FRATERNITY GRADES For Last Year

Dr. Eugene F. Bradford, University Registrar, released last week the average scholastic grades for 1937-38 of the men and women in the fifty-eight fraternities and men's associations and the thirteen sororities on the Campus. These are arranged below in the order of rank, together with the comparable average grades for the years 1923-24 and 1915-16. Sororities are designated by asterisks *.

Dr. Bradford's office finds that the average grade of all students in fraternities and sororities was last year 74.60, as compared with 74.38 in 1923-24; that of women in sororities, 77.51 as compared with 74.31 in the last previous compilation; and of fraternity men, 73.90 last year, 74.44 in 1923-24, and 72.4 in 1915-16. No compilation of the general University average has been made, because of the expense. Passing grade is still 60.

POLO ACROSS THE BORDER

From Lowell W. Overlock '17, of El Paso, Tex., comes word of the invasion of a Mexico City polo team on which are two other Cornellians, Jose Martinez-Zorrilla '32 and his brother, Cristobal Martinez-Zorrilla '31. As president of the Border Polo Association, Overlock expresses his pleasure in welcoming the Mexican team, who came to play in the Southwestern-International Polo Tournament at Fort Bliss, Tex., October 9.

Sons of Carlos A. Martinez '05, the brothers Martinez-Zorrilla have recently taken up the game of polo. Both were outstanding athletes at the University, Cristobal as a tackle on the Varsity football team and captain in 1931 and as captain of the fencing team and University epee champion; and Jose as an end on the football team, captain of fencing and University champion in the foils, epee, and sabre. Both received the CE degree, served on the Willard Straight Hall board of managers, and are members of Quill and Dagger and Phi Sigma Kappa.

The University's Faculty committee on relations with secondary schools extended its contacts with Cornell Clubs to the Pacific Coast when Professor Riverda H. Jordan, Education, chairman of the committee, devoted a part of his summer holiday to discussing plans and programs with alumni there.

He met individual Cornellians in Portland, Ore., and September 11 spoke at a reception in the garden of William F. Faustman '07 and Mrs. Faustman at their home in Sacramento, Calif. About forty Cornellians and prospective students were present.

The next day, twenty-eight members of the Cornell Club of Northern California met with him at dinner at the International House on the University of California campus at Berkeley. They formed a committee to promote relations with secondary schools. The Club also elected Nathaniel J. Goldsmith '14 its new secretary.

In Los Angeles September 15, at luncheon at the University Club, an enthusiastic group of Cornell Club members organized to keep Cornell before the schools and students of Southern California.

In the course of his trip, Professor Jordan also communicated with officers of the Cornell Clubs of Seattle, Wash., and San Diego, Calif.

About ATHLETICS

HEARTBREAK AT SYRACUSE

Not since the Dartmouth game on Schoellkopf Field twelve years ago has such a show of football fireworks been seen in these parts, as when a fighting Syracuse team rallied in a thrill-packed fourth quarter in Archbold Stadium last Saturday to defeat Cornell, 19-17.

For three periods Cornell held Syracuse in check, and went into the last quarter with a 10-0 advantage and possession of the ball at midfield. Then the Syracuse storm broke.

Sidat-Singh, Syracuse's Negro half-back, threw nine forward passes. Six of them were completed, two were grounded, and one was ruled complete because of interference. And three of the completed passes scored touchdowns. It was one of the finest exhibitions of forward passing in this or any other season.

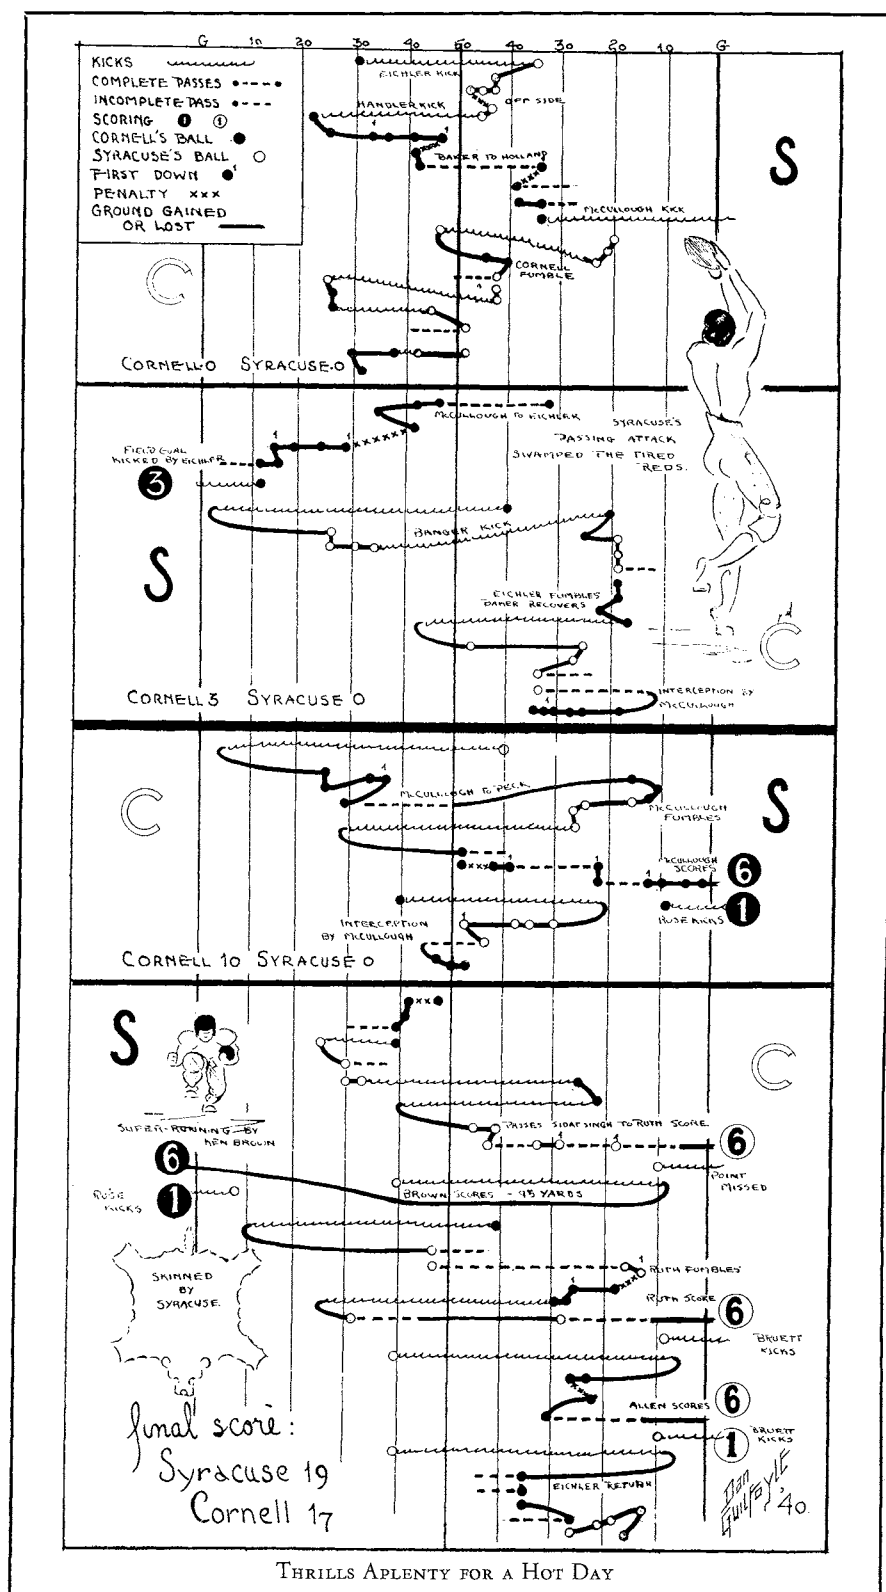

The Varsity seemed helpless, dazed in the face of the aerial attack. Four times Syracuse executed its pass play in precisely the same fashion, off its left end. Three times the receiver was uncovered. Once he was caught, twice he scored. On the fourth play, the receiver was dogged by Baker who tipped the ball—into Syracuse arms for the winning touchdown.

Despite several miscues, Cornell was apparently well on its way to victory over Syracuse as the third period ended. Eichler had kicked a field goal in the second period from the 13-yard line after a march from Cornell's 30. McCullough had scored a touchdown from within the one-yard line after a drive from midfield, and Rose had converted the point to give Cornell a 10-0 lead midway in the third quarter.

Cornell had checked two Syracuse advances in the second period, once when a fourth-down Syracuse pass grounded for a touchback, again when McCullough intercepted a pass on his own 19-yard line. In the third period, Cornell had missed a scoring chance when McCullough fumbled, Piro recovering for Syracuse on the Orange 11. Then Cornell had come through with its fifty-yard march, climaxed by McCullough's touchdown and Rose's extra point.

Cornell failed to gain after an exchange of punts, and McCullough again punted to Ruth on the Syracuse 40. Ruth returned to Cornell's 45. Sidat-Singh's pass to Heer was ruled complete because of interference. Another pass to Heer produced another first down on Cornell's 18. There Sidat-Singh tossed to the uncovered Ruth for a touchdown. Hoffman's placekick missed, and Cornell led, 10-6.

Cornell came back to score in startling fashion. Brown took the kickoff on Cornell's seven-yard line, started down the middle, and burst through a melee of tacklers and blockers like a shot out of a gun. At midfield he veered to his left, heading for the sideline. On the Syracuse 5, he sidestepped one tackler by a neat change of pace, then scrambled the last two yards with Allen, reserve Syracuse end, on his back. Rose again came in to placekick the point. It was good, and Cornell led, 17-6.

Cornell kicked off, and Sidat-Singh returned forty yards to midfield. For an instant it seemed he might duplicate Brown's dash. Sidat-Singh fired two passes. The first missed, but Allen took the second to Cornell's 15. There McKeever recovered Ruth's fumble on the 13-yard line.

It seemed now that nothing could keep Cornell from victory. Ruddy made first down on the 26, but two running plays failed and McCullough punted, Ruth returning to Syracuse's 31. Sidat-Singh unleashed two more passes, the first to Cornell's 27, the second for a touchdown. Ruth caught both of them. Bruett missed the placekick attempt, and Cornell still held the edge, 17-12.

McCullough returned the Syracuse kickoff twelve yards to Cornell's 22. A line play netted three yards. Eichler bulled through the center, far enough, it seemed, for a first down. Then, as he was tackled, he tossed a lateral pass. It was a mistake.

No one could tell for whom the ball was intended, but it was a Syracuse player, Allen, who caught it. Allen was promptly spilled on Cornell's 30. But the damage was done. Sidat-Singh faded back, threw to Allen, and the Syracuse end scored the winning touchdown. It was 18-17 for Syracuse. Bruett kicked the point, but no one of the 25,000 frenzied spectators cared.

Three minutes to go, said the clock. Eichler took the kickoff and made a desperate twenty-eight-yard return to Cornell's 33-yard line, where he was forced out of bounds. Twice McCullough threw passes. They grounded. Scholl came in to replace McCullough. Scholl was thrown for an eight-yard loss attempting a pass. It was fourth down, but Cornell gambled. Scholl's last pass missed, and Syracuse took the ball on Cornell's 25-yard line. Glickman ran for first down to Cornell's 11. There McKeever threw him for a six-yard loss as the game ended.

Cornell registered fourteen first downs to nine for Syracuse, and outrushed the home team by a slight margin. In forward passing, Syracuse completed seven out of sixteen for 176 yards, Cornell five out of fourteen for 140 yards.

Captain Van Ranst, McKeever, and Matuszczak were the only Cornellians to play the entire game, although Holland and McCullough were used until the last minutes.

Syracuse had the greater number of capable reserves. When the game entered the fourth quarter Syracuse was fresher. Eighty-degree heat and a bright sun was fine for the spectators but hard on the players. Cornell took one too many times out and was penalized for it in the closing minutes.

Brown's ninety-three yard run used him up so badly that he missed an easy chance to intercept a pass after the subsequent kickoff. He was replaced by Ruddy. Ruddy showed considerable power in line bucking, but Coach Snively kept him in the game only for four plays.

The lineups:

Points after touchdowns: Cornell, Rose 2. Syracuse, Bruett.

Field goal: Cornell, Eichler.

Substitutes: Cornell: Ends, Kelley, Burke; tackle, Drahos; guards, Schmuck, Hershey; backs, Peck, Brown, Rose, Ruddy, Murphy, Scholl. Syracuse: Ends, Balmer, Allen; tackles, Rigan, Dudley, Garvey; guards, Hooper, Daugherty; center, Paskevich; backs, Ruth, Hinkle, Banger, Zimdahl, Marvil, Burke, Rodiek, Taylor.

Referee, E. A. Geiges, Temple; umpire, A. H. Slack, Pittsburgh; linesman, J. J. Ailinger, Buffalo; field judge, J. P. Egan, Duquesne.

Cornell was not the only victim of an upset last Saturday. Penn State, Cornell's next opponent, smothered Lehigh, 59-6; Columbia lost to Colgate, 12-0; Dartmouth, after a slow start, crushed Brown, 34-13; and Pennsylvania was upset by Princeton, 13-0. Dartmouth remains the only undefeated team on the rest of Cornell's 1938 slate.

TEAMS DO WELL AT HOME

Five Cornell teams, competing at home, gained three victories and one tie last Saturday. The fifth team lost.

The Varsity and Freshman cross country teams scored identical victories, 20-35, over Alfred. The Freshman football team defeated Kiski School, 14-6. The Varsity soccer team played a 2-2 tie with Pennsylvania through two extra periods. The 150-pound football team lost to Princeton, 27-0, in its first start in the Eastern Intercollegiate Lightweight Football League.

George E. Ranney '39 of Ithaca won the Varsity cross country race by one-tenth of a second over Emery G. Wingerter '40 of Red Bank, N. J., with Legasse of Alfred third, some twelve seconds back of the leaders. Ranney's time was 25:15.4. Howard W. Welch '39 of Trumansburg, the intercollegiate cross country champion, was affected by the unseasonable heat and finished in seventeenth place. Cornellians placed fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth.

On Sunday, Welch was badly injured in a collision of his motorcycle and a car driven by University Comptroller George F. Rogalsky '07 on South Avenue. Welch suffered a fractured leg, fractured jaw, contusions and lacerations, and a possible fractured skull. He had not regained consciousness Monday night.

Eugene E. Crosby '39 of Ithaca scored both goals in the soccer tie, both in the second period. Pennsylvania tied the score in the final quarter.

Gamble of Alfred won the Freshman cross country race, with T. Irving Kennedy of Llanerch, Pa., second. Gamble's time was 11:48.6.

Henry Dragon of Albion, right half-back, scored both Cornell touchdowns in the Freshman football victory, and kicked his own extra points. The lineups:

ODDS AND ENDS

A heart attack October 9 brought death to Leroy Mills, an expert on kicking a football but never a player of the game. Mills, fifty-five-year-old attorney of Princeton, N. J., had come to Cornell the last few Septembers to instruct Cornell kickers. His science helped to develop John W. Batten '37 and Elliot H. Hooper '38, as well as Harold F. McCullough '41 of Brooklyn, this year's punter.

Winner of the ladder tournament for the Varsity tennis squad is Kennedy Randall, Jr. '41 of Staten Island, last year's Freshman captain. Randall defeated Captain Edward D. Devine, Jr. '39 of Detroit, Mich., 6-4, 6-2, 9-7. In the semifinals Randall eliminated Robert J. Schwartzman '40 of Bayside, 6-0, 6-4, and Devine, defeated William H. North '39 of Cleveland, Ohio, 7-5, 6-3. Freshman tournament winner was John Dingle, over Marvin Levitt, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0. Perhaps the longest consecutive two-set tennis match in Cornell history was played between North and John C. McKisson '39 of Toledo, Ohio, in the third round. North won, 20-18, 16-14, after four hours of play in two afternoons.

ITHACA HAS RECEIVED a PWA grant of $56,250 toward a $125,000 project to modernize the city's sewage disposal plant, providing for a population of 38,000 persons.

STUDENTS CROWD STRAIGHT HALL

Director Reports Increased Use of Building

Foster M. Coffin '12, making his thirteenth annual report as director of Willard Straight Hall, notes greatly increased use of the building and wider participation by students in its program than ever before, during the academic year 1937-38.

"We have surely reached the point," he says, "when this building must be enlarged. Too many times organizations and clubs must be refused the use of the building because of lack of room. The architect of the building has assured us that it is entirely feasible and desirable to extend a wing toward the north. The real need for additional space must be noted even though the funds necessary to provide it are not available." He points out that the closing in of the upper terrace, now being done, will allow the use of the library room for its intended purpose, and of the former lounge at the south for a music room.

The board of managers, composed of ten students, three members of the Faculty, a resident alumnus, and the director, was last year assisted by 106 students who served on standing committees, besides many others. A new plan of organization this year gives student members of the board more specific duties and responsibilities than before, as chairmen of at least one committee each; and provides for the enlistment of many other students, of whom the best will be candidates for membership on succeeding boards of managers.

New activities of the Hall last year included sponsorship of an intercollegiate conference on public affairs, with Dartmouth and Pennsylvania, which it was voted to continue; Thursday afternoon coffee hours for men, this year to be repeated from after Thanksgiving Day until spring; and daily music hours, of recordings and personal performances by students, which will be continued and amplified through the use of the music set given to the Hall by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. Last year's experiment of asking Freshmen women to indicate recreational interests is this year expanded to include all entering students. Besides these the Hall carried on its usual program of weekly teas for women, informal Saturday night dances, special programs for graduate students and their families, open houses, Sunday afternoon musicales, hobby show, art exhibits, foreign language tables, Sunday evenings for invited foreign and American students, informal Sunday talks by members of the Faculty, Thanksgiving and Christmas parties, an Alumni Homecoming Day football reception and tea, and University and intercollegiate championship tournaments in table tennis and billiards, in the game room.

Willard Straight Memorial Room was used last year for 204 meetings and assemblies, not including those sponsored by the Hall itself. This compares with 120 the year before. More than 3,000 persons attended the Faculty-student hobby show; musicales held each Sunday from November to May had average attendance of more than 350 persons; the Hall's seven open houses attracted nearly 5,000; and forty-four teas and receptions brought 5,500. Activities rooms of the Hall were used for more than 1600 meetings of student committees, boards, clubs, and other groups besides those which have more or less permanent occupancy, such as the Student Council, Musical Clubs, Dramatic Club, Radio Guild, women's editors of the Sun, and Aero-pagus.

The main desk in eleven months last year handled tickets to various Campus events to the value of $52,576, and sold 73,000 packages of cigarettes. Largest day in the soda bar was Cornell Day, when approximately 2500 patrons were served, with total business of $231.96. Record for the dining rooms was October 30, when the Columbia football game brought receipts of $1624. Private dining rooms of the Hall in eleven months last year accommodated 963 parties, as compared with 836 in all the year before. Total receipts of the dining room department, under the direction of Milton R. Shaw '34, were expected to exceed $223,000, compared with $198,000 the year before. More than half of this was from the cafeteria, where the average check was 21¢ for breakfast, 31¢ for luncheon, and 37¢ for dinner.

WILLARD STRAIGHT DIRECTOR ON THE JOB

His combined duties as University Alumni Representative and director of Willard Straight Hall keep Foster M. Coffin '12 continuously busy.

The director gives credit to the entire staff of the Hall, of 149 persons; besides

Shaw especially to Edgar A. Whiting '29, assistant director, and to Edith W. Ouzts, AM '30, social director, "the person who knows more about unions than anyone else in the country."

CORNELL ALMANAC

Cornell Almanac, 144-page desk-book of University information and other handy miscellany, appears this year with the imprint of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity. The editors are the same as for the first volume, published last year, Jansen Noyes, Jr. '39 of Montclair, N. J. and William T. Mills '39 of Rome. Albert R. Davis II '39 of South Euclid, Ohio, member of last year's staff, is this year business manager.

As before, the volume is distributed free to students, the cost born by many pages of advertising. It contains a daily calendar of the University year, with many events printed and space to write in others; and a considerable amount of other useful information, including sports schedules, fraternity rushing rules, train and bus schedules, information on Campus publications and clubs, Ithaca tutoring schools, beauty spots off the Campus, cocktail recipes, and evaluation of "New York Hot Spots."

ENGINEERING SCIENTISTS

Thirty-nine members of the Engineering Faculty have their biographies in the current edition of American Men of Science, the accepted directory of living men in this country who are making important contribution to pure science. This is more than thirty-five percent of the Faculty of the College of Engineering.

Five of the thirty-nine are emeritus professors: Albert W. Smith '78, Dexter S. Kimball, Henry S. Jacoby, Henry N. Ogden '89, and Edgar H. Wood '92. Of the active staff Dean S. C. Hollister is included, with Professors Fred A. Barnes '97, Samuel L. Boothroyd, Grad '05, Ernest W. Rettger, Grad '06, Ernest W. Schoder, PhD '03, Herbert H. Scofield '05, Francis J. Seery, Paul H. Underwood '07, Leonard C. Urquhart '09, and Charles L. Walker '04 of Civil Engineering; Calvin D. Albert '02, William N. Barnard '97, W. Rodney Cornell '13, A. C. Davis, Jr. '14, Frank O. Ellenwood, Victor R. Gage '06, James N. Goodier, Charles O. Mackey '25, Will M. Sawdon '08, Frederick G. Switzer '13, and George B. Upton '04, Mechanical Engineering; William C. Strong, Grad '26, Electrical Engineering; and Albert W. Laubengayer '21, Clyde W. Mason, PhD '24, and Fred H. Rhodes, PhD '14, Chemical Engineering. Several of these and Trevor R. Cuykendall, PhD '35, represent the Engineering Experiment Station.

MEDICS STUDY IN CUBA

Last summer, a second group of third-year students in the Medical College in New York spent six weeks of study at the University of Havana, Cuba, under an exchange arrangement between the two institutions. The first group, which went to Cuba in 1937, comprised Gustave J. Dammin '34, Wilbur G. Downs '35, John D. Hunter '35, and Stuart Sanger, all of whom received the MD at the Medical College last June. This year's exchange students were Raymond M. Brown '35, Henry Goebel '34, Edward C. Kunkle, Jr., and Joseph D. Sullivan.

The plan of cooperation between the two universities provides that four students or members of the teaching staff of the Medical College in New York shall be guests of the University of Havana for six weeks' summer study of parasitology and tropical diseases, such as they would not otherwise encounter. In return, three medical students or members of the teaching staff of University of Havana will be guests of the Medical College and New York Hospital for eight weeks, one each in the fall, winter, and spring. Permanent committees of the faculties of both institutions are provided to certify the exchange students and supervise their studies.

Chairman of the Cornell committee is Dr. Wilson G. Smillie, professor of Public Health and Preventive Medicine, who conducted a survey for the government of Cuba in 1934 and helped organize the public health department and public hospitals of the Island. Serving with him are Drs. William DeW. Andrus, Surgery; R. Gordon Douglas, Obstetrics and Gynecology; and Samuel Z. Levine, Pediatrics. The University of Havana committee comprises Dr. Carlos E. Finlay, son of Dr. Carlos Finlay who discovered that yellow fever is transmitted by the Stegomyia mosquito, and Drs. Alfredo Antonetti, Felix Hurtado, and Alberto Inclan.

Dr. Dammin writes in part as follows of the first visit to Havana of Cornell students:

"The visit was both extremely enjoyable and profitable, and we are forever indebted to those in Cuba who so overwhelmed us with kindness. There was opportunity for extensive study of malaria, typhoid fever, intestinal parasites, leprosy, cancer, and fungous diseases of the skin. Of special interest is the tuberculosis survey which is part of Colonel F. Batista's public health program. The entire Island, with a population of 4,000,000, is to be surveyed by tuberculin testing and chest X-ray. There have now been 60,000 tuberculin tests and 20,000 X-rays completed. Such an extensive program has never before been attempted, and it represents an advance in a new direction in public health control of tuberculosis. This work is being directed by Drs. Morton C. Kahn

'16 and Edgar Mayer of the Cornell University Medical College, in conjunction with the Cuban government.

"Enthusiastic accounts from the second group of Medical College students, recently returned from Havana, indicate that they considered the summer equally as profitable and enjoyable as we did."

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

At this writing the hills are aflame with color, there is a blue haze in the valleys, and Ithaca is divided in its interests between the election (for sheriff) and the opening of the pheasant season. The students, to be sure, don't care much who is elected sheriff, but a considerable minority of them are banging away at the birds these frosty mornings.

It is my impression that Cornell students, more than those of other colleges, like to regard themselves as quasi members of the non-academic community. It is not now regarded as sophisticated to snoot the natives. Indeed, it is thought rather knowing for an upperclassman nowadays (helpful, too, in the pheasant season) to be well acquainted with a dozen farmers in the rural towns and to know some of the old roads through the hills by their right names.

To this end the automobile has unquestionably helped. In my day few students—other than the cross country squad—ever got more than five miles out into the countryside under their own steam. But some of us did.

The incident of my undergraduate career that I now like best to recall occurred one soft May night when I was finishing up (it was due the next morning) a term paper on "The Nationalization of the Swiss Railroads." Some boys of my acquaintance paused under my open window:

"Come on down. We're going up Six Mile Creek to snare suckers."

At that crucial instant in the fixing of my character, I answered not one word; I just reached for my pants, snapped out the light, and went, three steps at a leap. I've always believed that my subsequent life would have turned out far less rich and joyful if I'd paused in that fateful moment to inquire (1) where Six Mile Creek was, (2) if there were any suckers up there, and (3) whether anybody in the crowd knew anything about snaring suckers or possessed any of the necessary utensils. I just went. I'm glad I did and the results of the momentous decision have been obvious in four decades.

Through the years, of course, I've never operated any Swiss railroads or snared many suckers; but, my goodness gracious, I've had some wonderful trips!

'01 PLANS AHEAD

First informal dinner of the Class of 1901 for the fall and winter season will be held at the Cornell Club, 107 East Forty-eighth Street, New York City, Friday evening, October 28, at 6:30. Archie Morrison, Class secretary, and chairman of the '41 reunion committee, will be up from Miami, Fla., to start the fires of Class spirit for the forty-year reunion, three years hence. The committee is already at work to make it the best reunion in history.

As the dinner is to be the evening before the Columbia game in New York City, it promises to be a real get-together of the Class, with many out-of-town members present.

MORE ON SIBLEY WELL

Further information comes from the College of Engineering about the old well under the Sibley Mechanical Laboratory, which was the subject of Romeyn Berry's column in our August issue. The well was discovered when workmen dug up the floor of the East Mech Lab to install a pit for a new Olsen hydraulic tension compression machine, part of the new and modern testing equipment put in this summer.

Further research has disclosed that this thirty-two foot well, "perfectly preserved after having been sealed up and forgotten for half a century, is the last relic of the first structure erected on the site of the present Campus—a farmhouse once owned by Ezra Cornell," and which later housed the original "Sibley Pup." From the College of Engineering we have the following:

Cornell University still possesses the deed by which, on August 10, 1866, the house with its small farm was transferred to the University by Mr. and Mrs. Cornell. An atlas of Ithaca printed in that year shows the house, located on a spot now partly covered by the Engineering Laboratory—the only structure on all the acreage between Fall Creek and Cascadilla Creek now covered by the University Campus. The sturdy house was to serve the University for thirty-five years before it was finally razed.

In the beginning it was the headquarters for the work in Agriculture. Lewis Spaulding, first director of the University farm, lived there in 1869, and later the house was occupied by Professor Isaac P. Roberts, who became first director of the College of Agriculture. Early University maps call it the Cornell Farmhouse, and early students of the College of Engineering still recall the apples they picked in the adjoining orchard, which extended south of the present site of East Sibley.

When a new Mechanical Engineering Laboratory was projected in 1887, east of the one then in use, the Board of Trustees directed that the farmhouse be moved some yards east so that East Avenue, which then ran straight to University Avenue without its present curve, would pass between the house and the new Engineering building. With the completion of the laboratory in 1888, the well was capped and covered by the cement floor.

To students of later years, the old farmhouse was best known as the home of a restaurant christened the "Sibley Dog." The restaurant was moved into the basement of Sibley Dome in 1911, and the farmhouse was razed to make way for Rand Hall.

LETTERS

Subject to the usual restrictions of space and good taste, we shall print letters from subscribers on any side of any subject of interest to Cornellians. The ALUMNI NEWS often may not agree with the sentiments expressed, and disclaims any responsibility beyond that of fostering interest in the University.

ALUMNI REORGANIZATION

TO THE EDITOR:

I enjoyed reading the ALUMNI NEWS article on the question of proper alumni organization. I hope it will call forth some real discussion in the immediate future.

I feel, however, that I should call your attention to the fact that the group that met in Ithaca did not agree in principle on the statement of points submitted to the several organizations. We simply agreed that these points were the ones that should be passed upon by the different groups. In other words, we felt that the acceptance or rejection of the points discussed would enable the committee to know how far it could go in making its recommendation to the Alumni Corporation by which it was appointed.

I do not think it should appear that any one of the unofficial representatives present approved the program that was submitted to the constituent organizations for action. We simply approved the submission of the points for action to the organizations themselves.—ELBERT P. TUTTLE '18.

Proposals submitted by Tuttle's committee to the organizations named were four:

"1. All alumni activity of Cornell University shall be centered in a general alumni association.

"2. The present activities of the Cornellian Council, the Alumni Corporation, the ALUMNI NEWS, the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs, the Association of Class Secretaries, the Alumni Representative, and the University Placement Bureau shall be conducted as divisions of the general alumni association.

"3. The executives of such divisions shall be under the general direction of a single executive, who shall be responsible to the general alumni association.

"4. Active members of the general alumni association shall be those who are contributors to the Cornell Alumni Fund."—ED.

FUND GIFTS MOUNT

Robert P. Butler '05, president of the Cornellian Council, writes the Council representatives that the Alumni Fund to October 12 totals $13,270.28, as compared with $13,286.56 for the same period last year. Of this, unrestricted funds amount to $9,848.30, as compared with $8,551.47 last year.

To the 1938 Alumni Fund, Delaware led all other States in percentage of contributors, with 13.2 percent of her Cornellians giving. Following in order of their percentages are Nevada, Connecticut, New Jersey, Wisconsin, District of Columbia, Idaho, Illinois, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Ohio, and New York.

EYES ON CHICAGO

For Alumni Convention

Alumni committees in Chicago and the directors of the Cornell Alumni Corporation are going down the home stretch in preparation for the all-Cornell gathering at the Hotel Sherman in Chicago Friday and Saturday, November 4 and 5. This fifteenth general convention of Cornellians gives increasing promise of surpassing its predecessors.

Last week the Chicago committee mailed notices to the 6,000 Cornellians in Illinois and neighboring States. These contain reservation blanks for returning to Leslie N. Duryea '22, ticket chairman, 135 South LaSalle Street, Chicago. All Cornell men and women are welcome, and inquiries should be addressed to Duryea or to the Alumni House, 3 East Avenue, Ithaca. Present indications promise attendance by alumni from many parts of the country.

From Friday morning to Saturday noon many Cornell notables will speak, President Day heading the list. Others will be J. DuPratt White '90, vice-chairman of the Board of Trustees; Dean Carl E. Ladd '12 of the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics; Dean S. C. Hollister of the College of Engineering; James Lynah '05, Director of Physical Education and Athletics; C. Reeve Vanneman '03, president of the Cornell Alumni Corporation; Robert P. Butler '05, president of the Cornellian Council; R. W. Sailor '07, editor of the ALUMNI NEWS; Mrs. Robert C. Osborn (Agda Swenson) '20, president of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs; Herbert H. Williams '25, director of the University Placement Bureau; and Elbert P. Tuttle '18, chairman of the Alumni Corporation's committee on coordination of alumni activities.

Alumni will be using many modes of travel. The Cornell Women's Club of Chicago is particularly interested in those who will travel by airplane. The Club has become agent for American Airlines and will receive five percent commission on trips. Cornell men and women are asked to endorse ticket stubs with name and date of flight and send to Mrs. Franklin N. Corbin, Jr. (Margaret Arronet) '21, 7548 North Oakley Avenue, Chicago, president of the women's Club. Tickets must be purchased at a regular airline ticket office (city or airport) and not from a travel agency. The proceeds will go toward the scholarship fund of the Cornell Women's Club of Chicago.

Newton C. Farr '09 is general chairman of the Chicago committee. His committee includes Millard F. Bingham, 3d '27, Frederick H. Bird '11, Richard D. Culver '36, Edward J. Doyle, Jr. '36, Frank J. Durham '16, president of the Chicago Club, Leslie N. Duryea '22, C. Longford Felske '24, Alfred H. Hutchinson '09, Albert J. McAllister '28, Buel McNeil

COMING EVENTS

Time and place of regular Club luncheons are printed separately as we have space. Notices of other Cornell events, both in Ithaca and abroad, appear below. Contributions to this column must be received on or before Thursday to appear the next Thursday.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22

Ithaca: Freshman cross country, Penn State, 2
Football, Penn State, 2:30
New Brunswick: 150-pound football, Rutgers
State College: Freshman football, Penn State

'27, M. Mead Montgomery '24, Richard H. Sampson '32, Waldo F. Tobey '95, and Richard D. Vanderwarker '33, secretary of the Club.

Mrs. Corbin heads the women's committee, assisted by Mary B. Livingston '90, Mrs. F. W. Merrifield (Katharine Brooks) '24, Mrs. Lawrence B. Perkins (Margery Blair) '28, Mrs. Karel Sevic (Consuelo Holmes) '22, Mrs. Paul Shorey (Emma Gilbert) '90, Melita H. Skillen '11, Mrs. Burt H. Smith (Sarah Campbell) '17, Ruth I. Stone '10, and Mrs. J. C. Thomas (Mildred Robinson) '24.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

ORGANIZED RUSHING came to an end Monday, when the "preference cards" of sororities, returned by Freshman women, had been compared with the sororities' lists of bids by Attorney Allen H. Treman '21, and those that matched were duly invited to pledge on Monday. The fraternities do it a little more directly, but were mostly finished a week ago. Now Freshmen men and women have begun at University work.

NEW INSTRUCTORS in the Home Economics course in "Baby Feeding and Care" this fall are "Professors" Bill and JoJo, both about twelve weeks of age. They have taken up quarters in the home-making apartments in Martha Van Rensselaer Hall, where groups of students live with them and care for them for five-week periods. "Teaching" agrees especially with Joseph, who gained several ounces in weight his first five days at Cornell.

WILLARD STRAIGHT HALL until November 5 is exhibiting in its library the work of Harry Sternberg, etcher, painter, and lithographer, winner of a Guggenheim fellowship and instructor at the Art Students League.

AUTOGRAPHED PHOTOGRAPH of Ezra Cornell was discovered in Syracuse this summer by Walter W. Edwards '93. It is about the size of a calling card and bears the imprint of Churchill & Denison, Albany. The picture was given by the Founder to his relative, the father of Mrs. Henry B. Jennings of Syracuse, who before her marriage was Abbie E. Cornell.

FEDERAL RESEARCH LABORATORY, one of four regional establishments which the government expects to maintain at $900,000 a year each, it is hoped may be located in Ithaca. Ithaca Enterprises, Inc. and a group of local business men are cooperating with Dean Carl E. Ladd '12, Agriculture and Home Economics, to make clear the city's advantages for its location. Last week P. A. Wells came from Washington to look into the research being done at the University on industrial uses for farm products, and shortly another representative of the Government's survey committee is expected to study engineering research.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB held its annual reception October 17, at which the community was invited to meet the foreign students of the University, Ithaca College, and Cascadilla School. President Day spoke, as did Dean Floyd K. Richtmyer '04, president of the International Association; Teh Chang Koo '40, president of the Club; and Baburao S. Kadam, MS '28, back in the Graduate School this year after ten years in his native India, speaking for the foreign guests. Timothy ment. Here he is shown with Council President Walter H. Foertsch '39 looking over a program of increased activity for this year which Foertsch presented. It was proposed that the Council should: (1) present to the University Trustees student opinion on matters affecting students; (2) represent students in determining athletic policies which affect them as a whole; (3) be given powers of action in matters of student conduct; (4) have a part in an organized period of Freshman orientation; (5) organize Freshman dormitories; and (6) investigate and improve student housing. The President is said to have been gratified at the initiative shown by the Council.

G. C. Henderson '41 of Natal, South Africa, presided, and Peter Kendzior '39 of Kington Langley, England, was chairman of the program committee.

TWENTY WOMEN entered preliminary tryouts for membership in an "understudy group" of the (feminine) Dance Club. They and later aspirants are judged by May Atherton, instructor in Physical Education, and the officers of the Club, of which Johnnie Belle Thomas '38 of Greenwich, Conn., is president.

NEW BOULEVARD skirting the west shore of Cayuga Lake is now open the entire forty miles, to Route 20 at the north end. The seven miles from Taughannock Park to a point east of Interlaken is graded but still unpaved; will be completed and opened next summer, simultaneously with a new stretch north of Union Springs on the east side. Then there will be concrete all around the lake.

FOOTBALL RALLY Friday evening before the Syracuse game the Sun characterized as reminiscent of "the early days"—of the 1920's! More than 2500 came to Bailey Hall through red flares and spotlights to cheer the team, Eugene F. Patterson '39, head cheerleader, and his assistants, and Professor Charles L. Durham '99 who said, "I have seen every Cornell football team since 1892 and this is the finest team I've ever seen!" Even Rum, the Chi Psi dog, barked with approval when Coach Snively made a belated appearance, and the crowd tore down a Syracuse effigy hung high over the auditorium, and littered the floor with its straw.

ROTC BAND made a brave showing in Archbold Stadium last Saturday. Marching and playing between the halves with expert precision, they outshone even the colorful feminine cheerleaders of the Syracuse co-ed cheering section, as they formed a huge block S and then "C WINS." And the ten-square formation now includes two glockenspiels!

CORNELLIANS and their guests who went early to the Syracuse game greatly enjoyed a buffet luncheon arranged Saturday noon by the Cornell Club of Syracuse at Drumlins Country Club, just outside the city. The host, Roderick S. Burlingame '05, thoughtfully provided Cornell music while the guests lunched.

NEW SERVICE of Willard Straight Hall is a dark room for the use of student photographers.

CORNELL COMMITTEE for the Aid of Spanish Democracy brought to Willard Straight Hall October 15 Dr. Manuel Azcrate, son of the Spanish Ambassador to England, and Constance Kyle, Smith College graduate recently returned from eighteen months in Spain supervising ten American homes for orphaned children. Professor Edward A. Burr, Philosophy, presided.

LECTURES for the week include Dr. Philipp Frank, who succeeded Dr. Albert Einstein as professor of theoretical physics in the German University of Prague, speaking October 20 on "The Role of Metaphysics in the Physics of the Twentieth Century," on the Schiff Foundation; and Miss Pearl Teh-wei Liu, teacher of English and history at Hankow, and Dr. Pao-yu Yin of National Central University, Nanking, recently political attache on the Shanghai and Nanking fronts, in Willard Straight Hall, October 23.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER October 23 is Dr. Rufus M. Jones, professor of philosophy in Haverford College.

NECROLOGY

DR. CHARLES P. EMERSON, September 26, 1938, in Indianapolis, Ind. He was assistant professor of Medicine at the Medical College in Ithaca during 1909-10. From 1911 until 1932 he was dean of the Indiana University Medical School and, since then, research professor of medicine. He was a past president of the Association of American Medical Colleges and of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene and in 1931-32 was commissioner to the Orient of the Laymen's Foreign Mission Inquiry.

'72—NATHANIEL WOOD, October 5, 1938, at his home in Woodville. He spent one year in the Optional Course and assisted in building some of the first buildings on the Campus. He worked for a time in a New York City brokerage office, later returning to Woodville and joining with his brother in operating a mercantile, agricultural, and manufacturing company.

'97 CE—CHARLES FRAZINE HAMILTON, September 22, 1938, at his home, 816 Michigan Avenue, Wilmette, Ill. He had been since 1928 vice-president of the Binkley Coal Company, Chicago, Ill., having previously held several engineering and contracting positions in Franklin, Pa. He was also vice-president of the Binkley Coal Mining Companies of Indiana and Missouri, of the Universal Coal Washing Company, and the Buffalo Rock Coal Company. He was president of the Class of '97 and presided at Class functions at the fortieth reunion, June, 1937. Delta Tau Delta; Theta Nu Epsilon; Sphinx Head; Aleph Samach; Undine; Bench and Board; manager, track team; Cornellian board; Student Council. Son, Charles F. Hamilton, Jr. '28.

'97 PhB—AUGUSTUS WESLEY SENIOR, August 10, 1938, at his home in Wallkill. After graduation he taught four years in the Dubuque, Iowa, high school and then was instructor in English for one year at Indiana University, when ill health compelled him to retire. Cousins, Frank S. Senior '96 and John L. Senior '01.

'11—JOHN JOSEPH O'CONNOR, October 6, 1938, in Jamaica Plain, Boston, Mass. He spent two years in the Special Law Course. He was secretary to New York State Senator John J. Dunnigan, Democratic leader of the State Senate. While a special agent for the Department of Justice in January, 1920, he won wide fame as capturer of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, draft dodger who had escaped arrest for two and a half years. He was later clerk of the Albany County Board of Supervisors and secretary to the late Senator Bernard Dowling.

'27 EE—HERSCHEL PAUL LEWIS, October 2, 1938, at Bellevue Manor, Del. He was with the E. I. duPont de Nemours Company, Wilmington, Del. From 1924 to 1926 he was an instructor in Machine Design; during 1926-27, in Electrical Engineering; and during 1927-28, in Experimental Engineering.

'31—RICHARD BAXTER SHANLEY, August 26, 1938, in Philadelphia, Pa. He spent the year 1929-30 in Hotel Administration. He was manager of the Hotel Vendig, Philadelphia, president since May of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen, and vice-president of the Philadelphia Hotel Association. He had previously been manager of Green's Hotel, Philadelphia, and of the Hotel Rennert, Baltimore, Md. Kappa Sigma; Musical Clubs. Brother, Emmet M. Shanley '30.

'32 Grad—MRS. WILLIAM J. AULL, JR. (ELIZABETH ANNA CRAFTS), March 24, 1938, in Pittsburgh, Pa.

'33, '34 DVM—DR. CLIFFORD PHILEMON MURRAY, October 6, 1938, in Glens Falls, where his home was at 105 Bay Street. He had been a veterinarian in Glens Falls for some time. Omega Tau Sigma; Varsity rifle team; State tuition scholarship.

'34 DVM—CAPTAIN RAY SWARTLEY HUNSBERGER, September 4, in an automobile accident near Toledo, Ohio, while en route to visit friends in Ithaca. He entered the Army on graduation and completed a training course at Carlisle Barracks in 1935. Since then he had served in the Veterinary Corps at Presidio, Monterey, Cal., and in the Philippines, from whence he had just returned. Polo team; Dramatic Club; Officers' Club; Polo and Riding Club.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR MARTIN P. CATHERWOOD, PhD '30, Business Management, has been named by the New York State Chamber of Commerce a member of its constitutional convention committee. This committee will review and analyze the proposed amendments passed at the Albany session.

PROFESSOR CLYDE W. MASON, PhD '24, Chemistry, was elected vice-chairman of the new division of microscopy of the American Chemical Society at the Society's convention in September. A second edition of Handbook of Chemical Microscopy, Volume I, written by Professor Mason and Professor Emile M. Chamor '91, Chemistry, Emeritus, has just been published by John Wiley and Sons, New York City. This book is widely recognized as the standard reference work in its field.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

'92 EE; '93 ME—Major Henry C. Nelson, USA, retired, and Mrs. Nelson spent a week in Ithaca recently and saw the Colgate game. They left their home, Pine Grove, Falls Village, Conn., October 12 and are driving to Los Angeles, Cal., to spend the winter. Major Nelson may be addressed there c/o General Electric Company. He writes, "George A. Wardlaw '93 and Mrs. Wardlaw visited us at Pine Grove this summer, and after a trip to Ithaca returned to their home in Fox Hall Village, Washington, D. C. Mr. Wardlaw, while a student, had his troubles with calculus, but unlike most of us, had the nerve to write a calculus so that almost anyone could understand the treatise. He presented a copy to me and I am giving it the once over."

'06 ME—Homer C. Deffenbaugh is with the Rochester Gas and Electric Corporation, Rochester, where he lives at 37 Calumet Street.

'07 AB—Ray R. Powers writes, "I am part time in Berlin, part time in Ville d'Avray, and part time in Paris. The surest bet to catch me is at 13, Rue Felix Faure, Paris, for the next year. If any of my classmates come this way, tell them to be sure to call on me. I am still selling Coca-Cola in Germany and France."

'10 ME—John A. Clark is with the Hope Natural Gas Company, Clarkburg, W. Va., where he lives at 600 East Main Street.

'11 ME—CLAYTON S. COGGESHALL (above) has been appointed manager of the turbine division of the central station department, general office, General Electric Company, Schenectady. He had been assistant to the manager since March 1, previous to which he was manager of sales of the turbine section of the General Electric River Works at Lynn, Mass. He has been with the Company since graduation, when he enrolled in the student engineering course. Four years later he became associated with the turbine sales department.

'12 CE—Lieutenant Colonel Alfred B. Quinton, Jr. is now in charge of the procurement planning division of the Office, Chief of Ordnance, Room 3069, Munitions Building, Washington, D. C. He was formerly executive officer, Detroit Ordnance District Office, Detroit, Mich.

'16 BS—Franklin H. Thomas is supervisor of the bond portfolio for the Central Savings Bank, Seventy-third Street and Broadway, New York City. This bank is the seventh in amount of deposits of all mutual savings banks in the United States.

'17 BS, '30 PhD—Dr. Harold N. Young, head of the department of agricultural economics and rural sociology at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, has been appointed a member of the new Virginia State planning board.

'17, '18 BS—Katharine Etz will be for three years librarian at the American College for Girls, Istanbul, Turkey. Her address is c/o the College, P. O. Box 1039, Galalea, Istanbul.

'21, '22 BS—Freeman R. Swift is with the Fleishmann Laboratories, New York City; lives at Floyd Street, Englewood Cliffs, N. J.

'21 BS, '22 MS—Arthur L. Clark is in the Missouri Conservation Department, Jefferson City, Mo.

'22 BS; '16 BS—Carmen M. Johnson is manager of the Cleves Cafeteria, Washington, D. C. This cafeteria was formerly owned by the late Mrs. Chester L. Justus (Ruth L. Cleves) '16. Miss Johnson lives at 1830 K Street, N. W., Washington.

'22 BS—Frank B. Mitchell is with the Retail Credit Company, San Antonio, Tex.; lives at 143 Barrillo Street, San Antonio.

'22, '23 ME—David Jacobson is an assistant engineer on the New York City board of transportation, currently working on the design of an extension to the subway system. His lives at 83-44 Leferts Boulevard, Kew Gardens.

'24, '25 ME—Raymond G. Fowler is with the Tri-Continental Corporation, 54 Wall Street, New York City.

'26 AB, '28 AM, '31 PhD—Frederick R. Hirsh, Jr. is a research fellow at the California Institute of Technology. He writes, "We have purchased a home at 1491 North Holliston Avenue, Pasadena, Cal. The winters here are mild; the summers not too warm. The floods are exciting; the good Lord must have heard me bragging about the Ithaca floods to the Californians. At our former residence the water stopped just short of the top step on the front porch."

'26 CE—Maurice B. White is with the New York Telephone Company; lives at 68 North Columbus Avenue, Freeport. He has a son, Stuart Crawford White, born July 20.

'26 AB, '29 LLB—Thomas F. Fennell, II married Teresa E. M. Winters of Ithaca September 17. Assistant coach of football while he was attending Law School, Fennell is now with the law firm of LeBoeuf, Machold and Lamb, 15 Broad Street, New York City.

'27 PhD—Hazel E. Schoonmaker was married to L. T. Wilson July 14. He is a

Mentioned in Dispatches

Professor Forrest F. Hill, PhD '30, Land Economics, appointed governor of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D.C.:

Professor Hill is the third Cornelian to fill this post. He has been on leave of absence from the University since June, 1933, when Henry Morgenthau, Jr. '13, first Governor of the FCA, invited him to become assistant to Professor William I. Myers '14, who recently returned to Ithaca to head the Department of Agricultural Economics and Farm Finance. When Myers became Governor in November, 1933, Hill succeeded to the deputy governorship.

Born near Kingman, Kan., he worked on his father's 1,500-acre Saskatchewan wheat farm; entered the Graduate School in 1924, having received the BSA at the University of Saskatchewan. He was extension instructor in Agricultural Economics during 1924-25. For three years he studied under the late Professor George F. Warren '03 and Myers. He was then successively agricultural statistician and comptroller with the Federal Land Bank of Springfield, Mass., of which Edward H. Thomson '09 has been president since 1919. He returned to the University in 1929 as assistant professor of Rural Economy, and his thesis for the doctorate was based on his Bank studies of the relationship between land usage and the economics of farm credit, in the course of which he reviewed statistics on 20,000 mortgaged farms.

In 1930 he became professor of Rural Economy, and in 1931, of Land Economics. During this time he prepared an exhaustive survey of land usage and cognate economic and sociological reactions in New York State. He is a member of Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, Gamma Alpha, and Alpha Zeta.

Cornell Alumni Convention

It's in Chicago, November 4-5—and you're all mighty welcome!

There's going to be a lot of serious talk about Cornell and about how all you alumni fit into the picture—something about coordinating this and that and making Cornell strong, sort of like the Rock of Gibraltar. Well and good! And let's hope all of you will be on hand to put some of these proposals into practice.

There'll be President Day, Trustee Du Pratt White, Deans Ladd and Hollister, Reeve Vanneman, Bob Butler, Lim Lynah and a lot of others—and the air is going to hum!

And just for fun, there'll be a bang-up dinner dance on Friday evening, November 4, a couple of luncheons that will let you relax, a Big Ten Conference football game between Northwestern and Wisconsin, and a nice sociable cocktail hour to round out the festivities.

ALL OUT—LINE FORMS TO THE RIGHT!

Address the ALUMNI OFFICE, Ithaca, for further details.

A Football Message to Cornell Men

It gives The Atlantic Refining Company great pleasure to announce that it will broadcast most of Cornell's 1938 football games.

These broadcasts will be dignified, accurate and entertaining. Commentators have been chosen both for their knowledge of football and for their recognized ability in radio broadcasting. Advertising commercials will be used sparingly and in good taste — never while a game is in progress.

We sincerely hope that those of you who cannot go to the games will tune in one of the stations listed below. We feel sure that some exciting football afternoons are in store for you.
