VOL. XXXII No. 23

ITHACA, NEW YORK, MARCH 27, 1930

Honor Dr. Schurman

Former President Guest of German-American Societies at Public Reception in New York

Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell from 1892 to 1919, was the guest of honor at a public reception in Carnegie Hall, New York, March 17. The honor was conferred by German-American societies organized as the German-American Conference of Greater New York.

Professor Albert B. Faust of the Department of German was one of the speakers.

"By restoring good feeling between the German and American peoples," Professor Faust said, "Ambassador Schurman has at the same time created a better position for the German element among the other national groups in the United States, for there was a tendency to hold them responsible for the War and keep them in the ban of social ostracism.

"Dr. Schurman was especially fitted for his post, carrying on that splendid tradition of the American scholar as ambassador of good will in German countries, as did Henry Wheaton, John Lothrop Motley, Bayard Taylor, George Bancroft, Andrew D. White. A student of the Universities of Heidelberg, Berlin, and Goettingen in preparation for his chair of philosophy at Cornell, chairman of the Philippine Commission, minister plenipotentiary to Greece and then to China, there was no more experienced scholar and diplomat in the service of any country.

"He looked deeply into the soul of the German people when he said: 'The German people desire peace with all nations, but with America they desire a fellowship of the heart.' The German people do not fear the so-called Americanization of Europe. They understand America better and see in our Americanization the thrilling rhythm of a new coming age.

"Ambassador Schurman propagated confidence in Germany's future, trusted in the German people's ability to work out their own salvation if given a chance; and friendly relations followed so spontaneously that he was quite overwhelmed with demonstrations of love and esteem when he left the scene of his good-will ambassadorship. This gathering is a token of the appreciation and gratitude felt by the German element in the United States for Jacob Gould Schurman."

REUNION WAS SUCCESSFUL

FOR '14, REPORT REVEALS

The final report of the committee in charge of the Fifteen-year Reunion of the Class of '14 last June is of particular interest at this time, when so many committees are preparing for class celebrations this year.

Thomas I. S. Boak '14 of Seneca Falls was chairman of the committee. His report shows receipts of $4,099, of which all but $600 represented income from the class and reunion tax. This tax of $25 covered cost of reunion costume, lodging for as many nights as were spent in Ithaca, cost of the barbecue on Friday night, the dinner on Saturday night, and the incidental expenses which the class had in connection with the rally in Bailey Hall. '14 was the host at the rally.

$600 was received from a member of the class who subsidized the cost of the band.

The expenditures amounted to $3,164.04, leaving a net profit of $934.96.

WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS

Katherine R. Ganzenmuller '31, Sea Cliff, has been elected president of the Women's Self-Government Association for next year.

Other officers named are: Helen L. Nuffort '31, Newark, N. J., chairman of organized groups; Catherine A. Blewer '31, Owego, chairman of activities; Frances E. Meisse '31, Brooklyn, president of the Women's Athletic Association; Halcyone D. McAlpine '31, St. George, president of the Young Women's Christian Association; Dorothy F. Hall '31, Buffalo, Dorothy King '31, Ithaca, Edith M. Macon '31, Brooklyn, and Alice E. Schade '31, Akron, Ohio, presidents of Balch Halls units; Edythe King '32, Ithaca, president of Prudence Risley Hall; Ida H. Schloh '31, Richmond Hill, president of Sage College, Marguerite R. Kline '31, Amsterdam, senior class president; Jane F. O'Neil '32, Binghamton, junior class president; Adele Langston '33, Wenonah, N. J., sophomore class president.

BUDGET ITEMS CUT

A decrease of $1,465 was ordered in Cornell items of the New York State budget by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, after the measure had been previously approved by the Legislature. Major items were not affected.

Athletics Encouraged

Interfraternity Groups Provide Sport for Many Students Not on the Varsity Squads

To one not closely acquainted with institutions of higher education, the word "college" often conveys the impression of "a stadium with a few academic buildings attached," a place where the football hero or the star athlete gets all the attention and physical training, while the rest of the students do nothing but study, and get no exercise.

This is not true at Cornell, however, for by means of organized interfraternity athletics, any student may participate in any of the sports, and the coaches take an active interest in them and the games they play. Under the present conditions, if any man does not take part in organized athletics, it means that he has no desire to do so, rather than that there are no facilities offered him.

Although there have been intercollege contests at Cornell for many years, it has not been until the last few years that interfraternity athletics have been important enough to warrant some definite organization.

Interfraternity athletics are under the supervision of the Interfraternity Athletic Council, which is composed of the intramural director, four student managers, and the varsity coaches. The student managers are elected each spring at a meeting to which each fraternity is allowed to send one representative. At the end of his period of office, each of these men receive a "shingle."

The sports covered by the curriculum of the Council are chosen largely by popular demand, any sport for which there is enough demand being placed upon the proper seasonal schedule. At present the curriculum includes touch football, soccer, basketball, a foul-shooting contest for individual competition, hockey, volley ball, baseball (both softball and hard-ball), tennis, and track.

The council is constantly looking for new sports which will prove to be popular, and is always open to suggestions from the students about either the sports represented or their management. These sports are all conducted under the same rules which govern the intercollegiate contests, with the exception of a few incidental modifications

ATHLETICS

SWEEPING TRACK VICTORY

Climaxing a brilliant indoor season, one of the most successful in years, the track team defeated Michigan in the twenty-fifth annual meet in the Drill Hall on March 22. The score was 63-32. It was Cornell's first victory since 1922, and one of the most decisive of the series.

Featured by a gallant performance by Levy of Cornell in the 16-pound shot put, the meet saw three records broken and Cornell take all points in three events.

Levy set a new Drill Hall and Cornell dual meet mark on his first throw of 49 feet 1 inch. This is better by five inches than the mark set by Adelman of Georgetown in the Indoor Intercollegiates two years ago. It also bettered the old Drill Hall mark, set by Levy himself two weeks ago, of 47 feet 11 inches, and the dual meet record of 46 feet 3½ inches, also held by Levy.

Captain Treman of Cornell set a mark of two minutes flat in winning the half-mile run from his teammate, Dulaff. This time established a new dual meet record, bettering by ½ seconds the time made in 1926 by Fryberg of Michigan. Treman also came within one-fifth second of equaling his own Drill Hall mark set two weeks ago against Yale.

The third record was broken by Wolfe of Michigan in winning the mile from Martin of Cornell in a pretty race, decided in the last lap, when Wolfe's sprint overtook the Cornellian. Wolfe finished a half-dozen strides ahead in 4 minutes 25½ seconds, clipping a full second off the Drill Hall and dual meet marks set in 1926 by Jung of Michigan.

Cornell took firsts in seven events and tied for first in two others. Elmer upset predictions by capturing the 440-yard dash. Three Cornellians, Pattison, Levering, and Ranny, went across the finish line together in the two-mile run, and Heasley and Clark ran a dead heat in capturing the 75-yard low hurdles. Heasley, by winning the high hurdles over the same distance, established himself as the only double winner of the meet.

Tolan, Michigan sprint star, had no difficulty in taking his specialty, the 75-yard dash, with Campbell, a teammate, second.

THREE CLEAN SWEEPS

Cornell took all three places in the two-mile run, the shot put, and the low hurdles. Pottle of Michigan and Colyer of Cornell went to thirteen feet to tie for vaulting honors, while the high jump developed a triple tie for first among Hoppenstedt and Wickham of Cornell and Felker of Michigan, the winner of the event at Ann Arbor last year.

Cornell's record in indoor competition this year indicates a strong, well-balanced team for the outdoor season. Cornell is weak in the sprints, but in the middle and longer distances, the hurdles, and the field events, particularly the weights, the team has developed considerable strength.

The team started the season by placing second to Harvard in the annual triangular meet with the Crimson and Dartmouth. Then, facing strong competition, it tied with Pennsylvania for first in the annual intercollegiates. Yale was beaten in the annual meet, and the victory over Michigan closed the season.

The summaries:

TRACK EVENTS

75-yard dash: won by Tolan, Michigan; Campbell, Michigan, second; Meinig, Cornell, third. Time, 0:07¾.

75-yard high hurdles: won by Heasley, Cornell; Clark, Cornell, second; Wood, Michigan, third. Time, 0:09¾.

75-yard low hurdles: tie for first between Heasley and Clark, Cornell; Siegel, Cornell, third. Time, 0:08¾.

440-yard run: won by Elmer, Cornell; Dale Seymour, Michigan, second; Russell, Michigan, third. Time, 0:51¾.

880-yard run: won by Treman, Cornell; Dulaff, Cornell, second; Mueller, Michigan, third. Time, 2:00 (new dual meet record).

One-mile run: won by Wolfe, Michigan; Martin, Cornell second; D'Anna, Michigan, third. Time, 4:25¾ (new dual meet and Drill Hall record).

Two-mile run: tie among Levering, Pattison, and Ranny, Cornell. Time, 9:52¾.

One-mile relay won by Michigan (Mosser, Russell, Dalton Seymour, Dale Seymour); Cornell (Meinig, Young, Rosenthal, Siegel), second. Time, 3:31.

FIELD EVENTS

16-pound shot put: won by Levy, Cornell, 49 meet 1 inch (new intercollegiate, Drill Hall, and dual meet record); Schoenfeld, Cornell, second, 46 feet 2¼ inches; Wickham, Cornell, third, 45 feet 5¼ inches.

Pole vault: tie for first place between Colyer, Cornell, and Pottle, Michigan, 13 feet; tie for third between West and Williams, Cornell.

Running high jump: tie for first among Hoppenstedt and Wickham, Cornell, and Felker, Michigan, 5 feet 10¾ inches.

REVIEW OF INDOOR SEASON

The indoor athletic season was featured by the victory of the wrestling team in winning the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association and the tie for first place achieved by the track team in the annual Indoor Intercollegiates.

Of the three major sport teams competing during the winter, only the basketball team failed to make a good showing.

This team won only five out of eighteen games, defeating Yale, Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Niagara, and Alfred. It lost return games with Yale, Pennsylvania, and Dartmouth, was defeated twice by Colgate, Syracuse, Princeton, Columbia, and also lost to Lafayette and Rochester. Cornell scored 475 points to 608 for its opponents.

In the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball League Cornell finished in a last-place tie with Princeton with three victories and seven defeats.

The selection of Captain Lewis as a guard on the all-star league team picked by the six coaches was one of the outstanding features of the Cornell season.

The wrestlers had one of their best seasons, losing only two dual meets, one of them with a team outside the association, on their way to the championship. The victory in the final title matches was the eleventh since 1910. Cornell has won the title more times than any other college.

The season opened with a 28-0 victory over Columbia. Ohio State won, 21-14, when Cornell was forced to forfeit two bouts because of the illness of two members of the team. Syracuse was defeated in a close match, and then Penn State won. The dual meet season closed with victories over Lehigh and Pennsylvania.

148 ATHLETES HONORED

Cornell athletes were honored at the annual Junior Smoker, held in Willard Straight Hall March 21. Awards were made to 148 athletes, representing twelve different sports teams, by Dean Dexter S. Kimball, president of the Athletic Council.

The speakers were Dr. Charles W. Kennedy of Princeton, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, and George R. Pfann '24, all-American quarterback. Professor Charles L. Durham '99 presided.

Dr. Kennedy referred to present discussion about over-emphasis in college sport and declared that most of the talk comes from persons who know little about them. Athletics, he said, are not for the sake of the victory only but must be an aid to future character development.

Pfann, a Rhodes scholar, spoke on the differences between sports in American and English colleges. The English idea, he said, is to compete for exercise only, without manifesting the spirit of competition or the desire for victory.

SPRING FOOTBALL SOON

Spring football practice began March 24, with 100 candidates answering the call of Coach Gilmour Dobie. Fred J. Wrampelmeier '29, former end, is assisting Coach Dobie.

FENCERS DEFEATED

The fencing team lost to Columbia, 10-7, in New York on March 22. The Lions took all four bouts with the saber to win the competition after Cornell had piled up a 6-1 lead in the foils matches. Cantor led the Cornell fencers with three victories in the foils bouts.

BASEBALL LEAGUE SCHEDULE

The schedule of the newly-formed Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League, composed of the same universities playing in the basketball circuit, was announced last week. Cornell is a member, along with Princeton, Pennsylvania, Columbia, Yale, and Dartmouth.

The schedule follows:

THE SWINGING BRIDGE

THIS AND THAT

Now that the two fraternity houses opposite the Armory have been razed to the ground, the community has a chance to see a glorious hill and valley view that all these years has been hidden. As you walk south you look over the roof of Cascadilla for many miles, and you begin to regret that a new building will soon shut off the view again.

By the way, I wonder how many other persons have walked across Cascadilla Bridge twelve thousand times?

Here is a cheerful little letter from a distinguished hand:—

'Martha and I are so flattered and delighted over your piece in The Alumni News that there is practically no standing us. Martha asked me what you would like for Christmas, and I told her a sabbatical year, so she is knitting you one. It is to be embroidered with scenes from that two-act musical comedy which Henry Loos and I wrote in the 1914 Masque competition, and which, when you read it in class, caused latent psychoneuroses and phobias to break out in three-quarters of the class including Morris Bishop.

'Andy White's book had sold 40,000 copies when I last heard news of it, and he is going to Bermuda next week, probably with the idea of buying Bermuda with a part of the royalties, and giving it to some poor family. Cushman and I, as the two Atlases of metropolitan journalism, are doing the really constructive work.

Yours as ever,

FRANK SULLIVAN.

On account of the brass rail, which is so good to lean on, more women students in Goldwin Smith turn their backs on Gari Melcher's great canvas than look at it.

One notes, without drawing a conclusion, that most of the objectors to the dietary in Willard Straight continue to eat there.

M. W. S.

ON CHEMICAL SOCIETY PROGRAM

Clyde W. Mason, assistant professor of chemistry, will present a paper at the seventy-ninth meeting of the American Chemical Society at Atlanta, Ga., April 7-11. More than 1,500 scientists from the United States and abroad are expected to attend. His subject will be "Microscopic Methods."

HAS 1,350 MATCH BOX LABELS

Match box labels form a unique collection, and Dr. Julian D. Corrington '13 of Syracuse University is the possessor of one of the largest in existence. For the past fifteen years, Dr. Corrington has collected labels, and he now has 1,350.

Ready for Roll Call

Cornellians in All Parts of Country to Meet April 1—Reports Show Wide-spread Interest

The organization of the Cornellian Council Roll Call is making rapid progress. The response to the proposal to increase membership in the Cornellian Council has been most hearty, and the enthusiastic cooperation has again evidenced a wide-spread interest of the alumni in Cornell. The largest number of Cornellians ever working together in a common cause will unite to make Cornell "the leader in contributing alumni."

In New York City, an All-Cornell dinner on April 1, under the auspices of the Cornellian Council, the Cornell Society of Engineers, and the Cornell Clubs of the Metropolitan District, will mark the beginning of the Roll Call. This will probably be the largest Cornell meeting ever held outside of Ithaca. Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman will be the guest of honor and principal speaker. The other speakers will be President Farrand, Myron C. Taylor '94, and Jervis Langdon '97. J. DuPratt White '90 will be the toastmaster. Miss Fanny G. Selden '10 is chairman for the women of New York City. The radio broadcast, announced in last week's issue of The Alumni News will be the first "hook-up" of the kind in Cornell history and will carry the message of Cornell's leaders to thousands of Cornellians throughout the country.

Miss Fannie P. Campbell, the executive secretary of the Metropolitan Roll Call Committee, is in charge of the office in the New York Central Building, 71 Vanderbilt Avenue, Room 308, telephone, Murray Hill 1706. Reservations for tickets for the New York dinner may be made through this office. Miss Campbell has, besides her work in organizing the Metropolitan District, visited Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Boston, Albany, Pittsburgh, New Brunswick, N. J., and Syracuse to help organize the Roll Call.

INTEREST COUNTRY-WIDE

Letters and telegrams to the Cornell office tell of the development of the Roll Call plan in the two hundred Cornell centers and the out-lying districts as well. The chairmen have shown keen interest, and are cooperating effectively.

From the West comes word that George R. Bliss '06 and Mrs. Bliss are giving a dinner on April 1 for all Cornellians in Santa Barbara, at their ranch home in Carpenteria. In Los Angeles, Sterling C. Lines '97 and his committee have planned an evening meeting on April 1 in which members of both the Women's Club and the Men's Club will be present. He writes, "I am confident that the joint meeting will prove to be thoroughly enjoyable and satisfactory." (Continued on page 320) made necessary by the players' lack of adequate equipment. The time of the periods in some of the games is also cut down, mainly because of the limited time available for the games. The officials who conduct these games are picked from the student body by the Council, after tryouts.

It has been possible to furnish coaches for some of the sports, and it is hoped that soon coaching can be furnished for all of them. This will not be possible, however, until the finances of the organization are a little more adequate.

In spite of the limited enrollment that the name "interfraternity" implies, it is not to be understood that only fraternity groups are eligible to register teams for competition, for such is not the case. Any group of non-fraternity men can organize a team, and are encouraged to do so. The only restriction placed upon these groups is that no man can play with more than one of them at the same time. The large group of non-fraternity men is thus enabled to take advantage of the interfraternity athletic organization.

The games are all conducted as tournaments, and at the end of the season the champion is given a silver cup. In addition to this, the champions are given a certain number of points, and then at the end of the year the fraternity having the greatest number of points receives the '97 Trophy—a cup which was donated for the fraternity turning out the best all-around teams for the year.

The facilities offered for the games are on the whole, adequate enough, but several of the sports are rather limited in the space available. The hockey teams, for example, must wait until the varsity team has left the ice before their games can start. This means that practically all hockey games must be played under the flood-lights, or on week-ends. Basketball, also, must wait until the varsity and intercollegiate teams have left before their games can be started. At present, all of the basketball games are played after dinner in the evening. This leaves very little time for the interfraternity teams to get any organized practice.

The outdoor games, however, with Upper Alumni Field, the Old Armory green, and fraternity lawns, have almost unlimited space. Coach John F. Moakley sets aside a special time for the track events to be run each spring.

In several of the Middle-Western universities, intramural buildings are provided, and it is hoped that in a few years Cornell will also have such a building.

The value of interfraternity athletics is to encourage men that are not varsity material, or have not the time to compete for a varsity team, to take place in organized athletics. How well this end has been accomplished can be shown by the results of a recent estimate, in which it was found that at least eighty per cent of the students were taking part in the sports throughout the year. The remaining twenty per cent consisted largely of the men who were on the varsity squads. The further popularity of the sports offered can be further shown by the fact that in the midst of one of the seasons it is not at all uncommon to have as many as eight games in progress during one afternoon or evening.

OBITUARIES

FREDERICK C. WOOD '74

Frederick Camp Wood, associated with the Grosvenor Library in Buffalo for many years and financial secretary at the time of his retirement in 1926, died at his home there on January 27.

He was born in Buffalo, the son of Francis P. and Elizabeth Merrell Wood. He received the degree of B.S. His wife, Mrs. Ellen Budgen Wood, survives him.

HIRAM L. HASKIN '80

Hiram Lowe Haskin, one of the oldest practicing pharmacists in Ithaca for the past twenty-five years and a druggist at the White and Burdick store on East State Street, died on March 13 after a long illness. He was born in Lansingville seventy-one years ago. He took one year of mechanical engineering.

JESSIE BOULTON THORP '83

Jessie Mary Boulton Thorp, wife of Charles M. Thorp '84, died in St. Petersburg, Florida, on March 7. She was born in Pittsburgh on March 4, 1862. She graduated with the degree of B.Litt., was a founder of the Cornell chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She was a former president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs. She was married in 1888 and resided in Pittsburgh until her death.

Mrs. Thorp is survived by her husband; her sister, Mrs. Robert J. Eidlitz (Sadie S. Boulton '83); six children, Mrs. W. Denning Stewart (Margaret B. Thorp '12) of Pittsburgh, George B. Thorp '14 of Cambridge, Mass., Mrs. John R. Minter (Evelyn L. Thorp '15) of Larchmont, N. Y., Charles M. Thorp, Jr., '16 of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Edwin W. Fiske, Jr., of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and Mrs. William F. Whitla of Sharon, Pa.; and four grandchildren.

I. GRANT DODGE '89

Ira Grant Dodge, realtor in Waverly, N. Y., died at his home there on March 5, after a long illness. He was born in North Chemung in 1868, the son of Ira and Alice Merrill Dodge. He took one year in the optional course. His wife, Mrs. Gertrude Mercereau Dodge, and a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Mulholland of Altadena, Calif., survive him.

WILLIAM H. H. HUTTON, JR., '91

William Henry Harrison Hutton, Jr., a pioneer in the automobile manufacturing business and one of the organizers of the Timken-Detroit Axle Company, died at his home in Wilmington, Del., on January 30. He was sixty. He took one year of mechanical engineering and later received the degree of M.D. at the University of Maryland. During the War he served as a colonel. His wife survives him.

EDWARD R. WOOD, JR., '97

Edward Randolph Wood, Jr., engineer in Philadelphia, died of pneumonia on March 5, in Paris. He was born in Philadelphia in 1876, the son of Edward R. and Mary Kneass Wood. He took four years of mechanical engineering. He was for many years with the engineering firm of R. D. Wood and Company, and was also president and treasurer of the Tampa Water Works, president of the Cotega Development Company, and a director of the Market Street National Bank. His father and two sisters survive him.

ERNEST A. PATTENGILL '99

Ernest Alanson Pattengill, since 1900 a member of the faculty at Iowa State College and associate professor of mathematics since 1914, died at his home in Ames on February 10, of heart disease. He received the degree of B.S. and took a year of graduate study. His wife and a daughter survive him.

RUSHTON H. CHARLTON '00

Rushton H. Charlton, supervisor of the Ouachita National Forest, died in Hot Springs, Ark., on February 13, of injuries received in an automobile. He was born in Chicago fifty-one years ago. He took one year of special forestry, and soon after entered the National Forest Service. His mother and his wife, Mrs. Yvonne Charlton, survive him.

DANA J. LEFFINGWELL '22

Dana Jackson Leffingwell, associate professor of zoology at the State College of Washington, died of pneumonia at Pullman, Wash., on March 7. He was born at Aurora, N. Y., on July 13, 1901, the son of Albert J. and Elisabeth F. Leffingwell. He received the degree of A.B. in 1922, of A.M. in 1923, and of Ph.D. in 1926. Leffingwell was a former secretary of the Tompkins County Sportsmen's Association and had been associated during the last four summers with the biological surveys of the New York Conservation Commission. He is survived by his mother.

In School and Society for March 15 Dr. Guy M. Whipple '00 writes on "What Price Curriculum-Making?"

THE CLUBS

ALBANY

The annual banquet was held at the University Club on February 27. The speakers were Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Bishop Ashton Oldham '02, of Albany, and Thomas I. S. Boak '14, chairman of the Committee of the Cornell Alumni Corporation on Relations with Preparatory Schools. C. Reeve Vanneman '03, a director of the Alumni Corporation, presided.

CAYUGA COUNTY

The Cornell Club of Cayuga County, New York, was organized on March 11, at a dinner held in Auburn. Plans were made for meetings at least once a month during the academic year, and the following officers were elected: president, Russell Morehouse '13; first vice-president, Harry V. Clements '04; second vice-president, Lyster M. Hetherington '17; third vice-president, Ralph K. Hickok, Grad.; secretary, John S. Hoffmire '16; treasurer, Samuel V. Kennedy, Jr., '24.

BATON ROUGE

The alumni of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, took advantage of the availability of Professor Everett F. Phillips of the Department of Agriculture, on February 28. Most of the alumni in the city and the vicinity met for luncheon with Dr. Phillips, in the private dining room at the Louisiana State University Building.

BUFFALO

The annual banquet was held at the Hotel Statler on March 8. The speakers were President Farrand and Colonel Joseph W. Beacham, Jr., '97. Fay H. Battey '09, president of the Club, introduced as toastmaster, James White Persons '06.

BUFFALO WOMEN

President Farrand was the speaker at the annual luncheon held at the Town Club on March 8. The luncheon was one of the most largely attended functions held during the last few years. Professor Eugene P. Andrews '95 also spoke briefly.

CHICAGO AND MILWAUKEE

Colonel Joseph W. Beacham, Jr., '97 and Professor Charles L. Durham '99 were the principal speakers at the annual banquets of the Clubs of Chicago and Milwaukee.

The Milwaukee meeting was held at the University Club on March 6, with Henry D. Lindsay '10 as toastmaster. In the election of officers Herman A. Uihlein '08 was elected president and F. Van Epps Mitchell '23 was re-elected secretary.

The Chicago dinner was held the following evening at the University Club in that city. William G. Strong '94 presided. The dinner was designed to be a testimonial to the older graduates, and Professor Durham's talk was directed particularly to them. William H. French '73 made the response for the guests of honor. The guests included principals of some of the high schools in and about Chicago.

Professor Durham addressed two meetings of school boys in Chicago. He spoke on Friday noon at a convocation of the four upper classes of the Chicago Latin School, taking as his subject the transition from preparatory school to college. He talked similarly at a meeting at the Lake Forest Academy on Saturday evening, in each case addressing approximately two hundred boys.

FINGER LAKES

Myron C. Taylor '94, Trustee of Cornell and chairman of the Finance Committee of the U. S. Steel Corporation, will be the guest of honor at the annual dinner to be held in Geneva on April 10. Through the courtesy of President Murray Bartlett of Hobart College, the dinner will be held at Coxe Hall of the College. Inasmuch as Mr. Taylor is a native of Lyons, New York, his visit to Geneva on April 10 will be in the nature of a home-coming.

ROCHESTER

Walter L. Todd '09 was the speaker at the regular weekly luncheon held on February 26. He discussed in detail the proposal to erect fraternity units on the land now reserved for the student dormitories.

Professor Arthur W. Browne '03 of the Department of Chemistry came over from Ithaca for the luncheon on March 5. Speaking under the title of "The Atom" he made a scientific subject of unusual interest to a lay group.

SCHENECTADY

About seventy alumni of Cornell, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the Case School of Applied Science met for luncheon at the Van Curler Hotel in Schenectady on March 7. President Wickenden of Case addressed the joint luncheon on "The Place of Engineering Education." Cornell alumni were well represented with thirty in attendance.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Charles D. Bostwick '92, comptroller of the University, who with Mrs. Bostwick is on a trip to the Pacific Coast, was the speaker at the weekly meeting on March 5. The luncheon was held at the University Club in Los Angeles. Mr. Bostwick spoke in intimate detail of some of the current problems of the University, bringing the Los Angeles alumni up to date on important developments of the last year or two.

MICHIGAN

Dean Kimball and Foster M. Coffin '12 were the speakers at the annual banquet, held at the Savoyard Club in Detroit on March 7. Arthur L. Rose '10, president, opened the meeting and then turned it over to Harold M. Hastings '10, who officiated as toastmaster.

MORGANTOWN, W. VA.

The Cornell Club of Morgantown was reorganized at a successful meeting held on March 14. The following officers were elected: president, Howard B. Allen '14; vice-president, Dr. Eugene P. Deatrack '17; secretary, Ferris D. Cornell, Jr., M.S. '24; treasurer, William E. Rumsey '91.

Motion pictures of the Campus, forwarded from the Alumni Office, were shown. The Club will hold its next meeting on April 1.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA WOMEN

The regular monthly meeting was held on March 8, at the College Women's Clubhouse on Bancroft Way. Oriental bowls and flowers made the table attractive for the luncheon. Mrs. Arthur B. Recknagel and Mrs. E. H. Thomas were hostesses at luncheon, after which the members adjourned to the lounge for the business meeting.

Mesdames Recknagel and Thomas are courtesy members of the club for this year, being wives of Cornell professors who are spending this year in Berkeley at the University of California.

Mrs. Nathaniel L. Gardiner (Edith M. Jordan) '01, acting president, presided at the meeting and appointed a nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. E. A. Bridgford (Emma G. Payne '93-4), Sp., of Oakland, chairman, Miss Lillian B. Bridgman, '98-9 Grad., and Mrs. E. W. Kramer (Olive R. Edwards) '05, of Berkeley.

The next meeting will be the annual meeting, at which the new officers will be elected. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Bridgford.

THIRD FIRE IN FRATERNITY

Fraternity house ruins on the Campus are causing the Ithaca police and fire departments considerable trouble.

The Alpha Delta Phi House, destroyed February 11, 1929, was again in flames of incendiary origin on the first anniversary of the fire. Two weeks ago, incendiaries burned the ruins of the Psi Upsilon House, then partially razed by wrecking contractors.

The third fire occurred in the Alpha Delta Phi ruins, and when the alarm was turned in fire department officials arrived in time to disperse a group of young men. One of them was captured and later released. The fire was extinguished shortly after it was set.

THE BALLOT FOR ALUMNI TRUSTEE

IMMEDIATELY after the receipt of this issue of The Alumni News by most of its readers the nominations for Alumni Trusteeships for 1930 will close. It is probable that this year, for the first time, the ambition of the Alumni Corporation will be attained by having at least one more nomination than twice the number of vacancies to be filled. It is not impossible that their minimum demands may be exceeded if all who are known to be flirting with the idea actually run. This shows respectable progress. The Corporation deserve congratulations on their achievement. The calibre of the candidates has apparently not suffered.

A majority in recent classes does not exercise the right of alumni suffrage. Not quite as large a proportion of the older classes fails to vote. A word on the subject may be pertinent at this point.

Nominations may be made by ten graduates of the University. They must file the nomination before midnight of April 1. In practice nominations are usually filed in March. Ballots and biographical sketches with portraits are mailed to holders of baccalaureate and advanced degrees about the fourth of April, preference being given to mailings to distant foreign countries.

Three-fourths of the voting is done by return mail. It is the belief of astute campaign managers that if the ballot is laid aside it is lost. All the campaign literature that does any real good goes out with or ahead of the ballots. It is not considered good form to put on a heavy campaign. It has not been done since long before the World War.

Consequently to those to whom voting for Alumni Trustee is a new or untried experience we suggest that they vote as soon as they receive the ballot, and that they carefully read all the fine print on both sides of all the enclosures. If representative government is worth anything whatever, it is certainly worth the effort to vote for one's representatives.

STABILIZED OSCILLOSCOPE

URNS SOUND INTO LIGHT

An instrument that turns sound into streaks of light, developed by Professor Frederick Bedell, M.S. '91, Ph.D. '92, of the Department of Physics, is being used as a test for voice culture, music study, and for assisting the deaf to learn when their pronunciation is correct, according to the Associated Press. The instrument, which resembles a radio cabinet, is known as the stabilized oscilloscope.

The device has one large, round, white glass eye, about six inches in diameter, and whenever anyone talks, sings, whistles, or plays a musical instrument, a line of green light streaks across this eye. The light is created by a stream of electrons inside the cabinet.

Actually it is no line of light at all, but rather a tiny green spot of light that moves across the glass and jumps back to repeat the trip so many times per second that the human eye sees the spot as an unbroken line. The spot alternates from 50 to more than 5,000 times a second.

Unless the spot returns to the exact point of space at exactly the right time, it will not repeat correctly, and there will be two green lines instead of one.

Professor Bedell employs a hand knob to place the timing of the spot near the right place. Then a device he calls a "tickling circuit" snaps the speeding light automatically to its target. The stabilizer can be locked in position to retain a correct picture of the sound under observation.

COSMOPOLITANS ENTERTAIN

The Cosmopolitan Club was host to Ithacans on March 21 at a special Ithaca Night program and entertainment at which Mayor Herman Bergholtz and Professor Louis M. Dennis, head of the Department of Chemistry, were speakers. Professor Dennis spoke of his student days in Germany.

For Alumni Trustee

Seven or More Candidates Expected to Run for the Three Places to be Filled in June

As The Alumni News goes to press, there is every indication that the field of candidates for Alumni Trustee may be the largest in the history of Cornell elections. The record up to now is six in 1905 and in 1927. This year there may be seven or more.

One reason for this prospect is the activity of the Board of Directors of the Alumni Corporation, which for the last three years has been stimulating alumni interest; another is the fact that this year there will be three places to be filled instead of the usual two. When Edwin N. Sanderson '87 was elected by the Board of Trustees to fill the place left vacant by the death of Colonel Henry W. Sackett '75, he was transferred from the group of Alumni Trustees to that of those elected by the Board itself. Mr. Sanderson was last June elected for his third term as alumni trustee; so the candidate who this year is chosen as his successor will serve four years.

Although in all cases the nominating petitions have not been filed, it can be stated on authority that the following candidates will be in the field:

Archie C. Burnett '90, of Boston; John B. Tuck '93, of Syracuse; Maxwell M. Upson '99, of New York; Alfred D. Warner '00, of Wilmington; Walter S. Finlay, Jr., '04, of Pittsburgh; Newton C. Farr '09, of Chicago; and Andrew J. Whinery '10, of Newark, New Jersey. Upson and Warner are running for reelection.

Nominations may be made by any group of ten graduates of the University, simply by addressing a petition to the treasurer of the University, George F. Rogalsky '07. The petitions must be in Mr. Rogalsky's hands not later than April 1. Ballots will be mailed immediately thereafter, to every person who holds a Cornell degree. The marked ballots will be received by the University not later than June 9. The results will be announced at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Corporation on June 14.

The candidates who finish in the first and second positions will be elected for the full five-year terms. The candidate finishing in third place will fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Sanderson.

NO PUBLICATION FOR FORTNIGHT

The next issue of The Alumni News will be that of April 17. This follows the schedule adopted last fall by which one more issue is omitted at the spring recess than has been the custom in previous years. For "Coming Events" see Athletic Schedules, page 313 ff.

THE WEEK ON THE CAMPUS

THE question whether the fraternities shall build in the dormitory group is both thorny and ticklish, if you capture the sensation. As already reported here, Psi Upsilon and Sigma Phi have made a handsome offer to the Trustees, who are now examining the proposal. It is also stated with conviction that Alpha Delta Phi and Alpha Tau Omega have made similar offers and that a number of other houses are waiting for the Trustees' answer to make plans of their own.

THE TRUSTEES are forced to the considerable task of peering into the future and picturing undergraduate social development for the next four or five hundred years. (There is no reason why Founders' Hall should not stand as long as the towers of Magdalen and Merton.) Into this problem we shall not for the moment enter, unless our list of lecturers of the week prove unexpectedly brief. We shall only note one fact revealed by The Sun, and that is, that the undergraduate members of the fraternities concerned are, almost to a man, in opposition. Their plan is to move to the Heights. "There imposing houses will be built and all their logical accompaniments provided in the form of tennis courts, spacious grounds, and other recreational aids. . . . Other fraternities would have to follow. The appeal of such a life to the entering freshman can easily be imagined."

THE PAST, it appears, must be completely cleared away before the new temples can rise. The Alpha Delta Phi ruins have just had their third fire. Fire Chief Bernard J. Reilly, when the blaze was reported, left his apparatus in the barns and set out single-handed, on an errand of fire prevention. After a stirring chase, he captured one of a group that was watching the blaze. It turned out to be a Cornell graduate in town for a visit. He has since disappeared, failing to present himself in court as directed. It is thought that the case may be taken to the Grand Jury. The matter may not be so very comic. These midnight fires have endangered other houses and the firemen who have had to work amid crazy ruins. Boys will be boys, to be sure, but arson will still be arson.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY has by a tradition now ancient become the special playday of the architects. Favored by genial weather, they brought out their dragon and indulged in their usual high-spirited Campus parade.

OUR CAMPUS Community Chest report is given in detail elsewhere. It seems a considerable feat to have raised $5,566 on this campus. True to our principle of reporting on the least important feature of these mighty matters, let us note that the merchants of College Town contributed $112. Heaven reward these gallant fellows. Surely it is of small financial concern to them that Cornell's work in China thrives, or that the cheer leaders are one hundred per cent Christianized. But when requested they turned meekly to their tills, perhaps in the confidence that the meek should inherit the earth. Let us here repeat the names of these great-hearted ones: The Student Agencies, the Triangle Book Store, George Doll, the Hill Drug Store, Pop's Place, the Hill Diner, Johnny's Place, the College Town Garage, Petrillose Brothers, the Cornell Shop, Fletcher's, the New Linden Garage, the Sheldon Court Barber Shop, Joe Cosentini, and Peter Scusa.

THE JUNIOR SMOKER, held in Willard Straight Memorial Hall, was to many the big event of the week. Professor Charles L. Durham '99 presided, and dedicated the meeting to Dean William A. Hammond. George Pfann '24 and Professor Charles W. Kennedy of Princeton were the other speakers.

THE DEPARTMENT of Physical Education and the Dramatic Club combined to produce a Dance Festival, presented in Willard Straight Theater on Friday and Saturday. "The Fires of Vesta" was the theme.

LECTURES: Heber D. Curtis, of the Allegheny Observatory, Pittsburgh, March 17, "Around the World to Chase a Shadow." Percy A. Scholes, music critic and author, March 18, subject, "How Music Grew Up." Professor Paul H. Douglas, University of Chicago, March 17, "Prosperity and the American Worker." Professor Oskar Hagen, the University of Wisconsin, March 21, "The Development of Style in Art." Alexander B. Trowbridge '90, former director of the College of Architecture, "The Construction of Modern Bank Vaults." Robert A. Pendergrass '00, vice-president of the McClintic-Marshall Company, "Problems of the Construction of the Hudson River Bridge." Karl P. Schmidt '16, of the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, March 22, "A Naturalist in the South Seas." Billings Wilson, deputy manager of the Port of New York Authority, March 22, "The Port of New York Authority."

JOHN CHARLES THOMAS, the baritone, gave a concert in Bailey Hall in the University Music Series. His selections were refreshingly novel.

THE NEW YORK TIMES Current Events contest was won by Herbert Brodsky '30 of New York, with George Simpson '30 of New York second and Abraham Levin

'32 of New York third. Brodsky wins $150 and his paper is entered with those of the winners from some twenty institutions in a further competition.

THE GUILFORD ESSAY Contest prize of $150 was won by Francis D. Wormuth '30 of Lowville, with an essay on Macaulay. Wormuth won the Messenger Prize last year.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preacher on March 23 was the Rev. Maxwell Savage, minister of the First Unitarian Church, Worcester, Mass.

"A FOUR-YEAR career in the University begins with disillusion and ends with illusion. The dispensations of culture have been poisoned by giver and receiver alike: by courses of orientation, particularly important, and advanced courses that instead of orienting or leading on, stand still and have no reason for continuing their lethargy; by insufferable attitudes of many students who contribute their unsolicited ebullient shallowness to the public."—The Columns.

COLONEL EDWARD DAVIS '96 was the subject of a magazine article in The New York Herald Tribune of March 16. Colonel Davis was the only American to accompany Allenby in his great Palestinian campaign. He is also one of the few who have played golf with a loaded golf ball. This last adventure was, I am afraid, one of a series of pranks put upon him by three old Cornell friends. Who are these Cornell friends? Who is the Cornellian who was kicked in the pants by the Turkish philosopher, Ben Ali Tewfik Bey?

LOCAL NOTES: The Country Club has decided to rebuild its old clubhouse on the old site, in as modest a manner as may be possible. Several holes of the course are laid on University land, and in view of future uncertainties, the Club is unwilling to make any large investment in a house. Tioga Street residents have been protesting at the alarming speed of the Tioga Street car. It is alleged to have exceeded the maximum speed limit of fifteen miles per hour permitted by the city ordinance. Lakeside Park, on Owasco Lake near Auburn, has had its name changed. Henceforth it is to be known as Enna Jettick Park.

"THE THETA DELTA CHI Fraternity announces that it will move to its new house on University Avenue during the spring vacation. It would interest the citizens of this town a lot more to be told when the old house is to burn down."—Who do you suppose, in The Ithaca Journal-News.

Completes Library Task

*Fine Collection of Wordsworthiana Is Fully Classified by Dr. Leslie
N. Broughton*

Classification of the St. John Collection of Wordsworthiana, presented to the Library by Victor Emanuel '19, New York, has been completed by Professor Leslie N. Broughton, Ph.D. '11.

The collection, regarded as the finest in America, was assembled by the late Mrs. Cynthia Morgan St. John of Ithaca, and now occupies a special section in the Library.

The collection contains practically all editions of Wordsworth, both English and American. It also includes more than twenty volumes which were once in Wordsworth's own library, and many of these books bear his autograph.

Included are first editions of The Evening Walk, Descriptive Sketches, Lyrical Ballads, The Excursion, The White Doe of Rylstone, The Thanksgiving Ode, Peter Bell, The Waggoner, The River Duddon Sonnets, Memorials of a Tour on the Continent, Ecclesiastical Sonnets, Ode to the Memory of Charles Lamb, Yarrow Revisited, The Convention of Cintra, inscribed "To Robert Southey from William Wordsworth," Two Addresses to the Freeholders of Westmoreland, with corrections in Wordsworth's handwriting, and several others.

There are two first editions of the Lyrical Ballads, 1798, one with the rare Bristol imprint of which only five copies are known, the other with the less rare but still valuable London imprint. The copy of the first edition of The Excursion belonged to B. R. Haydon, the painter, and has corrections of the text in Wordsworth's hand. The first edition of The White Doe of Rylstone has J. H. Reynolds's signature on the fly-leaf. There is also a first and now very rare American edition of the Lyrical Ballads.

The collection is rich in parodies, containing some of the very earliest and now very rare ones. There are also many valuable books on the English Lake Country, a large number of volumes containing poetical tributes to Wordsworth, numerous valuable biographical and critical works, many books containing personal reminiscences of the poet, a large amount of periodical literature, and not a few good books by Wordsworth's contemporaries.

Finally, there are a number of valuable manuscripts, including the earliest draft of the Ecclesiastical Sonnets in Mrs. Wordsworth's handwriting, the itinerary written for Wordsworth by Henry Crabb Robinson for a tour on the Continent in 1820, a large collection of manuscript letters to and from Wordsworth and the members of his family, including many between Wordsworth and Henry Reed, the famous pioneer Wordsworth scholar in America, several by Edward Dowden and J. R. Tutin; the only early portrait of Wordsworth, painted by Shuter, a companion to the portrait of Coleridge by the same artist, which is now in the British Museum; a valuable bust of Wordsworth that was given by Mrs. Wordsworth to Henry Reed and sold by his daughter to Mrs. St. John; a lock of Wordsworth's hair; his reading glass; and a large collection of pictures and portraits.

Dr. Broughton is now preparing a descriptive catalogue of the whole collection for publication as soon as possible. Plans are being made to add to the collection additional Wordsworthiana as the opportunity presents itself.

BOOKS

A GRADUATE MAGAZINE

The Cornell Contemporary Makes Its Bow. The Cornell Contemporary has been begun as a fortnightly magazine by certain members of the Graduate School. Smith Simpson, Law '31, is temporarily in charge. It is a modest four-page, three-column sheet 33 cm. tall. The leading article is an editorial discussion of the question, "Why a Graduate Student Magazine." Professor James E. Boyle, under the title "Whose Ox is Gored," offers searching criticism of President Hoover's tariff policy. Karl S. Loeffler '30 and Robert D. Jones '31 discuss "Cornell's Auto Question." Christopher Oakes, Grad., reviews The War of Independence, American Phase, by Claude H. Van Tyne.

We congratulate The Contemporary on having made a promising beginning, and extend our best wishes for success.

ECONOMIC GEOLOGY

Economic Geology. By Heinrich Ries. Sixth Edition, Revised. New York. John Wiley & Sons, Inc. 1930. 23.5 cm., pp. viii, 860. 75 plates, 291 figs. Price, $6.

The author of this excellent work has paid the fiddler. Since the book first appeared in 1905 a large part of his leisure time has gone into the preparation of revised editions. The book has long since become a standard in its field.

In making his successive revisions Dr. Ries has tried not to increase the size materially. The new book has only seventeen pages more than the fifth edition, which appeared in 1925.

While intended primarily as a textbook and work of reference, the book abounds in interesting facts for students of economics in general. Take for example the production of gold. In 1927 California led the States, producing 564,585 ounces; South Dakota came second with 322,032 ounces and Alaska third with 286,719 ounces. In silver Utah came first with 18,606,950 ounces, Montana second with 11,200,077 ounces, and Idaho third with 8,901,409 ounces. Take petroleum. The world's production in 1925 was 1,098,389,000 barrels of which the United States produced 70.2 per cent, Mexico 8.2 per cent, and Russia (except Sakhalin) 5.9 per cent. In this country California led with 224,673,000 barrels, Oklahoma came next with 179,195,000 barrels, and Texas third with 166,916,000 barrels, these three States accounting for about 52 per cent of the total American output. The price of petroleum per barrel in 1885 was 87 7-8 cents; in 1926 it had gone to $1.88. In soft coal in 1927 Wyoming led with 145,122,447 tons, South Dakota came next with 133,141,639 tons, and Maryland third with 69,123,998 tons. In the same year Pennsylvania produced 3,818,054 tons of soft coal and 80,095,564 tons of anthracite. The latter was valued at a trifle over $5 a ton at the mine; this particular consumer paid about $14 a ton delivered. Who got the difference?

It is hard to see how this book could be improved typographically. The photographs and figures come out admirably and the printing has been well done.

The volume will doubtless long continue to lead in its field—the very important one of the wealth beneath the surface of the earth.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINE ARTICLES

In Sportsmanship for February John T. McGovern '00 presents "A Foreword on the Olympic Games of 1932." There is a portrait of the writer. Another member of the Class of 1900, Lee F. Hanmer, is an associate editor of the magazine, which is the organ of the Sportsmanship Brotherhood. In the same number is announced the establishment of a chapter of the Brotherhood at Ithaca.

William F. E. Gurley '77 contributed verses entitled "At Bethlehem" to The Canadian American for December 21 and The Chicago Daily News for December 24; and verses on "New Year's Eve" to The British American for January 4 and The Danville Commercial-News for December 31. His portrait appeared in the issue of The Commercial-News for October 26 last.

In The Scientific American for February Professor Franz M. Jaeger discusses "A Big Practical Problem for Science." The problem is the power source of the future.

In The Journal of Philosophy for February 13 The History of Psychology by Professor Walter B. Pillsbury, Ph.D. '96, of the University of Michigan is reviewed by Jacob R. Kantor.

In The Harvard Graduates' Magazine for December Professor Theodore H. Eaton writes on "Mastery, Breadth, and Balance in Education."

In Modern Language Notes for March Professor William Strunk, Jr., Ph.D. '96, presents "Two Notes on the Towneley Second Shepherds' Play." Professor Ernest H. Hespelt '10, Ph.D. '25, of New York University, gives "A Variant of One of Gongora's Ballads." Professor Joseph Q. Adams's edition of Hamlet is reviewed by Baldwin Maxwell. Milton on Education edited by the late Professor Oliver M. Ainsworth '14 is reviewed by Marjorie Nicolson. Professor Hoyt H. Hudson, Ph.D. '23, of Princeton reviews The Poems of Sir Walter Raleigh edited by Agnes M. C. Latham.

In The Scientific Monthly for March Professor Vladimir Karapetoff discusses "Some Recent Changes in Our Attitude Towards the Nature of the Physical World." Professor Henry L. Rietz, Ph.D. '02, of the University of Iowa writes on "Pensions for Superannuated Employees." Professor Leon A. Hausman '14 of Rutgers presents "Recent Studies of Hair Structure Relationships." There is an article on "The New York Hospital-Cornell Medical College Association" with a picture of the architects' drawings of the new buildings.

Professor James E. Knott, M.S. '24, Ph.D. '26, of the Department of Vegetable Gardening has just published through Lea and Febiger of Philadelphia a work on Vegetable Growing. It deals especially with the principles of botany, physiology, and soils as related to the growth of vegetables.

In The Methodist Review for January-February Professor Irl G. Whitchurch, Ph.D. '21, of Garrett Biblical Institute writes on "Christian Unity."

In The Florida Historical Society Quarterly for January Rev. Edgar L. Pennington, A.M. '23, writes on John Forbes, d. 1783, the first Anglican priest in East Florida.

In The American Economic Review for December Professor Clyde O. Fisher, Ph.D. '19, of Wesleyan has a "Reply on the Small Loans Problem." Professor Henry L. Rietz, Ph.D. '02, of the University of Iowa reviews J. H. Moore's Handbook of Financial Mathematics. John Maurice Clark writes an obituary of the late Thorstein B. Veblen, '91-2 Grad., and there is also a notice of the late Professor Jeremiah W. Jenks.

In The Philosophical Review for January Professor Glenn R. Morrow, Ph.D. '21, of the University of Illinois reviews Platon der Erzieher by Julius Stenzel. Professor Harry Caplan '16 reviews The Autobiography of Joseph Scaliger translated by George W. Robinson. Professor G. Watts Cunningham, Ph.D. '08, reviews Neo-Hegelianism by Hiralal Haldar and The Major Traditions of European Philosophy by George Boas. Professor Henry W. Wright '99 of the University of Manitoba reviews The Growth of Philosophical Radicalism by Elie Halévy.

In The Physical Review for February 1 Professor Oscar M. Stewart, Ph.D. '97, of the University of Missouri reviews the second edition of Advanced Laboratory Practice in Electricity and Magnetism by Earle M. Terry.

In The Journal of Engineering Education for December Dean Embury A. Hitchcock '90 of Ohio State University presents "Some Reflections on Engineering Education." Professor Frank O. Ellenwood prints outlines of two lectures on "Gas Cycles" and "Vapor Cycles" delivered at the Summer School for Engineering Teachers on July 1 and 3 last. In the November issue Dean Kimball published an address on "Aims and Purposes of Mechanical Engineering Education."

Introductory Mechanical Drawing with Questions and Machine Layouts for Working Drawing Problems by Clarence E. Townsend '07 and Stephen F. Cleary '25 has lately been published by John Wiley & Sons, Inc.

In The Smith College Weekly for March 5 Professor Esther C. Dunn reviews Humanism and America: Essays on the Outlook of Modern Civilization, edited by Norman Forester.

In The Extension Service News for March Van Breed Hart '16, Maurice C. Bond '16, and Lawrence M. Vaughan '23 write on "The Agricultural Outlook for New York State in 1930." Professor Elmer S. Savage, M.S. '09, Ph.D. '11, writes on The Flexible Formula." Mancel T. Munn writes on "Particular Seed Buyers."

In The Cornell Contemporary for March 21 Professor Paul J. Weaver writes on "The Arts and the New South." Katherine Reeves reviews The Great Meadow by Elizabeth Madox Roberts. Adventurous America by Professor Edwin Mims, Ph.D. '00, of Vanderbilt, is reviewed by S. S. Christopher Oakes, Grad., reviews The Tragic Era by Claude G. Bowers and Lincoln at Gettysburg by William E. Barton.

In The Cornell Countryman for March the frontispiece is a portrait of Professor James E. Rice '90. John C. Huttar '24 writes on "The Weak Link" in the poultrymen's organization. Professor Golden O. Hall, M.S.A. '23, Ph.D. '26, shows that "It Pays to Pedigree Breed." John S. Putnam '29 writes on "Better Eggs from New York."

In The Purdue Alumnus for March there are portraits of Professor Emeritus Joseph C. Arthur, D.Sc. '86, and William K. Hatt '91 of Purdue as they looked in 1900.

The Wesleyan Alumnus for February includes an obituary of the late Frederic Cutts '97, Wesleyan '93.

Complete Chest Campaign

Fund of $5,566 Is Raised in United Effort for Support of Campus Activities

The University Chest last week completed its first campaign with a fund of $5,566 collected for the use of various Campus agencies. The campaign was the first unified effort made to provide funds for these activities, which hitherto had made individual efforts among Faculty and students.

The original quota of $6,000 was cut to $5,500, when the Ithaca Community Chest waived its own share, $500, of the total in accordance with an agreement which provided that in the event of the subscriptions failing to amount to much more than $5,500 it should claim none of the proceeds.

The fund raised will be apportioned as follows:

United Religious Work, $2,700; Cornell-in-China, $866; Red Cross, $1,200; cheer leaders, $241; emergency fund, $285; and organization expenses, $274.

A statement given out by the executive committee of the Chest says:

"In order to attain the Campus quota it was necessary to canvass the Faculty and those merchants on the hill who are in closest relation and sympathy with the University community. The Faculty responded generously to a hurried canvass, sending fully half of the $580 worth of contributions through the mail in response to a circular letter appeal for aid. The merchants, canvassed personally by a special sub-committee, without exception, responded generously.

"After the drive had begun, it was ascertained through a misunderstanding that the quota awarded to the Cornell-In-China Club had been based upon the amount raised from student and Faculty instead of from the undergraduate body alone, as originally stipulated.

"Since the C. U. R. W. and Cornell-In-China had held separate Faculty drives in the past, and had intended to do so again this year, the committee's decision to canvass the Faculty for the drive as a whole cut in on the customary returns of these two organizations. Consequently, the committee divided the entire surplus between these two organizations."

The committee's statement made special mention of the work of Walter C. Heasley '30, Warren, Pa., Charles E. Treman, Jr., '30, Ithaca, Samuel Wake-man '30, Quincy, Mass., Leonard A. Marcuseen '30, Buffalo, Samuel R. Levering '30, The Hollow, Va., Frederick G. Dulaff '30, Brooklyn, and John M. Billings '30, North Manchester, Ind.

In the March Current History Archie M. Palmer '18 writes on "The Wandering Scholar of the Present."

Ready For Roll Call

In Chicago the committee is receiving enthusiastic support. At the Chicago Club dinner recently, William G. Strong '94 and Professor Charles L. Durham '99 spoke on behalf of the Roll Call. The Cornell Club of Atlanta plans a smoker for April 1 at the Hotel Ansley. Cornellians in New Orleans have issued a "call to arms," and are meeting with marked success in their efforts to arouse the alumni in Louisiana to renewed interest and enthusiasm.

An All-Cornell Smoker on April 1, at Kugler's Restaurant in Philadelphia, will usher in the Roll Call in that city. The Committee announces that "This will be the most important Cornell gathering held in Philadelphia in many years."

Herman C. Kandel '14, of State College, Pa., in a recent letter, said, "on March 14, at my home, we had a hum-dinger of a committee meeting to get things organized for the banquet on April 1 and for the Roll Call two weeks following." Walter P. Phillips '15, the Boston chairman, reports that he has sixty captains working. Walter L. Todd '09 held a successful dinner-meeting recently in Rochester, and the workers there are "all set" to make a record in leadership for Cornell and Rochester. The women, under the leadership of Carroll Grimmer '24, are working, also, for a 100 per cent record for the alumnae of that district.

JOE BEACHAM IN COMMAND

Colonel Joseph W. Beacham '97 has taken command of the situation in Ithaca, and an energetic organization has been perfected. Nine division commanders, twenty team captains, two hundred workers, and an executive committee are ready to start at the crack of the gun.

Lockwood Hill '09 writes, "We are all with you and will do our part to increase the membership of the Cornellian Council." Edward S. Sanderson '94 says that the alumni in Connecticut "will do their best and hope for the best." A Cornell smoker will be held at the Rocky Fork Country Club April 1 in Columbus, Ohio. The Cornell Club of Auburn is showing a great deal of interest.

In Washington, the committee of which Paul E. Lesh '06 is chairman, will hold a luncheon meeting to launch the Roll Call on March 31.

C. Ray McCallum '18 writes, as chairman of the Milwaukee committee, "I feel sure that Wisconsin will do its share in the Roll Call, and I am looking forward to sending you a good report."

The Detroit Committee, James W. Parker '08 chairman, plans a general meeting of all Cornellians on the night of April 1.

Alumni of New Jersey plan to attend the New York dinner. One of them writes, "This is going to be such an unprecedented Cornell affair that I believe every Cornellian in the Metropolitan District should be induced to attend."

There will be a dinner in Chapel Hill, Durham, North Carolina, at which David Hoy '91 will be the principal speaker.

Charles E. Cassidy '23, Roll Call chairman for Hawaii, writes, "I will gladly exert every possible effort to make the campaign a success in this district. Response to the Roll Call should be greatly stimulated by the happy coincidence of Professor Bristow Adams' and Archie C. Burnett's presence in the Islands."

The radio program from the New York dinner will be broadcast from the following modified list of stations in the Columbia chain from 10.30 to 11 p. m., Eastern Standard Time:

WABC	— New York
W2XE	— New York
WCAO	— Baltimore, Maryland
WBRC	— Birmingham, Alabama
WNAC	— Boston, Massachusetts
WKBW	— Buffalo, New York
WHK	— Cleveland, Ohio
WHP	— Harrisburg, Pennsylvania
WFIW	— Hopkinsville, Kentucky
KLRA	— Little Rock, Arkansas
WREC	— Memphis, Tennessee
WLAC	— Nashville, Tennessee
WLBW	— Oil City, Pennsylvania
WFAN	— Philadelphia, Pennsylvania
WJAS	— Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
WEAN	— Providence, Rhode Island
WFBL	— Syracuse, New York
WMAL	— Washington, D. C.
WKBN	— Youngstown, Ohio

MORE POWER FOR RADIO STATION

The Federal Radio Commission has granted an increase in power to Station WEAI at Cornell. The power, for daytime broadcasting, will be increased from 500 to 1,000 watts. The broadcasting station was represented at a hearing in Washington recently by Professor William C. Ballard '10 and Charles A. Taylor '14.

EIGHT JUNIOR women have been elected to Mortarboard, senior honorary society. They are Catherine A. Blewer, Owego; Barbara C. Crosby, Falconer; Mary Fuertes, Ithaca; Frances E. Meisse, Brooklyn; Helen L. Nuffort, Newark, N. J.; Miriam Prytherch, Binghamton; Mary F. Shields, Chatham, N. J.; and Hilda A. Smith, Rochester.

THE CORNELL WOMEN'S Club of New York will hold a bridge and tea for undergraduates Saturday afternoon, April 5, from 2.30 until 6 o'clock at the club rooms, the Barbizon, 140 East Sixty-third Street. Constance Cobb '29 will be hostess.

TRAIN FOR SPRING SPORTS

Five teams are now in training for the spring sport season. The baseball team will leave Ithaca at the end of March for six games in the South before it opens the home season with Columbia at Ithaca April 19.

The crews, aided by warm weather during the last of Winter, have been out on the water for several weeks. Last week the first row to Glenwood was held.

The track team meet with Michigan March 22 closed the winter season. The Penn Relays at Philadelphia will open the out-door season April 26.

The lacrosse team, which has been out-doors for two weeks, will open its season April 4 against Princeton at Princeton, and the tennis team will play its first match at Ithaca on April 18, with Princeton as its opponent.

The schedules follow:

BASEBALL

March 31, North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

April 1, North Carolina at Chapel Hill; 2 and 3, Duke at Durham; 4, Georgetown at Washington; 5, Maryland at College Park; 12, Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; 19, Columbia at Ithaca; 23, St. Bonaventure at Ithaca; 26, Ohio State at Ithaca; 30, Colgate at Ithaca.

CALLS RE-APPORTIONMENT PLAN OF GROUP INVALUABLE

The work of a census advisory committee headed by Professor Walter F. Willcox on the problem of re-apportionment of Congressional representation is praised in a letter to Professor Willcox from Senator Arthur H. Vandenburg of Michigan.

This committee recommended the adoption of a permanent enabling act to prevent the lapse of re-apportionment that occurred in 1920 after the taking of the Federal Census.

Senator Vandenburg's letter follows in part:

"Your committee has rendered indispensable service in connection with the new re-apportionment law which fixes a permanent and automatic routine under which there can be no further lapses in this decennial constitutional function. In the midst of my preparation for the battle over this legislation in the Senate, I confronted the absolute necessity for unifying the scientific thought of the country—so far as possible—upon one advisable method of procedure.

"The most effectual encouragement enjoyed by the opponents of re-apportionment came from what seemed to be a violent disagreement among the country's experts as to the best re-apportionment method. The disagreement in fact related to a mathematical formula and not to the desirability of an automatic rule of procedure which should permanently cure the nullification of a decade. My problem was to make this distinction unassailably plain to the Senate.

"In this extremity I appealed to Dr. Stewart, director of the Census, to re-assemble his advisory committee drawn from the membership of the American Statistical Association and the American Economic Association. Secretary of Commerce Lamont concurred in my request.

Thereupon your committee assembled in Washington and made its now famous report of April 13, 1929. In this report your members took the large and necessary view that a quarrel over mathematical detail should not be permitted to defeat the major constitutional need for automatic decennial re-apportionment as the Constitution directs. Your unanimous report in favor of the permanent enabling act was the most powerful single weapon in my hands throughout the contest which resulted in writing this enabling act into the law of the land.

"Your committee is entitled to feel that it substantially shares whatever credit may attach to this Congressional action which has cured the nullification of a decade and which promises immunity from such nullification for the future. I renew my expression of deep appreciation for the very splendid cooperation rendered in this emergency."

ON EXPEDITION TO AFRICA

George B. Saunders, Grad., Oklahoma City, Okla., is on his way to Africa with an expedition seeking to collect specimens for the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia. The expedition is headed by Rodolphe Meyer de Schauensee, Philadelphia ornithologist. The expedition will also photograph and study the natives as well as animal and plant life.

GOING TO CASE INAUGURAL

Cornell will be represented at the inauguration of Dr. William Elgin Wicken as the third president of the Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland on April 10-12 by Dean Dexter S. Kimball of the College of Engineering. Dean Kimball, a past president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, will give one of the principal addresses at the inauguration.

A MARCH ICE STORM TOUCHES THE CAMPUS WITH SILVER AND CRYSTAL

THE ALUMNI

'80 BS—Lee J. Vance is the publisher of The Beverage News at 302 Broadway, New York. He was from 1904 to 1921 secretary of the American Grape and Wine Growers Association, and has contributed to many magazines and to the Encyclopedia Americana and the Encyclopaedia Britannica. He lives at Bayside, Long Island, N. Y.

'85—John A. Mattison has retired after thirty-three years with the New York Central Railroad, first as an attorney in the legal department and for many years as land and tax agent for the Northern New York territory. He lives in Pulaski.

'93 CE, '20 MCE—Henry R. Lordly has been awarded the Perry F. Nursery Memorial Premium for 1929 by the Council of the Society of Engineers, London, England, for a paper on the waterproofing of concrete structures. This premium is awarded annually to the author of a technical paper adding to engineering knowledge. Lordly was formerly engineer of design and construction on the Lachine Canal for the Canadian Department of Railways and Canals, and is now attached to the technical service of the City of Montreal. In 1919-20 he was McGraw Fellow in engineering at Cornell.

'95 BL—William P. Beeber has resigned from the city planning commission of Williamsport, Pa., of which he has been chairman since its establishment in 1920. He has become associated in the practice of law with his uncle, Former Judge Dimmer Beeber, and his associates, in Philadelphia, but will retain his own law offices in Williamsport. Mr. Beeber is also chairman of the board of the First National Bank in Williamsport, and vice-president and a director of the Williamsport Furniture Company and the Sweet's Steel Company, and treasurer of the Williamsport Hotels Company.

'95 ME—The Alumni News regrets that it was misinformed about the present whereabouts of Colonel Frederick Phisterer '95 (see our last issue, page 305). Colonel and Mrs. Phisterer are now in Honolulu. He is still in service in the Army.

'98 LLB—Gail Laughlin, now a member of the Maine House of Representatives, is expected to run for office for the State Senate. During her terms in the House she led successful fights for adequate appropriations for child welfare and the laws giving to mothers equal powers with fathers over minor children, and is the only woman to serve on the legal affairs and judiciary committees. She is also a member of the recess committee on the revision of statutes. She was formerly an expert for the United States Industrial Commission.

'05 ME—Austin McR. Warner is now a draftsman with the Hecla Mining Company in Burke, Idaho. From 1923 to 1928 he was doing electrical substation design for the West Texas Utilities Company. He lives at 42 Mullan Road, Wallaca, Idaho. He has three sons and a daughter.

'07 ME—W. Dickinson Shields is with Spang Chalfont and Company, Inc., in Ambridge, Pa. He lives at 217 Chestnut Street, Edgewood, Sewickley P.O., Pa.

'07 LLB—R. V. Mitchell and Company, of which Ray Verne Mitchell is president, has consolidated with the Herrick Company and will continue their general investment security business under the name of Mitchell, Herrick and Company, with offices in Cleveland, Canton, Cincinnati, Akron, and Springfield.

'07; '07 CE—The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, of which Arthur Roeder is president and Everett Drennen '07 vice-president, and its subsidiary companies in 1929 had a net income of $2,350,048. The company mines its own raw materials and fabricates a number of steel products, produces and sells at wholesale and retail anthracite, bituminous, and lignite coal, manufactures and sells coke, and is exclusive national distributor for Chemacol, a coal processing preparation. The general offices are in Denver.

'11—Carl H. Butman, secretary of the Federal Radio Commission since 1927, has resigned and plans to re-enter newspaper work, specializing in the radio field.

'11—Rollin L. Tilton, who is a major in the Coast Artillery Corps, is now instructing at the Coast Artillery School at Fortress Monroe, Va. His permanent address is care of the Adjutant General, United States Army, War Department, Washington. He has three daughters.

'11—Henry Scarborough, Jr., who was formerly associated with Goddard and Company, has announced the formation of Scarborough and Company with offices at Room 1664, 175 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago. The company will deal in insurance, especially for banks and financial institutions.

'11 AB, '12 BS—Jay D. B. Lattin, who has been studying at the Command and Staff School of the United States Army at Fort Leavenworth, will in June go to Panama as Division Signal Officer of the Panama Division. His permanent address is 16 North Main Street, Albion, N. Y.

'11 ME—Mortimer Frankel has been since 1922 president and general manager of the Audiola Radio Company, which has just been merged with the Wilmot Manufacturing Company of which he was formerly president. Mr. Frankel founded both companies. His office is at 430 South Green Street, Chicago. He lives at 210 Maple Hill Road Glencoe, Ill.

'12 BS, '13 MLD—John R. Van Kleek is a landscape and golf course architect. His address is 223 Taylor Arcade, St. Petersburg, Fla.

'12 ME—Russell H. Kent has been for many years an executive with the Kent Manufacturing Company, in Clifton Heights, Pa. He lives at 441 Riverview Road, Swarthmore, Pa.

This is the time in the term when our tutoring service can be of the greatest real benefit.

We aim to give the kind of aid that will enable the student to find the reason for his difficulties and to get some real mastery of the course in question.

If persons in whom you are interested at Cornell are having trouble with some phase of their work we suggest that you advise them to see what our tutor can do to assist.

Cornell Bookplates

Cut this out and indicate the one you want

These are distinctive and identify your books. Several hundred people have already ordered them. The price is only $1.50 per hundred and $1.50 extra for printing your name. If more than one hundred are ordered, the printing after the first hundred is 50c per hundred. Exact samples may be obtained by writing for them.

Cross Section Papers for Particular People

Those who have ordered their cross section papers of the Co-op, have done so because of quality. Quality of paper is obtained by using a rag stock paper. Accuracy is obtained by careful inspection of our plates before printing. There are only two processes which can be accurate. Send for the sample book and prices.

About Cornell University

"Concerning Cornell" is a delightful story of the founding, growth, traditions, and aims of the University. The book is sold in two bindings. Leather (thin paper edition) $4.50 and cloth $3.00. The Sun Fiftieth book, gives additional matter. Cloth bound $3.50 and paper $2.00.

Children in Bondage

What a tragic thought!

Yet, a dependent child who is compelled to leave school at an early age and work for wages is little else.

There is only one alternative when a widow and her children are left penniless, and that is to turn to Charity. Pride often deters them.

Why expose children to such hazards? Wisely selected life insurance would safeguard them until they are well equipped for a career.

Ask the Prudential Man!
