FOR VICTORY TODAY AND SOUND BUSINESS TOMORROW

Get This Flag Flying Now!

This War Savings Flag which flies today over companies, large and small, all across the land means business. It means, first, that 10% of the company's gross pay roll is being invested in War Bonds by the workers voluntarily.

It also means that the employees of all these companies are doing their part for Victory . . . by helping to buy the guns, tanks, and planes that America and her allies must have to win.

It means that billions of dollars are being diverted from "bidding" for the constantly shrinking stock of goods available, thus putting a brake on inflation. And it means that billions of dollars will be held in readiness for post-war readjustment.

Think what 10% of the national income, saved in War Bonds now, month after month, can buy when the war ends!

For Victory today . . . and prosperity tomorrow, keep the War Bond Pay-roll Savings Plan rolling in your firm. Get that flag flying now! Your State War Savings Staff Administrator will gladly explain how you may do so.

If your firm has not already installed the Pay-roll Savings Plan, now is the time to do so. For full details, plus samples of result-getting literature and promotional helps, write or wire: War Savings Staff, Section F, Treasury Department, 709 Twelfth Street NW., Washington, D. C.

WAR PLANS PROCEED University Intensifies Aid

Announcement of Army and Navy programs for men in college reached the University two days before Christmas recess. President Edmund E. Day, in Washington as chairman of the American Council on Education committee which had worked on the plans with the War Manpower Commission and the War and Navy Departments, telephoned this advice to students at the University:

"The Army and Navy programs make clear the fact that, at the earliest, no student in the Enlisted Reserve of either branch of the service will be called before the end of the present semester. Even then, by no means all reserves will be inducted. Substantial groups are excepted from early call, in order that they may continue training for war service on the Campus. It is therefore obvious that the immediate job for Cornell students, both for their present and for their future good, is to work hard on current assignments until the call to active duty. . . ."

Earlier that week, a previous restriction against underclassmen here enlisting directly in the Naval Reserve for officer training was lifted, a Navy selection board arrived on the Campus, and on December 15, the last day of permitted enlistment, some seventy students were sworn into the Naval Reserve in a special ceremony in Olin Hall.

Many Students to Finish Year

Since the general announcement of Army and Navy plans, the University has received successive interpretations of their various provisions. Professor A. Wright Gibson '17, chairman of the University's student war service committee, summarized the effects of these rulings, as of last week, with warning that information is changing from day to day.

"We are told now," Gibson said, "that all students in Advanced ROTC will remain in college until the end of the present college year. Students who have enlisted in either V-1 or V-7 of the Naval Reserve, the Army Air Force Reserve, or the Marine Corps Reserve will stay until the end of this college year, as far as we know, and some of them will very likely stay longer than that.

"Freshmen and Sophomores who enrolled in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps were permitted to indicate whether they wished to serve with the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps, and if with the latter two it was arranged that they would be transferred to Navy or Marine Corps enlistment as soon as they had completed their basic ROTC training. These students, who enlisted in that branch with Navy or Marine Corps preference, will remain in college for the rest of the year, but those with Army preference and the Juniors and Seniors in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps are expected to be called to active duty soon after the end of the present term.

"Pre-medical students from all Classes are indicated to remain in college until the end of the year, and so are Junior engineers in ERC Pre-veterinary students are also listed in the deferred class, but their status is not entirely clear, although I think there is no question that they will remain for the year. Of course, all veterinary and medical students will remain to graduate.

"Students who are under Selective Service will be called or deferred according to the interpretation and decision of their respective draft boards. Engineering students with one or more years of training and pre-medical students will pretty generally be deferred. Probably a good many in Agriculture and certainly all Physics, Chemistry, and Bacteriology majors have been designated for deferment. It looks as though students in other categories may expect to be drafted, but undoubtedly there will be some exceptions."

University Use Unknown

Just what use will be made of the University for the announced specialized training programs of the Army and Navy and for the program being developed by the War Manpower Commission was not known last week. Before Christmas, University authorities answered a questionnaire from the Manpower Commission detailing the facilities available here for instruction, housing, feeding, and giving physical training to men who might be sent here. It is understood that officials of the Army, Navy, and Manpower Commission are now selecting the colleges and universities that will be used for training men in uniform and for industry.

Faculty Prepares

Meantime, Dean Cornelius Betten, PhD '06, of the University Faculty, announced last week that the University would begin next term evening refresher courses to train members of the teaching staff to give instruction outside their own departments, as needed in the war programs. The first courses will be in Mathematics and Physics, with special emphasis on the basic stages of the training which the Army and Navy will require. A special University committee of planning and coordination has been organized, with Dean Betten as chairman,

ALUMNI FUND REPORT Shows Successful Year

Annual report of the Alumni Fund for the year ended June 30, 1942, is being mailed to all alumni. President Edward E. Goodwillie '10 reports that the Alumni Fund Council turned over to the University $115,856.02 in unrestricted gifts from 7,536 contributors; the largest Alumni Fund from the greatest number of alumni since 1931. Names of all contributors are listed in the forty-six-page report.

President Edmund E. Day outlines in the report the changes which the war has brought about at the University and those which are to come. "The Alumni Fund can be proud of its achievement during 1941-42, as recorded in this annual report," he says. "Despite uncertainty and rapidly shifting values, Cornellians held fast to Cornell. The need for that steadfast support of the University is even greater now. And the necessity for unrestricted funds, which the Alumni Fund provides, will be greater, because the prediction of specific needs is becoming steadily more difficult. . . . Our contribution to the public weal is characteristic of the Cornell we know. Cornell has had a distinguished record in other wars, and will make one in this. And if given continued support during these years of crisis, Cornell will make even greater contributions to the better world which will inevitably come."

Tabulation of gifts by Classes shows the largest amount from the Class of '92, which set a precedent with a Fifty-year Reunion Fund to be closed December 31, 1942. At the year's end, the Class Reunion committee announced the sum of $11,556.26 contributed to the University. A letter from the committee under chairmanship of Peter F. McAllister attributes "the inspiration of this innovation to our deceased past president and beloved Classmate, John Lovejoy Elliott. In carrying it through to this modest end, it is the hope of President [George W.] Bacon and our Reunion committee as well as each member of the Class, that this precedent may be followed by all Fiftieth Reunion Classes as a token of love for Old Cornell and in a spirit of thankfulness that at plus three score and ten years they still evidence interest in the institution that in so great a measure exerted a good influence on their lives."

In regular gifts to the Alumni Fund, the Class of '10, Harold T. Edwards, chairman, led all others, with $7,229.76. Leader in percentage of living members contributing was the Class of '95, Harry J. Clark chairman, with 37.44 per cent.

Next were the Class of '16 women, Helen Irish Moore chairman, with 36.64 per cent. Class of '15, Matthew Carey chairman, reported 285 contributors to lead the Class of '10 with 237.

Report of the Alumni Fund for 1941-42 may be obtained on request by any Cornellian who does not receive it.

LAW QUARTERLY ARTICLES

In the current issue of Cornell Law Quarterly, dated November, 1942, Professor Robert E. Cushman, Government, discusses the Nazi saboteur case in which the US Supreme Court rendered its opinion October 29. Professor George J. Thompson, Law, considers "Recent Steps in Government Regulation of Business." Henry S. Fraser '26, legislative reporter for the New York State Bar Association, analyzes "The Benjamin Report on Administrative Adjudication."

FACULTY CHANGES

Dr. Willis A. Gortner, recently research chemist for General Mills, Inc., has been appointed assistant professor of Biochemistry in the School of Nutrition, President Day has announced. Since he received the BS in 1934 at University of Minnesota, except while working for the PhD which he received at University of Rochester in 1940, Dr. Gortner has been conducting research on vitamins with General Mills. Since 1940, he has been in charge of research on vitamins of the B complex and of industrial problems on flour proteins. He is the son of the late Ross A. Gortner, head of the department of agricultural chemistry at University of Minnesota.

Lewis D. Conta, PhD '42, instructor in Experimental Engineering, has been advanced to assistant professor of Engineering Materials under the ESMWT program. Among new instructors are Francis A. Leuder, Jr. '31, Agricultural Engineering; Peng Cheng Hsu, PhD '42, Animal Nutrition; and Mrs. Marguerite K. Harper, MS '32, Foods and Nutrition.

The University has granted leaves of absence to Professor Lynn A. Emerson, Industrial Education, for work with the Army Air Service Command in its educational program; to Professor J. Barkley Rosser, Mathematics, who goes to Washington February 1 as consultant to the National Defense Research Committee, Office of Emergency Management; to Professor Robert J. Walker, Mathematics, now mathematical consultant in testing military equipment at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.; to Professors David B. Hand, PhD '30, Biochemistry, and P. Paul Kellogg '29, Ornithology; and to Charles P. Baker '32 and Marshall G. Holloway, PhD '38, research associates in Physics, for war work. Leaves were extended for Professors Martin P. Catherwood, PhD '30, Public Administration, now New York State Commerce Commissioner, and H. Seymour Pringle

'26, Agricultural Engineering, who is commodity expert on farm machinery with the OPA.

BOOKS By Cornellians

COUNTRY YARNS

Growing Up in the Horse and Buggy Days. By Dean Carl E. Ladd '12, Agriculture, and Edward R. Eastman, University Trustee and editor of American Agriculturist. Nesterman Publishing Co., Inc., New York City. 263 pages. $2.50.

Two Cornellians who grew up in the farm country of central New York reminisce in this book of their boyhood in the quarter-century from 1880. Their style is colloquial, and their experiences are full of the country humor that rings true. As the two authors swap yarns, any reader with a country background will recall similar incidents that make the book his own. It is like an evening with well-loved friends of one's youth!

Romeyn Berry in a Preface says the book is important because it preserves "the social and spiritual values of the family farm." It probably is and does, but besides all that, these stories are fun to read because they are real and alive. If you have ever lived in the country, don't miss this book!

VETERINARIANS ELECT

Veterinary College Alumni Association at its annual dinner in Willard Straight Hall January 6 elected Dr. Albert L. Brown '15, acting director of the New York State Bureau of Animal Industry, president of the Association. He had been vice-president, and succeeds Professor Denny H. Udall '01. New vice-president is Dr. Charles C. Rife '24 of Atlanta, Ga. Professor Donald W. Baker '29 was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Speakers at the dinner were Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30, acting Alumni Secretary, and Dr. Clarence P. Zepp '19, director of the Cornell Alumni Association representing the Veterinary alumni.

Approximately 175 alumni attended the dinner, which was during the thirty-fifth annual College conference for veterinarians. For three days, January 6-8, veterinarians from the Northeast and several Midwestern and Southern States attended lectures and demonstrations at the Veterinary College devoted to the newest developments in their profession. Speakers included most of the College Faculty and a considerable number of practicing veterinarians and officials, among whom were Drs. Brown and Rife; Dr. William W. Dimock '05 of the University of Kentucky, president of the American Veterinary Medical Association; Dr. Richard N. Shaw '12 of Shrewsbury, Mass.; Dr. Leland J. Tompkins '12, milk sanitarian of the Medical Milk Commission, Medical Society of the County of New York; Dr. James F. Shigley '16 of Penn State College; Dr. Erwin V. Moore '17 of Cortland; Dr. Edward R. Cushing '19 of Plainfield, N. J.; Dr. Laurence W. Goodman '26 of Manhasset; and Dr. George H. Hopson '28, milk sanitarian, DeLaval Separator Co.

SIXTH IN PHYSICISTS

Cornell ranks sixth among 746 colleges and universities in the number of its graduates listed as physicists in the biographical volume, American Men of Science. A study made by Professor Oswald Blackwood of University of Pittsburgh of persons listed who received first degrees after 1919 shows that nineteen are Cornellians. MIT has the largest number, thirty-seven, followed by Wisconsin, University of California, California, California Institute of Technology, and Harvard.

MORE ARMY-NAVY AWARDS

To the industrial firms named in the last ALUMNI NEWS which have received awards from the Joint Army-Navy Production Board for excellence in war production, many others where Cornellians are executives should undoubtedly be added. Since publication of that list, we have learned that Summerill Tubing Co. of Bridgeport, Pa., where John P. Dods '08 is director of research, received the Army-Navy "E" November 19. Summerill is the largest producer of tubing for aircraft, and makes tubes also for hypodermic needles, various types of ordnance, sound detectors, Diesel engines.

Atha works in Harrison, N. J., of Crucible Steel Co. of America received the Army-Navy "E" award December 17. Frederick B. Hufnagel '00 has been president of Crucible Steel for sixteen years.

Other Cornellians' firms to receive this official recognition for outstanding production of war materials include Lapp Insulator Co., LeRoy, headed by Grover W. Lapp '07; Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York City, with Oliver E. Buckley, PhD '14, president; six plants in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Kentucky of American Rolling Mill Co. of which Calvin W. Verity '11 is vice-president; J. L. Stifel & Sons, Inc., manufacturers of cotton textiles, Wheeling, W. Va., where Arthur C. Stifel '03 is an executive; American Optical Co., Stockbridge, Mass., George P. Brockway '12, purchasing manager; E. H. Titchener & Co., Binghamton, of which Paul F. Titchener '13 is an officer; B. F. Goodrich Co., Akron, Ohio, John L. Collyer '17, president; Philco Corporation, Philadelphia, Pa., Lawrence E. Gubb '16, chairman.

Undoubtedly many other concerns with Cornellian executives have received the Army-Navy award of merit. Additional names will be published as they are received.

TO HEAR FROM CAMPUS

Speakers at a luncheon of the Cornell Club of Chicago, Ill., January 21 at the University Club will be Professor Charles L. Durham '99 and Provost H. W. Peters '14. They will describe changes the war has brought to the University.

NURSING SCHOOL EXPANDS

A grant of $5,625 from the US Public Health Service has made possible admission in February of a new class of twenty-five students to the Cornell University-New York Hospital School of Nursing, President Day has announced. The Public Health Service has also allocated to the School of Nursing, for members of the new entering class, ten scholarships to pay tuition, fees, and cost of uniforms and textbooks. Each scholarship will have value of approximately $246.

Since the School's affiliation with the University last spring, student nurses who enter with at least two years of approved college work are eligible to receive the degree of BS in Nursing upon completion of the three-year nursing course. Present enrollment in the School is 171, with a first-year class of seventy-seven of whom fifty-two entered with one or more years of college study.

ROCHESTER CLUB ELECTS

Cornell Club of Rochester has elected David S. Cook '24, president, succeeding George S. Babcock '16. At the annual meeting December 11, Harold A. Meng '17 was also elected vice-president; Charles C. Fairfax '20, recording secretary; Milton H. Covert '37, membership secretary; Ernest E. Elder '15, treasurer; and Wallace D. Wood '36, assistant treasurer. Conway L. Todd '26 was elected to the board of governors to fill an unexpired term of one year, and governors elected for two years are Harry Y. Norwood '03, Raymond A. Lander '12, Leo J. Sullivan '13, George A. West '23, Fred Goodelle '26, and Walter B. Kenyon '27.

More than 100 alumni attended the meeting. Coach Carl G. Snavely told of the benefits of the University's physical fitness course and of training in athletics and showed motion pictures of the Yale and Dartmouth games. Trustee Frank E. Gannett '98 spoke of the financial problems of the University and told of its present activities. Joseph W. Alaimo '31 sang and chairmen of Club committees reported. Sullivan was chairman of the committee for the annual meeting.

CLUBS INVITE STUDENTS For Christmas Parties

Cornell Clubs entertained many undergraduates of their localities who were at home for the University's Christmas recess. Special parties were arranged by a number of Clubs, and several also invited prospective Cornellians from their local schools to meet with undergraduates.

Thirty-three attended a luncheon given by the Cornell Club of New England at the Old Oyster House in Boston December 28. Charles A. Holcomb '18 welcomed the student guests and told them of the University in his day. Among the guests was his son, Irving W. Holcomb '45. Robert H. Anderson '44 of Arlington, Mass., told of football this year, and Robert A. W. Pullman '43 of Newton, Mass., spoke on track. S. Robert Curran '46 of Dorchester, Mass., related some of his experiences as a Freshman.

Holiday luncheon of the Cornell Club of Southern Ohio, December 28 at the Cincinnati University Club, had thirteen undergraduates and fourteen alumni. The family record was captured by William H. Hopple '06 and his two sons, William H. Hopple, Jr. '43 and Richard V. Hopple '46. Father-and-son luncheons were announced by the Cornell Club of Cleveland December 29 at the Statler Hotel; by the Cornell Club of Rochester December 30 at the University Club; and by the Cornell Club of Chicago December 31 at the Sherman Hotel. Cornell Club of Buffalo gave a luncheon for undergraduates December 30 at the Buffalo Athletic Club; the Cornell Club of Michigan invited students to its luncheons in Detroit December 24 and 31; and the Cornell Club of Pittsburgh had its annual holiday get-together December 26 at the University Club and invited undergraduates to luncheon December 31 at the Harvard-Yale-Princeton Club.

Regular monthly Sunday party for men in service given by the Cornell Women's Club of New York December 27 had a number of undergraduate women among the hostesses. Mid-Hudson Cornell Women's Club had sixteen guests at a tea for prospective students December 28 at the home of Mrs. Henry C. Strahan (Martha Wool) '24, in Poughkeepsie. Mrs. Edwin S. Knauss (Dorothy Pond) '18, president of the Club, and Ursula F. Miller '33 poured.

SUB GOES TO SEA

The USS Peto, first Naval submarine ever built on the Great Lakes, passed Chicago Christmas Day on her long voyage to the sea from her builder's yards at Manitowoc, Wis. At the Manitowoc Shipbuilding Co., run by Charles C. West '00 and his sons, John D. West '32 and Robert D. West '34, her keel was laid June 18, 1941, she was launched last April 30 and commissioned November 22. Four more submarines are in the water at the Manitowac yards and five are on the ways. At Lockport, Ill., the Peto was put into a floating drydock, pushed through the Illinois waterway and down the Mississippi by tugs, to receive her salt water baptism at New Orleans.

CORNELLIAN TECHNICIANS AT PICATINNY ARSENAL

Technical group at the Government Arsenal near Dover, N. J., who work on design and development of artillery ammunition, bombs, pyrotechnics, grenades, high explosives, and propellant powders include these seven Cornellians. Left to right in the back row above are George J. Mueller, PhD '33, former instructor in Physics, chief of the physical research section; John D. Hopper '30, chemical engineering section; Edna J. Isaacs '40, physical research section; and Seymour Geller '41, analytical section. Front row: Major Theodore C. Ohart '29, Ordnance, assistant chief of the technical group; William H. Rinkenbach '15, chief of the laboratory division; and Captain Ludwig F. Audrieth, PhD '26, chief of the research division.

WAR PLANS

having "responsibility of canvassing and organizing the resources of the University in relation to the needs of training either for service in the armed forces or in civilian war work." Its other members are Deans Robert M. Ogden '00, Arts and Sciences; S. C. Hollister, Engineering; Carl E. Ladd '12, Agriculture; Gilmore D. Clarke '13, Architecture; Sarah G. Blanding, Home Economics; and Professor Gibson.

Liberal Arts to Continue

Dean Betten reiterated President Day's avowals that the University would continue instruction in all departments, especially in liberal arts. At the Alumni Association convention last October and repeatedly since, the President has said that while the University would bend every effort to assist in war training, "the liberal arts tradition in education" must be preserved. "I am convinced," he said, "that great institutions such as ours are going to stand, with a top priority. This country cannot endure without them if we are going to be free." He has referred to Cornell's "obligation to its own tradition and to the future welfare of the nation," saying, "We cannot afford to allow our distinguished faculties in the arts and humanities to be entirely dispersed. We must be ready, as soon as the war is won, to reestablish those departments whose primary function is to promote humane and rational living. We shall not be able to do this if the long-term basic functions of the University go into total eclipse for the duration of the war. Distinguished faculties cannot be built overnight. Cornell's ablest scholars and scientists must be protected now if they are to serve Cornell tomorrow. Their perspective, their judgment, and their knowledge will be needed in the post-war world."

The Faculty of the College of Home Economics approved just before Christmas a three-term program continuing throughout the year, to fill the urgent need for trained women. It is planned to offer instruction in three terms of fifteen weeks each, with courses normally given in October beginning in July and second-term courses in the fall.

For the courses in military map making which the University will offer during the second term to Senior women and recent graduates, Professor Paul H. Underwood '07, Civil Engineering, has enrolled nearly the capacity of forty students. They are women from Arts, Agriculture, Home Economics, and Architecture.

About eighty Junior and Sophomore women from these Colleges have been interviewed by representatives of the Curtiss-Wright Aircraft Corp. for enrollment as engineering cadets, and it is expected that a number of these will be detailed to the other universities where the company will train women as junior engineers for its plants. At the end of January, Curtiss-Wright will send 100 to 150 women from other universities here for ten months of training, the first term largely in mathematics, chemistry, and physics, and later specialized courses.

About ATHLETICS

WIN TWO LEAGUE GAMES

The basketball team pulled out of the slough of defeat with two Eastern Intercollegiate League victories last week end.

After losing its first seven games, including its opening League contest with Columbia, 49-40, in Barton Hall last Wednesday night, the team defeated Yale, 55-27, at New Haven Friday night and Harvard, 49-34, at Cambridge Saturday night. The week's play left Cornell in second place in the League, with Columbia the leader with its single victory.

In pre-recess and holiday tour games, the team lost to Niagara in Barton Hall, 50-35; and to Rochester, 36-35; Seton Hall, 29-28; and Albright, 56-29.

In these and the League contests, Coach Emerald B. (Speed) Wilson made frequent changes in the starting lineup, particularly at center and forwards. Captain Samuel W. Hunter '43 and Milton D. Coe '43 were regular choices at guards.

In the Columbia game, Robert E. Gallagher '44 and Harry L. Hilleary, Jr. '43 started at forwards and Roger D. Booze '45 at center. This combination quickly pulled into a 9-point lead, then started coasting. Columbia rallied to cut the margin to 23-20 at the half. In the second half, Columbia took a 25-21 lead, but Cornell rallied for a 7-point advantage at 32-25. Then Columbia, guilty of many misses the first half, found the range, took the lead at 35-34 with seven minutes to play, and took complete control of the game. Cornell's high scorer was Gallagher, with 12 points.

In the Yale game, the starting lineup was the same with the exception of center, where Bertil L. Peterson '44 replaced Booze. Peterson failed to score and was replaced by John F. Harper '43, who also did not score. Finally Booze went in late in the game and made 8 points. Captain Hunter was the top scorer with 14. Cornell met little opposition, leading 27-13 at the half.

For the Harvard game, Richard K. Giles '45 replaced Hilleary at forward in the starting lineup and Harper started at center. Giles, a regular in the early games, hurt an ankle in practice and was used sparingly in the Columbia and Yale games. Against Harvard he scored 20 points. Gallagher accounted for 11 and Hunter for 10. Cornell was ahead at the half, 24-16.

SWIMMERS LOSE FIRST

The swimming team lost to Columbia, 36-39, in New York City last Saturday when the home team won the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay. Cornell, winning four events, had kept ahead until the last event.

Cornell's winners were John B. Rogers '45 of Westfield, N. J., in the 50-yard freestyle in 0:24.5; Richard M. Alexander '43 of Binghamton in the 200-yard breaststroke in 2:40.6; John H. Eppler '43 of Baltimore, Md., the diving with 78.4 points; and the 300-yard medley relay team of Paul L. Klein '46 of New York City, Burton Preston III '45 of Mansfield, Ohio, and Robert K. Dennett '45 of Wahiawa, Oahu, Hawaii. This team was timed in 3:13.5.

Eugene Rogers, Columbia freshman, swam 440 yards freestyle in 4:59, fastest time this season.

HOCKEY TEAM AT PLACID

The hockey team, eliminated in the semifinal round, came back to win the consolation round in the annual Lake Placid invitation tournament during the Christmas holidays.

Coach Nicholas Bawlf started Kenneth M. Hillas '45 of Morristown, N. J., at goal; Whitney C. Doe '43 of Harvard, Mass., and Emmett W. Louis '45 of Cortland on defense; Blanton C. Wiggin '44 of Essex Falls, N. J., at center; and Captain Jerome A. Batt '43 of Buffalo and Donald R. Clay '45 of Milton, Mass., at the wings.

Cornell defeated MIT in the first round, 6-5, Captain Batt caging the winning goal in an overtime period. Then Cornell was blanked by Hamilton, 6-0, in the semifinals. Hamilton lost to Colgate in the final contest while Cornell defeated Middlebury, 7-5, in the consolation round.

SKIERS PLACE SIXTH

A six-man skiing team placed sixth in the Lake Placid invitation meet during the Christmas holidays. New Hampshire won, with Norwich, Williams, Middlebury, Syracuse, Cornell finishing ahead of five other teams.

Philip B. Gibson '43 of Ithaca captain and coach, was fourth in the six-mile cross country race, and George S. Peer '44 of Ithaca was the leading Cornell finisher in jumping, the slalom, and the downhill race. Others who participated were John M. Lloyd '44 of Ithaca, Richard S. Claassen '44 of Ithaca, Wayne R. Evans '43 of Utica, and Robert T. Edmunds '45 of New Hartford.

MANAGERSHIPS, C AWARDS

Awards in fall sports and results of managerial competitions were announced by the Department of Physical Education and Athletics just before the holiday recess.

Rodgers C. Broomhead '45 of West Barrington, R. I., was named assistant manager of Varsity football; Prentice Cushing, Jr. '45 of Albany, assistant manager of 150-pound football; and Henry W. Gordon '45 of Utica, assistant manager of Junior Varsity football.

James D. Hayes '45 of Pittsburgh, Pa., becomes assistant manager of Varsity soccer, and Carl W. Lichtenfels '45 of Union, N. J., assistant manager of Junior Varsity soccer. Frank T. Gerould '46 of Longmeadow, Mass., was named assistant manager of Varsity cross country, and Eric C. Oesterle '45 of New York City assistant manager of Freshman cross country. Carl G. Hayssen, Jr. '44 of Milwaukee, Wis., was named assistant manager of skiing.

The Varsity "C" went to:

FOOTBALL

Strabo V. Claggett, Jr., Whitney C. Doe, Louis G. Helmick, Captain Roy V. Johnson, Anthony J. LaScala, George J. Politi, Jarl R.

SCORES OF THE TEAMS

Basketball

William W. Langhorst, Class of '45.
Thomas M. Jackson and Dennis C. Redden, Class of '46.

Eighteen Freshman soccer numerals were also awarded.

Varsity Cross Country

William G. Dillon, George E. Hiebeler, Jr., Paul M. Kelsey, and Watson B. Smith, Class of '43.

Donald G. Boegehold, John F. Kandl, William C. Taylor, and James R. Cullen, Class of '44.

Robert M. Brown and Frank C. Slovak, Class of '45.

Twelve Freshman numerals were also awarded.

ODDS AND ENDS

Ithaca Lodge of Elks entertained football leaders of Cornell, Ithaca College, and Ithaca High School before the holiday recess. Cornell was represented by Co-captains-elect Louis J. Dankas '44 and William S. Wheeler '44 and by Coaches Carl Snavelly, Max Reed, Ray Van Orman '08, J. Russell Murphy, and George K. James.

Robert J. Kane '34, acting director of Physical Education and Athletics, was the principal speaker at a dinner given its football team by the Ithaca High School Athletic Council. Kane stressed the necessity of continuing athletics, especially football.

Joseph L. Martin '44, fullback on the 1941 football team, was put on the all-Navy Pre-Flight cadet team selected by Collier's. Martin played fullback at the North Carolina Pre-Flight School.

Grace V. Acel '43 of Tarrytown won the individual foils championship of the Women's Intercollegiate Fencing Association at New York University during the Christmas recess. Miss Acel won seven of eight bouts in the final round-robin to regain the title she relinquished to Miss Uhthoff of Hunter College in a fence-off a year ago. Olive T. Wissel '43 of Rosedale also competed for Cornell.

COMMENCEMENT JANUARY 24

The University's first winter Commencement is scheduled for Bailey Hall January 24 at four p.m. President Edmund E. Day will give the Commencement address, and the Rev. Lynn E. Hough who is the Sage Chapel preacher that day has been invited to give the Invocation and Benediction. It is estimated that approximately 300 degrees will be conferred.

Final examinations for the present term begin January 21 and continue to January 28, classes for the next term beginning February 1.

ALUMNUS SUCCEEDS CARVER

Work of George Washington Carver, noted Negro scientist who died recently at Tuskegee Institute, Ala., has been taken over by a Cornelian, Austin W. Curtis, Jr. '32. Curtis had been Carver's assistant since 1935 in research which has been of immeasurable benefit to the South, discovering new uses for Southern crops. He has now been appointed director of the George Washington Carver Foundation at Tuskegee.

The young scientist is the son of A. W. Curtis, director of agriculture at West Virginia State College, from which he entered the College of Agriculture in 1930, receiving the BS in 1932. Remembered as a quiet lad and an excellent student, he specialized in the plant sciences, and about three years ago wrote to Professor J. Pullman Porter '18, Floriculture and Ornamental Horticulture, that he hoped to return to Cornell for graduate work. His sister, Mrs. Marron W. Fort (Alice Curtis) received the AM in 1931.

BEQUEST FILLS NEEDS

Recent alterations in Sage Chapel and completion of the High-Voltage Laboratory of the School of Electrical Engineering were made possible by a bequest received in 1939 from the estate of J. Norris Oliphant '01, it is now reported. Of $128,000 received from the Oliphant estate to be used at the discretion of the Board of Trustees, all but $11,000 has now been expended. Allocation of $70,000 from the Oliphant Fund for the High-Voltage Laboratory gave the opportunity to obtain funds totalling $80,000 from interested industrial concerns, President Day reports. Enlargement of Sage Chapel and relocation and rebuilding of the Chapel organ at cost to the fund of approximately $47,000 met urgent needs which have arisen from increased attendance at religious services.

Oliphant was a member of the Savage Club, Bench and Board, Mermaid, and Sigma Phi. He received the ME in 1901, and shortly entered his father's brokerage firm, Jas. H. Oliphant & Co., and became a member of the New York Stock Exchange. He died January 22, 1927. His will left the residue of his estate to be divided equally between Cornell University and Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Phi.

MARINE OFFICERS WANTED

US Marine Corps, Division of Aviation, offers commissions to a limited number of qualified specialists for non-flying duty. Applicants must be of age twenty-two to forty-two, mentally, morally, and physically fit for commission in the Marine Corps Reserve, and must be outstanding as to education or successful accomplishment in engineering, aircraft, gunnery, ordnance, metallurgy, meteorology, astronomy, architecture, landscape architecture, or proficient in Japanese, Javanese, or Malayan. Those who receive commissions will be sent to Reserve Officers' School at Quantico, Va., and some may be assigned for supplemental courses at specialist schools.

Applicants are directed to the officer in charge of the nearest district Marine Corps recruiting office or to the Director of Aviation, Headquarters US Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.

FIFTEENTH IN SIZE

Cornell this year ranks fifteenth among the colleges and universities of America in number of full-time students, according to the annual tabulation published by Raymond Walters in School and Society. Larger institutions, in order, were Universities of California, Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio State, New York University, Columbia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Texas, City College of New York, University of Washington, Penn State, Harvard, and Hunter.

Total attendance reported in 667 colleges and universities is 746,922 full-time students, 9.5 per cent less than in 1941 and 13.9 per cent less than in 1940. It was found, however, that the number of freshmen in undergraduate courses fell only 1.7 per cent from 1941, whereas the 1941 freshman class was 4.5 per cent smaller than in 1940. Cornell's enrolment decreased last fall about 9 per cent from 1941, entering Freshmen decreasing about 5 per cent.

NAVAL SCHOOL EXPANDS

A three-month course in steam engineering opened in the Naval Training School at the University January 1, and nine student officers began the course at that time. Captain Burton W. Chippendale, USN, commanding the School, announced that twenty-five more will enter the course February 1, and thereafter approximately twenty-five will be added each month, bringing the course to approximately seventy-five students.

Professor Harry J. Loberg '29, Administrative Engineering, is in charge of instruction in the new course, under direction of Lieutenant Commander Norman R. Sparks '23, USNR, for the Navy. The second floor of the Engineering Laboratory Annex has been equipped as a repair and maintenance shop, and part of the Sibley Laboratories and of those in Electrical Engineering will be used for instruction. Under direct contract with the Navy Department, instruction will be given by members of the Engineering Faculty and by Navy instructors. Professor Lawrence A. Burckmyer, Jr. '25, Electrical Engineering, will supervise that work, and Bartholomew J. Conta, MS '37, instructor in Diesel engineering, has been transferred to the steam engineering course.

December 24, approximately 300 Naval Reserve officers and candidates completed the indoctrination course in the Naval Training School, and a new quota of 225, mostly apprentice seamen, arrived January 1 to begin the course. The Diesel engineering course of the School graduated a class January 8, with Lieutenant Commander Arthur S. Adams, USN, former Assistant Dean of Engineering, coming from the Navy Department to address them.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

SERVICE MEN WRITE

TO THE EDITOR:

Your ALUMNI NEWS reaches us Cornellians soldiering in the shadows of the Rockies like a familiar song sung in the wilderness. I generally turn to "Necrology" first, and always discover that most alumni die natural deaths. Good!

The NEWS is soiled and dog-eared by the time I get it to in the Post Library, and you'll agree as editors that that is a good sign. Soldiers will sell their souls for news from home; our hopes and hearts are planted there. We don't have to sell our souls for the ALUMNI NEWS, and praise be for that; for if we did have to, many of us would be soulless.

So far, I've encountered a PhD, a Hotel greeter, an architect, a costume designer, Helen Morgan's accompanist, a football player, a fraternity brother, and the fiancé of a co-ed—all Cornellians, all enlistees. The sky rings with bells when two of us get together.

I am classified as a technical specialist, which will be a source of merriment to anyone who knew my views on engineers and engineering. I concede finally that this is an engineers' world—they can pick their plums and eat them too—but blast 'em, I still say they might as well be squirming in prehistoric muck if they haven't read Shakespeare, the Bible, Romeyn Berry, and a dozen other things included in the Arts curriculum!

Happy holidays and a prosperous New Year to the NEWS!

—DUKE (FREDERICK M.) SHELLEY '42

Lowry Field, Colo.

TO THE EDITOR:

Please correct my mailing address. Even though my copies of the ALUMNI NEWS arrive four to five weeks late, I read them all with interest. I have been on foreign service in the tropics now for over a year and during that time have had interesting trips and experiences. At present, I am battalion supply officer, battalion transportation officer, battalion mess officer, and double as the company commander of Company H of the same battalion.

Another member of the Class of '41 is also in this battalion serving for me in Co. H, Lt. John G. Hollister. At present he is in the field with one of the platoons. Lt. David W. Garbelleno '37 is now in this headquarters with Co. C and soon will be leaving for the field with a platoon from Co. C. Lt. Robert V. Celette '35 is serving as assistant transportation officer of the regiment with the headquarters company of the regiment at APO 827.

From time to time, I meet other Cornellians in the service here with other organizations. About a month ago, a supper meeting was held for all the Cornellians in this area at a club in one of the nearby cities. Lt. Garbelleno who attended the affair reported that it was very successful and well attended. Recently, I heard from my former college roommate, Lt. Richard Durbin, who is acting as signal officer for the 11th Fighter Wing at Drew Field, Tampa, Fla. He reports the presence of many Cornellians in the service there with him.

My first instructor in the Cornell ROTC, at the time Captain Larew, now a full colonel, is the signal officer of the fighter command here and as such exerts tactical control over this regiment. However, he expects to be transferred to Drew Field within several months.

I shall continue to look forward to reading the NEWS and anxiously await my next opportunity to visit Cornell.

TO THE EDITOR:

I was surprised to read in November 19 ALUMNI NEWS about my being the first Cornellian in the ski troops. There is another Cornell lad in the outfit, Private F. Courtney Stone '43.

If any other Cornell boys would like some information about the ski troops and mountain troops other than what they have read in recent issues of Time, Life, and Reader's Digest, I'd be more than glad to help out.

Sure would appreciate it if you'd send copies of the ALUMNI NEWS to our new post, Camp Hale, Colo., where we will now go for our winter training.

Please note that "Private" Glogan is now "Lieutenant" Glogan.

With best wishes for a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year, I am—Lt. ARTHUR H. GLOGAN '43

FLORIDA HEARS OF RAF

Cornell Club of Central Florida celebrated the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, December 7, with a luncheon talk at the Orlando Country Club by Wing Commander E. M. Donaldson of the Royal Air Force. He told of the development of the RAF since 1936 and of conditions in France and the Low Countries before they were invaded, closing with some of his experiences over Dunkirk, France, and the English Channel where he has been shot down nine times. The speaker was introduced by the vice-president of the Club, Mrs. Duncan T. McEwan (Marion Friess), Grad '31, to the twenty-seven members and guests present.

NOW IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

A while back this department sold and delivered to Cornell University a truckload of U. S. Number One potatoes.

Worried alumni who have visualized their Alma Mater doing business and buying goods in a haze of academic idealism and fatuity may put their minds at rest. We can assure this group that there is expended on each and every U. S. Number One potato accepted at the East Ithaca warehouse the same meticulous scrutiny, the same suspicious going over, that is lavished by Morrill Hall on each applicant for admission to the Freshman Class. There is no more chance of slipping over a scabby potato, or one that has been visited by wire worms, than there is of selling a dreamy Director of Admissions one schoolboy tackle who is short a half unit of French. The purchasing department is functioning with 100 per cent efficiency and on this point the Grievance Committee of the Cornell Alumni Association might just as well drop their load of care and get a good night's rest.

Man and boy, your reporter has at some time in the past half-century stood in about every different relationship to his Alma Mater that it is possible for an individual to occupy: Faculty grandson, applicant for admission, oldest living undergraduate, honored alumnus, Public Enemy Number One, minor benefactor, hunted felon, and fearless commentator. He has experienced about every kind of reception it is possible to get at Morrill Hall, from being kissed on both cheeks to being beaten to a pulp with a blunt instrument. But this is the first time he ever delivered a truckload of U. S. Number One potatoes to the kitchen door. It's different.

When the visiting alumnus drops in at 3 East Avenue, he's apt to have his ears caressed by the genial buzz: "Pull yourselves together, girls. Smile brilliantly and turn on the heat. Here comes the Old Grad who gave us the $5 check last week that didn't bounce." But when the same degree holder skids up to the East Ithaca warehouse and rams the platform with his tailgate, it's "Lock the cash register. Here's that fat guy with a load of potatoes."

Which is as it should be. It just shows that Cornell is being shrewdly administered. Buying and selling are two different things. And if you don't believe that, wait until the next time you get the Treasurer's "Honey Letter A." Then step over and try unloading on that same official a block of your new First Lien and Refunding 3's. It's just the same, you'll find, as the truckload of U. S. Number One potatoes!

IMPOSTOR TRAVELS

Our November 26 report of the Chicago activities of the fraudulent Cornellian using the name of Norman L. MacLeod '11 brought a letter from the real MacLeod, written from Pasadena, Cal., where he has been for many years. MacLeod wrote, however, that he and Mrs. MacLeod planned to visit shortly in Chicago on their way to spend Christmas with their son, Norman MacLeod, Jr., who is an aviation cadet at the Naval Reserve Air Base at Anacostia, D. C., and would visit again in Chicago on their way back to California after Christmas.

By coincidence, as MacLeod '11 went to Washington, his impersonator transferred his activities to Baltimore, Md., where he called on several Cornellians with his usual story of being a fellow-alumnus out of funds. Edward H. Carman, Jr. '16, president of the Cornell Club of Maryland, reports that a man using the name of MacLeod called on two Baltimore alumni December 22, one of whom cashed his check for $5 and the other loaned him $5. Becoming suspicious, the latter telephoned Carman, and they looked up the November 26 ALUMNI NEWS and warned a third Cornellian in an engineering firm upon whom they thought this operator might call. He did appear at the third man's office the next day, but while his host was telephoning the others, the visitor apparently grew fearful and walked out.

Their caller was urgently invited by all three Cornellians to attend the Club luncheon December 28, and when his check proved to be no good a warrant was sworn out for his arrest and a detective was on hand to apprehend him. But he did not appear, and word comes January 8 that he had not been seen again. The Baltimore police wanted his man, saying that about a year and a half ago he had cashed a bad check at a clothing store and another at an artists' supply store there.

The fraudulent "MacLeod" is described as about six feet in height, weight about 150 pounds, thin-faced with thin features, sandy hair and a sandy mustache; walks with a slight limp. He claims to be a member of Delta Upsilon; is said to "know all the answers about Cornell people, and he apparently makes a play for the older alumni." He is said also to pose as a retired captain of engineers of the Canadian Army, and "is known in some of the bars as 'Captain Jack'." Word from Baltimore has it that within the year he had worked in Huntsville, Ala., had married there, and that his wife was left stranded in a Baltimore hotel.

Alumni anywhere who may be visited by this fraudulent Cornellian are urged immediately to call the local police. If he can be apprehended, other Cornellians may be protected against his victimizing. Please send full information also to the ALUMNI NEWS at once, so that all our readers may be warned. Previous impostors have been caught after we have published warnings of their travels, and this person may be if his appearances are promptly reported.

PHI BETA KAPPA ELECTS

Cornell Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa has elected Professor Robert P. Sibley, Assistant Dean of Arts and Sciences, as president for 1943. He succeeds Professor Frederick O. Waagé, Art and Archeology, who with Allan H. Treman '21 becomes a member of the executive board. Dean George H. Sabine '03 of the Graduate School is vice-president of the Chapter; Henry H. King, Faculty research assistant in the University Library, secretary; Gussie E. Gaskill, curator of the White Library and Wasson Collection, assistant secretary; and Dane L. Baldwin '09, treasurer.

WESTCHESTER WOMEN

President of the Cornell Women's Club of Westchester County this year is Juliette E. Way '29. Vice-president is Mrs. Chester R. Bannihir (Louisa Blauvelt) '19; treasurer, Elsa C. Schlobohm '21; secretary, Ruth M. Lyon '28, 44 Sterling Avenue, White Plains.

The Club meets at least four times a year at the homes of members, with its annual meeting a tea at the home of Mrs. R. H. Shreve (Ruch Bentley) '02 in Hastings-on-Hudson. Two meetings since fall have had attendance of about twenty-five, and one is planned for early February, at which all alumnae are welcome.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

STUDENT PLANS for a gala Victory Week End between terms, January 29-31, were given impetus when the Faculty committee on student activities voluntarily waived its rule against fraternity houseparties, for that period. Next day, the student committee announced that the popular Bobby Sherwood and his orchestra were engaged for the Victory Ball in Barton Hall January 29, following a variety show, "V's in Our Bonnet," to which the admission charge will be mostly purchase of war savings stamps. A recent Sun headline gloatingly announced, "Women Get Late Nights; Profits Will Buy Bonds." Chairman of the Victory Week End committee is William T. Dunn, Jr. '43 of Great Neck.

FIRST CORNELL OAR ever to lead across the finish line in an intercollegiate race has been hung in the Willard Straight Hall game room. It was pulled by the late Lynde Palmer '78 who rowed bow in the Freshman shell at Saratoga July 13, 1875, when the Cornell boat came from behind to beat Harvard, Brown, and Princeton. The oar was given by Palmer's fraternity, Alpha Delta Phi, and will go ultimately to the University trophy room when one is established.

SCRAP DRIVE in Ithaca, to which the University, many Faculty householders, and most of the fraternities and sororities contributed, has brought the city the blue pennant awarded by the War Production Board to communities which collected more than 100 pounds of scrap metal per capita. Ithaca's record was about 125 pounds per capita.

BROWN & BROWN, Inc., State Street men's clothing store for twenty years, has closed its doors and disposed of its stock. Arthur B. Brown, president, and Fred D. Brown, vice-president, have not announced any future plans.

BACTERIOLOGISTS of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva are being consulted by the Army Quartermaster Corps, Beechnut Co., and National Paper Box Association on the packaging of dehydrated vegetables for the Army.

CLICK, "The National Picture Monthly," for February, 1943, devotes six pages and sixteen pictures to activities of women students at the University, under the title, "War Invades the Campus." Citing Cornell as a "typical American school . . . organized for war," the magazine says, "the 1622 women enrolled in this co-educational institution consider education in war time a privilege, and accept it with sober-minded gratitude." Photographer Gustave Gale and Estelle Ellis of the Click staff spent FOUNDER'S DAY, January 11, the 136th anniversary of the birth of Ezra Cornell, was observed with a Sunday afternoon reception for the community in Willard Straight Memorial Room sponsored by the Student Council, WSGA, and the Hall's board of managers. In the receiving line were President and Mrs. Day, Charles E. Cornell, the Founder's grandson, Mrs. Cornell, and Mary E. Cornell, granddaughter of the Founder. Other members of the Cornell family in Ithaca were guests of honor. The Cornell Chorus sang several selections.

a week on the Campus, piloted by James S. Knapp '31, of the University Office of Public Information.

FIRE caused damage estimated at $20,000 in the dry-cleaning plant of W. F. Fletcher Co., Inc., at 103 Dryden Road, January 8.

EDITORIALS of the Cornell Daily Sun won first place in the 1942 contest for student newspapers conducted by Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity. In feature writing, the Sun entries took third place.

ENLISTED MEN of the Naval Reserve who are assigned here for civilian pilot training will hereafter draw Navy pay instead of being on inactive duty, Foster M. Coffin '12, University coordinator of the program was notified just before Christmas. A class of forty enlisted men and ten officers was mostly graduated before Christmas, and another group is expected shortly to be quartered in the former Seal and Serpent house at 102 West Avenue.

WHITNEY WILLARD STRAIGHT, son of the late Willard Straight '01, acting air commodore of the RAF, was reported in London January 3 as having escaped from his German prison near Paris. His Hurricane fighter was forced down in France last August, and Straight was imprisoned in a gymnasium school, injured in both legs. He climbed a rope to a window, knocked out his lone guard, and set off for Paris, shortly meeting a friend who loaned him enough money to reach safety. Last April, Straight received the British Military Cross for participation in air operations over Dover and Dunkerque.

SECOND teachers' institute ever held in the United States was of Tompkins County teachers, at the Clinton House in Ithaca in 1842. This was recalled by Professor Clyde B. Moore, Education, at a similar gathering of the County's 500 teachers in Boynton Junior High School.

BELOW-ZERO days and nights of the New Year in Ithaca have depleted Faculty coal bins and entirely exhausted dealers' supplies for a time. Gorges have been frozen solid, necessitating blasting in lower Fall Creek to remove a dangerous ice jam which threatened a flood. Skating has been excellent on Beebe Lake, and nearby ski slopes are being well used.

SENIOR CLASS men have elected as their permanent secretary J. Larkin Hoyt, who is the son of Dr. Clarence J. Hoyt '09 of Walden. The women earlier elected Caroline M. Norfleet of Bethesda, Md., whose mother was Carrie Mason '11. At the Senior women's banquet January 12, speakers were President Edmund E. Day, Thelma L. Brummett, Counselor of Students, and Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30, acting Alumni Secretary of the University.

ENROLLED in the Naval Training School at the University is Lieutenant Hal Oliver, USNR, who was national amateur bridge champion last year.

CORNELL DAILY SUN announced just before Christmas the election of Guinevere G. Griest '44 of Chicago, Ill., as women's editor; Arthur H. Kesten '44 of Malverne, assistant managing editor; Kurt Vonnegut, Jr. '44 of Indianapolis, Ind., associate editor; and Robert P. Smith '44 of Worcester, Mass., sports editor. Four Sophomores, William R. Ebersol of Pittsburgh, Pa., Janet A. Hagan of Ithaca, Maralyn Winsor of Ithaca, and Barbara Srenco of Philadelphia, Pa., were elected to the business staff; and Marjorie Trassoff '45 of Philadelphia, Pa., was elected to the photographic staff.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER January 10 was the Rev. Reinhold Niebuhr of Union Theological Seminary, New York City. The pulpit will be filled January 17 by the Rev. Halford E. Luccock of Yale University Divinity School.

LECTURES last week and this week include Sir Bernard Pares, former director of the London School of Slavonic and East European Studies, speaking on "Russia Now," January 6 on the Goldwin Smith Foundation; Vernon Stouffer, president of the National Restaurant Association, speaking to Hotel Administration students January 8; Hans Simons of the New School for Social Research, January 11 in the CURW Campus Forum series, on "Peace Planning and Power Politics;" Professor W. ## Resolutions...

Most resolutions come from headaches; the bigger the headache, the more sweeping the resolution. But here's a resolution which will never give you a headache:

When you're in New York, stop at The Grosvenor. You'll work better, play better, accomplish more, if your living quarters are comfortable, your surroundings pleasant. You'll find excellent food and top service, a comprehensive system of subways, tubes and buses to eliminate time and distance, and the quiet beauty of one of New York's most exclusive residential sections.

Make that resolution now.
