant, but neither has been published. Except as another indication of the variety of literary activity in seventeenth and eighteenth century Iceland, of which printed books give only a very incomplete picture, the translation is of quite limited importance. It is as an exceptionally fine example of eighteenth century Icelandic bookmaking and as an illustration of intellectual activity in unlikely places that the manuscript is of great value and interest.

Typifies Folk Art

An excellently preserved, small paper quarto, written in 1720, the manuscript numbers 706 pages. It is profusely ornamented in black, blue, red, green, and gold, with more than forty full page decorations, about 150 large and nearly 500 small initials, twenty-three tail pieces, and about 250 ornamental chapter headings. Some of the initials seem to represent the not too successful experiments of an amateur, but throughout there is evidence of a considerable talent, and on the whole the ornamentation shows taste and skill that would do credit to a professional scribe and illuminator.

But Olafur Gunnlaugsson (1688-1784), who on the title page describes himself as the scribe, was anything but a professional. He was a farmer-fisherman in moderate circumstances, the head of a large and busy household who, except for the last few years of his life, lived on the only farm on a small, rather isolated island off the west coast of Iceland. That a man so situated should busy himself with the making of beautiful books will, no doubt, seem surprising from any point of view, but far less so to Olafur's contemporaries and to his fellow-countrymen after his time than to a present-day American. For with certain qualifications, Olafur may well be taken as representative of innumerable Icelandic farmers and other members of the common people who, in circumstances that might be expected to preclude all intellectual activity, have stubbornly persisted (until modern progress made their efforts obsolete) in maintaining on their lonely farms the attitudes and interests elsewhere associated with courts and cities and universities.

Scribe Had Many Talents

What sets Olafur apart is, on the one hand, the fact that he was not entirely unschooled—he stayed for some years at the home of a district judge, where he had an opportunity to acquire more book learning than was available on the ordinary farm—and on the other hand, the unusual variety of his talents. He was an author and a poet, an amateur painter, a calligrapher, an expert worker in wood and iron, and an antiquarian, as well as a successful farmer and a first rate seaman and fisherman. What makes him representative is best suggested in his son-in-law's biography of him, where we are told that he composed much poetry "in twilight and in darkness [i.e., during the late afternoon siesta and after the lights were put out for the night], while traveling on foot, at work, and on the sea, without ever neglecting any of his household duties." Judged by its artistic quality most of his poetry, none of which has ever been published, probably would not fare very well, but then he had other standards in mind. To his audience, verse was more dignified and more impressive than prose, as well as being easier to memorize, and verse was therefore the proper medium not only for his Speculum temporis, a Biblical history, and his didactic "Man's Duties" and "Precepts for all Ranks and Estates," but also for a lengthy treatise on tides and ocean currents. If from the long list of his products we add only a "Life of Christ" and "Lives of the Evangelists and Apostles" in skaldic metre, a clavis poetica containing examples of 600 Icelandic metres together with an allegorical satire, a handbook for seamen, and a voluminous collection of proverbs, even the enforced idleness of the long Icelandic winter seems inadequate to account for his productivity. Still, the making of verse was the main occupation of the whole people, next after keeping body and soul together, and Olafur is only one of hundreds of versifiers of all kinds in his time. Much harder to account for is the artistic interest of which the manuscript in the Fiske Collection is so charming and impressive a product, for in this respect his environment afforded far less support and encouragement.

A brief anecdote may help to fill in the picture of this remarkable man, who was described by a contemporary as having been "blessed in his reputation, in his friends, in his household labors, and in his children." When he was eighty years old, his son, a man of exceptional promise who at the age of forty-two was just setting out on a public career and in whom a whole nation's hopes were placed, was drowned not far from his native island. When the old man heard the news, he left the house without a word and worked furiously by himself for half a day, leveling and extending his hayfield. When he came back he was as he had always been. He showed no sign of emotion nor uttered a word of regret.

New Yorkers To Give Award

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of New York City will present an award each year to a Cornellian from the Metropolitan New York area who through some outstanding accomplishment has brought great credit to the University. A committee, appointed by President Edwin T. Gibson '08 to draw up rules and regulations for the award and to recommend a recipient for 1957, consists of Anthony S. Gaccione '21, chairman, Harold Riegelman '14, Max F. Schmitt '24, Dr. William A. Barnes, MD '37, John Rivoire '42, and Haig K. Shiroyan '24, secretary.

Armington '59 Memorial

PARENTS of Charles R. Armington '59 have initiated five-year scholarships for students in Engineering as a memorial to their son, who was killed in an automobile accident last November 9.

The Charles Armington Scholarships will be awarded by the College to Freshman men who are citizens of the United States and who have shown qualities of "all-around citizenship, leadership, good personality, and social ability," and with abilities and interests similar to those of Armington.

Holders of the scholarships will receive up to $2000 a year, depending upon need, for five years, so long as they "make normal progress towards an Engineering degree, remain in good standing in the University, and continue some active participation in one or more recognized college activities, athletic or non-athletic." For each scholarship in force, the University will receive $1000 a year as contribution toward the additional cost of instruction. The donors are Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Armington of Mentor, Ohio.

Charles Armington was a Sophomore in Mechanical Engineering; was on the swimming squad and a member of Psi Upsilon. He graduated from Shaker Heights, Ohio, High School in the upper third of his class and had shown marked aptitude in mathematics, engineering drawing, and similar subjects. He was elected to the student council and was chairman of the school library advisory committee, was on the track team, captain of the swimming team, and treasurer of the Varsity "S" Club. He enjoyed camping, canoeing, and water skiing; had been an Explorer Scout. At graduation from high school he was commended for his "courtesy, cooperation, and mature attitude, coupled with a desire to enjoy school life."

Doctors Renew College Associations

REPORTED to be the finest in many years, the Alumni Reunion of the Medical College, March 22-23, brought more than 250 alumni back to their school. A panel on heart surgery conducted by eight members of the Medical College Faculty, clinical conferences, and presentation by Faculty members of a number of hitherto unpublished medical papers formed the main program. On subjects still in hot controversy the present thinking resulting from continued research at the College was outlined. Drs. F. Albert Baumann II '33 of Binghamton and Jesse P. Eddy III, MD '32, of Pawtucket, R.I., presided at sessions.

Ninth annual award of the Medical College Alumni Association to the alumnus "who has made an outstanding contribution to medicine" was presented to Dr. Henry H. Kessler '16, MD '19, director of the Kessler Institute of Rehabilitation, Newark, N.J., by Professor Joseph F. Artusio, Jr., MD '43, Surgery, Anesthesiology. In an address, "Paradise Regained," Dr. Kessler, internationally prominent in his field, discussed problems and achievements of rehabilitation efforts throughout the world.

As a feature of the Reunion, the Classes of '15, '20, '25, '30, and '35 of the College were designated "Honor Classes." Special fund contributions to the College have been set up from each. Three members of the Class of '17 who won the Polk Awards in their Senior year announced that they were returning as gifts the $300, $150, and $75 prizes they originally received. The donors are Professor Connie M. Guion, MD '17, Clinical Medicine, Emeritus, Dr. Edward P. Flood '14, and Dr. Abraham Kardiner, MD '17.

At a snack supper given by the alumni for the Senior Class in F. W. Olin Hall, Friday night, entertainment was provided by Ithacans. Head Coach George K. James talked on the last football season and showed movies of the Penn game and the Sherwoods from the Men's Glee Club sang. More than 260 attended. A dinner dance at the Biltmore Hotel, Saturday night, which attracted some 330 alumni and their guests, closed the Reunion. The Sherwoods also entertained at the dinner. While at the Medical College, they stayed in Olin Hall.

Professor Mary Ann Payne, MD '45, Clinical Medicine, was elected the new president of the Medical College Alumni Association, and thus becomes a director of the Cornell Alumni Association. Professor Thomas P. Almy '35, Medicine, was elected vice-president, Dr. Keith O. Guthrie, Jr., '37, Medicine, secretary, and Professor Henry A. Carr, MD '35, Clinical Medicine, treasurer.

On the Sporting Side - By "Sideliner"

Weather Hinders Progress

SPRING GAME, but spring weather lagged behind. Some sports had had a good start, but snow, winds, and chilling temperatures visited Ithaca directly with the departure of the benignly pleasant days of the spring recess and physical conditioning of the teams reverted to a more typically Aprilish state.

Rowing was way ahead of the game on April 1; "a hundred miles ahead of last season at the same time," proudly remarked Coach Harrison Sanford. But the next two weeks permitted only a rare trip on the Lake because of the wintry blasts. Thus progress was hindered.

The baseball squad had a successful Southern trip and was exultant over its success. But Hoy Field was either full of snow or a quagmire of mud upon its return. And Bacon Cage continued to be its daily habitat.

Lacrosse Team Wins

First contest of the regular spring season was a lacrosse game with Union at Schenectady, April 13. Coach Ross H. Smith's Red team won, 9-3.

Both teams were rusty because of lack of practice. But the Cornellians showed more finesse and greater aggressiveness. Coach Smith used a two-plateau midfield attack. Bruce W. Pfann '59, Herbert P. Hess '58, and Howard M. Taylor '59 started the game and were spelled by James E. Liles '59, Robert M. Shirley '57, and John C. Seiler '57. Captain Robert W. Black '57 was high scorer for the victorious Red team with 4 goals.

Play Hockey Games

A couple of practice hockey games inaugurated James Lynah Hall for the hockey squad. Colgate came over from Hamilton, April 10, and played to a 6-6 tie with the Cornell recruits practicing under the tutelage of Paul E. Patten. April 13, the Schenectady amateur hockey team visited and defeated the Cornellians, 7-5.

First line used by Coach Patten had John R. Vollbrecht '60, Gervase Y. Gates '59, and Glen J. Giles '58. Defense men were John S. Coppage '60 and Edgar L. Vaughan '58. Second line consisted of Richard J. Todd, John S. Beale, Jr., and Joseph A. Kelsey, all Freshmen. H. Michael Burns '60 and John T. Detwiler '60 divided time as goal-tenders.

When Yale's National Championship team failed to show up for a scheduled match in the Riding Hall, April 6, the Varsity polo team played and defeated the Ithaca Polo Club, 22-5. Yale called at three the afternoon of the game to say they were unable to make the trip. Cornell had beaten Yale, 15-10, in an earlier game and the team was anxious to avenge its poor showing in the National tournament by beating the champs.

Peter D. Baldwin '59 scored 7 goals to lead the onslaught over the Ithaca team. Robert C. Cyprus '57 and Stanley R. Woolaway '59 had 6 apiece. There was a good turnout for the expected fray with Yale.

Awards & Elections

ARTHUR L. BOLAND, JR. '57 of Lynn, Mass., added to his many honors and accomplishments by being named "Senior Athlete of the Year" by The Cornell Daily Sun.

The first Cornell athlete to be elected captain of both football and track, this near-sighted, 152-pound phenomenon was the top ground gainer in the Ivy Football League in 1956, the first year he was at the T quarterback position. He gained 838 yards in seven Ivy games, 452 yards by passing, 386 by running. His brilliant ninety-one-yard run against Penn was the outstanding thrill of the 1956 season. He played halfback in 1954 and 1955. He was named on the 1956 All-Ivy football team, the only Cornellian to be selected, and was given honorable mention on the Associated Press All-East team.

A most versatile track performer, according to Coach Louis C. Montgomery "Artie is one of the best team men it has ever been my privilege to coach. He is always willing to do whatever is best for the team." Football Coach George K. James was quoted at the Sun banquet as saying: "I think he's the greatest boy I've ever coached, a most remarkable athlete and a superb competitor."

Boland's boyhood hero was William J. Whelan '53, who was a neighbor in Lynn and whose father was principal of Lynn Classical High School where Art went to school. Whelan was captain of the 1952 Varsity football team and an outstanding baseball player. He won the Sun's Athlete of the Year Award in the spring of 1953.

In accepting the Sun trophy, Boland remarked, "This award is a most cherished one. I accept it with humble thanks and in the names of all the athletes in school who so willingly give of their time for the University." He was the Glenn S. "Pop" Warner '94 outstanding Cornell football player of 1956.

A National Scholar, he graduates in Arts & Sciences in June and will enter the Cornell Medical College in September. He is a member of Sigma Nu and Sphinx Head.

Philip W. Marriott '58, six-foot-three forward from Mt. Vernon, was elected captain of the 1957-58 basketball team. He was co-captain of the 1956-57 team, along with Charles D. Robinson '58. Thus Marriott becomes the first two-time Varsity basketball captain since Thomas W. Rich '38 served in 1936-37 and 1937-38. A student in Mechanical Engineering and member of Sigma Nu, Marriott was one of the team's most effective scorers in the late season when the team played its best brand of ball. In the last few games, he put in 50 per cent of his field goal tries and wound up as the team's most proficient shooter with 51 x 131 for .389. He was third in total points behind Sophomores Louis R. Jordan and Robert W. Ranger. Jordan received the William Fuerst foul shooting award. He led the team with a .748 on 160 x 214.

Varsity crew member Robert W. Staley '57, president of Psi Upsilon chapter, presented the Charles R. Armington Memorial Trophy as a gift to the Cornell swimming team "to be awarded annually to the Sophomore who has shown the best ability, spirit, and scholarship and the best potential as a member of the Cornell Varsity swimming team." The winner will be chosen each year by Aquarius, swimming honor society.

Charles Armington '59 of Shaker Heights, Ohio, was a star on the Freshman swimming team and rowed on the Freshman crew last year. He was killed in an automobile accident last November 9. He was a student in Mechanical Engineering and a member of Psi Upsilon.

He is secretary of the Twin City Cornell Club. The same day in Raleigh, N.C., John M. Parker III '28, a member of the faculty of North Carolina State College of Agriculture & Engineering, will be the Cornell delegate at the inauguration of William C. Friday as president of the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

For Gardeners

BAILEY HORTORIUM has started "Baileygram," a brief newsletter for persons interested in garden plants and flowers and especially for those who contribute to the Liberty Hyde Bailey Memorial Fund. The second issue of Baileygram, for March, reports that in its first year the Memorial Fund had reached $56,631 from 1362 contributors. These have included more than 880 of Professor Bailey's former students, other individuals interested in the Hortorium that he founded, and a number of garden clubs, plant societies, nurseries, and trade organizations.

The Memorial Fund of $500,000 is being raised to endow expanded activities of the Hortorium that Professor Bailey gave to the University. Last year, the Hortorium staff answered more than 3000 calls for assistance. They ranged from requests to identify plants from their flowers to names of collectors and commercial sources for a number of tropical plants that a New York garden maker had seen on a cruise to the West Indies. Chairman of the committee in charge is Professor George H. M. Lawrence, PhD '39, Director of the Liberty Hyde Bailey Hortorium, Mann Library, Ithaca.

Alumni Aid in Iceland

CORNELL CLUB of Reykjavik, Iceland, founded last June, is proving to be "a contribution of great value to the bonds of culture and mutual understanding between the United States and Iceland," reports Lieutenant Bernard H. Feigelman '54, 19th Weather Squadron, Grandview Air Force Base, Mo., who was vice-president of the Club while he was on duty there. "Brigadier General John W. White, commander of the Iceland Defense Force, was more than pleased to observe the founding and functioning of the Club," he writes. "The information services officer of the Iceland Defense Force included the founding of the Club in his report to Headquarters Military Air Transport Service."

The Club arranged several general meetings and smaller round table discussions attended by student leaders of the three Reykjavik high schools and members of the student council of University of Iceland. The Alumni Association film "Spring in Ithaca" stimulated intense interest in the United States and sparked the discussion afterwards." Halldor S. Grondal '53, president of the Club, believes it was more than coincident that at the time of the Hungar-

Dedicate James Lynah Hall—On the ice of the new skating rink, April 6, Mrs. Lynah (Elizabeth Beckwith) '03 received from President Deane W. Malott a scroll dedicating the building to the memory of James Lynah '05, "with the wish that this new athletic building will make possible the realization of the ideals of good sportsmanship which James Lynah worked devotedly to promote." Robert J. Kane '34, Director of Athletics & Physical Education, presided and paid tribute to Lynah, who was his predecessor from 1935-43 and who planned the enlarged sports facilities of which Lynah Hall is the latest. The Lynahs' daughters also attended the ceremonies; from left, they are Mrs. John Daniel, Mrs. Joseph Harrison, Mrs. George Sherrill. The $500,000 skating rink, gift of an anonymous donor, was the scene of an attractive ice show given by the Minto Skating Club of Ottawa, Canada. Their two performances brought 7200 spectators.

ian revolt Icelandic students led a protest march to the Soviet Embassy in Reykjavik, Feigelman says. Many of these student leaders had attended the Club's meetings.

Feigleman's letter continues: "There are two communists in the Icelandic parliament. . . . Clear-thinking citizens are appalled at this fact. They have taken hope from the pro-American, anti-communist political life of the University of Iceland. Election to the University student council is based upon membership in the national political parties. A conclusive victory was scored by the students representing the pro-American political party. As you have probably read, there was considerable pressure for withdrawal of American forces from the NATO installation at Keflavik Airport. Fortunately, a new agreement was signed this past fall between the United States and Iceland to permit the continued operation of the vital Keflavik Air Base. Halldor Grondal and Bjarni Beinteinsson, president of the University of Iceland student council, have voiced the opinion that our Club and its activities have made some contribution toward this success in Icelandic-American relations. The Club members prevailed upon Halldor and myself to keep the film during the crucial days of decision of this little republic, whose total population is 160,000 people. The film was shown to many people occupying important positions in the political and educational life of the country. In a nation of so few people, each and every vote is of vital importance. 'Spring in Ithaca' shown to these leaders depicted Cornell as the living representative of the intellectual, spiritual, and aesthetic blessings of the United States."

An Undergraduate Observes

By David L. Nye '57

Peter H. Bouton '58 of Howe, Ind. was elected president of Willard Straight Hall in April 17 elections. Other members of the executive committee of the board of managers include A. Callaway Allen, Jr. '58 of Kirkwood, Mo., Janet I. Farnham '58 of Ithaca, and Annette E. Fogo '58 of Ottawa, Canada.

Debate Association members John F. Burton, Jr. '57 of Massillon, Ohio, and Edgar J. Kerber '57 of Emmetsburg, Iowa, debated at Vanderbilt, Georgia Institute of Technology, University of South Carolina, Florida State, University of Miami, and Pennsylvania on a spring recess tour.

The Widow for April published "yvi magazine," a parody on ivy magazine which was started at Yale last fall as "a feature magazine devoted to the interests of the undergraduates of the Ivy League." The Widow version is an amusing take-off, complete with surveys, picture stories, comment slightly pro-Yale, and full-page ads of "The New York Times—57 Varieties" and "Pan Armenian—World's Bumpiest Airline."

Student Council overwhelmingly voted down a proposal to form an "academic integrity board" as the first step toward a University honor system. The defeat came after a study of the honor systems that were tried here in the 1920s and '30s and of honor systems elsewhere. It was argued that "the large number of students and schools in various fields and at various levels here prevents the close communication necessary for a general spirit of academic integrity." This seems to be a pretty broad and sweeping generality and difficult to prove, although the diversification of the University undoubtedly makes it a difficult setting in which to institute an honor system. The investigating committee's statement that "students come from many different backgrounds and all do not have inflexible standards of values" is perhaps more true. It fixes the responsibility on the individual Cornellian and those who help to form his opinions, mould his character, and crystallize his values.

Shiny new street signs of silver and black have been erected at the major Campus corners. The most common student comment has been surprise to learn the names of many streets.

Interfraternity Council elected Adin B. Capron, Jr. '58 of Psi Upsilon, president for the 1957-58 year. John H. Brinsley '58 of Alpha Delta Phi was chosen vice-president.

Phi Kappa Sigma defeated Kappa Sigma to gain first place among fraternities and later beat the Eaglebabs, independent champs, to win the intramural volleyball title.

Sage College fire protection system worked—at the wrong time but for the right reason; or perhaps at the right time for the wrong reason. A leak in the system set off the alarm in the early morning, causing 240 women occupants of the dormitory to leave the building for forty minutes.

Arthur V. N. Brooks '58 of Maplewood, N.J. was elected president of the Student Council for next year. Harvey P. Dale '58 of Great Neck and Kenneth P.

Kellogg '59 of Larchmont were elected first and second vice-presidents. Anthony A. D'Amato '58 of Cambria Heights, whose platform published in the Sun quoted him as being "against everything except students," was elected treasurer.

William D. Worthy, international correspondent who with two reporters from Look magazine spent forty-one days in Red China against the wishes of the US State Department, was guest speaker at the annual Cornell Daily Sun banquet, April 5. He reported both his views on the US ban of reporters in China and his observations of the people and government of China. Earlier, he gave a Campus lecture under sponsorship of the Department of Far Eastern Studies and the Sun.

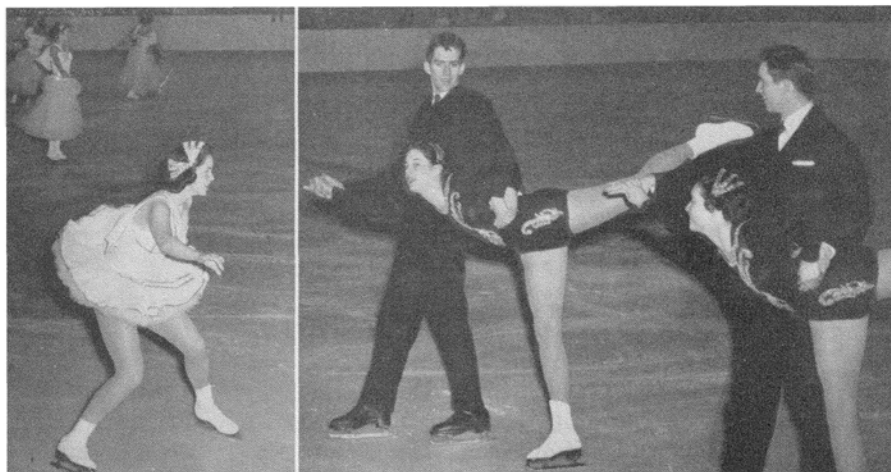

"Presenting Cayuga's Waiters" is a new long-playing record containing fifteen arrangements by the twelve Waiters. It was made by the Cornell Recording Society and is sold at $3.98 by the Campus Store in Barnes Hall.

David B. Parbery, Grad, from Sydney, Australia, and Christos Sionedes '58 from Thessalonika, Greece, were elected president and vice-president of the International Student Council.

Kappa Kappa Gamma is building an addition to its chapter house on Thurston Avenue west of Comstock Hall. Construction and renovation is expected to be completed by September.

Peter Hallock '53, now in the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration, won an essay contest sponsored by Grey Advertising Agency, Inc. The competition was part of "Inside Advertising Week" sponsored by the Association of Advertising Men & Women. Hallock was one of sixty graduate students from all over the country taking part in the "Week." His essay included an analysis of the advertising field.

Panhellenic Council elected Madeline J. Isaacs '58 of Sigma Delta Tau, president. Other officers include Jo Ann Odell '58 of Alpha Omicron Pi, Audrey L. Judd '58 of Alpha Xi Delta, and Barbara A. Hauck '58 of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Skating Show—The Minto Skating Club of Ottawa presented a variety of group, ballet, solo, and comedy numbers for the dedication of James Lynah Hall, April 6. The amateur group included forty-one youthful members of the oldest of Canada's 160 skating clubs. Club professional Otto Gold coached Barbara Ann Scott in the eight years before she swept the Canadian, North American, European, Olympic, and World titles in thirteen months.

He will visit colleges and universities in furtherance of the Association's program "to increase the number of well-qualified science and mathematics teachers at the secondary school level."

Professor Richard Bradfield, Agronomy, has been elected a trustee of the Rockefeller Foundation. A former president of the American Society of Agronomy and of the Soil Science Society of America, he has been a consultant to the US Department of Agriculture and was adviser to the US delegation to the third Inter-American Conference on Agriculture in 1945. He was with the Foundation in 1955 as a member of the board of consultants for agriculture and as regional director for agriculture in the Far East.

A two-volume Handbook of Snakes by Professor Albert H. Wright '04, Zoology, Emeritus, and his wife, Mrs. Anna Allen Wright '09, has been published by the Comstock Publishing Associates division of the Cornell University Press. More than 300 species of snakes are cataloged and described in the manual, which is illustrated by many black-and-white photographs taken by the authors, by maps showing the geographic area where the species are found, and by explanatory diagrams. A third volume containing a bibliography will be published later.

Ithaca Rotary Club has elected Professor Homer C. Thompson, Vegetable Crops, Emeritus, its next president. He will take office in July. The Club also elected Henry J. Shirey '25 vice-president and re-elected Oliver Jones '45 secretary and University Controller Arthur H. Peterson, MA '34, treasurer.

Professor J. Barkley Rosser, Mathematics, was chairman of a symposium on orbit theory held at New York University, April 4-5, as part of the meetings of the American Mathematical Society.

Fifth Regional Art Exhibition at the Syracuse Museum of Fine Arts, March 16 to April 7, included paintings by Professor Norman D. Daly, Fine Arts; Robert J. Lambert '50, instructor in Drawing, Floriculture; and Mrs. Olive Northup Snyder '22, assistant director of the Cornell Fund. John A. Cook, instructor in Fine Arts, exhibited three sculptures.

Professor Philip Morrison, Physics & Nuclear Studies, writes on "The Overthrow of Parity" in the April issue of Scientific American. He discusses the recent discovery that, in the sub-atomic world, an absolute distinction exists between right and left. This finding may lead to new theories that will help unify many discoveries of the last few years about sub-nuclear particles.

Professor James A. McConnell '21, Agricultural Industry, has been appointed agricultural consultant to Corn Products Refining Co., the world's largest producer of corn-derived products. Professor McConnell, who was appointed University Trustee by Governor Dewey in 1954, is former US Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and former executive vice-president of the Cooperative GLF Exchange, Inc. Last February he was named by President Eisenhower to the five-man Commodity Credit Corp. advisory board.

New cantata, "Of Night and the Sea," by Professor Robert Palmer, Music, had its first performance, April 12, at University of Illinois. The work, for four solo voices and eleven instruments, was commissioned by the Fromm Foundation of Chicago. It uses poems about night and the sea from classical to modern times, including texts by Sappho, Pindar, Michaelangelo, and Walt Whitman. Professor Palmer attended the premiere, which was part of the Illinois Tenth Festival of Contemporary Arts. He spent last year there as the university's first George A. Miller Visiting Professor.

Mrs. Mary Bradley Stimson '32 has been named assistant to the University Editor. She will supervise the University's new Visitor Information Center in Day Hall and will edit University Announcements. She is the wife of Clinton R. Stimson '35 and the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Lewis Bradley, Grad '96-'97, and the late Lyman R. Bradley '93. Before her marriage in 1941, Mrs. Stimson worked in the College of Home Economics.

Ezra Cornell's First Ithaca Home

EDITOR: For some years I have been intrigued by a pen and ink sketch which appears to be of "The Nook," Ezra Cornell's home for so many years. When Regional History was in Boardman Hall, I discovered a box of photostats which Professor Charles H. Hull '86 had had made of Ezra Cornell letters held by the New York Historical Society and the Library of Congress. On top of the box was a photostat of the pen and ink sketch. Obviously, Professor Hull had placed the photostat there in the belief that it was Ezra Cornell's homestead under the hill. A few months later, while rummaging in the attic of Boardman, I found the original pen and ink sketch.

Several months ago, Mrs. Marion Burfoot of Zoology and I drove down to "The Nook" and went through the building and over the walls, inch by inch, trying to figure out what part of the present building the one-story dwelling of the sketch might be. I showed the sketch to Miss Susie Challis Krampz, the present owner of "The Nook." She exclaimed over the small building which appears to the right in the picture, saying that it had been the ice house. She pointed to the pile of timbers on its site and explained that the barn or ice house had recently been torn down. Miss Krampz, Mrs. Burfoot, and I decided that the back section of the present "Nook" might well have been the building in the sketch with its roof raised.

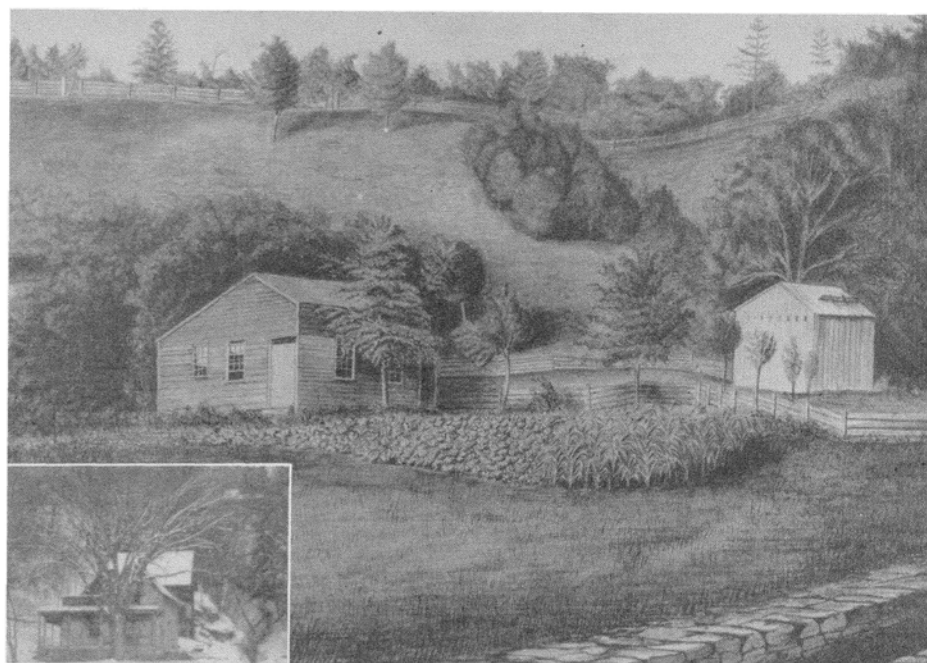

I hope very much that some member of our alumni will be able to help us with an exact identification.

Gives to Museum

WHITE ART MUSEUM has received a gift of two paintings from Dr. George P. F. Katz, a physician in Great Neck who collects European art and is well-known as a specialist on the art of the German sculptor, Barlach. One of the paintings is a full face "Portrait of a Man" by the Italian Renaissance painter, Pietro dei Marescalotti, also called La Spada. The other is a "Portrait of Bacchus" attributed to Jacob Jordaens, seventeenth century Flemish master.

News of the Alumni

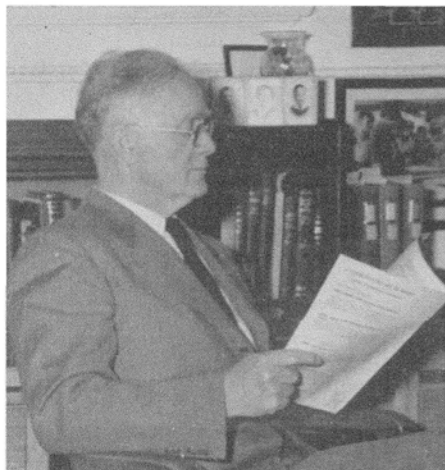

Addresses which appear in these pages are in New York State unless otherwise designated. Class columns headed by Class numerals and the names and addresses of the correspondents who write them are principally those of Classes which have purchased group subscriptions to the News for all members. Personal items, newspaper clippings, or other notes about Cornellians of all Classes are welcomed for publication.

'95 ME—Stephen R. Leonard, Sr. is a retired executive of Oneida Ltd., manufacturers of tableware. His address is Kenwood, No. 2 Orchard, Oneida.

'00 BS—J. Bennett Nolan lives at 54 North Street, Reading, Pa. He is a lawyer and the author of historical works on Washington, Franklin, and Lafayette.

'05 ME—Anton Vonnegut writes that he "spends [his] week ends resting from doing nothing during rest of the week and enjoys both 'activities'." He lives at 7808 College Avenue, Indianapolis 20, Ind.

From his home at 6 Geddes Heights, Ann Arbor, Mich. a letter comes from Ferdinand N. (Men) Menefee (above) which reads as follows: "Just another 'old man' now, Roy. Retired in June after 45½ years of teaching here at the University of Michigan. Got my start as an instructor in the C. E. College at Cornell, one semester. When I went to Cornell, one of the statements that I made to Professor Charlie Walker was that I was never going to be a teacher. Memory brings back Poppy Church, E.E. Haskell, Froggy Pond, Hank Ogden, David Molitor, Henry Jacoby, Lawrence Purdy, Asa Barnes, to name a few of the Faculty. Then among my Classmates were Harry Augenblick, Herb Jacoby, Clem Chase, Baron Leggett, Laury Bowman, yourself, and many others whose faces I can see, but whose names I have at this moment forgotten. Regards to all my friends in 1910."

Your correspondent is delighted that three 1910 news-hawks living in three different States took the trouble to send to me the following news item. Two were clippings from the N.Y. Herald Tribune, and the third quoted below was from the Sea

Island "Shore-Lines." "Mrs. Maude Stamm Tappan of Sea Island, Ga. was married to Mr. James Dugald White of Bay Head, N.J., February 16, before a small group of friends in the chapel of the Presbyterian Church, St. Simon's Island, Ga. After the wedding she entertained approximately 140 guests at a cocktail and supper party at the Sea Island Beach Club. Following a leisurely trip through Florida, Mr. and Mrs. White will divide their time between Sea Island and Bay Head."

Walter L. (Laurie) Squire is living with his daughter at 170 Highland Ave., Buffalo 22, since his retirement three years ago from Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. He writes that he has had a grand time remodeling his home and traveling around and visiting friends and relatives. Included in the above were Classmates Sellew Roberts, Harold Hastings, and Archer Chapin.

Pat Fries, after retiring last year, left Philadelphia where he had been for many years, and moved up to Little Compton, R.I. He describes it as east of Newport just across the Sakonnet River, and south of Tiverton about eight miles. Pat says: "Any Classmates traveling up this way, from now through the summer, will find me at the Beach & Bass Shop, which establishment is run by my daughter and her husband, Bill and Carol Snow." He further mentions that while on a trip south this winter he had two most pleasant and interesting visits with Wallace Caldwell at Chapel Hill, N.C. and on the way North had lunch with Frank Oates while in New York.

The name of Harry Kiep was misspelled as "Harry Kief" in our April 1 issue. Apologies to him and to Class Correspondent Roy Taylor for the typographical error.—Ed.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee held at the Cornell Club of New York, the resignation of Claire Hardy, Class Secretary, was accepted, and Fran Heywood, 90 Lexington Ave., Holyoke, Mass., was picked in his place to carry on the arduous duties of this honorable position. Claire writes your correspondent, "My resignation was compelled, not by any dissatisfaction with the job, which I found most pleasant, but by the fact that I am moving to 1015 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, and expect to live out in Bryn Mawr at the Montgomery Inn. While I shall continue to be a referee with the Department of Health, Education & Welfare, the burdens will be somewhat greater. Fran meets all the specifications, and I think he is a most happy selection. Your job and Fran's run closely together in many ways, and I think you will make a great team." (See above photo

The annual spring dinner will be held at the Cornell Club of New York Friday, May 17. Get-together 5:30 p.m., dinner 6:30 p.m. If you have not already done so, please mail return postcard to Fran Heywood, at the above address, stating whether or not you will attend. It is hoped that the selection of a Friday night will bring forth a much larger attendance than we have had in the past. Possibly some of the Florida group who will be flying north with the birds can arrange a stop-over for the evening.

Philip L. Day, ME, writes he sold his business about three years ago and except for a run to England has been living comfortably at the old homestead in Brisbane, Australia. He says, "It would give me the greatest pleasure to have a trip back to the States and see once more those friends that I met in those very fine days it was my good fortune to spend in the U.S.A. and especially at Cornell." Phil, we all hope to see you at Ithaca in 1961.

Claude Thiele, who has been active in Mexico, has just returned to Lake Wales, Fla., and reports that his program is moving along in fine order. George Pawel, another one of our luxuriating Classmates, reports from Norris, Tenn., saying he had a Reunion with Ed MacNaughton with fine luck on fishing, boating, and bathing. Charles M. (Chuck) Chuckrow was spotted by a Classmate with a taxicab full of grandchildren apparently riding home from the St. Patrick's day parade. For Classmates seeking authentic prophecy regarding winners of the 1957 World Series, please consult Bert Luce who has become a one hundred per cent prophesier.

I know you will all be interested in a letter just received, dated March 17, from Jack (Albert) Horner in Kapaa, Kauai, Hawaii. Jack and his wife, Phyllis, had a very close escape when the huge tidal wave of March 9 hit the shores of the property on which his home is located. The warning came to them by phone that morning and . . . I'll let him tell it:

"As we were just sitting down to breakfast, we sat down and ate fast, and thought faster. After a rush breakfast I went around the first floor placing everything movable, rugs, fur-rugs, etc., etc., up on tables, and any other higher places, but the amount we could so move and place was limited. Phyllis was similarly engaged with smaller valuable things. Then we went onto the front lanai, having turned off the electric current into the house, and with my car beside us on the lawn with the radio on. Predictions were that the wave would strike between quarter of, and nine o'clock. Well, that's when we saw it coming. I drove the car around in back of the house while Phyllis rushed through to call the maid from upstairs. Then she came into the car. But the maid, an elderly woman, didn't come and didn't come despite our yells and horn blowings. But the tidal wave did come, and by the time the maid finally arrived the car was too submerged and could not move. Water was rushing by in front and behind us. We got a full dose of water, but being in the elbow of the house were protected a little from the full direct force of the rushing water. Since the car couldn't move I tried a few photos with a camera that had been submerged in the car along with two others. The photos were complete failures. Then another wave came back, this time still deeper. If we had been caught on the way to the gate we probably would have succumbed, but, as I said, the elbow of the house protected us. A very, very close shave.

"When we could get into the house again we found damage everywhere. The front wall of the dining room and living room was burst open and partially gone. Furnishings, the Koa wood dining room set had legs broken, as did other furniture. The grand piano was submerged and its action is already in Honolulu for reconstruction. Lanai furniture was saturated, that was not washed away. Some was later found in front of Coco Palm Lodge across the bay, and some a quarter mile from the beach in the pasture. Shrubs and napaka vines and the stream were filled with all kinds of objects. Books from the library shelves were missing. My whole astronomy set, technical gun books, Kipling, Dumas, and others have completely disappeared. Every piece of remaining furniture was all splintered and scratched, and the springs have all since rusted and stained the furniture. Some furniture has disappeared forever, as well as lamps, etc., etc. We had no water, no gas for the stove as the gas tank had been carried across the yard, no telephone, no radio in the house or auto, no electricity to run the water heater, laundry machine, ice box, deep freeze, and other things. We were completely limp, and dark at night.

"One think I am happy to report. I never knew we had so many friends. Starting right after the tidal wave, people helped of all ages, from little girls and boy scouts to oldsters, as many as fifty on a single day. . . . It's good to know that through the years we have lived on Kauai, people have felt toward us as they demonstrated."

There were more details in the letter, but I have used up my allotted space for the column. The physical damage to his property has been terrific, but, Jack, we are all thankful that all of you escaped without personal injury. And we admire the determination expressed in the closing lines of your letter: "We will have to, and we will, dig ourselves out of the pit into which we have fallen." That's the spirit!

Adding even more color to a colorful Class, Tommy Boak, after moving from Bristol, Conn., to Reno for a while, took unto himself for wife Miss Josephine Russell, of Waterbury, Conn., who happens to be sister to Rosalind Russell. He wrote me a nice "fan letter" on my last "Letter from Cornell." I've been snowed under with such mail, from the '90s to the '50s, just as we were getting ready to leave, so if any stray readers of these words don't get an acknowledgement they will know why. Chuck Bassett shared a visit he had with Andrew D. in our undergraduate days. Spike Murray wrote on the stationery of Crescent Insulated Wire & Cable Co. (C. Edward Murray, Jr., Pres.) of Trenton 5, N.J. Harry Cornet, of Cornet & Zeibig, Inc., (real estate since 1888), of 37 N. Meramec Ave., St. Louis 5, Mo., regretted that he hadn't had his fourth year with us; he got his degree in the then three-year Law course. Ramsay Spillman was up in arms about my quitting. Bill Friedman (our star cryptologist) hoped from Washington that I would take retirement with better grace than he has his medically-enforced one, though he is slowly becoming better adjusted. Don't worry, William.

H. Deane (Phil) Phillips, 49 Winne Road, Delmar, retired March 31, 1956, from his position in charge of the Market News Service, Bureau of Markets, N.Y.S.D.A. & M., after 35 years of service. He won national recognition for his writing on marketing topics. He came to us a Junior, already possessing a degree from Oberlin, took the BSA in '14, and the AM in '23. An instructor in the Dept. of Rural Economics, he left here in 1917 with one of the first contingents to Camp Dix to enlist in the Field Artillery, rising to first lieut in our war, which meant he was an officer. Nowadays, a first lieut rates about with one of our sergeants. (Happencstance—I was a first lieut.) He was called to Albany May 1, 1919, and was shortly afterward named director of the Bureau of Markets.

I have an accumulation of items on Tom Milliman of Ithaca. Most impressive is a folder, which shows his phiz and reads as follows: "Thomas Everal Milliman, farmer, agronomist, one-time county agent, you have been aptly called an incorrigible experimenter. With zeal and enthusiasm, with energy and ingenuity, you have been a consistent innovator both on your own farm and in your business activities. Many farm practices taken for granted today were originated by you. Today's more efficient use of lime and fertilizer on superior crop varieties is largely a product of your leadership. You have been a consistent supporter of research not only at your Alma Mater, but at Rutgers and Penn State as well. Northeastern agriculture stands eternally in your debt. In recognition of your distinguished service to farmers, I am privileged to confer upon you the Rutgers University Award, of which this medal is the symbol. It bears the inscription: 'Awarded to Thomas Everal Milliman, August 23, 1956, for devotion to research.' Lewis Webster Jones, President." Tom was retired at 65, April 1, 1955, from the position of director of research at the Cooperative GLF Exchange, Inc. and was requested to write a history of that organization, so he is now its historian, consultant for several farming and marketing enterprises in the U.S., Canada, and England, and a columnist for the American Agriculturist. I see him regularly at Rotary.

There are a few '15ers who manage to get up to Ithaca every June for Reunion. This select group of perennials feels that their high level carryings-on during the Reunion are beyond the comprehension of us lay members of the Class. At least this seems to be the case—otherwise some news would be provided for use in this column (Chuck Colyer, please note).

P. F. Halsey, Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., Newport News, Va.: "Have been with the above company since graduation. W. E. Blewett '18 is president of the company; Ken Peebles '16 is vice-president; J. A. Maclay is chief inspector; and yours truly is superintendent, steel hull division. Saw Arthur Hildebrandt at Naval Architects' Society meeting in New York in November; Ken Kirby visited here recently."

D. P. Morse, Jr., 3 Sanborn Place, Winchester, Mass. writes: "One new grandson—Stephen J. Allen—son of daughter Ruthie and James J. Allen, both Cornell '53."

Winslow R. Cuthbert, 1941 University, Eugene, Ore.: "For you aged or ageless '15ers—While visiting a son in the US Forest Service at Rigdon Ranger Station last summer, he brought over a youngster who had come to Oregon for a summer job and said, 'Dad, meet a New Yorker, now in Cornell.' I asked the boy his year. '1957,' he said, and politely asked mine. '1915.' He was silent a second, then slapped the palm of his hand against his forehead and exploded, 'J—C—, was the place founded then?' I have a younger boy there now."

Charles P. Clark, Skaneateles: "Is anyone of the Class raising dogs? We lost Tee Fee our Great Dane last fall and are looking for a pup, bloodhound preferred. Suggestions for a name are in order. Perhaps Davy would be appropriate."

John M. Rogers, 1055 Norman Place, Los Angeles 49, Cal.: "Retired after 25 years with Douglas Aircraft Co. Presently manager West Coast office, Reaction Motors, Inc., and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., high energy fuels division."

CLASS REUNIONS IN ITHACA, JUNE 7 & 8

'97, '02, '07, '12, '17, '22, '27, '32, '37, '42, '47, '52, '54

Wilbur F. Brown, 3744 Brookside Road, Toledo 6, Ohio: "Son, Wilbur Jr. just received his degree in animal husbandry at Colorado A&M, is in Naval Officer Candidate School at Newport, R.I. Daughter Louise is a junior at Wellesley, will spend summer of '57 in Europe. Me? Still practicing chemistry and chemical engineering."

Arthur W. Cobbett, "Halfacre," Coopers-town: "Have one suggestion which affects, at least, us oldsters. Some group is monkeying with our colors; I have seen an awful lot of maroon in our sweaters and jackets lately. Carnellian is a clear red, not a maroon. Cut it out. Otherwise everything is rosey and better than ever on the Hill."

Robert L. Glose, 701 Amberson Avenue, Pittsburgh 32, Pa.: "Retired as of last day of 1956. Be glad to hear from, or better still, see any of my old friends if and when they hit Pittsburgh."

Walter R. Ungast, 211 Penrose Street, Quakertown, Pa.: "Completed twenty-eight years service December 31, 1956; retired as sales representative for Allied Mills, Inc. The territory included Lehigh, Northampton, Carbon, Munroe, Berks, and Pike Counties in Pennsylvania. Future plans include a trip to California to visit my daughter, Mrs. Melvin Garrison, who is teaching in the Orange California Schools."

Perry C. Euchner of Geneseo: "My eldest son, P. C. Euchner, Jr. '48, has a son, James Andrews Euchner, born in June, 1956. And a younger son James A. Euchner, also '48 (now spelling his name as it is pronounced, Eichner) is now assistant city attorney of the City of Richmond, Va. All told, we now have two granddaughters and two grandsons, all headed for Cornell."

Here's your old busybody called in from the bullpen to throw a few curves ad interim. Fact of the matter is that Harry is bedded down in St. Clair Hospital and is said to be comfortably resting on a pink cloud. Reports are bright for an early return, so don't get discouraged boys. I'll be through here quickly and spare you from too much boredom.

Bub's afraid to let the column go to hay for more than one issue. Why? I dunno, unless it's the youth movement, trying to keep the sophomore fires burning in those old mummified '16 carcasses. It's tough fellows, it's tough. Even tougher on the editors. It's gotten Harry down, so very briefly I'll go back to that old bench and continue my whittling.

Just want to give you a little news that has come along, not very much to be sure, but still very pleasing. First, we saw a picture of Booty Hunkin the other night on the financial page of the N.Y. Telegram. It said he had been nominated for election as a director by Republic Steel Corp. effective at the annual meeting May 2. Kinda looks as if Booty is going to be a pretty busy man after he decides to settle down in Florida sooner or later. Well, traveling to directors' meeting of this magnitude ain't such bad work (if you can get it).

Ran across an interview conducted by the Sunday Patriot-News of Harrisburg, Pa., with Harlowe Hardinge under the headline, "Harlow Hardinge is Typical New Type U.S. Industrialist." "Harlowe [it says] is not so much the lone-wolf individualist; he is more the specialist and the team-plan man. Politically, he is just as conservative as his predecessors, but he is more soft spoken and more conscious of good public relations. He is not only boss of his company, he is also its chief inventor, developer of new processes and contact with other leading lights in his field all over the world. Over the last few decades more than 100 patented inventions have come from what he calls 'my extra-curricular activity'." Harlowe is president and chief executive of Hardinge Co., Inc., York, Pa., manufacturers of the heavy equipment that processes raw material ores.

Returning from Ocha Rios, Jamaica, B.W.I. last December, where we ran into Birge Kinne, we stopped over a few days in Florida. Rented a car and looked the place over and went up to Palm Beach to visit Bob Dahn. He has a lovely home there and his hospitality made us most envious of the life down there. Bob looks great and appears to be quite prosperous.

That's all I know. Hope it pleases Bub and that it finds all of you well and happy.

Larchmont, N.Y.

Some weeks ago, in an effort to develop news items for this column, letters were written to four or five Classmates in various parts of the country. There have been two replies thus far.

Frank B. Bateman, 243 South County Road, Palm Beach, Fla., was kind enough to take time from a busy schedule to write that he and several others in the investment banking field have organized the Florida Growth Fund. One of the co-founders with Frank is Classmate Franklin P. O'Brien, vice-president of G. D. Searle & Co., Chicago, Ill. Several other prominent financial figures are associated in this investment group designed to participate in Florida's dramatic growth. Good luck, you all! Frank's beautiful daughter, Barbara, was married to Alexander Andrews, Jr. in Palm Beach March 24.

Seth W. Heartfield, 2030 Harford Road, Baltimore 18, Md., was also kind enough to reply to my letter and commented on a vacation trip to Florida where he met at Fort Lauderdale Walter C. Dyer '07, who is returning to Ithaca in June for his 50th Reunion. Seth also visited Dan Tuller '09 at Del Ray. Seth says: "As for me, I haven't been able to do anything much but work lately. December 1, we took over Colonial Ice Cream Co. in Washington and are planning to merge into it other business which we have in the same territory. We recently transferred my son, Seth, Jr. '46, over to Washington as vice-president and manager of our operations there. We had an industry meeting there one night . . . attended by Charlie Krey '19." Many thanks Seth!

Edmond N. Carples of Rocky Hill, N.J. phoned me and disclosed that he has sold his property near Princeton and in due time will build a home in Vero Beach, Fla., to which he will eventually retire, whenever that time comes. Meantime, the big news in the Carples family concerns daughter Anna who is majoring in music and graduating in June from Wheaton College. She will be married June 28 to Collins Denny, Princeton '55 cum laude. Looks like a busy spring for the Carples. By the way Ed, who's going to run our Class luncheon and dinner parties if you go off to Florida like all the rest of the old guys?

Charles S. Thomas, Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D.C.—In response to Ed Carples' invitation to attend the April 24 Dinner at the Cornell Club, Ed received a very cordial reply which reads in part as follows: "I should have been very pleased to accept this invitation but, as you probably know, I am retiring from this office April 1 and returning to my home in California and will therefore not be in this part of the country at that time. Nevertheless, my thanks and I hope you have a very successful dinner. With kindest regards, Sincerely, Charles S. Thomas."

Aaron Kaufman, 42 Highland Avenue, Elizabeth, N.J.—In replying to Loyd Bemis's request for dues, Aaron sent in $25, saying "I'm gambling that the good Lord will spare me for five more years. If not, give the balance to the benefit of some deserving member." Spoken like a gentleman and scholar, but stick around, old boy.

'20 Orville G. Daily
604 Melrose Avenue
Kenilworth, Ill.

This may be May to you, but May is many a day away as we swing and sway in the balmy breezes off'n Delray and try to say something original and gay about guys that are gray, bald or toupayed; but try as we may, without any pay, the spirit sayeth nay—we'd much rather play!

On the last bright Satiddy in March, in fashionable Fifth Avenue's Christ Church, Frank E. (Pop) Wade was married to Mrs. Katherine Kindred. The happy youngsters were soon winging their way to Nassau and other spots in paradise. Among the sixteen Cornellians who helped to tie the knot securely were Henry Benisch (who didn't play O, Promise Me) Dick Edson, Johnny Pfeuger, Dud Nostrand, and Spitz Davies '21. A few hours later, the Edsons decided it was time for a second honeymoon, and headed towards what turned out to be our rendezvous.

Don't ever go through Ft. Pierce, Fla. without stopping at the Sign of the Blue Goose to see our regional Veep E. W. (Pete) Lins, Eastern manager of American National Growers Ass'n. He makes a noise like business even on Saturday, when we dragged him from his desk to have a business man's lunch and pick up a few crumbs of news. Outside of nearly getting Santa Claus pinched for nudity, Pete's an active guy in community affairs, and the local hospital will get efficient administration now that he's on the board. He also squeezes in a few minutes per day to get Sunshine Pools, Inc. established as a sideline. 3000 miles of ocean at your doorstep isn't enough—you gotta have a pool in the front yard too. He's pretty convincing!

Old home week got into full swing at Pompano Beach when Kass and Dick Edson eased into town and found Kathie and O. G. Daily (that's me) close by at Delray Beach. In no time at all Aggie and Henry Cundell were added, plus Class outing pictures, stories, and choice bits of news of everybody we could talk about. Incidentally, Hank Cundell, the roving realtor, is now with Southeastern Investment Co. of Ft. Lauderdale, specializing in income and investment Florida properties only. Hank doesn't really change his business connection frequently just to get the notice in this column, but he would be delighted to see any Classmate passing through Pompano Beach. Believe me, he'll make you welcome!

The engaging smile of Trustee Bill Littlewood appeared recently in the Christian Science Monitor together with a fine article honoring American Airlines, of which he is vice-president, as a leader in the airline industry, and giving Bill full credit for his primary contribution to the development of the DC-3, built to his specifications, and many later models which have standardized commercial air transport in America. The Class is proud to see Bill get international recognition for his great contributions to the air industry and mankind. Veep George Stanton, realtor of Montclair, N.J., who had a fling at bone fishing recently down on the Keys, advises that Bill Littlewood will be the honored speaker at the annual dinner of the Cornell Club of Essex County at Mayfair Farms, West Orange, N.J., May 22. Write George for a reservation if you can go.

That other intrepid fisherman, Joe Diamant, our bonded treasurer, was deep in the heart of the Everglades, or somewhere in Florida where we couldn't find him. We whipped a few of the usual varieties out of the gulfstream, including ½ a sailfish. We split it with a shark!

Our Hats-Off Dept. this month salutes Dr. Raymond O. Hitchcock, who has done as much for humanity as his famous stage namesake. Ray has practiced medicine and surgery in the Village of Alfred for thirty years. Last year, the whole town held a reception to honor his service to the community, awarding him a suitably engraved watch in recognition. Two of Doc's five sons are in pharmaceutical practice, one studying professional photography at Rochester, and two still at home. In spite of a handicap of spinal arthritis for ten years, Doc has continued his practice. Congratulations Doc!

I'll be comin' back up Nawth soon, with the flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la!

'21 George A. Boyd
80 Maiden Lane
New York 38, N.Y.

Since 1930, when he left these parts for the West Coast, Edward Wilson has been a resident of Los Angeles, returning only once for a short trip three years ago. Ed is a liaison engineer on Lockheed's "Constellation," working the swing shift. This leaves him time for his own business of making water softeners for self-service laundries and swimming pool filters for friends and associates who want them. Ed and wife Emily were married thirty years ago come June. There are no children. Classmate Thomas Sauters is something of a neighbor, and Ed would be delighted to see some others from the East. For the benefit of any such who are passing through Los Angeles, Ed's juicy address is 1284 South Citrus Ave.

The State of Texas is a great market for tools for the extraction and handling of oil. Such are provided by J. Arvid Peterson. Pete lives at 156 Santa Fe Drive, Houston 17, and boasts a "tribe" consisting of wife, three daughters and six grandchildren. At the northern extremity of the U.S. dwells Donald C. Fabel, 2411 Edgerton Road, Cleveland Heights, Ohio. Don and wife returned just before Christmas from a three-month business and pleasure trip to England, Germany, Austria, and France. Not to leave out any of the four points of the compass, there is Washington, D.C. where a visitor to the Legislative Reference Service, Library of Congress, may observe W. Brooke Graves, presumably furnishing our law makers with material for the mills on Capitol Hill.

Noteworthy for old codgers like ourselves is the fact that George H. (Pat) Thornton of 1400 North Broad St., Philadelphia, Pa., still plays tennis and top flight ice hockey, and with experts, Pat played with Tilden, Richards, and other tennis greats when in their prime. Since then he has built up single-handed the largest automobile dealer agency in Philadelphia, representing the Chrysler line. During the war he constructed machines and vehicles for the armed services. Lest Pat be aghast at the thought that he will be considered immodest, it is only fair to state that the information came from elsewhere.

Our Reunion chairman's name appeared in a column entitled "The Roman Rambler" in the March 22 Paris edition of the New York Herald Tribune: "Paper-maker Anthony Gaccione, a Cornell man, strolling through the ruins of Ostia Antica, bumped into Prof. Felix Reichmann of the Cornell Library, with whom he had shared a table at the library fund-raising dinner at Ithaca a year ago." A phone call to Tony's office disclosed that his return is scheduled for April 18, too late for this issue to carry more details. However, it is known that he spent most of his two-month vacation doing a thorough survey of Italy, with side excursions to the French Riviera and Innsbruck.

'22—Frank W. Lake, 310 Leggett Building, Midland, Tex., is executive vice-president of Wilshire Oil Co. of Texas. He writes that he expects to take in the Thirty-five-year Reunion en route to a vacation in the Scandinavian countries.

'23 Dr. George J. Young
Chamberlaine, Me.

Your roving reporter, George J. (Yap) Young, lives up to his title. His voting address is 60 Maple Avenue, Morristown, N.J., but his voting is done by absentee ballot, as he is seldom there. Illness in 1952 forced his retirement, so from May to December he enjoys the peace and quiet of Chamberlaine, Me. (Willis Wing please note), and he winters on Cape Cod at West Harwich, Mass.

It's hard enough to get behind the Iron Curtain, but to be invited there—oh, brother. Yet that's just what happened to Dr. Irving S. Wright, 25 East End Avenue, New York City, professor of Clinical Medicine at the Cornell Medical College. Last September, Irv was honored to receive, and accepted, an invitation to go to Moscow to participate as an honored guest of the Fourteenth Congress of Internal Medicine of the USSR. One of his most cherished experiences was attending a discussion of the harmful effects of excess fat and alcohol to the circulatory system while guzzling vodka to wash down quantities of caviar.

Sit ye, grandfathers, rock and think. William L. Davidson, 715 Greenwood Road, Union, N.J., has one grandson. Stuart S. Donaldson, Box 1089, Newhall, Cal., has one, too, with another on order. Ernest R. Lowrey, 2315 Lindenleaf Drive, Glenview, Ill., is no piker with three. Arthur V. Nims, who gives an address (probably business) of 65 Broadway, New York City, lays claim to three, as does Percy H. Winch, 704 West Crystal Lake Drive, Haddonfield, N.J. But ah, the champion—Kenneth B. Spear, Box 251, Rocky Hill, N.J., has to baby-sit to six of them, five girls and one boy. Can anybody top that?

Is model railroading your hobby? If it is, you probably subscribe to the National Model Railroad Association monthly Bulletin. But did you know that Thomas K. Salmon, 44 Park Avenue, Yonkers, edits, as an avocation, this widely read pamphlet, which is sent to 10,000 members in forty nations? Kin is telegraph and news editor of the Yonkers Herald-Statesman.

Don't bother to repair that old coal furnace. Irvin McChesney, 8 Trowbridge Trail, Pittsford, manager of nuclear research of Rochester Gas & Electric Co., reports in the Wall Street Journal that it is "reasonable to expect that nuclear power plants can compete with coal-fired plants of equal size by the mid-1960's"

Nelson Schaeen, East Oak Street, Basking Ridge, N.J., ignores the round figures of the report of the 20th Reunion of the Princeton class of '36, which showed that the class had gained 3½ tons since graduation. Nels writes that he is within five pounds of his rowing weight, but he's bald.

Are you an amateur radio fan? If you are, tune in on W3NAD. That's Carroll Barbour, Ridge Lane, Park Ridge, Media 20, Pa. Ted is still with Atlantic Refining Co. in the research and development department. He has one son attending Westchester State Teachers College.

James W. Johnstone, Route 1, Box 122, Melfa, Va., is with Rumsey Electric Co. of Philadelphia, a company founded over sixty years ago by the Rumsey brothers, both Cornell graduates in Electrical Engineering. Jim too, is in the Class race for grandchildren, with three, and another expected soon, and he thinks he will be of the Class of '78 to help us celebrate our Fifty-fifth Reunion. Jim's son, Jim, Jr., is Class of '45.

George E. Quinn, 192 Central Avenue, Bogota, N.J., has a daughter, Betty, in the Class of '57; another daughter, Edith, graduated in '52.

William C. Kinsolving, 1608 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., president of Sun Pipe Line Co., is looking forward to getting away from pipelining to attend our Reunion next year. He says it seems hardly possible that it is the 35th, but it is, Bill, it is.

Don't forget—make a date for '58.

Arthur J. Keffe, AB, LLB, resides at 3505 T St. NW, Washington, D.C. He is professor of law at Catholic University of America Law School and modestly refers to the "general nature of his business" as

"egg-head." He is married and has three children. Son John was '50, Stephen '57 attended the Hotel School, and 14-year-old Mary Ellen is apparently Cornell bound. There is one grandchild, Virginia Frances, age 3. Art writes a monthly column in the American Bar Association Journal and has authored many law review articles, and one Readers Digest piece titled "Drumhead Justice—A Look At Our Military Courts." As president of the US Navy Court Martial Sentence Review Board he reviewed some 2500 World War II cases and his board wrote a reform report preceding the Code of Military Justice. He is a member of the Association of University Professors, the American Bar Association, Association of the Bar of the City of New York and other professional groups. Recently, Art acted as counsel to Senators Kefauver, O'Mahoney, and Langer on the Dixon-Yates hearings and wrote the staff report of the US Senate Judiciary Committee's Subcommittee on Antitrust & Monopoly.

Frederick E. Burnham, ME, is in the industrial engineering dept. of Carrier Corp., makers of water heaters, furnaces, and air conditioning equipment. He lives at 361 E. Pinehurst Ave., LaHabra, Cal. His business address is 700 Royal Oaks Ave., Monrovia, Cal. He is married and has three sons and three grandchildren. Son Thomas attended University of Arizona and is now in the Navy. Fred reports that he is a member of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Assn. and has a Cessna "170" in which he enjoys flying friends and neighbors. He says he would be very happy to see other '24 members in Southern California. He has attended several meetings of the Cornell Club of Southern California and has enjoyed meeting some nice Cornell people, but says their locations are a little hard for him to reach regularly.

Silas W. Pickering II, ME, surprised and delighted old friends at the Cornell Club in New York several months ago by appearing in the role of a resident New Yorker. He is associated with Union Carbide & Carbon Corp., 30 East 42d St., New York City. He resides at 1111 Park Avenue, New York City 28. Si is married and has a son, Silas III '52, and a daughter Marie Louise. His move to New York climaxed 32 years' residence in Charleston, W.Va., where he belonged to the Edgewood Country Club and the Charleston Press Club.

Frank L. Thompson, CE, is a member of the New York City Board of Water Supply, which is responsible for the engineering construction of water supply facilities for the city. He also has his own business as a consulting engineer. The Board offices are at 120 Wall St. and his home is at 85-14 150th St., Jamaica 35. Frank is married and has two daughters, Judith Ann '60 and Carolyn Jean. He is active in the Queen's County Tuberculosis Assn. and is a member of the Amer. Society of Civil Engineers.

It was a pleasure to entertain our new Class president, Harry V. Wade, and our treasurer, Eugene M. Kaufmann, when they were in town for the 9th Annual Management Conference sponsored by the students of the Graduate School of Business & Public Administration. Gene is a member of the advisory committee of the School. Our new Class secretary, G. Schuyler Tarbell, was in town at the same time.

Herbert A. Lewis, director of outside plant development of Bell Telephone Laboratories, recently gave an illustrated lecture, sponsored by the Cornell chapter of Sigma Xi here on Campus. His topic was the transatlantic cable project completed last fall. He was responsible for its transmission design and equipment development. Herb has been with Bell since graduation and during the war was concerned with the mechanical design of military radar systems and later directed transmission and equipment development for various carrier telephone systems. His home address is Tall Oaks, Division Avenue, Summit, N.J.

Irving J. Bland, 201 Main Street, White Plains, advises that he is still busy in the practice of law. His oldest boy, Ron, is a senior at Yale. Irv thoroughly enjoyed our 30th Reunion last June and reports he occasionally meets up with Art Strauss, Elmer Fingar, and a few other Classmates in and about White Plains.

Alf K. Berle reports that since 1950 he has been a consulting engineer in technical product research and development. He also represents the Cleveland Ohio firm, Designers for Industry, Engineers, in the six New England States. He has resided in Dedham, Mass., since 1940. He has a son, Roger K., 14, who attends Noble & Greenough School. Alf's address is 35 Westfield Street, Dedham.

William S. Loeb is vice-president of Wilkening Mfg. Co., makers of Pedrick Piston Rings and Mr. Wiggle toys. He reports that he has three boys, one of whom graduated from Trinity College last June, the second a sophomore at Middlebury College, and the third in 4th grade at William Penn Charter School in Philadelphia. Bill's address is 827 N. Mt. Pleasant Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

Eugene L. Lehr, 9902 Thornwood Rd., Kensington, Md., writes that he and his wife (Frances Howard '26) became grandparents last fall. They hope that the grandchild will be a prospect for Cornell, although his father, an ex-Navy man, has different ideas, favoring Annapolis. With proper influence, Gene hopes that the right decision can be made at the appropriate time!

Nat P. Turner has been a partner in the consulting engineering firm of Freese, Nichols & Turner for 11 years in Houston. His address is 2111 C & I Life Building, Houston, Tex.

Richard H. Wile writes that he is busily engaged in getting his new home ready for occupancy and in working hard to pay for it. Dick is an attorney with Saperston, McNaughton & Saperston in Buffalo. His home address is 59 Saybrook Place, Buffalo.

Ballantine brews the flavor in beer today...

Pres., Carl W. Badenhause, Cornell '16 Exec. Vice Pres., Otto A. Badenhause, Cornell '17

Enjoy the liveliest taste in town!

It takes more than good brewing to make good beer! It takes Nature's choicest hops and barley, grown in selected fields. Ballantine taps all their natural goodness — with an art handed down through six generations of brewing perfectionists. No wonder this is honest-to-goodness beer! Taste the wonderful difference!

directory, and to make preliminary preparations for our 30th Reunion next year.

Philip Will, Jr. (above), one of the senior partners of the architectural firm of Perkins & Will, Chicago, Ill., recently was the guest speaker at a luncheon of the Real Estate Board of Chicago. He spoke on the architectural development of the Cornell Campus, illustrating his talk with models and pictures. Another Cornellian, Lawrence B. Perkins '31, is also senior partner of this nationally known firm. They were the architects for Phillips Hall and the work on our new Engineering Campus will continue under their direction, with Carpenter Hall and Upson Hall well under way, and plans for other buildings in various working stages. Phil writes, "I doubt that everything will be completed by our 30th Reunion, but it should be far enough along so that '28 will be able to get a pretty good idea of this major development on the Campus." Perkins & Will also have an office in White Plains.

Phil, who is the son of Philip Will '00, is president of the Alumni Association of the College of Architecture. He is junior vice-president of the American Institute of Architects and is a candidate for re-election in May. According to Phil, his golfing is still class "B" and his photography definitely amateur. He has a daughter who is a freshman at Mt. Holyoke, and hopes that his son, now a high school junior, will select Cornell in 1958. Phil maintains his residence at 2949 Harrison Street, Evanston, Ill.

The annual Class dinner will be held on Tuesday evening, May 7, at 7 p.m., at the Cornell Club of New York. No speeches, no solicitations, no fund raising—just good food, good songs, and good fellowship. Drinks will be on hand from 6 o'clock—Dutch Treat. A full course dinner will be served at 7 o'clock—$5.50 including tax and tips. Come and enjoy this Reunion with your Classmates. The last two or three have been very well attended and everyone had a good time. Send your reservation today to Tom Wyman, 50 Church Street, New York City 7, and we will do the rest.

'29 ME—James W. Crofoot, 1010 Han-shaw Road, Ithaca, has been named to the National Defense Executive Reserve in the US Commerce Department. The group comprises a training corps which would serve the government without pay in the event of a future emergency. Crofoot is with the Cooperative GLF Exchange, Inc.

Every now and then we run into a grand collection of different facts on the doings of Classmates. They fit no set pattern. They are news and so—here we go again, but first a plug for William E. Brainard and his need for all to send in to the Cornell Fund. Do it now.

John A. Pruyn, '32 BArch, has been promoted to vice-president of Paul Tishman General Contractor, Inc. He had joined the firm in mid-1956. John will have general management responsibilities as well as planning the substantial volume of urban redevelopment work the organization now has under contract. John was in the prefabricated housing industry and in private practice until 1937; was associated with the physical plant department of University of Illinois from 1937-40; was with Contractors Pacific Naval Air Bases to 1944 and was chief engineer of the Byrne organization until 1947, both working on shore facilities in the Central and South Pacific; and was with Howard T. Fisher & Associates from 1947-56 and was president of that firm the last five years. His address is 115 East 67th Street, New York City 21.

Francis J. Principe, CE, president of Principe-Danna, Inc., ready-mix concrete, has been elected president of the Doberman Pinscher Club of Connecticut and New York. His son, Lee James, who was at our last Reunion, is now a Freshman in Civil Engineering. We hope to see Frank soon, as he is supplying concrete for our plant expansion. He lives at 53-148 63 Street, Maspeth 78.

Samuel Gorlick, AB, Burbank city attorney, was recently elected president of the Burbank Bar Association. He resides at 730 Andover Drive, Burbank, Cal.

Jack M. Colgan, BArch, is a member of the firm of Schofield (George M. Schofield '28) & Colgan, architects, doing business in Rockland County. He states that the Tappan Zee Bridge of the Thruway has started a boom in the area. Jack lives on North Broadway, Upper Nyack.

Edwin A. Courtney, CE, 505 N. Spruce Street, Hammond, La., is in the consulting game for mineral rights in the Louisiana area. He travels a bit and says he keeps busy. He also sees some of our Classmates. The latest were S. B. Schreuder and Russell L. Lawson.

Robert L. Gibson, Jr., ME, is flying as captain on PAA routes through Central and South America. He has one son in pre-law and another just starting engineering, in University of Florida. His wife and two daughters complete the family. They live at 8825 N. Bayshore Drive, Miami 38, Fla.

We recently came across a note from Frank L. O'Brien written some time ago. The news is interesting even though late. It seems that Robert & Mary Liversidge took their three children to Europe after Reunion last year. They had return reservations on the Andrea Doria, but stayed an extra week, cancelling the Doria sailing. It seems the kids were disappointed after the Doria sinking news broke: Gee—look what we missed!

We will miss this issue if we don't wind this up now. More in the next issue.

'33 ME—Ronald C. Brown, Mountain View Manor, Fishkill, is an engineering administrator in the military products division of International Business Machines Corp. We're hoping in our next column to bring you as up to date as possible regarding Reunion plans and events. Chairman Stu Waring reports an increasing tempo of enthusiasm and we have been in communication with the distaff side of the Class as well. In the meantime, there are a few personal items of interest.

Class President Ed Zalinski is now executive vice-president and director of Life Insurance Co. of North America, whose home office is at 1600 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Ed had resigned as vice-president of John Hancock to accept this new and challenging position.

We saw Jim Nolan in Paris recently. Jim has been public relations manager in Europe for TWA for the last several years. You may have seen TWA's Travel Guides to Europe, which Jim originated and edited. He was leaving shortly for the States with reference to a change of jobs. Said he hoped to see Mel Shavelson on the West Coast while he was there.

Edwin R. Webster lives with his wife and four children at 320 Rhinecliff Drive, Rochester. He has been appointed food service administrator at University of Rochester.

Dr. Walter J. Kauzmann, of the department of chemistry at Princeton University, will not be able to make our Reunion this year. Walt is working at the Carlsberg Laboratory in Copenhagen until early in September.

John Barton still lives in Montour Falls, but is now treasurer of Seneca Engineering Co. in that city as well as a member of the school board and a director of Montour National Bank. Johnnie writes he has heard from Abdul Kadir Khayyat who is hoping to come on from Baghdad for Reunion. John would like very much to hear from or about Phil Stevens, his old Cornell roommate.

A note from Bill Peter of Cleveland, Ohio, says that he and his wife, together with Al Wolff and his wife, are planning to attend Reunion and that they are working on some others in the Cleveland area.

Having completed the over-all portrait of the Class of 1938, Nineteen Years Later, we can now break it down into its individual parts and find out some of the straight (or, in some cases, evasive) answers to the year-end question we asked: "What's the most exciting thing that's happened to you this year?"

Dick Cowen: "Just finished a 4000-foot color & sound movie from the bottom of Grand Canyon to the remote interior of Mexico—all for fun, with my wife Bobby."

Carl Paurowski (who waited 'til this year for his excitement): "It happened this afternoon, March 28: I became the father of a 7-pound, 13-ounce baby boy. His name is Jimmie, and I hope he goes to Cornell. From his present proportions he ought to make a fine lineman."

Paul Palmer: "I have never sent any info to you relative to my activities or whereabouts. Regarding the above-mentioned question—I tied Eddie Cantor, and that really is exciting. Their names and ages: Sylvia, 15, Diana, 12, Vicki, 9, Constance, 2, and Rebecca, 2 mos. Their mother: Genevieve Cothran '39. Our address: 1505 Beach Dr., NE, St. Petersburg, Fla. I'm a broker with Curtis Merkel Investment Co."

Bob Havner: "I should tell you that on a post-card? Seriously, please change my address to: 29 Birchbrook Rd., Bronxville."

Andy Hartnett: "Me, I joined the Army & Navy Club of Washington, D.C., last March. Maybe I am the only Marine in the Class." Bill Orr: "Darned little exciting has happened to me in a long time. But I did build a new house for myself and family (3 children—12, 9, and 4) at Lewiston Hts. (across the street from the old homestead) and so far have managed to keep up the mortgage payments and taxes. I've been attorney for Niagara County Savings Bank, Niagara Falls, since my father died in December, 1953."

Jim Wilcox: "Happily, nothing unusual!" George Wilder: "I flew down to Ithaca for Reunion, but failed to see one Classmate. Spent most of my time with the Class of '36 and enjoyed dinner with the gang from '41. See you in '58!" Will Case (answered by his wife Ethel): "Will's oldest daughter Phyllis (17) won one of the American Field Service scholarships to be an exchange student and live in Vienna, Austria, for the summer. Incidentally, she hopes to be a member of next year's Freshman Class at Cornell. Second generation coming up! Will is so busy with his own business, he'd never find time to write."

Joe Noback: "Life insurance article entitled 'Settlement Option Flexibility by Contract Right,' published in the CLU Journal. Describes new program of Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. Note change in address: 2305 Rockway Lane E., Brookfield, Wis." Red Jamison: "Nothing yet! Darn it. Will let you know later." Ed Dorr: "After spending seven months in Syracuse on rotational assignment for Esso Standard Oil Co. as Syracuse district mgr., I was transferred back to the New York City area, as acting New York City district mgr. I spent most of the summer in Syracuse, while my wife and 4 daughters visited the great State of Texas."

Phil Mickle: "New address: P.O. Box 354, Chatham. Moved to place in country—vintage 1825. Acquired pony to occupy 4 children previously acquired!" Gus Reylet: "(1) January cruise on the Grace Line to S.A. and Caribbean. (2) April, several weeks in Florida. (3) Arrival home last night (Nov. 15) from 2 wonderful weeks in Acapulco and Mexico City. (4) Club, catering, 5 children keep us busy the balance." Ed Lanman: "I hope you will get a chance to mention about Marion—died Aug. 10, 1955."

Fred Kellogg: "Just got back from Hotel Show. Stayed with Reed Seeley, who is leaving to manage Hotel Balmoral, Miami Beach. Saw Jim Rocky, Jack Reber, George Fauerbach, Hal Jewett, Ed Ramage, and many others." Jack Candee: "Changed jobs! Oct. 1, I became a manufacturer's representative, representing 5 manufacturers of loose-leaf binders, covers, folders, acetate products, etc. I have the State of Connecticut for all 5 and business is booming! Don't I owe someone for Class dues?" Let that be a reminder to others who probably do, too. See you in the next issue.

Art Slocum writes that he was married December 28, 1956, bought a new house

March 1, 1957, and just moved in. Art's wife gives him a head start with a 9½-year-old daughter. He also says that life does begin at forty. Art is now living at 8211 Popular Drive, Milwaukee 17, Wis. Another Milwaukee-ite, Carl Joys, has been returned to his home town by his employer, Northwest Airlines. Blair Weigel says everything is well with him and that Bob Haller was in the office a couple a weeks ago.

Classmate Carl O. Friend of Nordberg Manufacturing Co. of Milwaukee, Wis. is shown, above right, being sworn in as director of the power equipment division, Business & Defense Services Administration, US Department of Commerce. He is on loan from his position at Nordberg as administrative manager of the company's heavy machinery division, and will serve without compensation from the Government for a period of six months under the rotation system currently in effect. In recent years, the power equipment division has operated with various industry representatives serving as its director for a six-month period. The Diesel Engine Manufacturer's Association was called upon to furnish a representative for 1957 and Friend was selected.

In announcing his appointment, BDSA Administrator H. B. McCoy said that the new director brings to BDSA current knowledge of the diesel engine industry and heavy machinery field, which well qualifies him to manage the various activities of the power equipment division. The BDSA is responsible for carrying out the department's programs relating to current defense production, long-range industrial preparedness, and service to the business community. Past experience has shown that this cooperative effort between government and industry has been a successful operation, with mutual gain for each in addition to cementing industry-government relations.

Dan Westervelt has joined Kaiser Engineers, a division of Henry J. Kaiser Co., as a principal engineer and was appointed assistant to the vice-president of the development division. This recent move follows an interesting career, for Dan formerly served as a special assistant to the Administrator, General Service Administration, Washington, D.C., and earlier as a vice-president of Charles B. Ferris, Inc., New York City, with whom he handled site planning, military installation layout, industrial planning, and liaison with government agencies. Dan, his wife, and two children have taken up residence in Walnut Creek, Cal. The address of Kaiser Engineers is 1924 Broadway, Oakland 12, Cal.

Art Peters, (above), according to a US Dept. of Commerce release, is one of twenty-five prominent US businessmen selected for service on US Trade Mission teams going abroad this spring. The trade missions program is designed to interest and assist foreign businessmen in learning about and trading with the United States. Each mission usually consists of a leader from the Department of Commerce and three or four businessmen specially selected for their competence and practical experience in fields of importance to businessmen in the countries visited. They visit the principal commercial and business centers abroad, holding group meetings and private consultations with foreign businessmen. Art is with the team visiting Peru and Argentina from April 14 through May 31.

To point out why Art has received this significant honor, it might be appropriate to delve into some of his past accomplishments. He is the owner of A. K. Peters Co., New York City merchants and import agents specializing in imported raw materials from all parts of the world. Particular emphasis is placed on chemicals, oils, bulk food items, and botanicals. In nearly twenty years in the import business, he has traveled extensively throughout Europe and the Western Hemisphere and is reputed to have considerable knowledge about many of the problems which confront the US importer and the overseas exporter in their common efforts to contribute to world peace through world trade. Art's educational pursuits did not end with our graduating in 1940, for he resumed studies after the war, received the Master of Arts degree in 1954 at Columbia, and is now a candidate for the PhD in French literature. During the war, he was assigned to the Military Intelligence Division with the US Army and was awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon for his service. He and his wife have three children and live in Bronxville. Among his extracurricular activities are the University Club of New York, Bronxville Field Club, Cornell Club of Westchester County, and amateur painting and color motion picture photography. Congratulations and best wishes for a successful trip, Art! We will be interested in receiving a full report upon your return.

Bob Pressing recently became assistant manager of development for Linde Air Products Co. in Tonawanda. He, his wife, and his son, aged 2½, finally located living quarters at 109 Maynard Drive, Eggertsville. It is warm news to have him state,

"having lived in Wisconsin for a number of years and having found it difficult to get to Cornell, I am looking forward to fairly frequent visits to the Campus."

As will be recalled, we recently reported on the interesting book entitled The Typhoon-Hurricane Story, by Bob Fuerst. This is now available at $2 a copy (soft-cover edition, $1.50) at Charles E. Tuttle Co., Rutland, Vt. Bob, a major in the US Air Force, is a meteorologist and has recently returned from Japan.

Our estimable secretary, John Munschauer and his wife, the former Grace Wood '43, became the proud parents of their second daughter, March 27. Congratulations may be sent to his home here in Ithaca at 105 Comstock Road.

'40 Women—I have had two interesting replies to my recent column in the NEWS. The first came from Rhoda Dunham Webster (Mrs. E. R.), who moved to 320 Rhinecliff Drive, Rochester 18, in January. Her husband, Ed, is now at University of Rochester as foods service administrator. That eliminates her as a correspondent from Indiana, but, as she stated, she'll be able to make Reunions without being exhausted.

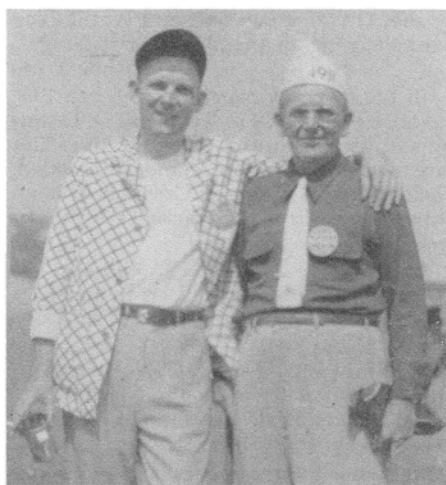

Then I received a wonderful letter from Jean Albright Carpenter (Mrs. Robert) who lives on a dairy farm in Dryden. From the contents of her letter, I'm sure she'd make a better Class correspondent than I am. Briefly, she told me of meeting her Bob in August, 1951, becoming engaged in March, 1952, married in August, and trying desperately to keep up with the other girls in our Class as far as families are concerned. Frankly, I think she's doing well; has a son Terry, almost 3½, and Evan, just a little over a year. Then she went on to tell me news of other Classmates. Jane Peck was married March 1 to Dr. Bruce Dickinson, a veterinarian, and they are completing a small animal hospital in Webster. Jean hears from Helen Pease Long, who is now teaching school in Keeseville, where her husband is principal of the schools; Elaine Ely Harrington, who does case work in the County health office in Oneonta along with raising her four boys. Jean has seen Connie Eberhardt Cook twice since she has been in Ithaca and "enjoyed her political speech over WHCU last election time" and she sees Mary Munson Benson and family occasionally at some agricultural affairs. Then she did a bit of reminiscing about Reunion and said a very nice thing about the women of '41: "They didn't look fifteen years older than when we had met last." I'm sure this has encouraged Jean to come back for Reunion again and hope everyone will keep it in mind as we work towards 1961.

Just a reminder: don't forget and misplace your letters from Grace Moak Meisel. She is doing a terrific job for the Cornell Fund and she deserves our wholehearted support.

Also, send in some news to me at 122 South State Road, Briarcliff Manor, so I can keep this column going.

—Virginia Buell Wuori

'41, '47 BSinAE—Robert H. Heath is shown above at last year's Reunion with his father, Raymond P. (Whisper) Heath '11, who is retired and lives in Ormond Beach, Fla. The Reunion was the younger Heath's Fifteenth and his father's Forty-fifth. Robert Heath is an industrial engineer for Hyatt Roller Bearing Division, General Motors Corp., Harrison, N.J. He is married, has two children, and lives at 70 Mountain Way, Morris Plains, N.J. Both he and his father hope to be back in Ithaca this June.

'42 Men—Robert C. Findlay, 2528 North Maryland Avenue, Milwaukee, Wisc., is assistant to the general sales manager of Inland Steel Products Co., a subsidiary of Inland Steel. He travels from coast to coast on large job negotiations for engineered products. Bob, who thoroughly enjoys living in Milwaukee, is inclined to believe that this is the only city other than Ithaca with a high per capita beer consumption. He expects to be at Reunion in June and is looking forward to seeing other members of the Class as well as Gus Vollmer, who is expected back from Venezuela.

Charles F. Coffin has been with Franklin Balmar Corp. since September and lives at 4211 Purlington Way, Baltimore, Md. Dr. John J. Huckle, son of the late Clarence Huckle '13, is now a veterinarian in Charlottesville, Va.—Robert L. Cooper

'42 BS—Ruth E. Gould is a home demonstration agent with the cooperative extension service of Michigan State University. Her address is Box 275, Cadillac, Mich.

'43 BSinAE—Charles W. Alcott is vice-president and branch manager of Caulley Steel & Supply Co., Orlando, Fla. He is married and has five children, four boys and one girl. Alcott's address in Orlando is 1701 Flamingo Drive.

'43 BS—John M. Collins is a dairy farmer in Barneveld and is married to the former Elizabeth Hopkins '45. They have four sons. Collins is the son of Edson M. Collins '20, who is co-owner of the dairy farm.

'43 BS—Forrest B. Raffel, RD 3, Pinebrook, New Castle, Pa., is in the restaurant equipment and supply business in Youngstown, Ohio. A daughter, Joan Emily, was born to him and Mrs. Raffel, September 19, 1956.

'44 BS—Gerald E. Tohn is a real estate salesman with Byrne, Bowman & Forshay, Inc. of New York City. His address is 350 Leffert Avenue, Brooklyn 25.

'44, '43 AB—David L. Hurwood (above) has joined Anderson & Cairns, Inc., New York City advertising agency, as director of marketing and advertising research. He was formerly with Young & Rubicam, Inc., where he engaged in market research and the testing of television shows and commercials. The author of several published articles on textiles and sales, he has held special commissions by the Italian Government to study specific areas of the American market. Hurwood's address is 1420 York Avenue, New York City 21.

'46 Women—Joan Walsh Horvath writes that her husband, Alexander '47, is vice-president of Alaska Paving Co. in Washington, D.C. They bought a four-bedroom house two years ago at 3207 Cummings Lane, Chevy Chase, Md. The Horvaths have three boys. Ruth Rothschild Mayleas writes that she has been with the National Theatre & Academy since April, 1955. She lives at 7 West 96th St., New York City. Jeanne Clary Ewing writes that they moved to 3379 Ocean Front Walk, San Diego, Cal. Jeanne, husband, four children, and a Lightning sailboat moved from Massachusetts. They have joined the Mission Bay Yacht Club and are enjoying races every week end. June Cronig Kapell and husband, David, have a new son, Joseph Eugene, born January 3, 1957. He joins a sister, Elisa, 2.

According to the Alumni Office some more of our girls have moved: Virginia Miller Walkup to Villa Grove, Ill.; Mary Kirk Whinfrey, Aurora, Ill.; Eunice Eddy Wright, Niles, Ohio; Florence Kagan Rubin, Winchester, Mass.; Constance Gager Sara, Brammana, Via Bierut, Lebanon; Marie Solt, Northfield, Vt.; Mary Oatman Spencer, Decatur, Ill.; Jane Hartwell Stevens, Portland, Ore.; Jacqueline Nutter Stewart, Belzone, Miss.; Phyllis Stapley Tuddenham, Narberth, Pa.; Caroline Bayne Ullrich, Anaheim, Cal.; Zoe Critchton Whal, Bernardsville, N.J.; and Audrey Katzman Wald, South Orange N.J.

How about the rest of you? No more articles now until you supply me with more news. The above is all the news I've had from you since the beginning of the year and I can hardly write two articles a month on that. Remember the address is: 111 Eric Ave., Mifflin Park, Shillington, Pa.

—Elinor Baier Kennedy

'47 Men—By the time this column is printed Classmates may have received written notification of our big Tenth Reunion in June. If not, it's on the way. Barry Cohen sent me copies of the letters and postal cards; they are nicely drawn up. Having been a Reunion chairman myself, may I ask that every Classmate lend a helping hand through the prompt return of the postal card? Please fill it out completely. You, see, adequate accommodations and successful planning of events cannot take place unless a good estimate of attendance is available. Give Barry a shot in the arm (stuff his mailbox). And tell your '47 friends to double check desks and drawers; wasted money comes from unmailed postals. Talk up Reunion.

For the information of all, Bill Evers will head up the publicity committee for Reunion and Dick Flight has agreed to be music chairman. (Hot off the press: Dick and Isabelle expect their second child during the first part of July.)

A lucky roll of the dice brought two Phi Delta Theta's to the altar recently: Joe Jewett married Marianne W. van Hoorn (Oberlin '48), February 16, at St. Johns Episcopal Church in Larchmont. Joe writes: "Honeymooned on skis at Aspen, Colo. John C. Snedeker '50 was best man. Visitors welcome at 8 Wildwood Rd., Hartsdale." Bill Kaestner and Patricia Olson were married March 16. The ceremony took place in St. Augustine's Episcopal Church in Croton. Blessings on all of you, and congratulations to the girls for being able to catch these fast-moving bachelors.

Quote from the Delta Chi Newsletter, April, 1957: "After a long silence, Harrison Bell reports on his activities since leaving Ithaca in 1951. For the last three years he's been teaching 8th grade English and American history in Greenwich, Conn. Previously, he taught in Massachusetts, spent a second hitch in the Navy, did grad work at Columbia, and had three daughters. Harry lives at Hancock Point, Me."

Delightful telephone chat with Bill Sly of Woodstock. Bill works for Rotron as an application engineer. Among other things, this company concerns itself with blowers which cool electronic equipment. He is a happy family man and his job calls for him to take sporadic business trips all over the country. Someday I'm going to persuade him that he can find relaxation on these business trips by contacting '47 Classmates—sort of a traveling Class Secretary.

Charlie Butler no longer at The Biltmore in New York. Hope to track him down soon. Any knowing person can save me lots of time.

May I comment on a report sent in by Jay Vlock concerning the Fund? Fortunately Jay used business letterhead, and I can report myself that he works for Fox Steel Co., Boston Post Road, Orange, Conn. They make different types of building products, having to do with steel naturally (wire mesh, steel sash and doors, metal lath, aluminum windows, etc.). Jay has covered his men in the New Haven area and has sent us a complete report on each man, copy going to his regional chairman, Ed Best. Very thorough, Jay; my own sincere appreciation. It's easy to keep up with "things" when you have such cooperation.

Have a nice bit of news concerning Bill Hagan. He and Barbara welcomed a son March 14. Bill is the son of William A. Hagan '17. The Juniors live at E. Rocks Rd., Norwalk, Conn.

Quote from a recent Telluride Newsletter: "Pasadena, Cal. lawyer Gareth Sadler has been elected president of the Altadena-Pasadena Young Democrats and a delegate to the California Federation of Young Democrats. Sadler, a former Deep Springer and Cornell Branch member, was an attorney for the AEC in New York and Washington before moving to the West Coast."

—Barlow Ware

'48 BSinME—A daughter, Deborah Lee, was born February 8 to Raymond G. Downing and Mrs. Downing. The Downings also have a one-year-old son, Thomas Raymond. Their address is in care of Creole Petroleum Corp., Apartado 889, Caracas, D. F., Venezuela.

'48 BSinME—William B. Gibson, 501 Crestwood Court, Endwell, is in the sales research department of International Business Machines Corp., Endicott.

'48 BSinI&LR—Thomas F. Nolan is manager of industrial relations at Niagara Machine & Tool Works in Buffalo. He lives at 205 Northledge Drive, Snyder 21.

'49 Men—Lots of shorties this week about new jobs, new children, and new addresses. Theodore E. Hoyer, Jr. writes of a couple of the lawyers who hid in Myron Taylor Hall during '49 and later years. He has practiced law for two years, and has now become vice-president of Mohawk Cabinet Co. He and his wife are raising four children at 14 Hillside Ave., New Hartford. Dick Bacorn is in Houston, Tex., as office manager of Interstate Plumbing—apparently not practicing law.

E. W. Poppelle just moved to a new home at 22 Peach Blossom Lane, Middletown, N.J., where Don Sutherland is a new neighbor, having just moved from Niagara Falls. Don's address is 50 Rutledge Dr., Middletown. Still a business consultant for Price Waterhouse & Co. is Harry H. Beahm. He was married a year ago, and lives in the Mermont Apartments, Bryn Mawr, Pa. Alfred F. Smith has been transferred by Procter & Gamble from Cincinnati to New York, where he is Eastern US commodities buyer. He lives at 7195 Central Road, Ft. Lee, N.J., has a 4-year-old daughter and 2-year-old son, and commutes to his office at 17 Battery Place, N.Y.C.

Among the new arrivals is the third future coed for Ronald L. Hailparn and his wife, the former Faith Goldberg '49. Ellen Lois is just a year old, and probably keeps her folks jumping at 79 Whitehall Road, Rockville Centre. Fred Joy's third girl was one of the smallest packages on record, according to a note from his home at 6325 Calle De San Albert, Tucson, Ariz. Last July, Ann Elizabeth weighed in at just 1 pound 14½ ounces, and dropped to 1 pound 8 ounces at the lowest. Fred says they are still looking for a boy, any size!

Get out the little black books, cross out the names of those former coed girl-friends, and add some current addresses of Classmates. William Koch's address is Box 111, Greenlawn, L.I., and he's with N.Y. Telephone Co. in Brooklyn. Bernie Bernstein's last address was 109 Fairmont Ave., Kingston. He is another IBM man, working as a systems test engineer in Kingston. Salesman for Columbia-Southern Chemical Corp. is Edwin A. Schneider, 973 Cleveland, Kirkwood, 22, Mo. He has two daughters, Gretchen and Gail Marie. Edward Fleisher is raising his one girl at 29 William St., Worcester 9, Mass., where he is in the purchasing department of a shoe manufacturing company. Just to prove that all the '49ers don't have daughters, Jerome H. Hanover writes from 2121 Poplar Ave., Memphis, Tenn., that his first was a son, Russell Lee, Freshman in the Class of '78. He is in land development, home construction, sales, and rentals as Jay Realty Co.

New address for Donald K. Brandis is 17 Lakeview Ave., R.D., Rensselaer, where he lives with his wife and year old daughter, Beth Jeanne. Don is an engineer for Shell Oil Co. Boasting a son, David, 1½, and a daughter, Linda, 3, is Russell N. Meyer, 819 Fruithurst Dr., Mt. Lebanon 34, Pa. Russ moved from St. Louis to Pittsburgh to become a civil engineer with Dravo Corp. Al Emanuel is with Philco Corp., Bendix Home Laundry, Philadelphia 34, Pa., but his mailing address remains 3262 Hardisty Ave., Cincinnati 8, Ohio.—Jack Rupert

'49 LLB—Harold D. Cohen has resigned as director of business affairs for the American Broadcasting Co. and has returned to Ashley-Steiner, Inc., New York City theatrical agency, as an agent and negotiator. He can be reached in care of the agency at 579 Fifth Avenue.

'50 Men—Jack Smith has been appointed sales manager of the Hotel Statler in Washington, D.C. Jack had been with the Hotel St. Paul as executive assistant manager prior to his recent appointment. He lives at Crooked Run Farm, Hamilton, Va. In Milwaukee, Wis., George J. Pandl is restaurant manager of Pandl's Whitefish Bay Inn. He is also director of the Wisconsin Restaurant Association. George and his family (including three children), reside at 4729 N. Idlewild Avenue, Milwaukee.

J. D. Whitehurst, his wife (Fern Chase '44), and their three children recently moved to their new home at 21 Barbaralee Drive, Hamilton Square, N.J. Whitehurst is in charge of test instrumentation at the Turko-Motor division of Curtiss Wright at Princeton. Jay E. Salzman married the former Marilyn Abrams of Brooklyn. They live at 1783 B, Piedmont Way, NE, Atlanta, Ga.

Wedding bells for Terry B. Khammash and the former Sophie Michael of Ithaca. Khammash received the Master's degree in aeronautical engineering at Penn State and is currently a PhD candidate at University of Michigan, where he is a member of the faculty of engineering mechanics and nuclear engineering.

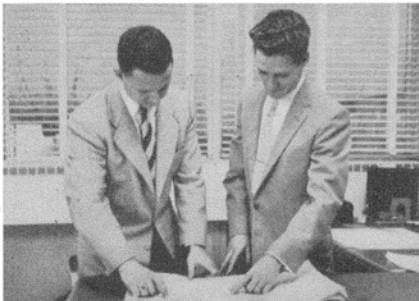

Norton Co. has a new chief accountant of its grinding machine division in the person of Arthur Snyder, Jr. of 10 Old Brook Road, Shrewsbury, Mass. Art joined Norton in 1952 and had previously been a member of the manufacturing control department and the controller's staff. Thomas F. Gould, assistant professor of classics at Amherst College, has been granted a trustee research fellowship for the spring semester of the 1957-1958 academic year, during which time he plans to complete a book on pre-Socratic philosophers. Tom earned the AB, MA, and PhD at Cornell and taught for two years at Washington University in St. Louis, prior to going to Amherst in 1955.

Henry Bloomgarden, 405 W. 23d Street, New York City, achieved national prominence by defeating Mrs. Vivienne Nearing, conqueror of Charles Van Doren on the much discussed TV show "Twenty-One." At this writing Hank has also defeated a former dean of Vassar. Howard Acheson, Jr., son of Howard G. Acheson '23, has been made works manager of the Philadelphia plant of Acheson Dispersed Pigments Co.

"What really sold me," says Jerry, "was the way they conducted engineering. I'd expected rooms full of engineers at desks. Instead, I found all the informal friendliness of my college lab."

Gerald, an E.E., came directly to IBM from the University of Buffalo, in 1953. Starting as a Technical Engineer, he was immediately assigned to work, with two others, on designing a small calculator. The supervisor of this project was Dr. R. K. Richards, author of "Arithmetic Operation in Digital Computers." Jerry learned a great deal about computers in a very short time. Incidentally, his particular machine is now going into production. As Jerry says, "It makes an engineer feel good to see his project reach the production stage—and to be able to follow it through."

Assigns problems to his group

Promoted to Associate Engineer after 16 months, Jerry is now the leader of a nine-man team. He assigns problems to his group for solution, approves their block diagrams and the models they build. Perhaps an hour a day goes into paper work such as requisitioning equipment for his group and reviewing technical publications, in counseling members of his team and preparing for trips to technical society meetings. Apart from his regular responsibilities, he teaches at night in the IBM school.

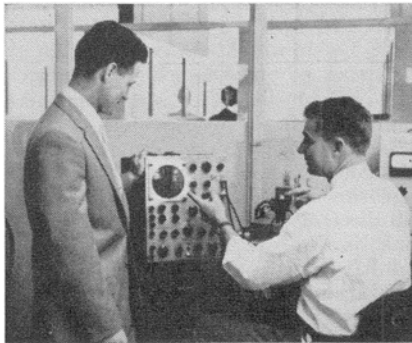

Why Jerry chose IBM

Of course, there were other reasons

"What's it like to be A PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT ENGINEER AT IBM?"

Three years ago, college senior Gerald Maley asked himself this question. Today, an Associate Engineer and leader of a nine-man team, Jerry reviews his experience at IBM and gives some pointers that may be helpful to you in taking the most important step in your engineering career.

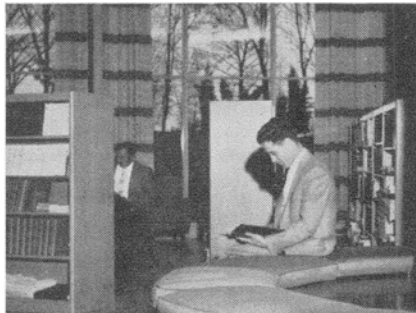

why Jerry selected IBM. He was vitally interested in computers, and IBM was obviously a leader in the field. He comes from a scientific family

This field is so new

(his brother is a mathematician) and is fascinated by these mathematical marvels which are revolutionizing man's ways of doing things in so many fields. He enjoys working on large equipment . . . and on "pulses." "It's more logical," he says. "In computer work, you can actually see things happening, which is not the case with all electronic equipment today. And it's not all solid math, either. What's more, this field is so new, that pretty soon you're up with everybody else."

Gerald has done recruiting work himself for IBM and believes he un-

Reviewing technical publications

derstands some of the college alumni's problems. "I usually begin an interview by determining a man's interest," he reports. "Then the diversity of work at IBM enables me to offer him a job which will challenge that interest." Gerald distinguishes between two kinds of engineers—those who like to work on components, such as circuit designs, and those who are interested in the part the component plays. The latter is his own interest, which is why he is in advanced machine design. He points out that IBM is careful to take these factors into consideration—another reason, perhaps, why turnover at IBM is less than one-sixth the national average.

What about promotions?

When asked about advancement opportunities at IBM, Jerry says, "You can hardly miss in this field and in this company. They tell me sales about double every five years—which in itself makes promotion almost axiomatic." He endorses the IBM policy of promoting from within, with merit the sole criterion. The salary factor, he remembers, was not his first consideration. While excellent, the tremendous advancement potential was of far greater importance.

Promotion almost axiomatic

Equally challenging opportunities exist for experienced engineers and scientists in all of IBM's many divisions across the country. For details, write P. H. Bradley, Room 12004, IBM Corp., 590 Madison Ave., New York 22, N. Y.

Cornelians that come by—stop in."

'51 Men—April 8 total of those Class members who have paid this year's dues was 157. Come on, get on the bandwagon, send your dues of $3 to Keith Seegmiller, 123 W. Main St., Bennington, Vt. And while we're about it, Keith announced the arrival of a son March 25. Cigars will accompany the receipt for your dues.

Even if you don't feel "disenchanted" or aren't a "deadhead" you would enjoy the "delights" of our Fifth Reunion. Succumb to the many and persistent urgings of Reunion Chairman Jane Gilmartin and make definite plans to be there. A lot of people are working to make all the details perfect. Nancy Radick Lynck is helping to organize registration, Lorette Bode Dybvik is helping to "get the troops out," and Phebe Vandervort Goldstein has costumes all lined up. Address any suggestions, questions, or reservations to Jane: Time Inc. SI, 9 Rockefeller Plaza, Rm. 224, New York City, or phone JUDson 6-1212, Ex 2733. Jane would be delighted to hear from anyone with a polaroid camera we could use at Reunion with film furnished at Class expense.

We were sorry more of you weren't at the pre-Reunion beer party, March 29, at the Statler in N.Y.C. A good time was had by all, gossiping and anticipating the fun in June. Mrs. George Mundstock (Sally Allen) will leave George, Jr. 3, at home in Detroit (17655 Manderson) to return. Beside being a housewife, she's a graduate student in the Wayne University Medical School, in the department of physiological chemistry.

Not everyone will offer as good an excuse as Ann Darnell, for not traveling to Ithaca. She's really too far away—Room 48 Building L, Ansbach Station, Ansbach, Germany, where she is a US Army Special Service Club director. Nancy Elwin Pegues (Mrs. Frank) is also "overseas." She and her husband left last September for Paris and a year of study abroad. They'll return Sept. 5, after visiting Italy and England. Until then her address is 125 Rue Notre Dame des Champs, Paris 6e, France. Among others who have traveled afar is Mrs. Richard A. Mulligan '50, LLB '53 (Nancy Crawford), who lives at 595 Marshall Boulevard, San Bernardino, Cal. They welcomed Debra Jean, Nov. 20 '56. Dick practices law with the firm of King & Mussel.

Gretchen von Storch Sander sent along a complete resume of her post—Cornell activities as well as placing herself in the "maybe" category. She worked in an interior decorating studio in Scranton, Pa. until her marriage in Jan. '54 to Hans K. Sander, a student in the Princeton graduate school of architecture. After time out for a wonderful honeymoon in Europe for a summer, Hans received the MFA in '55. By this time they loved Princeton and have a home at 73 Harriet Drive, close enough to Philadelphia for Hans to commute. He is an architect with Vincent G. Kling. The arrival of their daughter Leslie was heralded April 23, '56.

A note from Mrs. Ray Y. Gildea, Jr. (Trudy Serby), 1057 SW 11th Terrace, Gainesville, Fla., brought similar good news. A daughter, Patricia Mae, arrived Feb. 8 to join her four-year-old brother. Ray is working for the PhD and teaching at University of Florida. As I still hope to find the first green sprout in our garden, her description of azaleas, poinsettias, and kumquats in the garden made me truly envious. Trudy had enjoyed seeing MaryLou Bussing Morrow, who was an associate head resident in one of the girls dorms just a half-mile away.

Joanne Holloway is the assistant director of public relation of National Gypsum Co. Her address is 110 Coolidge Rd., Buffalo 20. She plans to return for Reunion even though she will be a new bride. She will wed John F. McPherson, a sales representative for Spencer-Kellogg Co. in Ohio and Southern Michigan, May 4. They'll be home at R.D.

1, Clyde, Ohio after May 20. Mrs. Edward G. Hoffman (Perryann Lindberg) will return for our gathering June 7-8, from 110 Columbia Blvd., Kenmore 17.

Welcome to another new arrival, James Frederick Towart, born January 31. His father is James W. Towart, Jr., BCE '50, and his mother Janet Rudolph Towart. His proud grandfather is James W. Towart '24. Janet doesn't think she'll find time to be lonely, busy as she is with the new babe and two-year-old Jean Elizabeth, while Jim spends three months in Venezuela, part of his work with the Magnolia Pipe Line Co. Their home is at 2467 Materhorn Drive, Dallas 28, Tex.

Have you sent your contribution to the Cornell Fund in response to the plea of Polly Prine Herman? Dig out the correspondence and change and do it. Wasn't it repetition for emphasis? Well—Reunion, Reunion, Reunion!

Pete is in production engineering with Raymond Corp. hydraulic and electric industrial lift trucks and commutes to Greene from 126½ Laurel Ave., Binghamton.

Now "back on a research assignment working slowly toward a PhD in agricultural economics," Randolph Barker (1919 Clark Ave., Ames, Iowa) has just finished teaching a course in farm management with over 100 students. Ivan Kinne, reports Randy, has just completed the Master's out there at Iowa State College and has headed back to dear old Cornell town. Finishing up at the Veterinary College, Stan Weissman, 526 Stewart Ave., Ithaca, passes on word that Robert (Dutch) Van Leer and Pete Raymond have returned to the Hill to study at the Business School. Dick Thaler has landed USAF JAG (Judge Advocate General) at Bolling Field, Washington, D.C., notes T. Preston Waterman. Preston has had a big year himself: finished the LLB at Cornell in June, married Ann Wolff '55 in September, and became 1st Lt. Waterman in USAF at Wright-Patterson AFB. His address is 5218 Access Rd., Dayton 3, Ohio.

Look at what almost happened to our old Willard Straight Santa Claus. John D. Twiname—with some assistance from Carolyn Anderson Twiname '54—had a daughter Karen, December 27. Since he couldn't quite manage it on Xmas Day, John picked the 27th 'cause that's his birthday. Barbara Gail Stier was one year old February 7. She lives at 30 Columbia St., Liberty, along with father J. Harold Stier and mother Sandra. Don't spread it around but Sandra's daddy works for Co-operative Fire Insurance Co. and Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Co. That's called mixing business with business. David H. Simon, 1771 Lanier Place NW, Washington 9, D.C., is rounding out 3 years on the destroyer Hickox out of Newport. Which rounds out this May 1 column.

Congratulations are in order for Mrs. Al Felker (Peggy Miller) on the birth of Stuart Allen, March 19. The Felkers have another son, Tommy, who is 15 months old. Their address is 107 North Wesley Avenue, Mount Morris, Ill.

A good letter from Mrs. D. E. Stokes (Sybil Langbaum), 1416 Hill Street, Ann Arbor, Mich., tells of the arrival of Elizabeth Ann December 5, 1956. To quote Sybil: "Don and I came to Ann Arbor for 'just one year' two years ago and we're now making plans for our third year here. But with the summer of 1958 we'll be heading back to Yale, where Don will be teaching and doing research in political science . . . babies we find, are more fun than anything. Betsy is the youngest of our thirty children; we're houseparents in a dormitory filled with girls. No problem finding baby-sitters around here!" Sybil also sent word of Nina Wilcox, who is acting on television and on and off-Broadway, and Joan Pennell, who is working for the Committee for Free Europe in New York City.

And congratulations too to Mrs. James D. Livingston '51 (Nancy Clark), 6 Van Kortrijk, Netherlands Village, Schenectady 8, on the birth of Susan Clark February 18. Susan's sister, Joan, is 3. Jim is working at the G.E. Research Lab in the physical metallurgy section. He received the PhD at Harvard last June.

Rym's Wit and Wisdom Live On

As one Cornellian to another, these two books are fine bedside companions and delightful gifts for friends. In Dirt Roads To Stoneposts, Rym Berry '04 tells about his earlier years (including Cornell and his nearby farm). Stoneposts In The Sunset has some of his finest essays on living life fully but unhurriedly and the art of ageing.

Excerpts from these books have appeared in Reader's Digest and other places. But no books are presently available at bookstores. By happy accident, however, the publisher has unveiled a hundred or so beautifully bound gift sets which he offers to readers of Rym Berry's "Now In My Time" as a timeless memorial to a great guy. The price for the two-volume set is only $4 postpaid, and can be obtained direct from Century House, Watkins Glen, N. Y.

This leading Americana publisher (Dr. Larry Freeman '29) has a list of 50 limited-edition titles, such as Circus Parades, On Photography (a photo history in facsimile), O Promise Me (for weddings and anniversaries), Early American Occupations Series. If requested, a catalog will be mailed with your order.

Mary Lu has resigned as a home service adviser (temporarily, at least) to fix up their new home at 268 East 235th Street, Euclid 23, Ohio. I recommend B & W's Sevilla office, Mary Lu, should you get the urge to travel again.

Mrs. Sherwood Strong (Ellen Buck) has a daughter now, Karla Grace, born January 23. (The Grace is after Ellen's middle name, rather than after the mother of Princess Caroline, who was born several hours earlier.) The Strongs live at 2214 Glenview Drive, Maumee, Ohio.

Almost crossed paths with Mrs. Charles Potter (Ann O'Neill), who sailed for the U.S. with her son, Charles Bruce, March 28. The Potters have spent almost two years in Barcelona and husband Charlie has one trip back on the USS Ancilla before becoming a civilian July 1.

I recommend living abroad. The Spanish people couldn't be finer hosts and I expect we'll enjoy it even more once we've consumed our 24 records and 3 books of "Spanish Easy Taught." We have an average-sized apartment (11 rooms) and visitors are welcome to the "patio suite"—bring along your own furniture.

SHERATON-BLACKSTONE HOTEL

'56 Men: Keith R. Johnson
Hastings 56
Cambridge 38, Mass.

Just after dispatch of the last column, the arrival of Tom Merryweather for a brief stopover in Boston set in motion a small (but vigorous) Reunion of '56ers in the Cambridge vicinity. Tom was en route, not very directly, from Akron through Ithaca to Cambridge to Quantico, Va., where he is now to be found sub homine Pfc. Thomas R. Merryweather, 1616466, Marine Corps Training School, Quantico—until June 8, when he hopes to emerge from the boon docks clutching gold bar and swagger stick. Well fed and fully photographed, we trust.

Albie Strandberg, 111 Rolling Hill Rd., Manhasset, turned up the same week end, on leave pending departure in the middle of April for an eighteen-month tour in romantic, exotic South Korea. Some guys have all the luck.

At long last Shorty Preschel has answered the call of duty ("Why Not Send Personal News About Yourself?", etc.), in consequence of which we can inform you that he was married Sept. 16 to the former Dorothy Dean '58, with attendants including Audrey Greenberg '58, Harriet Rosen '57, and Hal Rosen, Mort Landau, and John Wimmers. Shorty reports his address as 196-05 C 67th Ave., Fresh Meadows, and adds: "Am in process of completing sales management training program at Springmaid Fabrics; still playing soccer in N.Y."

Correspondent from the Mysterious East by the name of Jose Abizaid writes of his marriage Dec. 2 to Diana Drake '59 in Beirut, Lebanon, and says he's now general manager and owner of Seven-Up Bottling Co. of Beirut; his wife is finishing college at the American University in Beirut. If anyone is curious as to what "Seven-Up Bottling Co., P.O. Box 4164, Beirut, Lebanon" looks like in what we suppose is Arabic, we'd be delighted to pass on the letterhead; must be seen to be appreciated.

Fred Rice and Sally Hamilton '57 were married in Rector, Pa., Mar. 2; they're now living in El Paso, Tex., where Fred is stationed. Bob Abrams married Marilyn Greene '57, Mar. 24, in Cedarhurst; and Mar. 7 saw Andy Tuck and Jan Burgess married in Plandome. They're housekeeping in Washington, D.C., which is where the Navy has Andy occupied at the moment.

Fuller amplification: Billy DeGraaf is now catching for Columbus, Ga., in the Cards' farm system; he helped coach Frosh football at Cornell last fall, and hopes to be back this coming September as head coach of the 150-lb. team.

Stew Gully soloed at Pensacola in February, and is now receiving further flight training at Sausley Field NAAS, Pensacola, Fla. 2/Lt. Marc Meshorer has completed AAAGM School, Fort Bliss, Tex.; Pvt. Bob Sigman (home address: 67 Wade St., Jersey City, N.J.) is stationed in Italy with the 510 Field Artillery Rocket Bn.

By the time this appears, or shortly thereafter, you should have received a copy of the first Class newsletter. Comments, criticisms, etc., are welcome.

'56 Women: Linda J. Hudson
153 Hamilton Road
Ridgewood, N.J.

The far-flung, well-traveled Class of '56 now claims a representative in Rome. Lorna Jackson and husband Eric Salzman are over there while Eric is studying with a Fulbright grant. Lorna's letter sounds too good to go unquoted. She writes: "We are taking in the Italian sun, getting fat on the fabulous food, and revelling in the Eternal City. We find the Italians molto simpatici. We have a modern apartment in the south of Rome, near the Old Appian Way, which has all the comforts of home, plus real Baroque furniture (and even a terrace). Our last few dollars went towards a Volkswagen, which has already seen us up and down the ice-covered Alps, through southern Germany, Austria, and northern Italy.

"This summer our itinerary includes trips to France, the Lowlands, and Great Britain, and we sail for home at the end of August. After that, who knows? (otherwise translated as, who cares?) We are so happy over here, with all the great art, music, people, food, countryside, that we somehow can't get around to thinking about the future." Lorna also says that Lucy Roberts and Low Straus '55 plan to visit them this month in Rome. The Salzmanns' address is Via Segesta 51 Int. 7, Rome, Italy.

A note from the Canadian correspondent in the Class, Pete Jensen Eldridge, is full of news about '56ers from Florida to France. Over Christmas, Pete and husband Bill, MBA '55, drove down to Florida to visit Laura (Treman) and John Almquist '54. John is at a Naval Air Base down there and they have bought a three-bedroom ranch house. Their address is 3909 Tyndale Drive, Jacksonville 10, Fla. Pete also writes that Myra (Dickman) and Bill Orth have safely arrived in Orleans, France. Their address is 2/Lt. W. T. Orth 02283710, Finance and Accounting Office, HQ Com 2 7966, A.P.O. 58, New York. After writing that, Pete adds, "Whew!" I second it, but know that Myra would like to hear from some of you so don't let it scare you away. By the way Pete's own address is 50 Upper Canada Drive, Apt. P-102, Willowdale, Ontario, Canada.

More wedding news. This time from Betty Ann Oshman. She married Richard Silberberg '55 December 30 in Mount Vernon. Jo Simchick Perry was one of the bridesmaids. David Dinger '55 and Robert Schacht, MBA '56, served as ushers. Betty and Dick are living at 106 Cayuga Park Road, Ithaca, until Dick finishes the MBA in June.

News from Dottie Guild Rambaud. She's at Katie Gibbs in New York, living at 132 East 45th Street, New York City 17. Dottie's husband Jacques '55 is at University of Chicago Medical School. Despite the distance they manage to be together over vacations and even went to Mexico over Christmas. Via Dottie and Pete comes word that Diane Chippendale, who was working in Macy's personnel department, contracted mono. She's done the right thing, though. She's gone home to Lago Colony, Aruba, N.W.I. Sometimes I think it pays to get mono! All that sun!

Well, that's it. A good thing too because the news is all run out. How 'bout sending a note along today?
