Heidelberg Honors Schurman

University He Attended as Student Gives Former Cornell Head an Honorary Degree

Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell from 1892 to 1920 and ambassador of the United States to Germany, was given an honorary degree by the University of Heidelberg on May 5. Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann of Germany was similarly honored at the same ceremony, the first of its kind since the World War.

The address given by the ambassador, as reported in The New York Times, emphasized "the cordial collaboration between Germany and the United States for the abolition of war." Dr. Schurman gave his address in German and began by recalling his days as a student at Heidelberg University.

Dr. Schurman is quoted as follows:

"Happily united in Heidelberg by these common honors, Dr. Stresemann and I have also been happily associated in Berlin in common work. Latterly, indeed, that work has assumed international importance.

"When Dr. Stresemann informed the Rector in January that he would address this university in May on the subject of 'New Ways of International Understanding,' he could not have imagined that this academic sounding of the subject would meanwhile have taken on an intensely practical character."

The ambassador then painted the horrors of future warfare, and exclaimed:

"Can this be described otherwise than as a reversion of the nations to barbarism, or even savagery? If human civilization is to continue there must be outlawry of war. During the three years in which I have been in Germany I have been constantly impressed with the similarity of the fundamental international ideals of the governments and peoples of the two countries. Now, the identity of their attitude on the great question of outlawing war is a further confirmation of this international fellowship.

"Germany and the United States are marching forward in a great and noble adventure, in the cause of human civilization. I earnestly hope, I confidently expect, that all other nations of the world will join them in this glorious procession."

COLLEGE SUPERINTENDENTS MEET

The third annual meeting of the Association of Superintendents of Buildings and Grounds, Colleges of the Middle West, was held at Cornell May 8 and 9, with the local Department of Buildings and Grounds, of which Charles E. Curtis '85 is superintendent, as host.

Superintendents representing Wisconsin, Kansas, Cincinnati, Michigan, Iowa, Iowa State, Rochester, Chicago, Amherst, and Nebraska were present.

The Superintendents made a tour of the Campus and inspected the work of the local department.

John P. Troy Retires

University Photographer Has Recorded
Cornell Life Pictorially Since 1900
—Calendars Famous

After more than a quarter of a century spent recording pictorially the life at Cornell, John P. Troy, the University photographer, has announced that he will retire from active work this summer. The business which he has built was purchased on May 1 by J. Hubert Fenner of Binghamton. Mr. Troy plans to remain to assist in the taking of the "reunion groups" and for the preparation of the annual Troy calendar.

It is in connection with those two activities that "J. P." is probably best known to Cornell alumni. Beginning with the freshman year and occurring thereafter with a frequency which might measure the extent of his activities, the alumni have posed before the big camera on stilts, while the mild appearing, nervous little man fussed with the camera cloth, ordered and bullied each one into the proper place and expression, and managed to get a picture that everyone in the group would cherish.

At other times the student might casually observe Mr. Troy "shooting" pictures around the Campus or during various events that would be "news" to the outside world. The best of these pictures were selected each year to go into the "Troy Calendar." The first one appeared in 1908. The demand has grown with each issue. In recent years many have gone out of town in addition to those sent home by the students.

As a background for these better known activities are well established sidelines which make necessary the maintenance of a staff of five workmen the year around. Mr. Troy was a supply clerk and assistant in the Physics Department when he became interested in photography. In September, 1900, with the encouragement of various professors, he went into business for himself. Blue prints and lantern slides were required for various courses. This latter activity has developed into a business of enormous volume with orders coming in from practically every college in the country. Educational slides are furnished for architectural, agricultural, and engineering subjects.

Until the fire in 1916 the photographic shop was located on the top floor of Morse Hall. At that time Mr. Troy lost everything, except, as he says, his self respect. He started out anew, however, in the second floor of the shops behind Sibley. Today there are thousands of negatives in his files covering all kinds of subjects. In talking about the experience of the fire he comments often on the cooperation and help which the University has always given him.

From his collection of photographs Mr. Troy donated to the University all the pictures used in the Cornell Book of Views. In his files are to be found pictures of some of the most famous estates in the country. "J. P." is too much at heart a photographer to desert the business entirely, and it is probable that he will spend much of his time hereafter in this specialized field.

ATHLETICS

Track Team Wins

Cornell's track team won its second dual meet of the season when it defeated Pennsylvania in the annual encounter on Schoellkopf Field on May 12, 79 1-3 to 55 1-3. Strength in the field events gave the Red and White the decisive win.

Pennsylvania won the dashes and the runs up to the mile run, but Benson, defeating Merembeck, the Quaker cross-country star, in the two-mile run, and Caruthers, capturing both hurdle events, brought Cornell into first place scoring in the track features.

The Red and Blue could not duplicate the feat in the field events, for Cornell took six of the seven first places and shared the seventh when Stratton of Pennsylvania and Wickham of Cornell tied for first in the high jump.

Caruthers' performance in winning two firsts was matched by Anderson, who won the shot put and the discus throw. Lamberg, Pennsylvania's weight star, took third in the shot and second in the discus.

The Red and White hurdlers, Beyer and Young, followed Caruthers across the line for a clean sweep of the low hurdle event, and the javelin and hammer throwers tallied all the points for Cornell in their specialties. Worden broke the dual meet and the Cornell records by tossing the javelin 190 feet 8 3-4 inches. The second place throw by Crawford of Cornell was only 153 feet 6 3-8 inches.

Pennsylvania was not wholly outdone in gathering all points in single events. The Quaker middle distance runners captured the 440 and 880 without serious opposition, outstripping the Cornell entries by many yards. Scull and Kastler won the two dashes handily, and Glenn of Pennsylvania fought off Eldridge to score first in the mile by a three-yard margin.

The summaries:

100-yard dash: won by Scull, Pennsylvania; second, Heekin, Cornell; third, Clark, Pennsylvania. Time: 0:10 2-5.

220-yard dash: won by Kastler, Pennsylvania; second, Heekin, Cornell; third, Eckert, Cornell. Time: 0:23.

440-yard dash: won by McLoughlin, Pennsylvania; second, Kastler, Pennsylvania; third, Ward, Pennsylvania. Time: 0:51 2-5.

880-yard run: won by Pearson, Pennsylvania; second, Saxer, Pennsylvania; third, Green, Pennsylvania. Time: 1:59 4-5.

Mile run: won by Glenn, Pennsylvania; second, Eldridge, Cornell; third, McKaig, Cornell. Time: 4:32 3-5.

Two-mile run: won by Benson, Cornell; second, Merembeck, Pennsylvania; third, Levering, Cornell. Time: 9:56 2-5.

120-yard high hurdles: won by Caruthers, Cornell; second, Frank, Pennsylvania; third, McCoy, Pennsylvania; Time: 0:15 2-5.

220-yard low hurdles: won by Caruthers, Cornell; second, Beyer, Cornell; third, Young, Cornell. Time: 0:25 4-5.

16-pound shot put: won by Anderson, Cornell, 45 feet 6 inches; second, Levy, Cornell, 45 feet; third, Lamberg, Pennsylvania, 44 feet 7 inches.

Javelin throw: won by Worden, Cornell, 190 feet 8 3-8 inches; second, Crawford, Cornell, 143 feet 6 3-8 inches; third, Klots, Cornell, 152 feet 1-2 inch.

Discus throw: won by Anderson, Cornell, 133 feet 2 1-4 inches; second, Lamberg, Pennsylvania, 131 feet; third, Kanrich, Pennsylvania, 121 feet 3 inches.

Hammer throw: won by Wright, Cornell, 155 feet 1 1-2 inches; second, Cohen, Cornell, 150 feet; third, Worden, Cornell, 140 feet 9 inches.

High jump: tie for first place between Wickham, Cornell, and Stratton, Pennsylvania, 5 feet 8 5-8 inches; third, Keet, Cornell, 5 feet 6 inches.

Broad jump: won by Rhodes, Cornell, 21 feet 4 3-4 inches; second, Houghton, Pennsylvania, 20 feet 5 1-2 inches; third, Moore, Pennsylvania, 20 feet 4 inches.

Pole vault: won by Williams, Cornell, 12 feet; tie for second place among Nydegger and Pitman, Cornell, and Martin, Pennsylvania, 11 feet 6 inches.

Junior Varsity Wins

Cornell crews made their season's bow on the Charles River course on May 12, the junior varsity winning its race over Harvard and M. I. T. and the varsity and freshman boats finishing second to the Crimson oarsmen, with M. I. T. third.

Harvard's victory in the varsity race over a mile and three-quarters was by a length. The Red and White varsity spurted fast in the closing half-mile of the race to cross the line nearly four lengths ahead of the Technology crew. Harvard's time was 9:41 1-5.

Cornell's win in the junior varsity engagement was by two lengths over the Crimson eight. Harvard finished almost seven lengths ahead of M. I. T. in spite of Harvard's stroke's mishap in catching a crab.

The second place gained by the Red and White yearlings was by a scant margin over M. I. T. During the first mile the boats were close together, but Harvard slipped ahead to win the race by two lengths in 9:44 4-5.

The Cornell varsity had the middle course in the varsity encounter. Rough water and high winds prevailed, and it was almost dark when the three crews were sent away. They rowed together for the first half-mile, Cornell hitting 36, M. I. T. 34, and Harvard, which rowed the entire race at a low beat, 32.

Harvard went into the lead at the three-quarter-mile mark and by the time the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths was reached, the Crimson crew had the race won.

The Cornell varsity and junior varsity crews, as shown in the boatings, are made up mainly of sophomores, men who are rowing their second year under Coach James Wray. The results at Boston indicate that the new coach is developing his men early.

The Cornell boatings:

Varsity: Mann, bow; Wainwright, No. 2; Aigeltinger, No. 3; Bates, No. 4; Pierie, No. 5; Boschen, No. 6; Katz, No. 7; Abbot, stroke; Walker, coxswain.

Junior varsity: Stillman, bow; Schumacher, No. 2; Godfrey, No. 3; Nicholson, No. 4; Scott, No. 5; Armstrong, No. 6; Todd, No. 7; Shoemaker, stroke, Joyce, coxswain.

Freshmen: Ireland, bow; Vahneman, No. 2; Shallcross, No. 3; Heidelberger, No. 4; Hackstaff, No. 5; Clark, No. 6; Lueder, No. 7; Durham, stroke; Burke, coxswain.

Tie at Lacrosse

Cornell and Pennsylvania battled to an overtime 1-1 tie in lacrosse at Philadelphia on May 12. Against Hobart on May 5, Cornell won, 5-1. In the Pennsylvania game, Salisbury scored in the first period, but Captain Moore of the Quaker twelve tied the count half way through the closing period. An extra period of play failed to break the deadlock.

The win over Hobart was the second of the season, Champion leading the attack with three goals. Captain Harrison and Salisbury also scored.

Cubs Lose at Lacrosse

The freshman lacrosse team closed its season on May 12 with a defeat at the hands of Syracuse Central High School on Alumni Field, 13-2. On May 5, the Cornell and Hobart yearling twelves battled to a 3-3 tie.

Nine Drops Two

The Cornell baseball team lost two games last week, through timely hitting by its opponents and through its own poor fielding. Colgate won, 12-9, on May 9, and Ohio State was victorious on May 12, both games being played on Hoy Field.

The Colgate game was farcical, for the Red and White, at the end of the first inning, had a 7-2 lead. Colgate continued to score in each of the next five innings, while McConnell's home run in the second inning and another run in the eighth finished Cornell's scoring.

Colgate got twelve hits off Boies, who left the mound in the sixth inning, and two more safe blows off Froelich. Cardner, the Colgate hurler, made three hits in five trips to the plate and drove in four runs. Two of his hits went for three bases.

The Ohio State game was won by the visitors in the ninth inning, when Froelich was reached for two home runs that scored three runs to break the 4-4 tie that faced the teams at the end of the sixth. Another home run, by Hebert of Cornell, was responsible for the tie.

Cornell's fielding in both games was poor, five errors being chalked up in each game.

Cub Track Results

The freshman track team broke even in its two meets this season, losing to Pennsylvania on Franklin Field on May 12, 76 1-3 to 58 2-3. The yearlings defeated Colgate on May 5 on Schoellkopf Field 81-45.

At Philadelphia Meinig won both dashes for Cornell. The Quakers out-scored the Red and White trackmen in the weight events, scoring 25 points to two for Cornell in three events.

Tennis Results

The tennis team won a close match with the Ohio State netmen on the Baker Courts on May 12 by a score of 5-4. The Ohioans captured four of the six singles matches, although three of the victors were forced to a third set. The Red and White doubles teams, Levin and Bush, Dietrich and Halstead, and Custer and Bicket, took their matches in straight sets to carry Cornell ahead. Bicket and Dietrich were the Cornellians winning in singles.

On a trip to Princeton and Cambridge May 4 and 5, the netmen lost matches to the Tigers, 6-3, and to Harvard, 7-2.

Name Football Aides

Gilmour Dobie, football coach, will have four former Cornell players as assistant coaches next fall. They are Eugene P. Balderston, Jr., '28 of Philadelphia, who played halfback the past two seasons and who is captain of the baseball team this year, Emerson Carey, Jr., '27 of Ithaca, guard for three seasons and captain of the 1926 team, Thomas F. Fennell '26 of Jersey City, N. J., end on the 1925 varsity, and David S. Hill '28 of Liberty, right tackle in the 1925 eleven.

THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR CHARLES H. HULL '86 of the Department of History has been appointed a member of the Sesquicentennial Commission for the Celebration and Observance of the Campaign of General Sullivan in the War of the Revolution.

PROFESSOR HENRY H. WING '81, for the past forty years a member of the Faculty, and the builder of the Department of Animal Husbandry, will retire at the end of the college year.

PROFESSOR CLARK S. NORTHUP '93 delivered the annual Phi Beta Kappa address at Hobart College on May 5 on the subject, "Diabolus Mortuus Est." He will be the Phi Beta Kappa orator also at the University of Georgia also on June 18, his subject being "Stars and Folkways."

THE CLUBS

Chicago

A luncheon was given in honor of Jervis Langdon '97, president of the Cornellian Council, by a small group of Alumni in Chicago at the University Club on May 8. Langdon gave a talk about the work which the Cornellian Council is doing and made a report of the progress which the University is making under the leadership of President Farrand. Harold Flack '12, was also present at this luncheon and spoke briefly on the Cornellian Council's work.

Duluth

On May 2, Harold Flack '12 spoke at a luncheon in Duluth which was attended by a dozen Cornellians. This is the first alumni gathering held in Duluth for many years; plans were made for the revival of the Cornell Club of Duluth. Frank W. Falk '13 was made chairman of the organization committee. Hubert H. d'Autremont '11 introduced the speaker.

Harrisburg

The Club will hold a meeting on Friday, May 18, to which will be invited a selected group of high school boys from that part of Pennsylvania. The principal speaker will be Dr. George H. Ashley '90, State geologist of Pennsylvania. The Club has had a recent revival of interest. At a luncheon held on May 3 plans were made for the meeting on May 18.

Milwaukee

Thirty members of the Club gathered at the University Club on May 1, for a luncheon in honor of Harold Flack '12, who spent the day in Milwaukee visiting the Cornellians of that city. Ray McCallum '18, president of the Club and representative of the Cornellian Council in Milwaukee, presided.

Minneapolis

Warren Sailor '07 and Harold Flack '12 were the guests and the speakers at a dinner given by the alumni of Minneapolis and St. Paul at the Minneapolis Athletic Club on May 5.

The dinner was presided over by Everett W. Olmsted '91, head of the Department of Romance Languages at the University of Minnesota, and formerly a professor at Cornell. Arrangements were in charge of Alden C. Buttrick '16. At this meeting John O. Todd '24 was elected permanent secretary of the Cornell Club of the Twin Cities.

Sailor and Flack brought the latest news from the Campus and gave an intimate survey of President Farrand's plans for the future.

The guests were in Minneapolis attending the annual convention of the American Alumni Council, which is made up of the alumni secretaries, alumni fund secretaries, and editors of alumni papers in the colleges and universities of America. Sailor and Flack are both trustees of the American Alumni Council.

New York

The annual golf tournament of the Club will be held on May 23 at the Old Westbury Golf Club. This will be the first of three tournaments, the second to be held in Westchester in August, and the third in New Jersey in October.

At the tournament on May 23 the four lowest gross scores, at 36 holes, will qualify for the club championship. The committee in charge is made up of Norman C. Brizze '01, Chairman, Frederick W. Hackstaff '05, John T. McGovern '00, David T. Wells '04, with Frank A. Wright '79 as honorary chairman.

Omaha

A dinner was given by the Club on May 7 on the occasion of the visit of Harold Flack '12. Judge Ernest C. Page '89, president of the Club, was the toastmaster. George M. Carey '11, secretary of the Club, was in charge of the arrangements.

Rochester

The Club held its annual banquet on April 28 at the Rochester Club. More than a hundred Cornell men of the city attended, with Andrew R. Gilman '16, president of the Club, presiding as toastmaster.

Both of the speakers were from Ithaca, President Farrand and Professor George W. Cavanaugh '93 of the Department of Chemistry. The President spoke in his characteristic vein, and devoted much of his talk to the present expansion work and plans for the future development of the University. Professor Cavanaugh spoke particularly of the strides which agriculture has made during the last few years helped by the exact chemical knowledge developed by some of the chemists at Cornell.

Dr. Willis E. Bowen '02 led the singing with the aid of a quartet composed of Roy L. Stone '07, Leonard C. Treman '14, Howard A. Sauer '16, and George S. Babcock '16.

During the banquet entertainment was provided by a string trio composed of Philip Will '00, Fred Will, Jr., '01, and Willard F. Pond '05, and instrumental features were given by L. Sumner Fuertes '27 and Walter W. Hallett '28.

The banquet committee was made up of Leon Stern '89, chairman, Walter W. Post '11, Harold A. Meng '17, Dr. Harry I. Andrews '05, Harry E. Buck '21, and Lewis Clinton '19.

Southern Ohio

The Club is showing renewed activity after a relatively quiet period of the last few years. The Club held a dinner at the University Club in Cincinnati on March 22, when Oscar A. Klausmeyer '13, president of the Club, was toastmaster, and the principal speaker was Conant Van Blarcom '08, of Cleveland, director of the Alumni Corporation. It was voted to hold regular monthly meetings.

AMAZING STATISTICS OF '13

Unlike the general run of classes, the Class of 1913 has a statistician. His name is Kluge—Ernie Kluge. For the past fifteen years Kluge has been engaged in what he calls exhaustive and careful researches. His studies have been devoted primarily to hedge-hogs, but he has branched out into other lines and has arrived at certain conclusions which can now be released to an anxious and expectant world.

In the first place, it has been found that approximately fifteen years have elapsed since June, 1913. The calculations required to reach this conclusion were difficult, but the statistician was aided by slide rules and lightning calculators, and the statement, while not guaranteed, is believed to be reasonably accurate. It is important because it is what is known in scientific circles as the major premise and forms the basis of all other conclusions. The second conclusion follows so logically that it is almost ridiculous—the fifteen year reunion of the Class will be held on June 15, 16 and 17, in Ithaca. You probably never saw anything simpler; and yet the problem, on its surface, appears difficult.

Kluge says that approximately ninety per cent of the class are living, and that about eighty per cent are alive. (There is a subtle distinction here which we haven't time to explain.) About ten per cent have scattered remnants of hair remaining to comfort their old age. Some five per cent still retain their figures and can see their feet without mirrors. Thirty-five per cent take themselves too seriously and will require a judicious amount of razzing at the reunion if they are not too big and active. 99.2 per cent are married but only 2.35 per cent will bring the little wife back to the reunion (Ithaca, June 15, 16 and 17). The average net tangible assets of the class, per capita, on the hoof and as is, approximates $162.54.

Further details of this colossal Fifteen-Year Reunion, to be held by the Class of 1913 in June, will be released in a subsequent issue of THE NEWS. If each issue of the sheet, or paper, is examined carefully upon receipt, none of these details will be missed.

BOOK AND BOWL has elected to membership Kenneth A. Browne, Grad., of Concord, Mass., Keith A. H. Murray, Grad., of Edinburgh, Scotland, Dennis Hall, 29 of Rosario de Sta Fé, Argentina, Alfred H. Knight '29 of Detroit, Mich., Porter R. Lee, Jr., '29 of New York, Robert D. Quick '29 of Newton Center, Mass., Robert N. Dryden '30 of Acton, Ontario, Henry G. Hayes, 3d, '30 of Washington, D. BOOKS

Plays of the Carolinas

In the Valley and Other Carolina Plays. By Paul Green, '22-3 Grad. New York. Samuel French. 1928. 19.5 cm., pp. 308. Price, $2.50.

This volume contains eleven one-act plays. Some of them have been previously published; the others are new. Although they are for the most part of the tragic type characteristic of the author's work, yet they include some in a lighter and even a decidedly humorous vein.

The first play, "In the Valley," is a powerful picture of the tragedy and pathos of the negro.

In "Aunt Mahaly's Cabin" the "ha'nts," always a terrible bugaboo to the superstitious negro, run riot, along with crime and murder and goblins and witches, all to the accompaniment of rolling thunder and flashes of lightning.

"Saturday Night," "The No 'Count Boy," and "The Picnic" are in a different, lighter key. In the first of these one can actually see the little group of country folk sitting in the moonlight before the cabin, resting and chatting after the hard week's work in the hot fields, the bit of love story running like a strain from Mack Lucas's fiddle. In "The No 'Count Boy" Pheele and Enos and the no 'count boy make a whimsical and quite delightful triangle. "The Picnic" is a short play of the white farmer folk of the Carolina hills; light in theme, but with a touch of irony, it is picturesque and colorful.

"Unto Such Glory" and "Quare Medicine" are of the white folk again and are pure comedy. "Unto Such Glory" is a humorous account of the rise and fall in power of Brother Simpkins, an old-fashioned preacher from 'way off yonder. "Quare Medicine" is a rich tale of a conspiracy among the male majority of the house of Jernigan, a conspiracy resulting in revolt against Feminism, in the form of Mattie, of the immaculate hearth and the Society of Foreign Missions.

In "The Man on the House" and "Supper for the Dead" we again have tragedy. The theme of the former is a fearful and hateful one in a country setting of sunshine and flowers and forest. In "Supper for the Dead" it is nightfall and the air of swamp and the mournful call of the owls suggest the strange, weird drama.

Again, the brief play of "The Goodbye" is in an entirely different tone. Beautiful and gentle in character, it makes a fitting close for a most successful and interesting volume of plays.

Books and Magazine Articles

In The Cornell Law Quarterly for April Professor Robert S. Stevens writes on "Stock Issues Under the Uniform Business Corporation Act." There are fifty-six pages of Notes and Comment. Professor Stevens also reviews "Ballantyne on Corporations" by Henry Winthrop Ballantyne. The "Year Book on Commercial Arbitration in the United States" is reviewed by Richard K. Parsell '21. Professor Herbert D. Laube reviews C. Arthur Jensen's "New York Law of Sales." George A. Shipman, Grad., reviews "The Constitutional Status and Government of Alaska" by George Washington Spicer.

In The Dartmouth Alumni Magazine for May Professor Shirley G. Patterson, A.M. '09, Ph.D. '11, writes on "The Cité Universitaire and the Latin Quarter."

In The New York Times Book Review for May 6 Stephen G. Rich, A.M. '15, writes "Concerning French," continuing the debate which has been going on regarding the best language.

Dr. David Starr Jordan's book, "Leading American Men of Science," has been chosen along with six other books of biography for inclusion in a little booklet, "Pivotal Figures of Science," recently published by the American Library Association as one of the Reading with a Purpose Series of reading courses. President Jordan's book was brought back into print so that it might be used in this course. The Reading with a Purpose Series serves more than 1100 public libraries.

The New England Quarterly for April contains as its second article a paper by Clarence Paul Hotson '18, B.S. '21, entitled "A Background for Emerson's Poem 'Grace.'" Hotson is now a graduate student at Harvard.

In The Romantic Review for January-March Hugo Wast's "La Casa de los Cuervos" edited with exercises, notes, and vocabulary by Professor E. Herman Hespelt '10, Ph.D. '25, of New York University, is reviewed by Barbara Matulka.

In Science for April 6 Dr. William T. M. Forbes asks, "What is a Name?"

In The Educational Review for April "The Elements of Agriculture" by Professor George F. Warren '03 is reviewed.

In The South Atlantic Quarterly for April Professor John H. Nelson, Ph. D. '23, of the University of Kansas, reviews Elizabeth S. Haldane's "George Eliot: Her Life and Times: a Victorian Study" and John Wilson Townsend's "James Lane Allen."

In The Journal of Physical Chemistry for May Professor Wilder D. Bancroft reviews "Physical Chemistry and Biophysics for Students of Biology and Medicine" by Matthew Steel and "Crystalline Form and Chemical Constitution" by A. E. H. Tutton.

The Akron Alumnus for April includes a summary of the report of President George F. Zook, Ph.D. '14, to the Board of Trustees of the University of Akron, together with a portrait of the president.

OBITUARIES

Caroline Baldwin Morrison '95

Caroline Willard Baldwin (Mrs. Charles T.) Morrison died of heart disease in San Francisco, Calif., on January 31.

She was born in San Francisco on June 30, 1869, the daughter of Alfred and Fannie Willard Baldwin. She received the degree of D.Sc. She had previously received the degree of B.Sc. from the University of California.

She was married in 1898 to Charles Theobald Morrison. They lived in San Francisco.

Herbert G. Ogden '96

Herbert Gouverneur Ogden died on January 29 at Easton, Pa.

He was born in Newark, N. J., on September 21, 1873, the son of Herbert G. and Mary Smith Ogden. He received the degree of M.E. in E.E. He was a member of Psi Upsilon, Aleph Samach, and Sphinx Head. He played on the football squad, his class baseball teams, and was tennis doubles champion.

He later studied law at Georgetown and George Washington Universities, and since 1907 had been a member of the law firm in New York of Binney and Ogden.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Gladys Frost, whom he married in 1907, and six children.

Frederick H. Avery '97

Frederick Hauge Avery was killed on January 26 while he was supervising work on a bridge being built over the Calumet River.

He was born in Hudson, N. Y., on January 15, the son of William A. and Sarah Powell Avery. He received the degree of C.E.

He was one of the leading bridge experts in Chicago, and had been in the city bridge department for sixteen years.

John P. Lewis '16

Word has just been received of the death on December 28, 1925, of John Perry Lewis, in Honolulu.

He took special work in medicine in 1915-16. He received the degree of M.D. from the University of Chicago.

He lived in San Diego, Calif.

Mary Watson Foster '19

Mary Watson (Mrs. Donald B.) Foster died at a hospital in Scranton, Pa., on March 30, following an operation.

She was born in Pittston, Pa., on July 30, 1896, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Watson. She was a member of the class of '19, returning to receive the degree of A.B. in '22. She was a member of Delta Gamma.

Published for the Alumni Corporation of Cornell University by the Cornell Alumni News Publishing Corporation.

Published weekly during the college year and monthly in July and August; forty issues annually. Issue No. 1 is published the last Thursday of September. Weekly publication, numbered consecutively, ends the last week in June. Issue No. 40 in published in August and is followed by an index of the entire volume, which will be mailed on request.

TWO GOOD CITIZENS

TRUSTEES with the ability and the will to serve like DuPratt White and Judge Pound are by no means plentiful. Cornell has been fortunate in having had these men on the Board of Trustees, Mr. White as a Governor's appointee, Professor Pound as an Alumni Trustee. Their usefulness has been obvious and need not here be reviewed.

The alumni will regard it as particularly fortunate that two vacancies among the coöptive members of the Board happened to occur at just this juncture. Vacancies are comparatively rare in this small group. We venture this opinion that no elections of the kind have given more universal satisfaction.

The Board of Trustees are to be congratulated upon their thus assuring to the University the continuing services of these two valuable citizens.

COMING EVENTS

(NOTE: All University activities at Ithaca are scheduled on Daylight Saving Time, one hour in advance of Eastern Standard Time.)

Friday, May 18

Lecture, "Oriental Rugs," A. U. Dilley. Room 100, Caldwell Hall, 2.30 p. m.

Lecture, "The Evolution of the Skyscraper," Harvey Wiley Corbett. Baker Laboratory, 8.15 p. m.

Lecture, "King Henry V of England in History and Legend," Professor William Templeton Waugh, Kingsford Professor of History in McGill University. Room B, Goldwin Smith Hall, 8.15 p. m.

Saturday, May 19

Baseball, Yale at New Haven.
Freshman baseball, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

Track, Princeton at Princeton.
Crew, Yale and Princeton at Derby, Conn.

Lacrosse, Princeton. Alumni Field, 3 p. m.

Tennis, Swarthmore at Swarthmore.

Tuesday, May 22

AFRICAN COLLECTION MOUNTED

The African game collection, presented to Cornell last year by Major Louis L. Seaman '72, has been mounted and placed on exhibition in McGraw Hall. The collection consists of heads and skins of African animals shot by Major Seaman during his various hunting expeditions in Africa.

The museum floor of McGraw Hall has been remodeled to make room for the collection. A splendid head of an African black rhinoceros, flanked by the heads of wild boars and warhogs, is placed at one end of the room, facing an American elk, with African antelopes at each side, at the other end. Unusually fine specimens of Thompson's and Grant's gazelles are included in the antelope group.

Six zebras, mounted in lifelike poses, face the entrance. The head of a water buffalo and heads of hartebeests and water bucks are included in the collection.

The room in which the African collection is housed is the approach to the Fuertes Memorial Room, in which are now being arranged the specimens and paintings of birds done by the late Louis Agassiz Fuertes '97.

Receives Rumford Medal

Professor Edward L. Nichols '75 Honored
By the American Academy of Arts and Sciences

At the meeting of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences held in Boston on May 9 the Rumford Medal was awarded to Edward L. Nichols '75, professor of physics, emeritus, for his work in the field of spectrophotometry. Professor Nichols was head of the Department of Physics for over thirty years, being called to this position in 1887. He retired from his teaching and administrative duties in 1919, and has since devoted his whole time to research in the general field of work for which the Rumford Medal was awarded.

Beginning his investigations while still a student with Helmholtz at Berlin, he has made numerous important investigations in the general field of radiation and physiological optics. It is as the result of this work that Professor Nichols shares with Edison the distinction of being an Honorary member of the Institute of Illuminating Engineers.

Later, working sometimes alone and sometimes in collaboration with other members of the Department, he used the spectrophotometer in the study of the faint light from fluorescent and phosphorescent substances. Work in this general field of luminescence, with Professor Nichols as its chief guiding spirit, has continued in the Cornell Laboratory for nearly thirty years. For a number of years Professor Nichols was research associate of the Carnegie Institution, and at present the work in luminescence is supported by a grant from the Heckscher Foundation to Professors Nichols and Merritt.

In 1893 Professor Nichols founded The Physical Review, now one of the leading journals of physics in the world. For twenty years, with Professors Merritt and Bedell as associate editors, the Review was published by Cornell. In 1913, with its standing fully established, it was turned over to the American Physical Society. Professor Nichols is a Fellow of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences, a member of the National Academy of Sciences and of the American Philosophical Society, and past-president of the American Physical Society and of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Besides his A.B. degree from Cornell he has received the degree of Ph.D. from Goettingen and honorary degrees from Pennsylvania (LL.D) and Dartmouth (D.Sc.). Just a year ago he was awarded the Elliott Cresson Medal of the Franklin Institute. Professor Nichols delivered the principal address at the meeting of the Academy at which the Rumford Medal was presented.

The Week on the Campus

IT was Banquet Week on the Hill. Every night every private dining-room within a radius of fifteen miles was occupied by clubs and organizations listening decorously to the speaker of the evening glorifying the achievements of 1927-28 and pointing to still loftier objectives for 1928-29.

THE MOST ELABORATE of the functions was the Hotel Ezra Cornell, which occupied Willard Straight on Friday evening. The students in the hotel course, under the general direction of Professor Howard B. Meek, cooked and served a dinner memorable in Ithaca's culinary history, and organized a dance in Memorial Hall. The staff of a great hotel was complete, from house detective to bell-boys. Flattering speeches were made by Dean Albert R. Mann '04 and by Augustus Nulle, managing director of the Waldorf-Astoria. The work of the chef, James B. Taylor '28, received especial praise. In short, it was practically the same thing as going to a hotel.

BETWEEN DINNER and the dance, the guests were entertained by the Dramatic Club, which put on three plays by Cornell undergraduates: "Around the Corner" by George Fass '29, "The Farce of Master Trouble-Tête" by Hyman Yudewitz '28, and "Wonder Dark Epilogue" by Sidney S. Kirshner '28.

CONVENTIONS of the week were those of the New York State Geological Association, the State Librarians and Library Officers, the Institute for Parent-Teacher Leaders, and the Association of University Superintendents of Buildings and Grounds. Details on application.

AN ASSEMBLY which attracted the interest of your somewhat capricious correspondent was that which celebrated the centennial of Cayuga Hose Co. No. 1, formerly the Red Rovers. The outline of its history is that of a hundred years of American social and economic development. The record of its equipment, from the hand-pump of 1828, which tapped the log aqueduct, to its present set of motor and chemical contrivances, is a history of American invention. And as for the Red Rovers' political significance! It was our own Rym Berry who once remarked that there is a great thesis to be written on "The Rôle of the Volunteer Fire Company in American Politics."

THE EAR-MINDED had a big week, shutting their eyes and letting information gush in. Sidney S. Kirshner '28 won the Woodford, speaking on "Intellectual Disarmament." Dr. Raymond Pearl, director of the Institute for Biological Research in Johns Hopkins, spoke on "Experiments on Longevity," telling of his experiments with fruit flies and canteloupe seeds, which tend to prove that the duration of life varies inversely as the rate of energy expended in metabolism. (There is a lesson for us all here.) Col. Henry S. Graves, dean of the Yale College of Forestry, described the early forestry service to the Forestry Club. Prof. H. A. Kramers of the University of Utrecht lectured on "Matter as Waves and Corpuscles." Walter Lippmann of The New York World discussed "The Havana Conference and the Policy of Intervention." B. I. Boochofsef of Moscow, chief engineer of the Russian Electrical Industry, visited the University but did not lecture, perhaps owing to his inability to speak English.

A LECTURE of special interest to Cornellians was that of Dr. Frank M. Chapman, curator of ornithology of the American Museum of Natural History. His talk turned largely on his expeditions—about 60,000 miles in all—in company with Louis A. Fuertes '97. Dr. Chapman's evident affection for "Louie" was a moving thing to the many in the audience who shared his mood.

THE ANNUAL R. O. T. C. horse show, a very metropolitan affair, was won by Battery D-1, commanded by Cadet Lieut. Jay Clark '28, before an admiring audience.

YOU WILL REMEMBER (if you have one of those phenomenal memories) that there has been a good deal of to-do about Class Day. Should it be "joint," i. e., should male and female clasp hands together in their devotions to their class? The Student Council said no; a self constituted Joint Class Day Committee said yes. We uttered a hope at that time (April 26) that there would be more news. And so there is. The Joins have apparently defeated the Disjoins. It is announced that the Joint Class Day will be held on Thursday, May 24, in Bailey Hall; it will be combined with the Savage Club Show, "Class Day at Heidelbaum."

THE INNOVATION has much to commend it. We have not attended a Class Day since 1913, but that exercise ranked just above zero in amusement value. Confidential advices lead us to believe that in recent years the Class Prophecy and the Planting of the Sacred Ivy have not gained in their power to hold all hearts in thrall. Indeed, we have wondered if this Class Day row was not secretly a campaign for the right to stay away with honor. The Savage Club show won't have to be a wow to seem, in comparison, simply wonderful. It is announced that some of the old functions are to be preserved. A beer stein will be publicly delivered by the senior men to the junior men, and a daisy chain by the senior women to the junior women. The women are said to be bitter at this discrimination.

SPRING DAY promises well. The carnival will represent Nero's birthday;

Schoellkopf Field will be turned into the Coliseum. There will be gladiatorial combats, lions, vestal virgins, and chariot races. These last should be worth coming far to see; the best of the Military Department's horses will pull the chariots, and there will be nothing faked about the race. The street parade will be abandoned, probably; this decision is generally approved, for it has come to be a pretty maudlin affair.

GOLDEN THOUGHT for the week: President Angell of Yale, discussing athletics in his annual report: "The scale of financial expenditure is indeed large, and income at the gate, especially at football games, is impressive. But the money is expended in providing healthful recreation for thousands of men and is, as such, probably as profitable an investment in health and character as we could make. One must not forget for a moment that we are living in an age of large expenditures for every purpose. Projected against such a background, our athletic program is not so seriously out of focus as is sometimes implied."

SPORT STUFF

Nothing in the modern practice of the University so impresses the returning alumnus of another generation as those mass-production luncheons in the Drill Hall. The vision of the five thousand being fed comfortably and well by five loafers and two small flappers, without any noticeable fragments, has a tendency to smash the thesis that all efficiency ceased with the graduation of the observer.

Starting as an emergency measure at the time of the Semi-Centennial, this miracle of the loaves and fishes has become an accepted commonplace in connection with the larger football games and the class reunions. Its usefulness has now been extended to serve Spring Day.

This year you won't have to dash down from the circus to battle for a split of chicken salad and then dash back to the ball game. You can sit comfortably in the Drill Hall, eat your lunch, and at the proper time stroll across the road to Hoy Field. You can see everyone right there without moving.

The modern conveniences may be building up a soft race, but they certainly take a great load off the feet at the right time.

B. B.

TWO NEW CASH SCHOLARSHIPS will be available to Cornell students next year. They are offered by E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, Ltd., to a student in the School of Mechanical Engineering, and by Edward M. Tierney of Binghamton in memory of his father, the late Edward M. Tierney, to a student in the hotel management course.

Sigma Xi Elects

Sixty-one Members Chosen from Faculty,
Graduate School, and Senior Class
Two Alumni Named

At the annual election of the Sigma Xi Society held on May 4 the following were elected to membership:

FACULTY

George Barger, Baker Lecturer in Chemistry.

Arthur A. Bless, Ph.D. '27, instructor in physics.

Hans H. Boysen, instructor in bacteriology.

Walter F. Willcox, professor of economics and statistics.

ALUMNI

Thomas L. Martin, Ph.D. '19, professor of agronomy, Brigham Young University.

ANOTHER MEMBER OF THE TELEPHONE FAMILY

MANY a radio set has found a new and richer voice in the golden-throated Western Electric loud speaker.

Produced by the world's foremost experts in sound transmission—Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Western Electric Company—this loud speaker is responsive both to low bass notes and high treble, reproducing them with fulness of tone and absolute fidelity.

The same engineering skill which developed the telephone has thus removed a serious shortcoming in radio loud speakers.

Here again the name Western Electric is an assurance of mechanical and electrical reliability—whether on loud speaker or on telephone; microphone; public address system; music reproducer; the orthophonic horn and electrical recording for the phonograph; audiometer; audiphone and the talking moving picture. As manufacturers of the nation's telephones, this Company is applying the skill thus gained to making a widening range of communication apparatus.

—optical science plays its part for even greater precision

THE research man on the campus—in any graduate school or anywhere else in the world—depends on instruments of optical science, great and small, as a matter of course. For optical science has advanced year by year to meet his every need.

In industry, too, the optical scientist has kept pace—with the leaders. Today, to help solve his production problems, the engineer has at his command a wide variety of optical equipment specially designed for his own uses. With this aid, he can quickly measure and inspect, not only raw materials and finished products, but the all-important tools from which parts are made. He can more efficiently attain the superlative accuracy mass production so often demands.

We have often been able to help manufacturers gain closer control of elements and operations that go into the production of modern mechanical equipment. We should be glad to consult with you about your specific optical requirements.

“OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL”

AN UNSOLICITED LETTER THAT SPEAKS FOR ITSELF

April 24, 1928

“I wish to have my subscription to the Cornell Alumni Fund increased by the modest sum of Five Dollars, and I am enclosing a check accordingly.

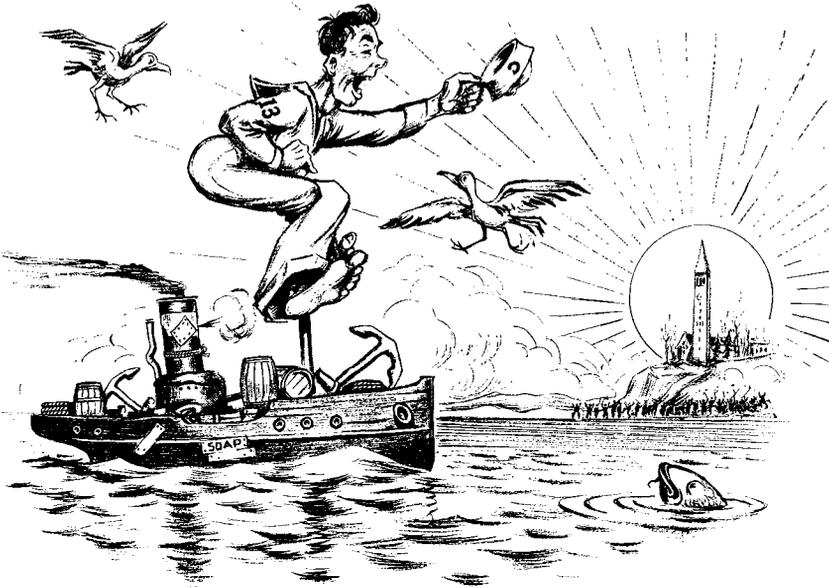

“I am sincerely glad that the Alumni Fund offers a means to express my gratitude to the institution that offered me invaluable opportunities, and I only hope that in the future I may be in the position to do my full share in helping Cornell preserve its tradition of ‘opportunities for all’ and the high rank it occupies among the educational institutions of the country.”

The Alumni Fund presents “OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL” to show their faith in their university, which for 60 years has been affording “OPPORTUNITIES FOR ALL.”

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!

THE 15-YEAR REUNION

Class of 1913

Ithaca, June 15-16-17

THE Big Fifteen-Year Reunion of the Class of 1913 is to be held this June—Friday, Saturday and Sunday—the 15th, 16th and 17th of the month! In Ithaca!

Time is getting short—it won't be long now—so make your plans.

A "most enjoyable party" is promised. The festivities are all arranged—a real old-fashioned 1913 blow-out. Every indication points to the return of a big gang including the charter members of the Salvation Armee—Oooo. More need not be said.

Put yourself on the committee, write your friends and cronies! Remember, it's your party but you'll have to be there in person (in Ithaca, June 15-16-17) to get a kick out of it.

EVERYBODY OUT!

The Committee

Tristan Antell, Treas.
