UNIVERSITY RECEIVES NEW PROFESSORSHIP

From Johnson '22 and Family as Memorial to Father

A professorship of industrial chemistry, named for his father, was presented to the University by Herbert F. Johnson, Jr. '22 at a dinner given by the University in Willard Straight Memorial Room June 6. Accepting the new chair for the University, President Edmund E. Day named as its first incumbent Professor Fred H. Rhodes, PhD '14, Director of the School of Chemical Engineering.

Honors Industrialist

The Herbert Fisk Johnson Professorship of Industrial Chemistry memorializes the late president of S. C. Johnson & Son, Inc., of Racine, Wis., manufacturers of wax products. It is the gift of his widow, his daughter Mrs. John Louis, and his son who has been president of the corporation since his father's death in 1928.

Johnson '22 is a former student of Professor Rhodes. Majoring in Chemistry, he received the AB in 1922; was active in Masque and Beth L'Amed; is a member of Chi Psi. Before his father's death, he was assistant general manager and junior partner of his firm, and in 1935 he led an airplane expedition into the jungles of Brazil to survey the sources of wax from carnauba palms, the basis of commercial floor wax and allied products of which his company is America's largest manufacturer. Major improvements in harvesting wax have resulted from the expedition, which Johnson described in a book, Carnauba Expedition. Johnson is also president of Canadian and Brazilian affiliates of his company and a director of branches in England and Australia; is a member of the regional executive committee of the Boy Scouts of America, a director of the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce, and has recently been elected a director of the US Chamber of Commerce.

Presenting the new professorship, he spoke of his wish since he was an undergraduate at Cornell "to participate in some significant way in an effort to continue and even to expand for future generations of students the opportunities for technical and scientific training in industrial chemistry which my Alma Mater so richly affords." The permanent professorship he presented for himself, his mother, his sister, and the corporation as "a lasting memorial in honor of a beloved husband and father, a pioneer in the development of American industry and of those human relationships in production which alone make possible the fullest realization of the American way of life."

Faculty and Guests Attend

Dean S. C. Hollister presided at the dinner, which was attended by 150 members of the University and invited guests including William A. Bridgeman '13 of the Johnson firm and other business associates of Johnson from Racine; Oliver E. Buckley, PhD '14, president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York City; Alden Sherry '16 of Syracuse; and William H. Ball '18, secretary of Ball Bros. Glass Co., Muncie, Ind.

Introducing Johnson, the Dean spoke of the great values to civilization of permanently endowed professorships since the first one at Oxford 440 years ago, and said that such continuity in the field of learning was especially significant in the world today. President Day expressed the "immeasurable gratitude" of the University for the new professorship, which he characterized as "a splendid benefaction to Cornell" to "assure the perpetual support of the work of a scientist." Referring to the earlier gift of Olin Hall of Chemical Engineering by Franklin W. Olin '85, he said that both gifts are especially timely, coming when "we have undertaken to put new force into the University's work in Physics, Chemistry, and Engineering." Establishment of this distinguished chair, he said, "assures the work in this highly important field for all time to come. . ."

Rhodes First Incumbent

The President named Director Rhodes the first Herbert Fisk Johnson Professor of Industrial Chemistry, saying: "Happily, we can start this chair with a man who has long since demonstrated his great ability. In service at Cornell for thirty years, in his direction of the work in industrial chemistry for the last twenty-one years he has built surpassingly well, as evidenced by the high standing and prestige of this part of the University."

Director Rhodes spoke of his "special pride that a man with whom I was so closely associated in his years as a student at Cornell has considered it appropriate to embody his memorial to his father in this form." He pointed out that in present national defense efforts, "the scientific and technical schools have the very important obligation of providing really well-trained men for developing, building, and operating the factories that must back up the fighting forces of (Turn to page 448)

PHILADELPHIA PLAYS BALL

Cornell Club of Philadelphia, Pa., softball team started its season in the Inter-Club League by defeating Virginia 13-12 and the Racquet Club 8-5. Schedule running through June 26 includes Thursday games with Germantown Cricket Club, Huntington Club, Yale, Princeton, Country Club, Philadelphia Cricket Club, and Merion Cricket Club. Line-up of the Cornell team is Henry S. Godshall, Jr. '36, catcher; Walter D. Wood, Jr. '36 and Raymond W. Williams '34, pitchers; Philip C. Burnham, Jr. '36, first base; Charles L. Macbeth '28, second base; Tinius Olsen II '35, shortstop; Seward Baldwin, Jr. '28, third base; Ezra B. Whitman, Jr. '31, Robert Mann '39, and Lea P. Warner, Jr. '33, outfield; with Paul K. Vipond '34 and John W. Tippet '37 as substitutes. Paul C. Rebman '18 is president of the Philadelphia Inter-Club League this year.

BLIND FIND HEARING VITAL

Research begun this year in the Psychology Department indicates that the ability of blind persons to avoid obstacles is due largely to hearing, rather than a mysterious "sixth sense" as has sometimes been supposed. More than 1,500 trials were made by four subjects, two totally blind and two with normal vision, walking toward a movable wall of which they did not know the location. When hearing was entirely eliminated by means of heavy bandages, both normal subjects blindfolded and blind subjects ran into the wall without detecting its presence. In similar tests with hearing unimpeded, blind subjects detected the wall more quickly than those with normal vision blindfolded, and all avoided it.

The experiments were directed by Professor Karl M. Dallenbach, PhD '13, assisted by two graduate students, Michael Supa who has been blind since he was two, and Milton Cortzin whose sight is normal. Graduated last June at Colgate, summa cum laude, after he had maintained an A average for four years, had been elected to Phi Beta Kappa and won an oration contest and other honors, Supa came to Cornell with a graduate scholarship in Psychology. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

LEHIGH VALLEY CELEBRATES

"Good-Will-ie Spring Day" of the Cornell Club of the Lehigh Valley May 24 at the Saucon Valley Country Club near Allentown-Bethlehem, Pa., is reported the most successful and enjoyable event in the Club's sixteen years. It was named for Edward E. Goodwillie '10, toastmaster at dinner, following an afternoon of golf, tennis, and other sports. A golf match between Coach Carl G. Snively and Goodwillie paired against Richard W. Crannell '28 and T. A. Lewis of Ohio State would have ended in a tie had not Goodwillie sunk a twenty-five-foot putt on the eighteenth hole.

Forty-nine guests at dinner included three Cornellians from Reading and alumni of Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio State, Dickinson, and Princeton. Dean S. C. Hollister described the program and plans of the College of Engineering, and Coach Snively talked about Cornell football and the boys that play it.

MOST SENIORS FIND WORK

That a larger proportion of this year's Senior Class will be immediately employed than ever before is the prediction of Herbert H. Williams '25, director of the University Placement Bureau.

"Early last fall," he told the NEWS, "it became evident that employment for the Class of '41 would be exceptionally good. Many interviewers came to the Campus before Christmas, and the whole formal recruiting program has been ahead of previous years at least six weeks. More companies than ever have come to Cornell in search of men and women, and offers of employment in several fields has far exceeded the number of Seniors available.

"Increased demand is noticeable in all departments of the University, with probably the greatest shortage of men from Engineering, Physics, and Chemistry. With almost no exceptions, Seniors in Chemical, Civil, Electrical, Mechanical, and Administrative Engineering had accepted jobs by early May. There is a real shortage of good men in various agricultural occupations, and men in Arts and Sciences are finding a wider range of opportunities than in the past. Figures are not yet available, but it is probable that the percentage of '41 men and women who have jobs at Commencement time will be higher than ever before.

"The Army and Navy are of course directly responsible for a good number of these 'jobs.' Many Seniors will become Reserve officers upon their graduation and are expecting immediate calls to active duty. In addition, close to thirty engineers have applied for commissions as ensigns in the Naval Reserve and will be assigned to engineering positions in the Navy building program. Physicists, chemists, and architects are also being recruited for this work. Both the Army and Navy Flying Corps will shortly have Seniors in training, some of whom became interested in this service through taking successfully the CPT courses which have been offered here. It is not possible to say how many of the Class of '41 will be called through Selective Service for duty in the near future. Most of those whose numbers have come up have been put in Class 1-D until July 1. It is expected that many of them will be further deferred as necessary workers in defense industries."

NEW YORK CLUB ELECTS

Walter L. Pate '99 has been elected president of the Cornell Club of New York, succeeding Charles H. Blair '97 who requested that he not be renominated after eight years as president. Pate is a New York City lawyer, a bridge player of note, and was captain of the United States Davis Cup tennis team.

Blair was elected vice-president by the Club's board of governors, who also re-elected Frederick B. Hufnagel '00; John T. McGovern '00, Floyd L. Carlisle '03, and Jansen Noyes '10, vice-presidents; Bertel W. Antell '28, secretary; Wallace B. Quail '19, treasurer; and Dr. Henry P. deForest '84, librarian.

Re-elected to the board of governors is Robert E. Atkinson '23 and its new members are Edwin T. Gibson '07, Phillips Wyman '17, Henry L. O'Brien '21, and John P. Nell '33. Paul O. Reyneau '13, Frazer V. Sinclair '17, Malcolm B. Carroll '18, Dr. Wade Duley '23, T. Smith Chadeayne '26, and Carleton H. Endemann '31 were elected to the committee on admissions.

OFFER SUMMER TERM IN LAW

Dean Robert S. Stevens announced last week that the Faculty of the Law School have volunteered to teach a full term's work this summer to enable students to complete as much of their professional studies as possible before being called into military service. This first summer Session of the Law School in many years will begin June 16 and continue to August 27.

Intended primarily for second- and third-year students in the Law School, the ten-week summer term will also be open to students in good standing at other schools who have completed at least one year of law studies. Courses will be offered in Administrative Law, Conflict of Law, Creditors' Rights, Quasi-contract, Real Property, and Taxation. Completion of the course will give credit for a third of a year's work, enabling third-year students to finish their courses in time to take State Bar examinations next March instead of June. The Board of Trustees has ruled that entire tuition will be refunded to any student whose entrance into the armed services of the United States prevents him from obtaining credit for the term.

DETROIT WOMEN MEET

Eight members of the Cornell Women's Club of Detroit, Mich., met May 23 for dinner at Moinet's Tea Room, and afterwards adjourned to the home of Mrs. Archibald N. Goddard (Mary Goddard) PhD '93. They were entertained with color transparencies of the Campus taken by Alfred M. S. Pridham, PhD '33, Ornamental Horticulture, and with pictures made by the Goddards in Nova Scotia last fall.

LATIN AMERICANS STUDY AT CORNELL

Professor William I. Myers '14, Agricultural Economics, explains charts of world prices to Gerard L. Boucard, Sp '44, of Jacmel, Haiti, and Rene P. Delpech, Grad, of Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Students from Latin America, with Donald C. Kerr '12, Counsellor to Foreign Students, on the steps of the Cosmopolitan Club.

Gertie Y. Besosa '44 of Santurce, Puerto Rico, and Paul M. Portela '41 of Havana, Cuba, interrupt their work in White Hall of the College of Architecture to visit over the draughting board.

THIS YEAR, sixty-eight students are at Cornell from eleven South American countries. Their presence here is seen as a direct result of the American "Good Neighbor" policy. Many live at the Cosmopolitan Club, with students of the United States and from other countries, and at a noon table in the Willard Straight cafeteria, gossip of the Campus is carried on in Spanish.

Nine tuition scholarships in the Graduate School which were established last fall by the University Trustees have been filled from Latin America and Porto Rico, and one student is here on an exchange scholarship from the State Department. Forty-nine of the Latin-American students are undergraduates, and nineteen are graduate students. Twenty-six are studying in the College of Agriculture, twenty-six in Engineering, seven in Arts and Sciences, six in Architecture, and one each in Home Economics, Hotel Administration, and Veterinary.

Nineteen students are here from Venezuela, thirteen from Cuba, eight from Argentina, six each from Colombia and Haiti, four from Mexico, three each from Brazil, Chile, and Peru, two from Costa Rica, and one from Panama. Besides these, there are twenty-one from Puerto Rico and one each from the Canal Zone, British West Indies, and Netherlands East Indies.

Graduate students are mostly on leave from research in departments of their governments. Four brought their wives with them to Ithaca, and to one, José Marull of Santiago, Chile, a son was born here.

Special friend of all students from outside the continental limits of the United States is Donald C. Kerr '12, University Counsellor to Foreign Students and secretary of the International Association of Ithaca. His office is in the clubhouse of the Cosmopolitan Club on Bryant Avenue, where since it was built in 1910, men of all countries have lived together under the Club motto, "Above All Nations is Humanity."—L.C.B.

Fernando Carvajal, Grad, of San José, Costa Rica, works in the Plant Pathology laboratory for the PhD, with an exchange scholarship from the US Department of State.

Professor Mortier F. Barrus, PhD '12, recently returned from South America, discusses potato diseases with Carlos Madrid, Grad, of Medellin, Columbia, and Gaston E. Vivas-Berthier '43 and Edgardo N. Mondolfi '43 of Caracas, Venezuela.

About ATHLETICS

TRACK STANDING BETTERED

Changes in the order of finish of two events in the ICAAAA track meet have boosted Cornell from seventh place to a tie with Georgetown for sixth position, each with 11 points. The changes were ordered by Referee Rupert B. Thomas of Princeton after he viewed motion pictures of two races. Georgetown lost 2 points by the changes, and Cornell's total was unchanged.

ΦΚΣ INTRAMURAL CHAMPS

More athletes than ever before participated in intramural sports this year, Nicholas Bawlf, supervisor of intramurals, estimated this week. More than 800 teams in twenty-three different sports took part in nearly 1,000 contests which were marked, he added, by "keenest excitement and good sportsmanship."

The Intramural Cup was won by Phi Kappa Sigma with 48½ points. This house, with thirty-five of its fifty members participating, won the indoor relay, wrestling, and ice hockey championships and placed second in cross country, golf, track and field, and swimming.

Delta Tau Delta, with forty of its forty-eight members participating, placed second with 36 points, winning the four- and eight-oared crew races, swimming, and track and field championships, and placing second in softball. Sigma Phi finished third with title victories in basketball, volley ball, and touch football. Nineteen of its twenty-six members participated.

Spring intramurals occupied close to 2,000 students, Bawlf reports, with 1,200 engaged in softball. There were fifty-four fraternity and eighteen independent teams in this sport. When 155 games had been played, Sigma Nu emerged ahead, defeating the independent champions, the Killers, in the final, 8-2.

Delta Kappa Epsilon won the baseball championship from twenty-one other teams, in which 230 players participated. These games were played on the Varsity and Freshman fields after 6 p.m.

Rowing attracted twenty-five four-oared and three eight-oared crews, with Delta Tau Delta winning both titles. Fifteen races were held.

Two hundred students played golf on forty-eight teams, with Alpha Delta Phi defeating Phi Kappa Sigma for the championship.

Tennis attracted 150 contestants on thirty-two teams, Pi Lambda Phi winning from Sigma Chi in the championship finals.

The two-day track and field meet was won by Delta Tau Delta, 109 students participating. The meet was conducted by Edward G. Ratkoski '35, assistant track coach.

PRINCETON NOW AHEAD

Princeton defeated Yale in last week's only Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League game and thereby replaced Cornell in first place. Pennsylvania and Columbia, at the bottom of the League, have completed their schedules. The standing of the teams:

	W	L	PC
Princeton	8	3	.727
Cornell	7	3	.700
Dartmouth	6	4	.600
Yale	5	4	.556
Harvard	4	6	.400
Pennsylvania	4	8	.333
Columbia	3	9	.250

SPRING SPORTS RECORD

With the baseball and rowing schedules to be completed, Cornell teams thus far have recorded 36 victories and 50 defeats in dual engagements in spring sports.

In addition, the track team tied for sixth place in the Intercollegiates and fifth in the Heptagonal Games; the Freshman track team finished second in a triangular meet to Colgate, with Syracuse third; the golfers placed second to Syracuse in the New York State Intercollegiates; the Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Freshman crews placed third, second, and third, respectively, in quadrangular races with Harvard, Princeton, and Syracuse; and the Varsity and Freshman 150-pound crews placed third and second, respectively, in triangular races with MIT and Harvard.

The dual record:

PLAYERS ENJOY NEW UNIVERSITY GOLF COURSE

Approach to the seventh hole, shown above, is already known as "short but tricky." The nine-hole course, opened this spring, is available for alumni during Reunions and through the summer. Occupying sixty-nine acres east of Warren Road on Cayuga Heights, the course is 3165 yards long with par of 36. Its designer, Robert Trent Jones, Sp '32, says it has examples of all three modern types of golf course architecture, appealing to "the strategic school, of master-minders; the penal school, tough on hookers and slicers; and the heroic school, of those 'Sultans of Swat' who knock the ball a mile." The Department of Physical Education and Athletics maintains a clubhouse and golf shop, and the professionals are George Hall, Varsity golf coach, and Doris VanNatta, assistant.

POUGHKEEPSIE LUNCHEON

Former fellow-oarsmen and opponents will renew acquaintance at a luncheon in Poughkeepsie before the regatta June 25. Arranged by the Eastern Office of Intercollegiate Athletics, it will be a Dutch treat luncheon at $1 a person, at the Nelson House at 12 noon, daylight saving time. All former crew men and managers are invited.

MUSICAL CLUB'S SHOW

"Reunion Time" show of the Musical Clubs Friday evening in Bailey Hall will feature the last Campus appearance of the talented Senior quarter. Raymond W. Kruse, Gilbert H. Cobb, Richard H. Lee, and Radford H. Severance have sung together since they were Freshmen; have been popular entertainers at Campus affairs and in Glee Club shows. The program will also include Lee's operetta, "Codediquette," which was a popular feature of the Musical Clubs' Christmas trip and its rejoinder, "The Co-eds' Complaint," in which Lee collaborated with Norah Johnstone-Wallace '44. Also, the new Cornell song, "In the Red and the White," which Lee wrote, and an arrangement by Kruse of "Dark Eyes." Kruse will lead the Glee Club in a variety of Cornell and classical songs, with mixed numbers and soloists from the Women's Glee Club and music also by the Instrumental Club.

1941 CORNELLIAN APPEARS

The 1941 Cornellian appeared last week at Library Arch, sumptuous in blue and silver binding and resplendent with color plates of the Campus and its personalities. Significant is the inclusion this year of full-page "art studies" of seven undergraduate women: Grace B. Noble '41 of Gainesville, Fla., Elizabeth M. McCabe '42 of Brookline, Mass., Eddie Burgess '41 of Jersey City, N. J., Elizabeth N. Clarke '42 of Great Barrington, Mass., Patricia T. Feeley '43 of Rochester, Barbara G. Hart '41 of Durham, N. C., and Margaret A. Kirkwood '43 of Wichita, Kans.

The book is dedicated to George L. Coleman '95, who becomes this year Assistant Professor of Music, Emeritus. It includes the usual Senior pictures, with their Campus records, and on the same pages candid shots and informal sketches of prominent men and women of the Class. Fraternities, sororities, honor societies, athletics, publications, and other extra-mural organizations and activities are covered, with an unusual number of good informal pictures. "Class History" is unsigned; the "Women's Senior Class History" is by Ruth Ernest of Oneonta.

Editor-in-chief of this seventy-third Cornellian is Richard H. Paul of Elmira; business manager, Stuart A. Spaulding of New York City.

ALUMNI FUND SHOWS MARKED GAIN

Class Committees Bring Gifts to Ten-Year Record

Class committees have been working intensively since early May acquainting their Classmates with the urgent needs of Cornell. Result is the most substantial Alumni Fund to June 1 in more than ten years. With one more month of this fiscal year remaining, the Alumni Fund office reports total unrestricted gifts of $78,137.53 from 5,001 contributors. This compares with $65,104.55 to June 1 last year, the Fund reaching $82,806.58 at the end of the fiscal year last June 30. The present daily rush of gifts leads Executive Secretary Walter C. Heasley, Jr. '30 to predict that this year's unrestricted Alumni Fund will substantially exceed $100,000.

Activity of the Class committees, Heasley says, is undoubtedly responsible for the higher average gift this year: $15.60 as compared with $11.40 last year. But he reports that the number of donors is less than last year.

Gifts credited to the various Classes for the eleven months to June 1 are tabulated below:

CONNECTICUT WOMEN ELECT

Thirty members of the Cornell Women's Club of Western Connecticut attended the annual meeting, at supper May 20 at the Westport home of Mrs. Allen H. Mogensen (Adele A. Dean) '23, the president. Vice-president for next year is Mrs. Samuel K. Brookmire (Margaret Bowlby) '26; recording secretary, Mrs. Paul P. McClellan (Marion F. Whipple) '30. Mrs. Albert H. Emery (Julia E. McClune) '04 and Mrs. Gordon S. Rowland (Dorothy L. Stewart) '21 were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Federation of Cornell Women's Clubs in Ithaca June 13.

CORNELLIANS IN FBI

Seven recent graduates of the Law School are known to be operatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and several others have applied for the course at Quantico, Va., where FBI men are trained before being assigned to duty. Last June, the former requirement of prior law practice was waived, and the FBI now accepts college graduates who pass the requirements and are not subject to immediate call for Army service.

Professor Arthur J. Keeffe '24 of the Law School has had word of Percy Ingerman '33, Keith E. Angell '34, Elliot S. Blakesley '36, William H. Borger '36, Herbert T. Brunn '37, Ralph J. Gregg '38, and John S. Stewart '38 who are in the FBI.

Edward E. ("Cactus") Conroy '20, former intercollegiate wrestling champion at 135 pounds, has been with the FBI since 1929. Special agent in charge of various field offices, he was transferred from Dallas, Tex., recently to head the FBI in New Jersey.

CHICAGO TALKS OIL

"The War and the Importance of Oil" was the subject of L. C. Welch '06, assistant general sales manager of Standard Oil and speaker at the regular Wednesday luncheon of the Cornell Club of Chicago June 4.

WARD '14 SPEAKER

Carlton Ward '14, president of Fairchild Engineering & Airplane Corp., was the speaker following supper of the Cornell Club of Hartford, Conn., at the University Club June 6.

SIGMA XI ELECTS

Sigma Xi founding chapter at Cornell has this year recognized original research of two alumni, seven members of the Faculty, and eighty-two graduate students, by election to membership. Six additional graduate students have been elected to associate membership.

Alumni thus honored are Dr. Julian S. Butterworth '32, and Julian C. Miller, PhD '28. Dr. Butterworth received the AB in 1932 and the MD at the Medical College in New York in 1937. Now research assistant in medicine at the Postgraduate Hospital of Columbia University, New York City, he has done outstanding research in cardiac arrhythmics. He is the son of Professor Julian E. Butterworth, Director of the Graduate School of Education. Dr. Miller, head of horticultural research at the Louisiana Agricultural Experiment Station, is a recognized authority on vegetable crops and plant breeding.

New Faculty members of Sigma Xi are Professors Arthur S. Adams, Assistant Dean of Engineering; Peter J. W. Debye, Chemistry; Bruno Rossi, Physics; and Frederick F. Stephan, Statistics; S. Booth Barker, PhD '36, research fellow in Medicine at the Medical College in New York; Fritz Herzog, Mathematics; and Henri S. Sack, Westinghouse research fellow in Engineering.

William O. Geohagan '29, now a Senior at the Medical College in New York, was elected to membership. Those in the Graduate School who were undergraduates at Cornell are Richard C. Crosby '31, Sarah G. Dyal (Mrs. Etlar Nielsen) '31, Lincoln C. Pettit '34, William G. Bodenstein '36, Jack Bernstein '37, Orman B. Billings '37, Walter J. Harrington '37, William F. Royce '37, William A. Seleen '37, Paul A. Smith '37, William M. Lawrence '38, and Karl L. Smiley '38.

Alvin T. Finkelstein '38 and Saul Mirel '41 were elected to associate membership.

Dean S. C. Hollister, Engineering, has been elected president of the Cornell chapter, succeeding Professor Carleton C. Murdock, PhD '19, Physics. Professor Karl M. Dallenbach, PhD '13, Psychology was elected vice-president in Ithaca, and a new office, of vice-president at the Medical College in New York, was filled with election of Professor Jacob Furth, Pathology. Professor Gordon H. Ellis '32, Biochemistry, succeeds Professor Leland Spencer '18, Agricultural Economics, as secretary, and Professor Ralph P. Agnew, PhD '30, was re-elected treasurer.

BISHOP IN PUERTO RICO

Professor Morris Bishop '14, Romance Languages, spent ten days in April at the University of Puerto Rico as one of the invited leaders of the first Inter-American Writers' Conference. Of his experiences there, he writes to the NEWS:

"Dr. Frederick O. Bissell, Jr. '24, head of the department of English of the University of Puerto Rico, was the executive director of the Conference, chief organizer, idea man, and taxi starter. The leaders were, beside myself, Archibald MacLeish, Librarian of Congress; William Carlos Williams, poet and novelist; Robert Morss Lovett, critic, novelist, and at present Government Secretary of the Virgin Islands; Jorge Mañach, biographer, dramatist, and Cuban Senator; Ernesto Montenegro of Chile, critic and fictionist; Mariano Picón-Salas of Venezuela, scholar and critic; and Ciro Alegria of Peru, novelist, who has just won the Farrar & Rinehart fiction prize.

"Puerto Rico gave us a magnificent reception. I haven't had such a fuss made about me since I was four years old. I cannot tell you about all the functions and about all the speeches we made, in English and Spanish. Nor shall I attempt to analyze the social and political situation of Puerto Rico on the basis of my ten days' stay. But you may be interested in some notes on Cornell in Puerto Rico.

"The University of Puerto Rico has many bonds with Cornell. Dean Julio García Díaz, who studied here, is a stalwart advocate of Cornell. The School of Tropical Agriculture, which enjoys the highest scientific esteem, is intimately connected with our College of Agriculture. Two of the University trustees are Martin Travieso '03, Justice of the Supreme Court, and Jaime de Annexy, Jr. '16. I was happy to meet, among others, Dr. Harry M. Besosa '23 and Mariano H. Ramírez '26."

"Jaime de Annexy told me with pride that he was responsible for the erection of a tower with chimes in the University, in remembrance of our own Library Tower. He and the others remember their Cornell days with much affection."

NOW, IN MY TIME!

By Romeyn Berry

A professor we know in Ag told us about a student of his who is suffering from schedule trouble. The boy wants to take next fall Elementary Sculpture 330 as an elective. He can't do it because Sculpture comes at the same hour as Pomology which he is obliged to take. He has about decided that he'll have to give up Sculpture and take Farm Machinery instead. Farm Machinery fits in at the right time.

The professor we know in Ag is a little upset about this, and we are, too. He regards the situation as irremediable, but we don't. There are so many little problems in a big university that a first-class faculty find hopeless of solution, but which a train dispatcher on the B & O could adjust in twenty minutes!

Probably Ezra Cornell never said that thing about founding an institution where any boy could pursue any study he yearned to take, but he must certainly have hoped things would turn out so that any Ag student who hungered for Art could get himself a little piece; so that any student of the Humanities who wanted to know more of the mystery, the poetry, the beauty of American field-corn waving in the wind could have his need attended to. Somewhere in this situation is the whisper of an implied trust which requires that someone—the full Board of Trustees at their June meeting, if everybody else passes the buck—shall see to it that this boy we're talking about gets his little day with wet clay and Praxiteles, with Michael Angelo and modelling tools.

Even if the boy turns out to be no good as a sculptor, American farming needs more Art and out of it more imagination.

The boy on the tractor has to keep his eye on the furrow, of course, but he doesn't have to keep it there all the time. There's always some lovely modelling in the clouds, and some first class composition in the elm tree at the end of the row. And of all the astonishing contributions to agriculture that have been made in the past century, we suspect that not one was made by a farmer who kept his eye on the furrow; that every one, from soy beans to superphosphates, came from a man who, once at least in every bout, contemplated the clouds and the elm tree at the end of the row.

That's why we think the occasional student in the College of Agriculture who wants to take Elementary Sculpture 330 ought to have it fixed so he can take Elementary Sculpture 330, no matter how many Trustees may have to be bothered momentarily by having to ask the B & O to send up a train dispatcher to work out the details.

MARYLAND OFFICERS

Cornell Club of Maryland has elected as president Edward H. Carman, Jr. '16. Annual meeting was April 29, at the University Club in Baltimore. A. Russell Vollmer '27 is vice-president; A. Haslup Forman '31, secretary; Charles R. Durling, Jr. '27, treasurer.

BUREAU LISTS ENGINEERS

A new bulletin of "Registrants Available" is being mailed by the University Placement Bureau to some 700 selected employers. First issue lists the Cornell engineers who are registered with the Bureau, with brief information about experience, age, qualifications, and salary required, as a service to industry when trained engineers are in great demand.

"Calls for men with engineering, chemistry, or physics training and experience have been very heavy for several months," says Director Herbert H. Williams '25, "and for most of these the Bureau has had no candidates. By listing qualifications of its technically trained men directly with employers, the Bureau hopes to stimulate opportunities for those in search of new jobs and at the same time save employers the necessity of listing each job with the Bureau to secure candidates. Manpower to direct and supervise our greatly expanding defense industries is one of the serious problems of management today, and it is hoped that this new service of the Bureau will help in some small way toward its solution. This service will be continued as additional technically trained men register with the Placement Bureau. If shortage of men in other fields becomes acute, the service will be extended to include them.

JOHNSON PROFESSORSHIP

our country." After the war, he said, when America must assume responsibility for leadership in reconstruction, "we shall be in desperate need of wise political and financial leadership, but no financial wisdom nor political acumen can make the things that must be supplied."

"The end of the war will see America with an enormously increased capacity for production, which must be diverted from war uses to peacetime uses, as it was in the years following 1918. From the first world war came the modern American dyestuff industry, our modern lacquers and solvents, our production of synthetic nitrates, our plastics, and at least a part of our rayon industry. What new industries will be born after the present war or what new products will be made, no one can now predict. We can be sure, however, that the young men now entering our technical courses will be those who will play leading parts in this industrial revolution. . . . This gift . . . puts on us the responsibility of seeing to it that the gift is properly utilized to train young men for effective work in the service of their country. To this end we pledge the full measure of our efforts in the difficult days that lie ahead."

President Sees Changes

President Day, speaking on "Science and Prosperity," characterized this as the age in which "science has first wrought its full effect on the social order." "Science," he said, "has taken possession of us; but what of its bearing on the social order?" Of the "four freedoms," he said that science is the beneficiary of freedom to worship and freedom of speech.

"When we achieve freedom from want," the President continued, "it will come thanks to science and technology. Science multiplies the fruitfulness of our effort; it is the miracle-worker of modern civilization. We now face want and privation on every hand, but given time and opportunity, science and technology can supply our wants, remove deprivations. We must accelerate science."

"But we must observe that science is inconsiderate of the social order. It can free us from the fear that springs from ignorance, but it contributes to the insecurity of life. We must not look to science to free us from this fear. The irresistible urge of scientists and engineers, first to find things out and then to make them go, has contributed invaluable to human progress since the beginning of time, but this divine curiosity and its results are quite inattentive to other values. Science and technology are doing all sorts of unpremeditated and unpredictable things to our lives. There can be no stopping science; no programs of restriction on productive activity. . . . The answer will lie in what we do with our social and economic system, not in restricting science and technology."

"We must develop resources far greater than we have thus far displayed. We must more seriously regard the competence of government, develop a higher order of statesmanship and a more responsible electorate, as government will be charged with more and more responsibility for more and more complex undertakings. As the economic and social order is transformed, we must hold fast to the influences of those fundamental social institutions that keep our society going: the home and family, the church, educational institutions."

Speaking of the place of the university in the new order, the President said: "Whatever the outcome of the present conflict, we are heading into times of sacrifice and suffering. We must attempt decisions of what things we shall hold fast to. In such judgments, any free people must come to the conclusion that universities will be given up last of all. Their records through the centuries, as places in which human hope and aspirations have achieved at their best, give full warrant to their support by a wise and free people. And it is wise to have science keep company with the arts, with philosophy and religion, on terms of full equality with these other spheres of intellectual activity. There can be no greater contribution to the work of an institution of this sort than this benefaction to Cornell."

Professor Rhodes came to Cornell in 1910 as a graduate assistant in Chemistry, having received the AB that year at Wabash College. He became instructor in 1915, and from 1917-20 he was director of research in the chemical department of The Barrett Co. He has also been consultant for the Anaconda Copper Co., Atlantic Tar & Chemical Co., and designed the refined products section of the main tar refinery of the US Steel Co. at Clairton, Pa. Since 1920 he has been professor of Industrial Chemistry and Chemical Engineering, and has been Director of the School of Chemical Engineering since its organization.

COMING EVENTS

Time and place of regular Club luncheons are printed separately as we have space. Notices of other Cornell events, both in Ithaca and abroad, appear below. Contributions to this column must be received on or before Thursday to appear the next Thursday.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

CHIMES during Reunion are being played for the last time by Richard H. Lee, talented Senior Chimemaster this year. Son of Cazenove G. Lee '07 of Washington, D. C., he is the author of the new Cornell song, "In the Red and the White," and of the Musical Clubs operetta, "Coediquette," organizer and leader of the Carnelian Chorus of men and women, member of the Glee Club's Senior quartet, an accordionist and entertainer, winner of the soccer C, and last year director of Freshman Camp. Connoisseurs say that not in a long time have the Chimes been rung as expertly as this year, especially when Lee and Bruce C. Netschert '41, who was head Chimemaster last year, have played duets.

CHINESE STUDENTS' Club of twenty-five members is headed by Martin C. Yang, Grad, of Tsingtao. Vice-president is Miss Kuo-tsai Li '42 of Shanghai; treasurer, Sien Moo Tsang, Grad, of Shanghai; secretary, Chuan Yuang Wang, Grad, of Kunshan; manager, Tsu-wang Hu '42 of Washington, D. C.

DEBATE ASSOCIATION president for next year is James B. Tucker '42 of Santa Ana, Cal. Lawrence A. Konovitz '42 of Staten Island is vice-president; Aubrey E. Robinson '43 of Madison, N. J., secretary; and James R. Dykes '43 of Elmhurst, treasurer; with Julian A. Sobel '43 of Brooklyn, manager.

DAUGHTERS of Professor Lynn A. Emerson, Industrial Education, won additional academic honors last week. Margaret L. Emerson '41 was awarded the Bess Berlow Cohan Prize for "distinguished work and marked progress in the study of literature," and Mary E. Emerson '41 won the Goethe-Prize for her essay on "Autobiography and Poetry in Goethe's 'Werther'." They were pictured in the ALUMNI NEWS May 22 with their brother, Robert C. Emerson '41, when all three were elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

SPRING DAY FLOAT which for the third consecutive year won first prize for Alpha Tau Omega was driven for the third time by Van Wormer Walsh, Jr. '40, who came up from his job in Paterson, N. J., with Wright Aeronautical Corp. His fraternity brothers insisted that for anyone else to drive their float would forfeit their championship. This year's Ithaca trolley car of the Gay Nineties (pictured on the NEWS cover May 22) had to be guided by a pilot standing outside and shouting directions to Walsh in the truck cab inside, but it wasn't nearly as tricky as the old bell-stack locomotive two years ago. Cab of this was also the truck cab, with the boiler built on the truck body, necessitating steering the truck in reverse gear for the whole parade. The necessary several days of precarious practice perhaps explain Walsh's present dexterity.

CLASS REUNION was made so attractive to one member of the Class of '04 by his Class secretary's letter that he arranged his business affairs and brought his wife to Ithaca for the week-end. Arriving at Willard Straight Hall last Friday, he was amazed to find no Reunion festivities whatever. A hurried telephone call to Alumni House by the resourceful clerks at the Willard Straight desk brought an emissary who explained that the visitors had miscalculated by a week and tried to persuade them to stay over. But they regretfully started the return drive of 235 miles and decided they couldn't return this week.

SERVICE WEDDING took place in Sage Chapel May 31, when Ensign Jack Carter of Dallas, Tex., married Dorothy B. Ashbury of Houston, Tex. Carter and most of his brother ensigns of the Naval Reserve who are here for a special course in the College of Engineering wore white uniforms.

FELLOWSHIPS for outstanding Juniors financed by the Ralston Purina Co. have been awarded to Julia G. Snell of Herkimer by the Faculty of Home Economics and to Lloyd H. Davis of LeRaysville, Pa., in Agriculture. The winners will spend two weeks this summer with those from other colleges at the company's plant in St. Louis, Mo., and two more in camp on Lake Michigan, with all expenses paid.

DELTA GAMMA sorority has broken ground for a new house on a site bought from the University on Triphammer Road, just south of Ithaca Country Club. The red brick, American Colonial structure is planned to be opened for its twenty-five occupants next fall. Mary K. Hoyt '20, assistant secretary-treasurer of the Montclair (N. J.) Trust Co., is in charge of financing.

US WEATHER BUREAU section office in Roberts Hall will shortly be moved to Albany, there to be consolidated with the New England sectional office which is now in Boston, Mass. This has been a sectional office since the Weather Bureau was established in 1898. It will be maintained now as a local observation station, in charge of Fred I. Moses who has been observer here for twenty-eight years. First local weather observations were made by the College of Engineering in 1874, and those records are still preserved.

NOTE OF HUMOR was injected at the dinner last week when Herbert F. Johnson, Jr. '22 presented the distinguished professorship in Industrial Chemistry to the University. Speaking of the firm which his grandfather founded and of which he succeeded his father as president, the speaker mentioned that much of its success had been due to developments in industrial chemistry and, he interpolated, "to Fibber McGee and Molly." Even Faculty scientists applauded his reference to the genial radio characters of the Johnson wax program.

B. FRANK LENT, who in forty-eight years in Ithaca has supplied thousands of victrola records to fraternities and sororities from his music store on North Aurora Street, was eighty years old June 8. County treasurer and postmaster of Ithaca until 1920, he now conducts his store jointly with his son, Ralph G. Lent '26, with whom he lives. Another son, F. Burdette Lent '15, is head of the legal department of the Dairymen's League in New York City.

RADIO GUILD president for next year is Jay F. Harris '42 of Nutley, N. J. Vice-president is Alvin S. Klein '42 of New York City; secretary, Doris E. Fenton '43 of Port Washington; treasurer, Joseph H. Baum '43 of Saratoga Springs.

ATMOS, honor society in Mechanical Engineering, this year initiated its first woman member. She is Barbara G. Hart of Durham, N. C., the only Senior woman in Engineering. Specializing in air conditioning, she has maintained a consistent average of more than 70, but intends to practice only as a "co-engineer" with her husband, Piero V. Riera '39, in Havana, Cuba. They are to be married July 3. Incidentally, Miss Hart was selected by the editors of the 1941 Cornellian to be pictured among seven attractive women undergraduates of all Classes in full-page camera studies.

CULMINATION of years of unselfish labor came to James Miller last week. In the five years since he retired after thirty-seven years of taking care of the Phi Delta Theta houses, James's activity, when he wasn't supervising special occasions at his fraternity or serving the Savage Club in their rooms downtown, has been getting contributions for a new organ at his Calvary Baptist Church on North Albany Street. Last Sunday, the church held special services to dedicate the organ, with most of Ithaca's prominent Negroes as speakers and Gilbert H. Cobb '41, tenor soloist of the Glee Club, singing. James was ill at home, but his satisfaction was real.

Concerning THE FACULTY

H. EDWARD BABCOCK, chairman of the University Board of Trustees, was awarded the honorary LLD by his alma mater, Syracuse University, at its Commencement exercises June 2.

DR. JAMES EWING, Professor of Oncology at the Medical College in New York and director of Memorial Hospital, has received the American Medical Association's fourth annual distinguished service award for "his general work in the field of cancer."

TRUSTEE FRANK E. GANNETT '98 told graduates of Hartwick College, Oneonta, that "This is no time for hysteria, but for sober thought and clear judgment," at the College's Commencement June 2. He opposed American involvement in the present war, but said that if we enter the war, "You and I and everyone else will stand by the flag and the country," and asked for tolerance on the part of all.

FLORA ROSE, former Director of Home Economics, was the recent guest of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt for several days at the White House. She is in Ithaca during Reunions and for the annual meeting of the Home Economics Alumnae Association.

PROFESSOR PAUL H. BLACK, Machine Design, goes to Philadelphia, Pa., June 20 for a meeting of the applied mechanics division of the ASME at the University of Pennsylvania. June 23-27, he will attend the annual meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education at Ann Arbor, Mich., and June 29-July 3, he will be at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind., for a conference on mechanical engineering instruction.

PROFESSOR WILLIAM E. STANLEY, Sanitary Engineering, is spending the summer in Indiana as consultant on a large cantonment being built for the Federal Government.

ALAN T. AUSTEN, only son of the late Willard Austen '91, University Librarian until 1929, was one of four killed when a British Liberator bomber crashed in San Diego Bay during a test flight June 2. Austen was an assistant test pilot with the Consolidated Aircraft Corp.

DR. MORTON C. KAHN '16, Professor of Public Health and Preventive Medicine at the Medical College, has reported to the New York Hospital Association further discoveries concerning the body's defense against tuberculosis. The quality of the "wandering white cells" which kill tuberculosis germs and determine a person's ability to recover from the disease is thought by Dr. Kahn to depend on a chemical constituent, which (it is implied) might be artificially given to strengthen these cells and further recovery.

ARMY OFFICERS of the ROTC staff will spend the summer on temporary duty at Pine Camp, Fort Monmouth, N. J., and the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md.

APPOINT SWEET PROFESSOR

University Trustees have appointed to the John Edson Sweet Memorial Professorship, Professor Frank O. Ellenwood, head of the Department of Heat-Power Engineering. He becomes the second incumbent of this chair, held by the late Herman Diederichs '97 from its establishment in 1927 until his death four years ago. It was endowed with contributions of $200,000 from friends and students of Professor Sweet, who was a member of the Engineering Faculty, 1873-79.

Professor Ellenwood was graduated at Leland Stanford in 1904 and taught there until he came to Cornell in 1911. He has been a consultant for Detroit Edison, General Electric, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., and many other large concerns has written extensively on engineering subjects. With the late Clarence F. Hirshfeld, MME '05, and Director William N. Barnard '97 he wrote a three-volume work on Heat-Power Engineering, and with Professor Charles O. Mackey '26 he recently compiled a reference book of Vapor Charts. He is a member of Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi, and of many professional societies. He and Mrs. Ellenwood are the parents of Ruth C. Ellenwood '32 and Mrs. Warner S. Hammond (Hazel A. Ellenwood) '34.

CLUB HONORS JOHNSON '19

Cornell Club of the Lehigh Valley has named its Alumni Regional Scholarship, established at the University last fall, in memory of Charles E. Johnson II '19, who died in Allentown, Pa., March 20 of complications following an operation for appendicitis. Johnson was active in establishing the Club scholarship, awarded for four years to "a representative and worthy young man" from the Club area.

Holder of the Charles E. Johnson Scholarship is Francis G. Paul '44 of Easton, Pa. Freshman in Mechanical Engineering, he was on the Dean's List last term for high scholarship and played Freshman football.

NECROLOGY

'81—WILLIS THOMPSON MANN, March 23, 1941. Preparing at Lockport High School, he entered Agriculture in 1877 and remained one year. Until 1915, he managed a fruit farm at Barker; had since been president and treasurer of the Grand River Orchards Co., Inc., Geneva, Ohio. A member of the American Pomological Society and other horticultural societies, he drafted the first bill passed by Congress standardizing grades of apples.

'93 ME(EE)—ARTHUR WILLIAM BERRESFORD, May 30, 1941, at his home, 276 Riverside Drive, New York City. He was graduated in 1892 at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. In 1896 he began work in electric motor control, and in 1898 with two others, bought the Iron Clad Rheostat Co. In 1900 this was sold to the Cutler-Hammer Co., of which Berresford became superintendent in 1901 and vice-president and general manager in 1905. In 1925 he entered the electric refrigeration field as vice-president of the Nizer Corp. which later became a part of the Kelvinator Corp. From 1929 to 1934 he was managing director of the National Electric Manufacturers' Association. He was president of the American Engineering Council from 1928-30; was also a past president of the AIEE. In 1923 he was a Phoebe Hobson Fowler Medalist of the ASCE. Sons, John K. Berresford '23, Dr. Arthur B. Berresford '27; daughter, Mrs. John M. Blayney, Jr. (Eleanor R. Berresford) '35. Engineers' Club of New York, Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C., Zodiac.

'95 MCE—THOMAS ULVAN TAYLOR, dean of the University of Texas college of engineering; May 28, 1941, in Austin, Tex., after a long illness. Brought up on the Texas frontier in the days of Indian raids, he had received the CE in 1883 at the University of Virginia; had been at the University of Texas since 1888, and was dean of the engineering college from 1907 to 1936. Member of the US Geographical Survey for Texas, Louisiana, and Arkansas, he wrote extensively in connection with this work, on engineering subjects, and on the early days of Texas. In 1940 he was made an honorary member of the ASCE. Kappa Sigma, Phi Beta Kappa, Tau Beta Pi.

'96 PhD—ETHEL GORDON MUIR, November 17, 1940, in Bedford, Halifax, N. S. She entered the Graduate School from Dalhousie University, where she had received the BL in 1891 and the ML in 1893. After teaching at Mount Holyoke College, Pennsylvania College for Women, and Mrs. Dorr's School at Briarcliff Manor, she became professor of philosophy at Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio. Her summers, and recently all her time, were spent with the Grenfell Mission in Labrador.

'97 CE—LEE HIGHLEY, February 3, 1941, in New Meadows, Idaho. He received the BS in CE at Missouri State College in 1896. A railroad engineer, he was with the Illinois Central in Chicago and the Missouri Pacific in St. Louis until 1910; and the Pacific & Idaho Northern at New Meadows until 1915. Since then he had been with the Meadows Valley Bank. ASCE.

'98 LLB—CORNELIUS ORA SEABRING, May 28, 1941, in Elmira. He entered Law in 1895 from Ithaca High School. He first practiced in Spencer where he was one of the board of supervisors. Continuing his practice in Owego, he was appointed Assistant State Attorney General, and was in 1931 named a title attorney in the State Department of Law.

'04 CE—HUGO KRATZENSTEIN, October 25, 1940, in New York City. He received the AB at Harvard; entered Civil Engineering in 1901. He had practiced as a civil engineer in Chicago, Ill., and in New York City.

'14—MYRON WHITFIELD BOOTH, July 24, 1940. In 1910 he entered Civil Engineering from Albany High School, remaining one year. He was an engineer with the New York Central Railroad and the State Barge Canal until 1913, when he joined the Underwriters Association of New York State as an inspector. He later was in the insurance business in Syracuse, associated with the Concordia Fire Insurance Co. and the Baltimore American Insurance Agency of New York. Bandhu.

'14 ME—JAMES MOFFATT, April 14, 1941. A native of Buffalo, he prepared at London Collegiate Institute; entered Sibley College in 1910. In 1924, he was president of the Light Alloys Co. of Painesville, Ohio; was with the Aluminum Castings Co., Indianapolis, Ind., in 1926, and with the Aluminum Co. of America in Los Angeles, Cal., in 1931. Phi Delta Theta, Scalp and Blade.

'24, '25 AB—LUCIUS ALVIN HINE, JR., July 24, 1940. He entered Sibley College in 1920 from Deerfield-Shields High School, Highland Park, Ill.; later transferred to Arts. He had engaged in the real estate business in Chicago and Highland Park. Zeta Psi.

'25—FRANCES SOPHIA LEVIN, May 25, 1941, in Jamaica, L. I. She enrolled in Arts in 1921 from Jamaica High School; remained two years and later received the LLB at New York University. She was associated in a law practice with her brother, George M. Levin '24. An organizer of the Queens County Women's Bar Association, she became chairman of its legal aid committee.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

'92 CE—JOHN C. L. FISH, professor emeritus of civil engineering at Stanford since 1935, lives at 308 Lincoln Avenue, Palo Alto, Cal. He has recently rewritten his textbook, Engineering Economics, which received the Fuertes Gold Medal for original research, and he has collaborated on another book, The Profession of Engineering.

'94—EARL W. MAYO's business address is 95 River Street, Hoboken, N. J. He lives on West Road, New Canaan, Conn.

'95 ME—ROBERT P. TOBIN, retired from the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., New York City, is at 10 Washington Park, Maplewood, N. J.

The '97 Class Reunion for '42 was discussed by a group at the monthly dinner at the Cornell Club of New York. This is the second dinner of this group to invite all of the '97 men to get acquainted and to make plans for next year. Those present were WILLIAM T. YALE, WILLIAM H. ROSE, GEORGE O. MUHLFELD, JAMES K. FRASER, ROYAL E. FOX, FRANCIS O. AFFELD, JR., CHARLES H. BLAIR, FRED D. HERBERT, ERNEST A. VAN VLECK and JAMES W. CLARK.—F. D. H.

'97 ME—HARRY L. TERWILLIGER has retired from management of the Pacific Coast district of the Ingersoll-Rand Co. He is living at 575 Embarcadero Road, Palo Alto, Cal., not far from the home of Dr. William F. Durand, associate professor of marine engineering, 1891-1904, now professor emeritus of mechanical engineering at Stanford. Terwilliger plans to attend the Forty-five-year Reunion of his Class in June, 1942.

CLASS OF 1901 All Out For A Forty-Year Reunion Record

*By A. B. Morrison, Class Secretary

EMIL A. BRINER, consulting engineer, 164 South Clinton Street, East Orange, N. J., writes: "... oldest son, Charles (Annapolis '26) is a lieutenant-commander, USNR, located at the Washington, D. C., Navy Yard. Harmon (Annapolis '30) is a senior lieutenant, USN, on the battleship Pennsylvania. Daughter Phyllis is a secretary engaged in the defense program of Newark College of Engineering. Dad is designing controllable pitch aircraft propellers for the Navy, one of which has been government approved. Yes, we are a very peace-loving family!"

'03 AB—EDWIN N. FERDON has joined Shaw-Barton, Inc. of Coshocton, Ohio. He was formerly with The American Art Works, Inc., also of Coshocton.

'04 MD; '05 MD; '30; '35, '36 AB—DR. GEORGE W. COTTIS of Jamestown has been chosen president-elect of the Medical Society of the State of New York and will take office in 1942. He and Mrs. Cottis (ELIZA A. FANCHER) '05 are the parents of Mrs. Neil A. Harty (A. MARCIA COTTIS) '30 and RALPH H. COTTIS '35.

'05, '06 MD—DR. RALPH ROBINSON has offices at 628 East 185th Street, Cleveland, Ohio. He and Mrs. Robinson have two sons and three daughters, and live in Cleveland at 17920 Rosecliff Road.

'08—PAUL J. BAUMGARTEN writes to the Chi Phi magazine: "... I am the proud possessor of a parrot with a tail of bright carnelian red, who raucously renders the Cornell yell." He is an interior decorator and antique dealer at 32 East Fifty-seventh Street, New York City.

'09 MD—Major JAMES H. VAN MARGER is on active duty at the Second Corps Area headquarters, New York City, as chief medical inspector and instructor. He had practiced in Groton for nearly thirty years; is now responsible for the medical set-up at the induction and recruiting centers in New York, New Jersey, and Delaware.

'10 CE; '07—PAUL D. VAN VLIET is general manager of the Galesburg, Ill., plant of Liquid Carbonic Corp. He and Mrs. Van Vliet (MADELINE E. BERGEN) '07 have three sons and a daughter. The youngest son hopes to study engineering at Cornell with the Class of '46. They live at 1238 North Prairie Street, Galesburg, Ill.

ALFRED R. MELLOR is with the Department of Public Works, 100 Nashua Street, Boston, Mass.

There is a possibility that FRED SHELDON will be with us in June. He is with the Wilkes-Barre Silk Co., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

We received a note of regret from CURRY S. PRESCOTT who is with the Employers Mutuals, Empire Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis.

A luncheon was given recently in honor of DR. HUDSON BLAUVELT, for twenty-five years medical director of the Fidelity & Casualty Co. of New York. He was presented with a gold wrist watch. His home address is 16 Hart Place, Nyack.

CLASS OF 1926 FIFTEENTH REUNION THIS YEAR'S HOST CLASS

Women

*By Mrs. Ledger Wood, Class Correspondent
138 Fifteenth Road, Princeton, N. J.*

"TOMMY" KOETSCH VOGT says that her biggest news is her daughter, aged fourteen months. The Vogts also have a son, eight, and live at 141 Washington Avenue, Kenmore.

JULIET WALTON is librarian of the technical library of R. & H. Chemicals department of E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., which sounds terribly important, especially in these times.

PAULINE HALL SHERWOOD manages to keep busy. The Sherwoods have three children, and in addition Pauline is president of the PTA and an active member of many other organizations in Spring Valley.

CHRISTINE SPRAKER, AM, is clothing teacher at Russell Sage College, Troy.

KELSEY MARTIN MOTT is at present living at 2153 California Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. Her husband is a lieutenant colonel of Infantry in the US Army.

JOSEPHINE RANSON ROGERS is at the Library of Congress as assistant to the head of the musical copyright division.

MARTHA CARPENTER KEARNEY is a personal shopper for a large buying company in New York, her specialties being weddings and fashion shows. Martha secured our Reunion costumes and hopes we like the idea.

'27—SAMUEL C. JOHNS is president of Dramaturgy, Inc., Bulkley Building, Cleveland, Ohio. He has a son, nine, and a daughter, five, and lives at 3255 Glencairn Road, Shaker Heights, Ohio.

'28 CE; '28 LLB—Mr. and Mrs. CLINTON F. ROBINSON live at 3019 Foxhall Road, Washington, D. C. Mrs. Robinson is the former MARY J. ROSSEN '28.

'29 ME—J. GORDON HOFFMAN has moved from Manhasset to Cedar Road, Wilton, Conn. (RFD 1, Norwalk, Conn.) He is with Fritzsche Brothers, Inc., dealers in essential oils and chemical preparations in New York City.

'29 BS—EVELYN M. GAYNOR was married to Ellsworth R. Billard last October 12. She has continued as foods teacher and cafeteria manager of Harrison High School until this June. Address: 120 Stonelea Place, New Rochelle.

'30, '31 BArch, '32 MArch—HELEN C. GILLESPIE recently passed the board examinations admitting her as the only woman in central New York State to practice architecture with the right to employ the title of architect. She has been in the Syracuse offices of Merton E. Granger the last few years.

'30 AB—ROBERT F. HASSELL has a second daughter, Anita Clark Hassell, born last December 10. April 29, the Hassells moved from Mount Vernon to 4 Lynwood Road, Scarsdale.

'31, '32 BS—OSCAR R. ZURER is with the Bureau of Foods and Drugs, New York City Department of Health, 125 Worth Street; lives at 53 Cranberry Street, Brooklyn.

'32—ROBERT BAXTER is with the Gulf Coast Chemical Co. in Houston, Tex., where he lives at 1301 Harold Street.

'32 ME—WILLIAM C. ALLEN, production engineer in the machine tool division of the Pratt & Whitney Co., West Hartford, Conn., lives at 1 Seaside Place, East Norwalk, Conn.

'33 AB—CHARLES M. GILBERT is in the geology department of the University of California at Berkeley.

'34 AB, '38 MD—DR. HERBERT J.

WRIGHT, Jr. has been resident surgeon at St. Luke's Hospital, 421 West 113th Street, New York City, since last January. He will remain there until July 1, 1942.

'34—HUMPHREY NOLEN is with Draper & Co., Inc., 421 Summer Street—Boston, Mass., and lives at 1378 Washington Street, Canton, Mass.

'35 BSInAE — Time for May 26 recounts the success of FRANCIS J. TRECKER '35, now with the Defense Contract Service of OPM, in getting manufacturers to subcontract defense orders to utilize idle producing capacity. At a "Defense Clinic" in Buffalo, Time says, 500 manufacturers "nearly had their heads blown off" when Trecker told them they must begin to "farm out" part of their defense work. Time says that Robert L. Mehornay, head of DCS, "borrowed from a Milwaukee machine shop $1-a-Year-Men Francis Trecker and his brother Joseph to sell subcontracting as they had machines. They knew their subject. In 1939 their company (Kearney & Trecker) had started subcontracting with orders from the French Government. In Chicago, San Francisco, all over the country, the Trecker brothers held mass meetings whooping up subcontracting. Last week at Buffalo's "Defense Clinic," Francis saw several subcontracts signed before he left."

Be Sure We Have The Correct Address

Women

*By Mary T. Nigro, Class Secretary
Mentz Apartments, Niagara Falls, N. Y.*

All set to see a lot of you this weekend; and I hope it is going to be a lot!

Some of the news items gleaned from the Reunion letters:

Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Borck (JESSIE LORD) announce with pride (and a very fancy and clever announcement sketch) the birth of a son, James Lord Borck, May 26. They live at 455 King Street, Stratford, Conn.

MARIAN WEST DUNSMORE (Mrs. Robert M.) now lives at Beech Spring Drive, Summit, N. J. Her sister, RUTH WEST, teaches first grade at Southampton, Long Island.

CHARLOTTE TARBOX is now in Atlanta, Ga., at 39 The Prado, Ansley Park. Her father, who was Major Tarbox when stationed with the ROTC in Ithaca, is now a colonel.

MIRIAM HOLMES graduates at Albany Medical College this June, and begins her internship at Ellis Hospital in Schenectady July 1. Her home address is 29 West Eighth Avenue, Gloversville.

225 S. Albany Street, Ithaca*

DWIGHT BAUM, after two years with Mine Safety Appliances Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., has taken a leave of absence from that company to help handle the planning and production of aircraft armament for the British Air Commission. His address is 2651 Sixteenth Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

ZEKE BRIDGE, who graduated from the Cornell Medical School in June, 1940, is serving a rotating internship at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich. He has been appointed assistant resident in medicine for next year at this hospital. He reports that his chief vocational interest is in chest work, or pneumonology. I don't blame you Zeke; or what I mean to say is, nice going.

BOB TIFFANY is at the Davenport Hotel in Spokane, Wash., where he is in charge of catering.

AL BATCHELDER is room clerk at the Hotel St. James in New York City.

ED MERWIN is general manager of the Oakwood Club in Cleveland Heights, Ohio.

ED DOYLE has changed his address in Evanston, Ill., to 207 Main St.

CARL WIDGER is teaching vocational agriculture in Munnsville.

Straight "A" Average

Recently a popular member of the faculty, on his way back to Ithaca, declared that his home when in New York would always be the Grosvenor.

He liked, he said, our combination of virtues—rarely found in one hotel... the feeling of being in the center of Manhattan and yet in a delightful neighborhood...

the convenience of everything (3 short blocks or less to 3 subway lines, 3 major bus routes, and, at the door, Fifth Avenue buses to Radio City, the best shops, midtown, etc.) and yet freedom from traffic, which means quiet nights for refreshing sleep... the sense of living in a spacious home and yet having circulating ice-water, tub and shower, a beautiful air-conditioned dining room and smart little bar—all within arm's reach.

Single rooms from $3.50 to $6.00

Rooms with twin beds from $5.00 to $8.00

GERT KAPLAN was the first Classmate to answer our recent request in the ALUMNI NEWS. (We asked all of you to write us your opinion on the suggested '37 get-together on Saturday of Reunion week-end this June for those who want to get an early start on plans for our big Fifth Reunion next year, remember?) Gert, now Mrs. John J. Fitzpatrick, writes: "I'm enthusiastic about the plan for an informal Reunion. You can certainly count on me. . . . If I can help round up some '37ers, let me know. All this Reunion talk in the ALUMNI NEWS has made me homesick. . . . Am still teaching in Aurora, even though I annexed a 'Mrs.' last November. . . ."

CLARE McCANN writes from Ithaca, where she works at the City welfare office, that ERNA BOLDT EAKINS and husband Arthur and two-year-old baby have moved into their new home on Grandview Avenue, Suffern; that CLAIRE KELLY GILBERT has a son, born in November; that GINNY COBB is back in Ithaca after a visit in Texas; that she sees BARBY SEYMOUR often, now that Barby is teaching in Odessa; and that LOUISE McLEAN, dietician at McKinley Memorial Hospital in Trenton, N. J., spent the week-end of April 26 with her in Ithaca.

'37—MICHAEL G. FRITZ is a private in the Headquarters Battery, First Battalion, Seventh Coast Artillery, Fort Hancock, N. J.

'37 BChem, '38 ChemE—ELMER A. ADAIR, 266 Ashland Avenue, Buffalo, is with the National Aniline Co. in that city.

'37 BChem, '38 ChemE—Lieutenant WALTER L. HARDY started a year of active duty with the Army Air Corps in Dayton, Ohio, May 21.

'37 BS—LEON N. McNAIR is the father of Leon, Jr., born May 15. McNair, Sr. is 4-H Club agent in Fulton County. He and Mrs. McNair live at 72 First Street, Gloversville.

Forget the War!!! CLASS OF 1939 Two-Year Reunion

Women

By Sally Splain, Class Secretary
78 West Fifth Street, Oswego, N. Y.

It's here! The First Reunion of the Class of 1939! We are looking forward to seeing each and every one of you Reuners. And those of you who aren't able to come, why not write or wire us at the 1939 Headquarters in Sage?

If you are coming to Reunion, remember to notify the Class Headquarters in Sage that you are in town. Don't forget to add your name to the Drill Hall (Barton Hall) registration, too. It will all help to swell the number.

We'll see you Friday, the thirteenth!

There was an old woman who lived in a shoe—that's me! But subscribe anyway, dear Classmates, and I'll work my hardest for you.

A letter from ESTHER SMITH says she is managing the cafeteria in the Plattsburg State Normal School.

JANE CARYL DEAN announced her marriage May 10 to DONALD DEAN, '41 Vet. Don expects to practice with Dr. Rindell in Rochester.

MARIE BOLTON wrote from Women's College, Newark, Del., telling of her engagement to LINCOLN C. PETTIT '34, PhD '40, son of IRVING C. PETTIT '03. Link is a member of the Washington and Lee University faculty in Lexington, Va. The wedding will be at 2:30 p.m. June 21 in Sage Chapel.

ALVIN GALLEN and PHILIP MANDEL were invited to join the spring competition for the editorial board of the Yale Law Journal. Their mail boxes are 2654 and 2656, respectively, Yale Station, New Haven, Conn.

OTTO J. GLASSER is an Army officer in the Signal Company, Aircraft Warning, at Fort Buchanan, Puerto Rico, in charge of instruction in E&M and radio. He writes: "... have recently located a Cornell Club down here, located at San Juan having about 140 members. Cornell sure gets around." (Right!—Ed.)

CAM TAYLOR was married last June, has no family, and says he is "busy with Hitler." He is Montreal district manager for the Taylor Electric Manufacturing Co.; address, 1070 Bleury Street, Montreal, Quebec, Can.

A correction comes in from the pen of BEACH BARRETT to the effect that he has not been called into the Army. Beach is a Reserve officer but at the present time he holds a job which is essential for national defense. Please pardon the mistake, Beach—didn't mean to dress you in khaki so soon.

To continue the We-take-it-all-back Dept.: To the best of our knowledge, KEMP JOHNSON is not married. Our information on his wedding was erroneous and we apologize.

A late bit of news but one deserving our congratulations: JOHN L. JENNINGS became the proud father of a son, Ray Louis, on February 12. May he grow up to be a second Lincoln!

Congratulations and best wishes are in order for PRICILLA COFFIN and CHUCK BAXTER who were married May 31 in Sage Chapel. The couple will live in Manchester, Conn., near Hartford where Chuck is employed by the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Co.

ALVIN A. AMES writes from St. Augustine, Fla., where he is leese and manager of the Bayview Hotel, that all Cornell hotelmen are welcome there as his guests.

TOO "ALL IN" FOR SUMMER SPORTS?

Try Drinking KNOX GELATINE to Help Keep Up Endurance!

Come on . . . get up out of that easy chair and get outdoors! Have some fun this Summer! If you get "too tired," try drinking Knox Gelatine to help keep up endurance.

Others have tried it, and here's what happened. In recent tests among men and women in a wide variety of jobs, 9 out of 10 who drank Knox regularly for 28 days said they were less tired.

KNOX IS ALL BODY-BUILDING PROTEIN

One of the common causes of tiredness is insufficient protein in many ordinary diets. Knox Gelatine is all protein. It's the same gelatine that's been used for over 50 years to make delicious salads and desserts. But to get protein in concentrated form, try drinking Knox. It's inexpensive . . . it's easy.

MAKE THIS EASY TEST OF DRINKING KNOX

Here's all you have to do. Just drink 4 envelopes of Knox a day for 2 weeks, then 2 a day for 2 weeks. After that, as you feel the need. See if you don't notice a difference in the way you feel!

1 POUR 1 envelope of plain, unflavored Knox Gelatine into a glass  $\frac{3}{4}$  filled with water or fruit juice, not iced.

2 LET the liquid absorb the gelatine. Then stir briskly.

3 DRINK immediately. If the gelatine thickens, stir again.

Get Knox at your grocer's, in the regular 4-envelope kitchen package or the new, money-saving 32-envelope package. But be sure it's plain, unflavored Knox Gelatine . . . and only Knox! For more information, write for free Knox Booklet E, Knox Gelatine, Dept. 89, Johnstown, N. Y.
