PROFESSORS RETURN Speak in Twelve Cities

Reports from nine of the twelve Cornell Clubs which entertained the "traveling professors" of the Faculty committee on relations with secondary schools indicate successful and enthusiastic Cornell parties in as many cities over the country. First hand accounts of current affairs on the Campus and the movies of Cornell were uniformly enjoyed, our correspondents agree, and many Cornell Clubs took the opportunity to entertain school boys who might be interested in coming to Ithaca, and their teachers.

Most extensive trip was that of Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Latin, who started his campaign in Wilmington, Del. March 16, visited three cities of the Middle West in six days, and went to Pittsburgh April 17. Franklin Taylor '22, chairman of the secondary school committee of the Cornell Club of Delaware, reports that twenty-five alumni and twelve prospective Freshmen enjoyed Professor Durham's talk in Wilmington. The Professor's first stop in the Midwest was Chicago, April 5, where Alfred H. Hutchinson is chairman of the Cornell Club school committee. He visited Culver Military School. In Omaha, Nebr. the next day he interviewed students at three high schools, and that evening, introduced by John W. Towle '94, he spoke to eighteen Cornellians, fifteen prospective students, and seven fathers at a dinner at the Omaha Club. James L. Paxton, Jr. '30 was elected president of the Omaha Cornell Alumni Association for two years, and Laurens Williams '31, who was in charge of Professor Durham's visit, secretary. At a smoker at the University Club of Denver April 7, Professor Durham spoke to twenty-two Cornellians, Charles Lahr '15 presiding. Chairman of the committee was Carl A. Gould '07, and Russell D. Welsh '13 is school chairman. "Dinner from the Dutch" and "drinks from Zinck's" were enjoyed, "thanks to George J. Mersereau '99," along with Professor Durham's talk and movies, by seventeen members of the Cornell Club of Kansas City, meeting at the University Club April 9. Ellsworth L. Filby '17 was elected president of the Club, and presided, and Philip S. Lyon '27 was elected secretary. Professor Durham's visit to Pittsburgh April 17, was the occasion for a "very successful" smoker and buffet supper of the Cornell Club of Western Pennsylvania, which fifty attended. Eugene C. Batchelar '02 presided, and arrangements for the local delegation to Cornell Day were made.

After an Easter afternoon reception for school boys at the University Club in Detroit, Mich. and an alumni dinner in Toledo, Ohio, April 8, Professor John G. Jenkins '23, Psychology, spent April 9 in St. Paul and Minneapolis under the wing of James C. Otis '01 and Alden C. Buttrick '16. Samuel G. Dickinson '35 took him to visit St. Paul Academy, and that evening twenty alumni gathered for dinner at the Town and Country Club, where Jenkins spoke and showed Campus movies. The next day he called on most of the Cornellians at the University of Minnesota. Professor Jenkins reports a most pleasant and successful Sunday afternoon tea for school boys at the Milwaukee home of Bruno V. Bitker '21 and Mrs. Bitker, April 11. The next day he talked with interested boys at the Country Day School, University School, and Riverside School, and that evening spoke at the annual dinner of the Cornell Club of Milwaukee, where there was the largest attendance of any except their dinner to President Farrand. Bitker '21 was re-elected president of the Club; Philip Ryan '19 is vice-president; Pickens Johnson '22, secretary; and Henry S. Reuss '33, treasurer.

Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, and Professor Arthur B. Recknagel, Forestry, spoke at a dinner of the Cornell Club of Washington, D. C., April 7. Through the good offices of the president, John S. Gorrell '05, and his committee, five school principals and nineteen boys were guests at the dinner, with twenty-three interested Cornellians. In Norfolk, Va. April 9, Professor Adams spoke on Cornell before a group of students at Norfolk Academy, and that evening at a dinner meeting of the Cornell Club of Hampton Roads. Ben Paul Snyder '23, president of the Club, presided.

ROCHESTER HONORS '12

The Cornell Club of Rochester met for dinner at the University Club April 28, with members of the Class of '12 as special guests. The Class was honored in view of its approaching twenty-fifth reunion in June. Lewis B. Swift '12 as president of the Club introduced Ross W. Kellogg '12, secretary of the Class. Visitors from Ithaca were Louis C. Boochever '12, Director of Public Information, and Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative. Motion pictures were shown by George S. Babcock '16 and they included views of Classes other than the quarter-century crowd. Marvin R. Dye '17 also reported as chairman of the Cornell Day committee.

ROBERT H. BODHOLDT '38 of Evanston, Ill. has been elected president of the Radio Guild.

BOARD ELECTS GHERARDI Eighteen New Professors

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees May 1 Bancroft Gherardi '93 of New York City was elected Trustee to fill the unexpired term of the late Robert H. Treman '78. Gherardi, who is vice-president and chief engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, has been serving as Alumni Trustee and his status is now changed to one of the coöptative members of the Board.

The Board also elected Robert E. Treman '09 a member of its committee on general administration, of which Gherardi is the chairman.

In addition to approving the 1937-38 budget the Board authorized the promotion of eighteen assistant professors in the endowed and State Colleges to full professorships. Those advanced were: Howard B. Adelman '21, Histology and Embryology, Hans A. Bethe, Physics, Forest M. Blodgett '10, Plant Pathology, Herbert W. Briggs, Government, Joshua A. Cope, Forestry, Dorothy C. DeLany '23, Extension Service, Herbert B. Hartwig, Agronomy, Robert B. Hinman, Animal Husbandry, Albert Hoefer '16, Extension Service, Frank B. Howe, Agronomy, Harley E. Howe, PhD '16, Physics, Albert W. Laubengayer, PhD '21, Chemistry, Royal E. Montgomery, Economics, Fred B. Morris '22, Extension, Walter C. Muenscher, PhD '21, Botany, James W. Papez, Anatomy, George E. Peabody '18, Extension Teaching, George J. Raleigh, Vegetable Crops.

GRANT '04 WINS HOTEL PRIZE

George R. Grant '04, general attorney for the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, won a round trip ticket to Europe on the French Line and $100 cash as the first prize in a national hotel contest, it has been announced by Needham & Grohmann, Inc., New York City advertising agency which sponsored the contest. Announced as an effort to sample public opinion of hotels, the contest was open to any citizen of the United States who had spent at least ten nights as a guest in hotels of this country in 1936. Contestants wrote on what they liked and disliked about hotels.

Judges were the two partners in the sponsoring firm, William R. Needham '25 and H. Victor Grohmann '28, and forty-one hotelmen, including Professor Howard B. Meek, Hotel Administration. The writers of all the papers spent a total of 2,480 nights in 388 hotels. Their principal likes were comfort, cleanliness, and courtesy; dislikes, noisy sleeping rooms and tipping.

EDUCATION BOARD TAKES MANN '04

To Leave Cornell at End of Year

Dr. Albert R. Mann '04, Provost of the University, has been elected vice-president and director for Southern education of the General Education Board in New York City, it was announced on Monday by Raymond B. Fosdick, Board president. He will assume his new duties some time after the close of this academic year, July 1.

Appointed to the newly-created office of Provost by the University Board of Trustees in June, 1931, Dr. Mann had been Dean of the College of Agriculture for fifteen years and of the State College of Home Economics since its establishment in 1925. Under his administration the effectiveness of teaching, research, and extension in Agriculture and Home Economics was greatly developed, many new lines of work were established, the staff was more than doubled, annual State and Federal appropriations to the University were increased from $518,000 to more than $2,000,000, and new buildings and plant improvement were added to the extent of nearly $5,000,000. In the last five years as Provost he has been the executive officer of the University, next to the President.

Mann entered the College of Agriculture as a special student in 1901, from the public schools of Pittsburgh, Pa., where his father, a Scotch engineer and inventor, was a friend and contemporary of Andrew Carnegie. He received the BSA degree in 1904, and after a year as assistant superintendent of the Boston Farm and Trades School, returned to Ithaca to be for three years secretary to Dean Liberty Hyde Bailey in the preparation of the Cyclopedia of American Agriculture. He was appointed assistant professor of Dairy Industry in the spring of 1908, and that fall became secretary, registrar, and editor of the College of Agriculture. In 1915 he was appointed professor of Rural Social Organization, and became acting Dean of the College of Agriculture in 1916.

Dr. Mann's appointment to the General Education Board is recognition not only of his outstanding record as a college and university administrator at Cornell, but of broad experience and international reputation in the field of agricultural education, country life, and human living. Last year he conducted a survey of education in the South for the General Education Board, and during 1924-26, on leave of absence from the University, he was director of agricultural education in Europe for the International Education Board. He is a founder, past president, and for many years a director of the American Country Life Association, was chairman of the committee on farm and village housing of President Hoover's Conference on Home

GOVERNOR LEHMAN AND PROVOST MANN

Building and Home Ownership, was appointed by President Roosevelt a member of the National Farm Tenancy Committee, is a member of the National Land-Use Planning Committee, and resigned recently after two terms as chairman of the New York State Planning Commission. In 1921 he was elected New York State Commissioner of Agriculture, but declined, to remain as Dean of the College of Agriculture.

He is a trustee of the Farm Foundation established by Alexander Legge, late chairman of the Federal Farm Board, and others, and of the Colgate-Rochester Theological Seminary and Hampton Institute, Tuskegee, Ala. Member of the executive committee of the Association of Land Grant Colleges for many years, he is also a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, was long a trustee and director of CUCA, and has held numerous offices with the YMCA, Boy Scouts, and in the commission on country life of the Federal Council of Churches. He is vice-chairman of the Agricultural Missions Foundation of which Dr. John R. Mott '88 is chairman, and a member of the executive committee of the board of managers of the board of education of the Northern Baptist Convention.

In recognition of his work abroad he had been decorated by the King of Belgium and the Presidents of Finland and Czechoslovakia. Syracuse University conferred upon him the honorary degree of DSc, Rhode Island State College that of DAgr, and the Universities of California and Wisconsin the LLD. He is a member of Sigma Xi, Phi Kappa Phi, Alpha Zeta, and Kappa Delta Rho.

The General Education Board, founded in 1902 by John D. Rockefeller, has from its beginning included in its program the improvement of educational opportunities in the South. It has expended approximately $250,000,000, divided among medical education, buildings and endowments for colleges and universities, endowment of teachers' salaries, public education and the science of education, and the development of natural sciences.

SADNESS ON THE FARM

This week has been one of sadness on the farm. Little Roosevelt, together with Treman and King, had to be sold down the river. We had erroneously believed that we were running our Veal and Pork Department on a basis of impersonal efficiency, but when little Roosevelt and the amusing Treman and King disappeared around the bend on their way to the hereafter, we realized that they had wrapped themselves around our hearts in a manner that was by no means impersonal and which did not make for cool, agricultural efficiency.

We must have no more of this. We must harden our hearts and contemplate only those elements of agriculture which can find expression in the monthly balance sheet. We don't need the County Agent, or Dean Ladd, or even Secretary Wallace himself, to tell us that no one can long stick it out on the farm if every cash sale is to be followed by a sleepless night of sobs half smothered in a hot, wet pillow.

Little Roosevelt weighed 195 at seven weeks and brought 9 cents a pound. The price per pound was the same in the case of Treman and King, but we don't know yet how much they weighed. Mr. Miller who came to get them in behalf of Mr.

William Knight had plenty to do in getting them on the truck, let alone weighing them. Mr. Knight is going to let us know.

It would have been more efficient, we realize, to have kept Treman and King a little longer, because they were putting on weight like a retired chorus girl. We are about, however, to have that part of the barn where the pigs passed the winter done over and we thought it only fair to let the place air out a little before anybody went in there.

Personally, we thought the barn was plenty good enough, but ever since Mrs. State and Tioga saw Mr. Babcock's barn there has been no holding her.

We've definitely decided not to name any more pigs Treman and King. That was a mistake. That mild pleasantry did not meet with universal acclaim. Bush and Dean would have been much better; or even Andrus and Church.—R. B. in "State and Tioga," Ithaca Journal.

CHENANGO HEARS SNAVELY

Coach Carl G. Snavely was the guest speaker at the annual meeting and dinner in Norwich of the Cornell Club of Chenango County, April 21. Mose Quinn, assistant football coach, also spoke. The following officers were elected: Milton H. Fish '23, president; Harold B. Fuller, '19, secretary; and Francis J. Oates '20, treasurer.

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAYS

An appreciative audience in the Willard Straight Theatre gave high praise to the Dramatic Club's second performance of "Around the Corner," by Martin Flavin, which the Club produced in the same season with its Broadway appearance through an arrangement with the Dramatists' Guild. Under this new arrangement the Guild releases plays to selected non-professional groups at the same time as Broadway productions, and at moderate royalty rates, thus allowing them to be judged by many more persons than a small group of New York City theatre-goers.

Under the direction of Marie A. Prole '36, who has returned this term for graduate study in dramatics, the student players Saturday night made extremely real and graphic the effect of the depression on the play's typical family of the Middle West. Settings and production for this performance were under the supervision of Harold B. Shaw, Grad.

Last Friday and Saturday the Club presented Richard Brinsley Sheridan's eighteenth century comedy, "The Rivals," and will again two days this week. Directed by T. Nelson Magill, Grad, and Joel Trapido '34, the student actors took full advantage of the opportunity to present it as it might have been given the first time in Convent Garden, even to the "asides" to the audience then current in the theatre. It brought many laughs from a Cornell Day audience.

CORNELL DAY SETS A NEW RECORD

701 Boys Come With 150 Alumni

Ithaca weather smiled again for this year's Cornell Day, as it has for every one of the three preceding, and fraternity houses were taxed to capacity with the 701 schoolboys who came to see Cornell. This was the largest crowd yet, and apparently they had a good time. They came from as far as Chicago, from Boston and Washington in the East and South, and from many places between. They came in cars, busses, trains, and even by airplane, the 150 alumni who brought them including representatives from some thirty Cornell Clubs, with a scattering of fathers, mothers, and even a sister or two.

Credit for the longest journey probably goes to Alfred H. Hutchinson '09, chairman of the secondary school committee of the Cornell Club of Chicago, who single handed conducted a bus load of twenty boys two days on the road each way. The shortest trip, in time consumed, was that of Alfred D. Warner '00, former Alumni Trustee, who brought six boys from Wilmington, Del. with the pilot and plane of R. R. M. Carpenter, brother of Walter S. Carpenter '10. Their trip, both ways, took two hours; Warner contrasts it with his first drive to Ithaca, about 1914, when the same trip took two days, one way.

The boys and their alumni chauffeurs began to arrive Thursday evening, the youthful guests being taken in charge by their undergraduate hosts whom they identified by the names of their fraternities on placards ranged in alphabetical order around the walls of Memorial Room. By Friday night most of them were in, and the alumni had been assigned to beds in the men's dormitories, in a building of the Cascadilla School loaned for the occasion, in the dormitory and North Room of Willard Straight and in Alumni House, where cots had been set up for the emergency.

Everywhere about the Campus on Saturday were to be seen the C buttons which identified the Cornell Day visitors, both prospective undergraduates and alumni. Conducted by students in groups organized for the purpose, the youngsters spent the morning mostly in visiting the particular Colleges that attracted them. They heard special lectures in some, found much to interest them in the comprehensive Engineering Show put on by students and Faculty in Electrical, Mechanical, and Civil Engineering, where they were amazed and amused by demonstrations of every sort of engineering operations, all conducted by students; and some visited the flower show which occupied most of the first floor of the Plant Science Building. At noon the Architects, garbed in impromptu Grecian costumes, staged a Maypole dance and crowned their Queen of the May before President White's statue on the Quadrangle, much to the amusement of the schoolboy guests and to the scorn of the Engineers.

After luncheon at their fraternity houses the crowd attended the Columbia baseball game on Hoy field, and many went up to Schoellkopf to see the football scrimmage and the track team at work. The Inlet was lined with cars and the bank near the boathouse was crowded for the christening of the two new shells and the 150-pound crew races with Manhattan, and before dinner many of the boys returned to Willard Straight to meet Varsity captains, coaches, and the leaders of other student activities. Most of the fraternity houses Saturday night had their favorite Faculty members at dinner, to tell their guests about Cornell and their own places in it, and after dinner alumni and boys all gathered at Bailey Hall for the crowning Cornell Day rally.

Here they sang Cornell songs and heard the Glee Club, led by Eric Dudley, and were addressed by John M. Batten '37, president of the Student Council, introduced by Ray S. Ashberry '25, general chairman of the Cornell Day committee, and President Farrand. Welcoming both youngsters and alumni in his characteristic happy fashion, Dr. Farrand told the boys that here was Cornell, proud to welcome them; not interested in getting more students but in constantly improving the quality of its undergraduate body; and that whatever college they should choose to enter, they should do so with complete knowledge and with recognition that as college men the world depends of their generation to solve its many present problems.

While the school boy visitors were busily seeing Cornell on this beautiful spring week end, their alumni chauffeurs renewed their own enjoyment of the Campus, met old friends and made new ones, and generally celebrated an informal reunion. Saturday morning, with William J. Thorne '11, chairman of the Cornell Alumni Corporation's committee on secondary schools, presiding, they discussed the alumni arrangements for Cornell Day, as carried out by their own Cornell Clubs, and exchanged experiences and recommendations. With this year's record enrolment, Thorne pointed out that 600 of the 700 boys here had come from outside a radius of 150 miles from Ithaca, and that of the thirty or more Cornell Clubs participating officially, only eight were within this radius. He said, further, that more than 500 boys had enrolled in the University who had been guests at one or more of the three previous Cornell Days. It was generally agreed that boys are being more carefully selected by the Clubs each year, and that the limit of numbers had been reached, so that it would be increasingly necessary to bring only those boys who are qualified to enter Cornell and who give promise of becoming outstanding undergraduates.

Nearly 150 alumni sat down for luncheon in Memorial Room Saturday noon as guests of the University. With Thorne presiding, they were addressed briefly by C. Reeve Vanneman '03, president of the Alumni Corporation, and by President Farrand, who left a luncheon of the Board of Trustees to greet them. "No single effort to improve the quality of Cornell students equals Cornell Day,"

Dr. Farrand said, and he added, "The quality of our students is what makes Cornell." At Thorne's request, Ashberry, who had been in general charge of arrangements, stood to receive recognition.

Saturday night after the rally a hundred or more alumni crowded the Johnny Parson Club for their own Cornell Day party. With Professor Charles L. Durham '99 of the Faculty secondary school committee as master of ceremonies, they were entertained by a group from the Glee Club and by R. Selden Brewer '40, magician; sang, and generally enjoyed themselves. James Lynah '05, Director of Athletics, briefly explained his recent ruling prohibiting coaches and players representing the University at secondary schools, and several alumni took part in a general discussion.

On Sunday Ashberry, speaking for the Cornell Day committee, asked the ALUMNI NEWS to extend "the thanks of our committee to each alumnus and every Cornell Club whose unselfish and devoted efforts, with those of the undergraduates, made Cornell Day such an unqualified success. I wish it had been possible for all those who helped so wholeheartedly to have heard the appreciation which our guests expressed for the hospitality of Cornell."

The following Cornellians registered as alumni "chauffeurs," both as representing Cornell Clubs and from the localities designated:

About ATHLETICS

FIRST LEAGUE VICTORY

The baseball team won its first league victory of the season on May 1 when it defeated Columbia 17 to 6 before a large Cornell Day crowd. As a result the Varsity moved out of last position in the league race and is now in fifth place with one victory and two defeats.

The game with Dartmouth scheduled for April 28 could not be played on that day because of rain. It will be played off as part of a double-header at Hanover May 29.

The non-league game with Villanova April 30 resulted in a victory for Villanova by a score of 9 to 3. The visitors were superior in all departments of play.

Thirteen Cornell hits combined with eight errors, nine bases on balls and one hit batter on the part of Columbia were enough to determine the outcome of the Columbia game. But in spite of loose play the contest was not without its interesting features and exciting moments not excluding the moment in the seventh when Petterson of Columbia knocked a home run with the bases full.

Jack W. Lozier '38 of Elmira for Cornell pitched excellent ball up to the seventh and Worthington Dodd '38 of Cincinnati, Ohio, who then relieved him held Columbia well in hand through the remainder of the contest.

150'S LOSE BOAT RACE

The 150-pound crew lost a boat race to the varsity eight of Manhattan College over the Henley distance on the Inlet by less than a deck. The Manhattan freshman also beat the Cornell freshman 150's by a substantial distance.

These races followed the formal christening of two new Varsity boats, the "Poughkeepsie" and the "Saratoga '75" by Mrs. James Lynah (Elizabeth Beckwith) '03 and Professor Albert W. Smith '78, Emeritus.

HOBART WINS AT LACROSSE

The excellent Hobart lacrosse team proved far superior to Cornell in the latter's first game of the season at Geneva on Saturday. The score was 17 to 3 and all of the Varsity's goals were made toward the end of the game when the Hobart reserves had supplanted the regulars. Grant C. Ehrlich '38 of New York City, George M. Cohen '37 of Chicopee Falls, Mass., and George G. Holochwost '37 of Brooklyn, were the Cornell scorers.

The Freshman lacrosse team opened well by beating the Onondaga Valley team of Syracuse 8 to 4.

GOLFERS DEFEAT COLGATE

On April 28 the golf team defeated Colgate on the latter's course at Hamilton by a score of 5 to 4 in a close and exciting match. Fay of Colgate was the medalist with a round of 74.

LOSE AT TENNIS

A week-end journey of the tennis team into the Metropolitan section resulted in two defeats on successive days. On Friday, April 30, Princeton defeated the Varsity 7 to 2. William J. Simpson '37 of Larchmont, and Captain Bernard E. Diamond '37 of Brooklyn, playing respectively one and two for Cornell, won their singles matches but Princeton proved superior in all the other encounters.

On Saturday at New York Columbia won from Cornell 6 to 3. Here again Simpson took his singles match from Antignat, the Columbia ace 2-6, 6-2, 6-2. John G. Peavy '38 of Dobbs Ferry, playing number five, also won his contest, 6-4, 6-4. In the doubles Edward J. Devine, Jr. '39 of Detroit, Mich. and Morris M. Goldberg '37 of Rochester won for Cornell 7-5, 6-2.

At Ithaca on Saturday the Freshman tennis team defeated the Syracuse freshman team 7-2.

SPORTS EXTRA!

The football team will conclude a rigorous and prolonged period of spring training in an "informal" game with Bucknell on the afternoon of Tuesday, May 11. The game will be played on Schoellkopf Field. Its informality is emphasized by the official announcement that there will be no admission charge.

This game was originally arranged for Friday, May 7. It is an interesting sign of the times that the postponement was made—with the kind consent of Bucknell—for the benefit of the track team which will compete in the Heptagonal Games with Columbia, Dartmouth, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, and Yale at Cambridge on May 8. The Varsity is given an outside, mathematical chance to win this meet if it garners every possible point. Many of these necessary points must be supplied by the Messrs. Van Ranst, McKeever, and Rutledge, who are also important cogs in the football machine. A hard football game on Friday is no preparation for a crucial track meet on Saturday. The change in the date of the Bucknell game was made to meet this difficult situation.

Track

In preparation for the Heptagonal Games on May 8 and as a show for Cornell Day's visiting schoolboys the track team staged an interesting series of races and time trials at Schoellkopf on Saturday afternoon.

The most significant performances were a 1:56 half-mile by Meaden and Hucker's victories in both hurdle races and in the quarter. Running easily and well within himself Hucker took the 440 in 49.3, the highs in 15.2 and the low hurdles (in which he holds the intercollegiate record) in 25.1. Shoemaker's

1:45 ft. in the hammer and Van Ranst's 45 ft. 8 in. indicate that either or both may take unexpected points at Cambridge.

Walter Wadsworth Zittel, Jr. '40, sprinter, of Buffalo has been elected captain of the Freshman track team which opens its season with a triangular meet with Syracuse and Colgate next Saturday.

Corinthian Sailors

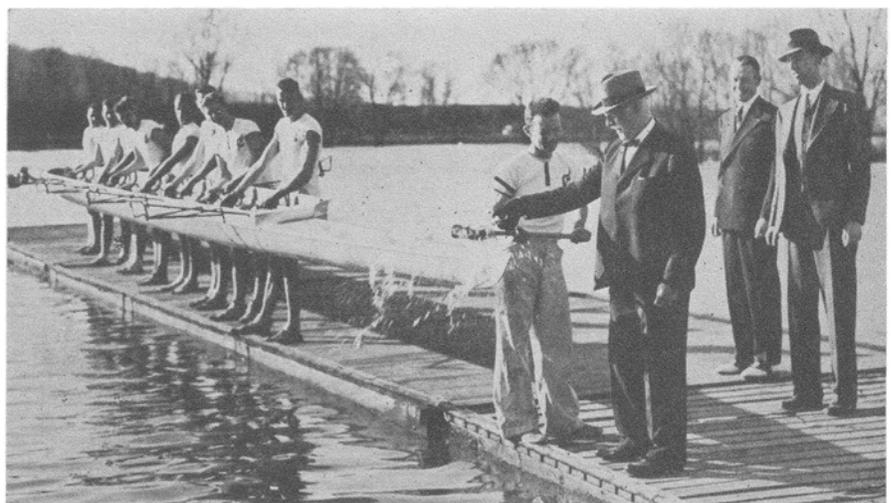

Richard H. Bertram '37 and Leslie Irwin '37 were the weatherbeaten salts who represented Cornell in the spring dinghy regatta held on the Charles Basin in Boston April 30. Sailing boats belonging to M. I. T., they finished fifth in a field of eight. The other colleges taking part were Brown, Dartmouth, Harvard, M. I. T., Princeton, Williams, and Yale.

Following the regatta Commodore Bertram of Cornell was elected president of the Intercollegiate Corinthian Yacht Racing Association.

ENTERTAIN DR. FARRAND

Over four hundred medics gathered at the Biltmore in New York City on April 29 at the annual banquet of the Medical College Alumni Association to pay tribute to Dr. Farrand as he retires as president of the University. It was the best attended dinner the Association has ever held. Dr. Walter H. McNeill, Jr. '10, president of the Association, introduced in turn Dr. Farrand, Dr. Floyd S. Winslow '06, president of the New York State Medical Society, and Dr. Charles G. Heyd, '16 Sp., president of the American Medical Association, as speakers. The music was furnished by Jack Miller's Cornellian Orchestra.

At the speakers table were many of the University's Trustees and officers, officials of the New York Hospital and the Medical College, officers of the Association, and other guests.

As Dr. Heyd was finishing his address, a great uproar starting at the door and sweeping through the hall, announced the arrival of Dr. James Ewing. Dr. Ewing had taught nearly every person in the audience his pathology and after this enthusiastic reception, he made an impromptu address which happily and informally ended the evening program.

JOBS OPEN

University Placement Bureau in its Bulletin 34 lists several positions available, including those for engineers, a hospital laboratory technician, a designer of glass blowing machinery, an assistant to the personnel director in a large university, a specialist in food processing and the technology of food manufacture, and a young man with knowledge of shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping to go in with a large manufacturer of airplanes and trailers. Letters of application from interested alumni should include training, experience, and photographs.

DIRECTED SELECTION

Another Cornell Day has been successfully handled through the cooperative effort of the students, the University, and the alumni. The seven hundred guests, most of them from distant points, taxed the ingenuity of the University and the local committee in providing adequate facilities. The undergraduate body, which includes five hundred students that came here because of earlier Cornell Days, was enthusiastic over the type of boy that they had the pleasure of entertaining.

As yet, there is little direction to the effort to encourage through selection certain types of talent. There is an opportunity, however, for a constructive piece of work on the part of a personnel committee which will set up each year the personnel needs in various lines of student activity.

Obviously the requirements of the academic side of the University will always be met. The Department of Admissions will see to that. But what of those memories of Cornell's supremacy in rowing, on the track, in college humor, in journalism, in itinerant musical shows? Could not a committee, whether alumna or undergraduate, or both, each year direct the efforts of the three dozen active Cornell clubs in combing the country for whatever talent is needed to regain these supremacies?

HAWAII RESIDENTS MEET

Twenty-five members of He Hui Hawaii of Cornell and their guests met April 21 in the Agricultural Economics auditorium to enjoy a social hour and color films of the Islands obtained through Hon. Samuel W. King, delegate to Congress from Hawaii.

He Hui Hawaii was organized twenty years ago by Professors Ralph S. Hosmer, Forestry, and Chester J. Hunn '08, Ornamental Horticulture, to bring together persons in Ithaca who had lived in Hawaii. This year its membership includes eleven students in the University, ten members of the Faculty, seven Army officers assigned to the ROTC, and five other residents of Ithaca.

It was reported at the meeting that there are now 134 Cornellians in the Islands, and suggested that special arrangements be made to broadcast the Varsity Night show May 14 so that it could be received at a special meeting of the Cornell Club of Hawaii in Honolulu. Report was also made that the annual Cornell relay games in the Islands, March 13, had been won by Punahau College and that they had been awarded the John Paul Jones silver cup donated by the Cornell Club of Hawaii.

'22 MEN SAY THEY'LL COME

Almost an even hundred men of the Class of '22 have already signified their intention of coming back to Ithaca for the fifteen-year reunion on June 18, 19, and 20. Walker L. Cisler is reunion chairman and he and Emmet J. Murphy, Class secretary, are hoping for some records. Cisler's address is 52 Park Place, Newark, N. J.

The men of the Class will have as headquarters Founders Hall, which for many years has been reserved for the fifteen-year Class.

ELEMENT 87 STILL LOST?

Recent experiments by Dr. Frederick R. Hirsh, Jr. '26, resident doctor in Physics, have started again the search for "Element 87" which was reported found by Professor Jacob Papish, PhD '21, Chemistry, and his colleagues in 1931. Using the same method which Dr. Papish used five years ago, Dr. Hirsh has found the "line" of the missing element in copper, known not to contain it. He reasons from this that the earlier evidence of Element 87 in the mineral samarskite came from a surface irregularity in the calcite crystal used in the experiments, and proves his theory by making the supposed "line" disappear when the crystal is rocked from side to side.

The method used by both experimenters was to register photographically the "line" of the element by reflection or diffraction of an X-ray from a crystal, which, in turn, reflects the ray from the substance being tested. Element 87 is one of the two substances not definitely known of the ninety-two chemical elements which are thought to form all matter. The other is Element 85, both receiving their numbers from their relative positions on the spectrograph.

Element 87 is presumed to be a relative of radium; unstable, highly inflammable, and was previously thought to have been found in small quantities in a sulphur compound. Twice before the report of Dr. Papish, claims of its discovery had been made, but they were questioned. When the Papish discovery was announced, it was proposed that the newly discovered element be named Cornellium.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

By Romeyn Berry '04

THE UNIVERSITY took easily and in its stride the matter of housing and entertaining the 700 schoolboy visitors who were up here for Cornell Day. But putting up the 150 alumni who brought them became a searching test of Mr. Ashbery's ingenuity. For two of them cots were placed in the editorial sanctum of your correspondent at 3 East Avenue; a humble spot but one which we have always found strangely conducive to slumber.

SIMULTANEOUSLY with Cornell Day the Department of Rural Social Organization in the College of Agriculture entertained about seventy delegates from around the State for the third annual conference of the New York student section of the American Country Life Association. Its topic was "Building and Maintaining the Rural Community."

KAPPA DELTA RHO won the intramural volley ball championship by defeating Sigma Chi. Messrs. Chaffee, Lasher, Dyson, Crowther, and Hall, who comprise the winning team, all stand well over six feet, which some think (and not excluding the brothers in Sigma Chi) isn't quite sporting in intramural volley ball.

THETA CHI 16, Llenroc 4; Zeta Beta Tau 8, Zeta Psi 7 (for the Zete championship); Kappa Alpha 5, Alpha Psi 3. But it was only in "soft ball," not regular baseball.

MAX SCHACTION, former member of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of America and who for many years was just like that with Comrade Leon Trotsky, talked in Myron Taylor Hall last Wednesday about some of those treason trials they've been having over in Russia. Criminal procedure is a little different over there, he said, and he doesn't like it much.

FOR TWO DAYS last week there was held at Willard Straight a Hobby Show—a display of undergraduate manias for collecting and creation. Professors who strolled into Memorial Hall in idle curiosity remained to be deeply impressed by evidences of unsuspected undergraduate enthusiasms of a worthwhile nature. One student, unknown to the art classes, carves miniature figures in Ivory soap which reveal a vast amount of skill and artistic feeling. A girl makes dolls and marionettes out of any materials that come to hand and then dresses them in funny little costumes which combine humor with good workmanship. Stuffed birds, hammered silver, carved wood, little bells, maps, post marks—all these things students make or collect on their own time and very intelligently, too.

THE ONLY PERIOD hereabouts that can be denominated Spring with perfect confidence is the ten days when the forsythia are in bloom over the cliffs on University Avenue and along the golden mile that is the banks of Cascadilla Creek. The forsythia is most emphatically "out" just now, as April merges into May, and it is therefore Spring in Ithaca. Both of the noteworthy plantations referred to were the work of Robert H. Treman '78 and the object of his tender solicitude for many years. Its rather nice that in the first Spring after Mr. Treman's passing the forsythia should have outdone themselves in glory; as if they felt an obligation to do something special this year in gratitude and in memory.

ROBERT F. KELLEY, premier sports writer of the New York Times, was here last week looking us over for his annual rowing article. Mr. Kelley always plans to come for that when the forsythia is out.

EDITORIALLY the Cornell Sun regrets that pictures have largely replaced book shelves in the library at Willard Straight, formerly a pleasant and convenient place to read during a dead hour on the Hill. It explains that "because of the rampant stealing of books, 85 in two months, the managers of Willard Straight have decided to stop buying fresh editions until such time as a positive checking system can be put in operation."

WITH UNCONSCIOUS IRONY Major General Frank A. McCoy, USA, came up for his annual inspection of the Ithaca sector just five days after the students and staged their big peace meeting and some of them had taken the Oxford oath. General McCoy commands the Second Corps Area, which includes Ithaca and Cornell University. He'd be the man who'd have to do it any time it became necessary to get rough. In addition to observing the social amenities with a luncheon at Mrs. Fullmer's and a tea at Mrs. Farrand's, the General met the local Reserve officers, looked over the Drill Hall, took a review by the ROTC, went through the artillery stables and around the guns, and visited the CCC Camp on the Ellis Hollow road. He also inspected the flood control work that is being done here by military engineers. There is more Army hereabouts than some folks think—they keep so quiet and amiable. The General was accompanied by his Chief of Staff, Colonel Ulysses Grant, the third of that not unfamiliar name, and by Captain William H. Brunke '24, USA, sometime First Lieutenant in the ROTC.

PRESIDENT FARRAND went fishing last week with an Ithaca party organized by Trustee Robert E. Treman '09 and which included James Lynah '05. They went to an undiscovered brook in the Town of Scipio, where the President caught eighteen native trout running upwards of a half-pound apiece. He used a Grey Hackle and a Royal Coachman. The next day was an excellent day for professors to ask for practically anything at the President's Office.

WE'D RATHER EXPECTED that the relative scholastic standings of the different houses would be published about now, but the thing has been held up. The University Administration is not to blame; the fault lies with the fraternities themselves. From the minutes of a meeting of the Interfraternity Council it appears that "some houses had not handed in their list of the names of members, others had not included everybody, and some had handed in an incorrect list."

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER May 9 is the Rev. William J. Hutchins, president of Berea College.

LECTURES for the week include Russell V. Black '16, president of the American City Planning Institute, in the course in city and regional planning, May 3 and 5; the annual Frank Irvine Lecture, "State Disputes in the Supreme Court," by Charles Warren, of Washington, D. C., May 4; a music-lecture, "Die Goethe-Lieder von Hugo Wolf," by Professor Otto Kinkeldey, before the Deutscher Verein, May 5; and Archibald MacLeish, winner of a Pulitzer Prize for poetry and editor of Fortune, "The Writer as Artist," May 7 on the Goldwin Smith Lectureship.

SOUTHBOUND GEESE of November go right through with express speed and make no station stop at Ithaca. But those of the spring tarry for weeks on their way north, spending the night on the safe (for geese) waters of Cayuga and foraging through the countryside in the day time. Game wardens and bird professors figure the migratory flocks now resting in this region at 25,000. Farmers are a little worried by fear of depredations in their fields, but Professor Arthur A. Allen, Birds, says the geese don't do a bit of harm. One hears of no illegal shooting of the geese and the flock are being carefully watched by Mr. Harold E. Dewey, a Federal game officer, who spent the winter with them and is guarding them on their way north to their nesting places in Canada. Uncle Sam is back of this goose trip in a big way. If anybody offered to touch a single honker Mr. Dewey could have Tompkins County filled with G-men in no time.

NECROLOGY

'75 PhB—DANIEL JAMES TOMPKINS, April 18, 1937, at his residence, the Hotel Bossert, Brooklyn. He was president of the United States Guarantee Company from 1911 until his retirement recently. After graduation he studied law in the office of Sedgwick, Kennedy, and Tracy, Syracuse, and was admitted to the Bar in 1877. He practiced four years before he joined the New York branch of the Guarantee Company as secretary. Tompkins left his residuary estate to the University, as well as the undivided interest in his late wife's estate, to be used as a general endowment fund for residence buildings for American-born students and instructors. Delta Kappa Epsilon; editor, Cornellian; Sprague Boat Club; Adelphi Literary Association.

'79, '82 AB—MRS. HENRY NICHOLAS (Flora J. Corbett), December 3, 1936. She taught in the Utica Public Schools from 1921 to 1924, and thereafter in Johnsville. Irving Society.

'85—CHARLES CHAPMAN ANTHONY, November 15, 1936, at his home in Mill Valley, Cal. He entered the Philosophy Course in 1881, remained that year, and came back in 1885-6. Since 1916 he had been a consulting signal engineer in California, having been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad since 1895. He was the inventor of several railroad engineering devices and contributed to railroad periodicals.

'88—WILLIAM MORSE STOCKBRIDGE, in December, 1936, in New York City. He entered the Science course in 1884 and remained for two years. For many years he was a patent lawyer in New York City, the partner of Victor D. Borst '01. Theta Delta Chi.

'88 — WILLIAM STANTON TWINING, February 8, 1937, at his home in Ambler, Pa. He entered the Optional course in 1884 and stayed one year. Since 1893 he had been an engineer with traction companies in Philadelphia, Pa.; from 1902, chief engineer with the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company.

'89—JOHN CALDWELL RAINEY TAYLOR, April 26, 1937, in Middletown. Taylor entered the History and Political Science Course in 1885 and remained one year. He had practiced law in Middletown since 1888, and was a former State Senator from Sullivan and Orange Counties. In 1915 he was the Democratic candidate for the State Supreme Court.

'89 BS—GEORGE HOWARD DAVISON, September 2, 1936, at Maiden Newton, Dorset, England. In 1890 he received the degree of DVS at the American Veterinary College. He owned and operated the Altamont Stock Farm, in Millbrook, where he bred Shropshire sheep and Welsh ponies. He was also associated with Beckwith Chandler Co., a paint concern in New York City, and with Albert B. Ashforth, Inc., real estate. He was a founder of the International Live Stock Exposition in Chicago, Ill., and president in 1917-18.

'92, '93 BL, '94 LLB—AARON JOSEPH COLNON, December 7, 1936. He had practiced law in New York City for many years, was assistant district attorney under former-Governor Charles S. Whitman and others, and later opened his own office at 305 Broadway. In 1931 he moved to a farm at Bloomville, and four years later took up farming near Bovina Center. Colnon was one of the famous "iron men" of the Varsity football team of 1890 which played six games in seven days through New England and two days after its return to Ithaca defeated Bucknell, 26-0, on the athletic field now the main Quadrangle. Varsity crew; Theta Nu Epsilon; Fruija, Undine, Bench and Board, Mermaid.

'93—JOHN FLETCHER LACEY, February 26, 1937, in Tavares, Fla. He entered Civil Engineering in 1889 and remained until 1891. From 1905 to 1907 he was principal of the Tavares Public School, after which he taught in Lincoln, Del. He soon returned to Tavares as the surveyor of Lake County from which position he retired in 1932.

'01 ME—ROBERT JOHNSON NEELY, January 19, 1937, at his home at 504 North Street, Portsmouth, Va. He was a calculator and design draftsman in the scientific section of the construction and repair department of the United States Navy Yard at Portsmouth. Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Vice-president of the Southern Club.

'03—JOHN FAY HINCKLEY, February 3, 1937, at Los Angeles, Cal., where he lived at 819 South Bonnie Brae Street. He entered Sibley College in 1899 and remained until 1903. He had been a broker in Los Angeles for the last fifteen years.

'15 DVM—DR. CHARLES HENRY TAYLOR, August 12, 1936, at his home, 5 East Main Street, Cortland. He was with the Borden Farm Products Company in Chicago, Ill. for many years, being transferred to their branch in Homer in 1926. Father, the late Charles H. Taylor '74.

'19—SHELDON MONROE BARRUS, October 16, 1936, in Washington, D.C. He enlisted in the United States Navy in 1918 and served on the minelayer, U.S.S. Aroostock, in the North Sea. From the reopening of Keuka College until about two years ago, Barrus was its superintendent of grounds and buildings. Father, Rowley M. Barrus '99.

Concerning THE FACULTY

MISS R. LOUISE FITCH, Dean of Women, has been appointed to the alumni honorary committee for the Knox College centenary, to be held in Galesburg, Ill. June 11-16.

PROFESSOR CARL BECKER, History, predicts that the next general war will be about 1961. In a lecture recently he said that since 1618 about thirty years have been required to recover from a European war and to prepare for a new one, but recently the periods of peace have been longer.

PROFESSOR EDMUND L. WORTHEN, MS '08, Agronomy Extension, spoke on "Quality, As Judged by Collector and Dealer" at a recent annual dinner of the Syracuse Stamp Club. He has been a follower of philately for many years, and has been a member of the Ithaca firm of Phila Telic Bats since its organization in 1926.

OLIVER L. McCASKILL, professor in the Law School from 1916 to 1926, sailed April 7 on the Queen Mary for England with Mrs. McCaskill and their son, Daniel. A member of the faculty of the University of Illinois since 1926, he is on leave of absence for a half-year to make a comparative study of law procedure.

MRS. ROBERT E. CUSHMAN, wife of Professor Cushman, Government, attended a dinner held March 31 by Little, Brown & Co. in Boston, Mass., to celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding. This company published Mrs. Cushman's But For Her Garden in 1935 and The Bright Hill in 1936, and are publishing her new novel, This Side of Regret, in the early summer.

PROFESSOR MAURICE C. BOND, PhD '28, Agricultural Economics, has returned from a sabbatic leave spent in Puerto Rico, Cuba, and the Virgin Islands.

DR. RALPH C. WOOD, PhD '32, German, is credited by The Cincinnati Enquirer with having made the first authentic record of German theatrical performances in Cincinnati. The Enquirer says: "In delving into the annals of the local German stage, Doctor Wood's researches brought to light a reference, in the Deutscher Pioneer, to a performance by the children of the Holy Trinity Church in the winter of 1843."

DR. HERBERT J. WEBBER, founder of the Department of Plant Breeding in 1907 and acting Dean of the College of Agriculture in 1909-10, returned to Ithaca early in April for the first time in twenty-five years. "The most notable and gratifying thing to me," he said, in speaking of the 1937 College, "is that they have followed out the plans which we set up back in 1910." Doctor Webber was enroute to Florida to address the fiftieth anniversary meeting of the Florida State Horticultural Society.

DR. WILLIAM F. DURAND, assistant professor of Marine Engineering from 1891 to 1904 and acting Director of Sibley College in 1903-4, is being honored at a dinner given by Stanford University alumni in San Francisco on May 7, as part of the University Day week-end, with Herbert Hoover as chairman of the committee. Dr. Durand's achievements in aeronautical engineering are being specifically recognized. Emeritus professor of engineering at Stanford, Dr. Durand spoke also April 11 on "The Future of Air Transport" at the fifth annual alumni conference there. Dexter S. Kimball dean of the College of Engineering, Emeritus, and Mrs. Kimball are guests at the dinner for Dr. Durand.

PROFESSOR PAUL J. WEAVER, Music, addressed the college section of the National Federation of Music Clubs at its convention in Indianapolis, Ind., recently. His topic was, "When Is One Musically Educated?"

PROCTOR CHARLES D. MANNING and Mrs. Manning have a daughter, Gail, born April 23.

PROFESSOR D. B. JOHNSTONE-WALLACE, Agrostology, discussed "The Improvement and Management of Pastures in the Northeast States," at the annual dinner at the Metropolitan Club of the New York Farmers, an organization of wealthy New Yorkers interested in agriculture.

THREE HOUSES for members of the University staff are being built on Comstock Road in Cayuga Heights. Designed by Carl C. Tallman '07, they will be occupied by Professors Donald J. Bushey, Ornamental Horticulture Extension, and Lincoln D. Kelsey, Agriculture Extension, and Robert B. Meigs '26, assistant to the Comptroller.

'91 PhB—Alice M. Gilliland lives at the Hotel Compton, Long Beach, Cal.

'94 LLB—Glenn S. (Pop) Warner, former football coach at the University and now coach at Temple University, Philadelphia, Pa., says he will give up the game within the next four years. "I would like to have one more great team before I retire," Warner declared, "and if I can show the doubting Thomases that I am not a 'has been' by producing a nationally recognized eleven, that is going to be the end of my career."

'94 LLB—Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, is reported to have said, "My work with the corporation is just about through. The background has been painted in, the broad strokes completed. I have only to add a finishing touch or two and all the brushes for those touches are now in my hand." At the last annual meeting of the company, Taylor indicated his intention to retire as soon as possible.

'97 PhB—Harry C. VanBuskirk, formerly an instructor at the University Preparatory School, Ithaca, is professor of mathematics at the California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, Cal., where he lives at 390 South Holliston Avenue.

'01 AM—Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, dean of the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, was one of the speakers at a recent alumni dinner in honor of Dr. Robert C. Clothier, president of Rutgers, in New York City. Dr. Lipman is quoted as referring to a professor as a man who "casts imitation pearls before swine," a dean as a man who is "not smart enough to be a professor but too smart to be a college president," and an alumnus as "one who holds the president and the faculty responsible for the success of the football team."

'03—Robert C. Hosmer has been president of the Excelsior Insurance Company, Syracuse, since 1935.

'04 AB—Roy B. Buttolph, wholesale grocer, married Esther D. Crawford March 10, 1936. He lives at 1140 New York Avenue, Pasadena, Cal.

'04 LLB—William F. Bleakley, former Justice of the New York State Supreme Court, who propounded the "Westchester trustee plan" for rehabilitation of mortgage certificates and then supervised operation of the plan from the bench for two years, has been appointed the attorney for trustees controlling more than $7,000,000 of the mortgages.

'04 BSA—M.C.C. van Loben Sels is president and general manager of the American Foundation Company, Courtland, Cal. He writes, "I am mostly and justly famous on account of my children—seven of them!"

'05 AB—Hendrik Willem Van Loon's The Story of Mankind has come under the caustic censure of the Reverend Verdi Allen of Beach Grove, Ind. The Baptist pastor averred that "the common people of the United States are going to rise up against the theories of Hendrik Van Loon and Darwin." His first step in a nation-wide campaign will be the organization of anti-evolution clubs in Indiana. The quotation to which Allen objects is, "Man made his first appearance on earth as an ape-like animal."

A CORNELL INSTITUTION

Sheldon Court was built as a dormitory for Cornell students by the late Charles L. Sheldon of Auburn. The father of three Cornellians, he is the donor of the beautiful Sheldon exedra which stands to the south of Goldwin Smith Hall.

Since it was first opened in 1903, Sheldon Court has been preferred as a place to live by a succession of distinguished Cornellians. Henry Morgenthau, Jr. '13, Secretary of the Treasury, lived here as a student, as did Hendrik Willem Van Loon '05, George C. Boldt, Jr. '05, Leonard Wood, Jr. '19, Edward L. Bernays '12, and a host of others who have become famous.

Through the years—all under the same management—we have had the sons and other relatives and many friends of our former tenants come to live with us.

Rooms and suites are all completely furnished, with price reasonable and a range of location and size to suit every requirement. Reservations are now being made for the school year 1937-38. Complete information and room diagram will be mailed promptly on request.
