THE appropriation bill for the New York State College of Agriculture is now awaiting the signature of the Governor, the Legislature having adjourned. The sum received from the State this year, if approved by the Governor, is about the same as that of last year, namely, $450,000 for maintenance, $70,000 for extension work, and $10,000 for the summer school. This represents the approximate amount which was determined upon last year as the cost of maintenance of the college as now established. Funds needed for the construction of new buildings will not, of course, come out of the yearly maintenance fund, but will be provided for by special appropriations. The pending bill also provides $7,500 to cover expenses of drawing up plans for a plant industry building. If satisfactory plans are drawn within a year, the Legislature will probably be asked at its next session to appropriate the money for this building.

A PLAN for the assignment of rooms in the two dormitories for women students has been adopted by the Trustees' committee on residential halls. It provides that freshmen and juniors shall live in Sage College, and sophomores and seniors in Risley Hall. Sage College is the only one of the two buildings that is large enough to house the freshmen and one other class. It was thought to be desirable that one of the upper classes should live in Sage with the freshmen in order to provide them with advice and restraint. The arrangement which has been adopted will put "sister classes" together, and will give women students in their senior year the privilege of living in Risley Hall, which by reason of its comparative newness and more modern design offers some attractions which Sage has not.

OFFICERS of Sigma Xi, the honorary scientific society, have been elected for the ensuing year as follows: President, Professor A. W. Browne, department of chemistry; vice-president, Professor J. G. Needham, department of biology; counsellor, Professor D. S. Kimball, Sibley College; recording secretary, Professor F. K. Richtmyer, department of physics; corresponding secretary, Professor James McMahon, department of mathematics; treasurer, Professor W. A. Riley, department of biology; program committee, Professor H. N. Ogden, civil engineering; Professor H. S. Jacoby, civil engineering; Professor A. W. Gilbert, department of plant breeding; and Professor A. W. Browne, ex officio.

A CONVENTION of Tau Beta Pi, the honorary engineering society, will be held in Ithaca on June 11, 12, and 13. One delegate from each of the twenty-seven chapters and the five alumni chapters will attend, besides the thirty-six men of the Cornell chapter, and the alumni members who will be in town at the time. The general program includes business meetings on each of the three days and numerous other affairs. On Thursday there will be a reception at noon in the Home Economics building at which Dean Nichols, of the College of Arts and Sciences, will speak. A smoker will be held that night in Sibley Dome. Friday will be devoted to an automobile trip to Watkins, and on Saturday a boat ride down the lake is planned, with a convention banquet at Glenwood. The convention is the first one ever held by the society at Cornell. The latest one was at the University of Wisconsin two years ago. All alumni members who will be in town for alumni week are cordially invited to attend all of the gatherings.

THE UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA gave its last concert of the year Wednesday night in Bailey Hall, the new auditorium. The program of the concert was supplemented by Mr. and Mrs. Eric Dudley, soloists, and Miss Frances Cisin at the piano. Mrs. Dudley sang Henschel's "Spring" and in a duet with Mr. Dudley sang "The Singing Lesson." Miss Cisin played three selections on the piano, Liszt's "Dance of the Gnomes," Florida's "Moths," and Chopin's scherzo in B minor. The orchestra played a large number of selections, all of which were well received. At senior singing last Thursday evening the orchestra made its last appearance of the year. The addition of musicians to the singing of the graduating class had never before been tried. They opened the singing with the "Alma Mater," in which the seniors joined, after which songs and orchestral selections alternated.

THE SHERMAN-BENNETT PRIZE has been awarded to Seth Victorius Elting, of Poughkeepsie, a member of the senior class in the College of Arts and Sciences, for an essay entitled "Government and Administration." Elting is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. The prize was founded by Philo Sherman-Bennett of New Haven, who, by provision in his will, bequeathed to William J. Bryan, of Lincoln, Nebraska, a fund to found prizes in twenty-five colleges or universities to be selected by him. The prize consists of the income of $400 and is awarded "for the best essay discussing the principles of free government." Competition is open to all students of the University.

THE LUANA L. MESSENGER MEMORIAL PRIZE, the annual income of a fund of $1000, founded by the late Hiram J. Messenger '80, of Hartford, Conn., has been awarded to Henry Chalmers '14, of Brooklyn, N. Y., for his essay on "The American Immigrant, a Force in Modern Progress." The prize is awarded annually to that student of the University who submits the essay "giving evidence of the best research and most fruitful thought in the field of human progress or the evolution of civilization during some period of human history or during human history as a whole."

THE FRANCES SAMPSON FINE ARTS PRIZE, founded in 1909 by Professor Martin Sampson, of the Department of English, in memory of his wife, has been awarded to R. E. Grant '14, of Cincinnati, Ohio. The competition for this prize consists of a written criticism of a number of masterpieces of art.

T. W. B. WELSH '08, instructor in the department of chemistry, has been elected president of the Cornell section of the American Chemical Society.

President Reviews the Year Contributes an Article on Cornell to the "Evening Post"

The New York Evening Post is publishing a series of articles by the presidents of the leading universities and colleges on the progress made by their respective institutions in the last year. The Post of May 26 contained an article by President Schurman, in which he said :

"There has been a good deal of discussion during the year relative to the reorganization of the executive committee and other standing committees of the University. The object is twofold : First, to make the government of the University more representative, and, secondly, to simplify the transaction of business. The latter end would be accomplished by reducing the number of committees, and putting more responsibility on the president and other officers of the University. The first object mentioned involves the establishment of an executive committee elected by the board of trustees for a fixed term, to take the place of the present executive committee which consists in practice of the trustees resident in Ithaca. Though much discussed, final action on these matters has not yet been taken.

"The president's recommendation that the faculties be granted a share in the administration of the University by the establishment for each of its colleges of a small advisory council consisting of professors elected by the faculty of each college, and trustees elected by the board, with the dean and president members ex-officio, it being intended that all business affecting each college shall be considered and digested by the council of that college and come before the board as its recommendations, has been in the hands of a committee of the board of trustees for more than a year, and, though nothing official has been announced, it is expected that a report favoring the project will be presented to the board before the close of the present year. If the plan proposed be adopted, it would bridge the chasm which in American universities exists between the business and the educational sides of the University—between the governing board on the one hand and the faculty or teaching body on the other.

"In the faculties there is a growing insistence on the necessity of hard work on the part of students. In the professional and technical departments the fact that the courses are prescribed, and the subjects mostly difficult, is sufficient to keep the men well employed. And, of course, in the graduate school and in the Medical College, which is open only to graduates, the character and previous training of the students is a sufficient guarantee of diligence and studiousness. On the other hand, in the College of Arts and Sciences, and to some extent in the College of Agriculture, it has been possible for students, especially bright students, to remain in their classes without doing much strenuous work. Owing to the generally studious atmosphere of Cornell University, the number of undergraduates who shirk work has not been large. But the faculties of the two colleges mentioned earnestly desire to reduce the number of that class of undergraduates to a minimum, and they have to that end just voted to raise the standard hitherto accepted as a pass mark."

In the rest of his article the President summarizes important appointments, gifts, and building operations of the year.

To Make Camp Next Week

Civil Engineers Will Have Foresters with Them at Myers Point

The annual surveying camp of the College of Civil Engineering will be held this summer with headquarters at Myers Point, seven miles from Ithaca on the east side of Cayuga Lake. About a hundred and thirty men will make up the party, most of whom will be members of the present sophomore class in civil engineering. They will be accompanied by the sophomore class of the department of forestry, about twenty-two men. All will be under the direction of eleven members of the Faculty of Civil Engineering. Professor O. M. Leland, of the department of geodesy, will be in command of the party. The camp will open on June 8 and will close on July 18.

The men will continue the work of making a careful hydrographic survey of the Lake and topographic survey of the territory bordering the lake to a distance of four miles inland. This work, begun in 1912 at the southwest corner of the lake, when the camp was at Crowbar Point, covers each year about twenty-five square miles topographically, and it is estimated that the entire survey will be made in about fifteen years. The hydrographic surveys, by means of comprehensive soundings, result in the construction of charts showing the depth and contour of the lake bottom. The surveying work, both topographic and hydrographic, besides giving the young engineers practice, yields much useful information. The maps and charts they construct are more nearly accurate and on a closer scale than any others existing. The college has calls from time to time for much of the information gathered in the summer camps. The surveys are connected with the triangulation of New York State, making them authentic in position.

The foresters will make a topographic survey of the forest lands of the region and will do the same sort of work under the same instruction as the engineers.

Any alumnus of the College of Civil Engineering who may wish to visit the camp will be welcomed. The camp will be near the Ludlowville station of the Auburn and Ithaca branch of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and will have a Bell telephone connection.

Pageant of Indian Life

Play Given on the North Shore of Beebe Lake by Students

A pageant depicting scenes of Cayuga Indian life was given on May 28 by students of the College of Agriculture, assisted by several of the Faculty children and by two real Onondaga Indians. It took place between the hours of five and seven on the north shore of Beebe Lake. The scene of the play was a level spot in the woods, bordered on one side by the lake and on the other by the high wooded bank. The pantomime gave pleasure to a large number of spectators who sat on the steeply sloping ground and glimpsed the actors between the tree trunks.

The scene was supposed to be a Cayuga Indian village of the Wolf clan, in which preparations were being made for the annual strawberry festival. At first one saw the ordinary things of the village life. An old chief sat on the ground in front of the "long house" at the right. Women pounded corn or tended a fire. Near them was an arrow maker at work, with boys watching him. Other boys shot arrows at a mark or played in canoes near the shore. Girls were working at basket making and pottery and the dressing of skins.

Shots are heard across the lake. Canoes put out and return with a party of three Indians and two white men. They are welcomed by the old chief and the party sits in a ring with him and the arrow maker and smokes the peace-pipe. Hunters return laden with game. Then comes the Sa-nun-dat-ha Wa-ta, or ceremony of confession, which is followed by the Ha-nun-da Yo, or strawberry festival. This begins with speeches of thanksgiving for the strawberry, includes the great feather dance, the O-sto-weh-go-wa, and ends with a feast of venison and fish, cakes and strawberries, in which the white men and Indian visitors are invited to join.

The narratives of actual historical events on which the play was based may be found in Schoolcraft's Archives of Aboriginal Knowledge, Vol. IV, pp. 324-341, and in Beauchamp's History of the New York Iroquois, pp. 274-278.

CAMPUS NOTES

A SPECIAL COMMISSION from the Russian department of agriculture which has been sent to the United States to investigate forage crop conditions in this country will visit Cornell some time in July.

THE CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION has made progress in the collection of its annual budget for next year. About $5,500 has been collected or pledged. This sum falls $1,000 short of the estimated expenses. Of the money already subscribed, about one-half comes from undergraduates. The rest was given by alumni, Faculty, people of Ithaca, and families of undergraduates. The Faculty gave $1,037, about twice as much as ever before. The alumni have done almost as well, with a total of $935 pledged. Another source of revenue was a concert this spring for which Miss Maude Clark, of Syracuse, gave her services to the association. That concert made a profit of about eighty-five dollars.

THE SCHOOL FOR LEADERSHIP in Country Life will begin its fourth annual session at the College of Agriculture on June 23 this year, continuing until July 3. The persons attending the course, together with the staff of lecturers, will live in a tent colony near Beebe Lake as they did last year. Professor G. N. Lauman, of the department of rural economy in the College of Agriculture, will act as dean of the school. Six educators from other universities, several of whom were here last year, will lecture on the numerous subjects of the curriculum, which is designed as a training course for all classes of rural leaders.

IN ONE OF THE GAMES of the inter-fraternity baseball league, on Alumni Field last week, Uldric Thompson, jr., '14, of Honolulu, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg. Thompson was playing third base for the Huntington Club, and a member of the Gamma Alpha team, sliding to the base, collided with him.

The Search for Cold Light

Summary of a Recent Lecture by Professor Bancroft

Professor W. D. Bancroft of the department of chemistry outlined his recent investigations on "cold light" in a lecture before the Cornell section of the American Chemical Society last Monday. Professor Bancroft has published numerous articles on the subject of chemical light, two of which have appeared this spring in the Journal of Physical Chemistry. He has been aided in his work recently by H. B. Weiser, a graduate of Ohio State University, now an assistant in the chemistry department. A brief summary of the lecture follows: "If an opaque substance is heated, it becomes red hot and finally white hot. The quality of the emitted light is the same at any given temperature for such different substances as carbon, platinum and porcelain, and consequently a measure of the light can be used as a measure of the temperature. For measuring the temperature of electric furnaces optical pyrometers are the only instruments that can be used. This kind of light emission is called temperature radiation.

"On the other hand, a transparent gas such as air emits no light as a result of heating to any temperature that we can reach. There is no light emitted by air that is hot enough to melt gold or platinum. A colored vapor, like iodine, does emit light when heated.

"Most forms of commercial lighting are due to temperature radiation and are more efficient as the temperature increases. The kerosene lamp, the gas flame, the old-fashioned carbon incandescent lamp, the osmium lamp, the tantalum lamp and the tungsten lamp respond to ever increasing temperatures and efficiencies. Since so much work has been done along this line, it is probable that we are approaching the limit of efficiency and that we shall make more progress by attacking the problem in an entirely different way.

"The firefly gives out light practically unaccompanied by invisible heat rays and produces light at a much higher efficiency than the best tungsten lamp. This is not a biological phenomenon, because the dried and powdered firefly will glow if exposed to moisture and air. The first stage in duplicating the firefly is to study the chemical production of light as opposed to the thermal production. Many chemical reactions produce light if made to go rapidly enough, and it is probable that all do. The colored lights obtained when salts are placed in a Bunsen flame are due chiefly to chemical reactions. Oxidation of copper in one way gives out a green light and in another way a blue light. When mercury burns in bromine an orange light appears. A similar light can be obtained under water by passing an electric current from mercury to a solution of potassium bromide. This is by no means cold light. In fact, we are still far from that. However, it is a conscious step in that direction and shows the possibility of some day beating the firefly at his own game."

The University Club

Enough Members Obtained to Warrant the Use of Sage Cottage

The membership of the new University Club is more than two hundred, a number which insures the permanent establishment of the organization. The club, to be composed of officers of instruction and administration and town alumni, with their families, will occupy the parlor floor and the ground floor of Sage Cottage, the present annex of Sage College. The construction of Riskey Hall has provided adequate dormitory room for the women of the University, making it possible for the Board of Trustees to offer the new University Club the rental of the two lower floors, after September 1. The rest of the building will be used next year as a dormitory for unmarried instructors.

Sage Cottage, which was purchased by the University in 1897, stands at the corner of Central and South avenues. Its location, at the crossing of two of the main thoroughfares to the campus, makes it especially convenient as a clubhouse. The promoters of the University Club expect that it will soon become a center of social life on the Campus, such as the University has needed.

Dinner to Mr. White

Given by Cornellians at the Lake Mohonk Conference

Cornellians who attended the twentieth annual Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration, at Lake Mohonk, N. Y., last week, gave a reception and banquet for Dr. Andrew D. White. The event took place on Thursday evening, May 28, at the Mountain House. About twenty-five men and women Cornellians were present.

Mr. White was the chief speaker on Thursday morning during the regular session of the conference. His subject was "Preparatory Work for the Third Hague Conference." Prolonged applause followed the address. In the afternoon he spoke at a conference on internationalism in the universities, called by Dr. G. W. Nasmyth '07, of Boston, director of the International Bureau of Students. Mr. White spoke on "The Treatment of History Viewed in the Light of the History of Civilization." This address was heard by a distinguished audience which included John Bassett Moore, the presiding officer of the Lake Mohonk conference; President Thwing, of Western Reserve University, and Edwin D. Mead of Boston.

Among the persons present at the Cornell dinner were Dr. and Mrs. Andrew D. White; Andrew B. Humphrey '75, George W. Nasmyth '07, and Mrs. Nasmyth; Arthur D. Farquhar (graduate student, 1911-12); John R. Mott '88 and Mrs. Mott; Dr. Louis Livingston Seaman '72, and Mrs. Seaman; Professor Alvin S. Johnson, of the department of economics; Rabbi Theodore F. Joseph '96; Mrs. Adaline Prentiss Wait.

Mr. Humphrey welcomed Mr. White to the dinner and expressed the regard which Cornellians feel for the first president of the University. Mr. White responded in a speech filled with interesting reminiscences of the University's early days. He spoke with especial feeling of the support given to the institution by Goldwin Smith.

NEW ENGLAND CLUB Entertains Athletic Teams

The visits of the crews and track team to Boston the last week in May afforded an eagerly seized opportunity for the New England alumni to show in some measure their appreciation of the good work of the various athletic teams this spring.

On Sunday afternoon, May 24, enough of the alumni loaned their motor cars to take the varsity and freshman crew squads on a trip through historic Lexington and Concord. This party was piloted by "Clint" Ferguson '12, and "Cully" Bryant '00, the present and a former athletic councillor of the club. The crews were met Sunday morning on their arrival by a committee appointed by President Nellis '99, and were also assisted in getting their shells packed Tuesday night after the race. "Furrie" Fletcher '96 says that another year he intends to have his yacht in the water early enough to take the crew squad for a sail down Boston harbor and along the north shore.

On Thursday, May 28, the club arranged for a special car to take the track team from the hotel to Rowe's Wharf, where the entire squad boarded the steamer Betty Alden and enjoyed a trip down Boston harbor to Nantasket Beach, where some time was spent in relaxation and breathing deeply of the invigorating salt air. This party was piloted by Warren Ogden '01 and Eddie Savage '98. Thursday evening, at the suggestion of "Ken" Roberts '08, fifty seats at the Colonial Theatre were turned over to Jack for the squad by "Stuffy" Davis '03, who was in Boston managing the play at that theatre, "The Misleading Lady." It was so much enjoyed by the squad that Jack let them sit up till eleven o'clock and see it through. The boys say "Stuffy" must bring that show to Ithaca.

Jack expressed the opinion that the relaxation afforded the track squad, taking the boys' minds entirely off the games, was of material assistance in winning the glorious victory on Saturday. The men on the various squads were very generous in their expressions of appreciation, but their pleasure could not have equalled that of the alumni who extended the entertainment.

Crew and Track Smoker

On the evening of May 29 more than a hundred enthusiastic alumni gathered at the Hotel Westminster in Boston to celebrate the recent victories of the crews and the anticipated victory of the track team. For, after the showing made in the preliminaries, nothing but victory, and the permanent possession of that cup, could be seen.

The toastmaster was the inimitable "Ken" Roberts '08, who early in the evening called on Charlie Taussig '02 and Al Rogers '03 to give the "dope" as they had it made out. Charlie's dope was 42 points for Cornell, remarkably close as it turned out. As Ken would say: "Charlie's a grand dopest O. K., say we." After Erv Kent, the justly popular graduate manager, had told of the great advantages accruing from the new athletic plant, and George Dyer '95 had told a most interesting story of the experiences of our crew at Henley, England, in 1895, Jack arrived and everything stopped to give him a most tremendous ovation. When the noise had ceased Jack gave one of his characteristic talks, right from the heart, modest, thoughtful, and extremely forceful. He was greatly pleased at the showing of the team in the afternoon and hopeful of the tomorrow. He departed amid shouts of "Good luck!"

"Stuffy" Davis '03 then entertained the crowd with a humorous story of his experiences in getting lost in the crooked by-paths of Boston, and for an encore told of his troubles in managing Barnum & Bailey's circus for a year. Tommy Crews, the varsity track manager, gave a eulogy of Jack Moakley and a survey of the track situation during this year and for next year. Romeyn Berry of the I. C. A. A. A. came in about ten o'clock and entertained the crowd with several of his best stories, including of course the "Hundred Oyster Man." "Punta Arenas" Furlong, F.R.G.S., '99, told of being bitten by a man-eating shad in a Mexican dungeon which he had selected as a good place to spend his winter vacation. Needless to say, all this was interspersed with Ken Roberts's own funny stories and imitations.

It was a large party and did not break up until near midnight, it being difficult to drag Dr. W. T. McCarty '06, the famous Arlington High School coach, away from the piano. The committee in charge was Harry Brown '06, Clint Ferguson '12, Franz Nicolls '13, and Warren Ogden '01.

REGATTA ON CAYUGA LAKE

THE ANNUAL REGATTA of the women students was held on Beebe Lake Saturday afternoon, May 30. The seniors were not represented by a crew. The class of 1916, which was victorious last year, won the race again. It was stroked, as before, by Miss Gertrude Bates, of Ithaca, a sister of E. S. Bates '13, former commodore of the Cornell Navy. The other members of the winning crew were Miss Bertha Ellis, Miss Laura Leonard, and Miss Anna Kerr. Their time for the quarter-mile was 1 minute 51 1-5 seconds. A large number of women competed for the class boats this year, more than fifty being left after the first cut.

THE WOMEN STUDENTS of the University celebrated the coming of spring with a May-pole dance on the lawn in front of Sage College on Saturday afternoon, May 30. Miss Mary Larkin, president of the women of the freshman class, was Queen of the May.

ITHACA, NEW YORK, JUNE 4, 1914

THIS is a great year in Cornell's athletics. The big event of the fall was the victory over Pennsylvania in football, after a dozen years of waiting. About the same time the cross-country championship was regained. In the winter Cornell won the championship of the intercollegiate wrestling league and tied for the championship of the basketball league. This spring the championship of the north was won by the lacrosse team. Soon afterward came the remarkable feat of the eight in outraging crews from Princeton, Yale and Harvard within the span of four days, while the freshman crew was successful in races with the Princeton and Harvard freshmen. Now comes the track team, after winning dual meets with Michigan, Harvard and Pennsylvania, and takes permanent possession of the intercollegiate trophy, incidentally setting two new intercollegiate records. The baseball team has not finished its season yet. One result of Cornell's success this year is that the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America must provide two trophies to take the places of two which have been brought to Ithaca to stay. It is rather remarkable that the cross-country cup and the track cup, which had been in competition for six years and eleven years respectively, should both be withdrawn from competition by a single college in the same year.

WE HAVE PROVIDED a new building for winter practice by the baseball team and track men, and there is now under construction a fine house for minor sports and all the major sports except rowing. In reviewing the successes of the year, it is only fair to remember how much discomfort the oarsmen and Mr. Courtney put up with during the tedious period of winter practice. To get a true estimate of what the Cornell crews accomplish it is necessary to take into account the narrow, stuffy quarters in the old gymnasium where so much of the drudgery is done.

THE UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA is one of Cornell's most excellent institutions. Its public concerts are altogether too few. But we do regret to see the orchestra called upon to take part in senior singing. The charm of the senior singing is in its informal simplicity, in the feeling which attends the seniors' farewell to one another and not in the excellence of the music which may be rendered. To have the singers accompanied by an orchestra is to introduce an element which is alien to the spirit of the occasion.

THE PICTURE on the cover of this number is a photograph taken in the '70s. It shows East Avenue and Sage College. The cornfield in the foreground, needless to say, has long ago become only a memory.

'94 REUNION

There is apparently going to be a landslide attendance of '94 Cornellians at their twentieth anniversary reunion on June 12 and 13. The class secretary has this week mailed to his classmates a list of eighty who have promised to return. Let no one think this list has been padded. There are a score more who intend to come if their duties permit. When the silent constituency realize how many are coming it is expected that they will come to life, make haste to buy a two-cylinder straw hat and join the happy throng. The committee has designed for the occasion special '94 insignia which, in the opinion of those who have seen the sample, will prove an instant hit.

E. E. BOGART, Secretary.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO '92, '93, '95 AND '96 CORNELLIANS

You are cordially invited to attend various functions of the '94 reunion on June 12 and 13. Track Trophy Ours to Keep

The large silver trophy offered in 1904 by the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America for permanent possession by the college which should first win five victories in the annual track and field meetings of the association has become the property of Cornell. Cornell's fifth victory was won in the Harvard Stadium last Friday and Saturday, May 29 and 30. The cup was brought back to Ithaca by the victorious team. When this cup was first put up for competition, in 1904, Cornell had never won an intercollegiate track meet. But John F. Moakley had then been coaching her athletes for five years, and the team was beginning, under his instruction, to show the quality which has borne fruit this year. In 1904 Cornell men won 15 points and tied with Princeton for fourth place. In 1905 Cornell won the intercollegiates for the first time. The victory was repeated in 1906. Other victories were won in 1908 and 1911. Meanwhile, up to this year, Pennsylvania had got four legs on the trophy, Yale one, and Harvard one. Therefore this was felt to be a critical year in the competition for the trophy, and the splendid spirit shown by the track men and by Cornell undergraduates generally may be thanked for the team's success, rather than the possession of athletes of demonstrated ability. Moakley had to depend to a great extent upon untried men. Eleven of the twelve men who scored for Cornell last week had never won a point in the intercollegiates before. Last fall the outlook was discouraging, but Moakley and Shelton told the undergraduates that the trophy might yet be won if every man who had any track ability would turn out and train faithfully. Probably nobody in the country but Jack Moakley could have taken the unpromising but determined squad which turned out and have made a championship team of it. He and Captain Shelton encouraged everybody who offered himself, and the coach made the most of every man's ability. The victory, as Moakley said in a modest speech at the undergraduate reception to the team last Sunday, was won on the board track at the Armory last winter. By the time the dual meets came along in the spring, the coach and the team were beginning to reap the fruits of hard work. It is only by such a review of the whole year that one can explain the final success last week. Cornell had no "star athletes"—only a lot of men determined to do their utmost under the best track coach in the country.

This trophy has been in competition for eleven years and has been won by a college which was almost unheard of in track athletics when the trophy was offered. It is the second trophy put up by the association. The former one was captured by Yale.

A Well Balanced Team

Cornell men scored points in eleven of the thirteen events—all but the 440 yard dash and the shot-put, in which events Cornell failed to qualify any men on Friday. The winning score of points was 43. Pennsylvania was second, with 31. Michigan had 29 1-2, Dartmouth 23, Yale 22, California 18, Harvard 11, Princeton 7 1-2, Columbia 5, Brown 2, Pennsylvania State 2, and Johns Hopkins 1. A new system of scoring was used this year, under which the fifth place counted for a point and a point was added to the value of the second, the third, and the fourth place. It is interesting to note that under the former system of scoring Cornell would still have won the meet and the relative positions of most of the other contestants would have been the same. Cornell would have scored 33 1-3 points, Pennsylvania 23, Michigan 22 1-2, Dartmouth 19 1-3, Yale 14 1-2, California 12 1-2, Harvard 7 1-3, Princeton 3 1-2, Columbia 5, Brown 1, and Pennsylvania State 1. The only event in which Cornell would have failed to score (in addition to the two mentioned above) is the hammer-throw, in which McCutcheon won fifth place. Cornell had a well-balanced team.

The Preliminaries

There was a forecast of Cornell's victory in the preliminary events of Friday. Elimination heats were held in all the events but the mile and two-mile runs. Cornell qualified 16 men, Pennsylvania 14, Yale 13, Harvard 11, Michigan 10, Dartmouth and California 8 each, Princeton 4, Georgetown 3, Pennsylvania State 2, and Columbia, Colgate, Syracuse and Haverford one each. Pennsylvania suffered a great disappointment in the failure of her best sprinters, Lippincott and Patterson, to qualify in the dashes. Cornell's disappointments were the failure of Fritz in the pole vault and Morrison in the broad jump. The Cornell men who qualified, in addition to those who scored in the finals, were H. E. Irish and C. L. Speiden (winner of the mile) in the half-mile run; H. E. Millard in the high hurdles; G. C. Halsted in the pole vault; and F. H. Starr and F. E. Lyford in the low hurdles. In the high hurdles Brodt won his heat and made the best time of the day, 15 2-5 seconds. The best broad jump of the preliminaries was also made by Brodt, who cleared 22 feet 1 1-2 inches. He had to better that mark next day in order to take second place. The pole vaulters were all tied at 12 feet.

Brodt's Good Work

"Burt" Brodt, who scored more points for Cornell than any other man, is a senior but had not won his C until this year. It was awarded to him before he went to Cambridge for his good work in the dual meets of this spring. At Cambridge he was called on for a good deal of exertion, entered as he was in two events. In both his preliminary and his semi-final heat of the high hurdle race he won with a mark of 15 2-5 seconds, within one-fifth second of the intercollegiate record. In the final, having taken the measure of all his opponents, he was a little too eager, as he confessed afterward, to equal that mark of 15 1-5. He tripped over the second hurdle and was thrown entirely out of his stride. At the fourth hurdle he was at least six feet behind any of the rest. In spite of that handicap he came through in third place. Braum of Dartmouth won the event in 15 3-5 seconds. After that, Brodt had to go over and broad-jump some more, because his winning mark of the day before had been surpassed. In that event he took second place.

Here Is Where Berna Helped

One of the surprises for most Cornell men was the victory of Johnny Hoffmire, the Trumansburg boy, over Captain McCurdy of Pennsylvania, in the two mile run. In the dual meet two weeks earlier the Pennsylvanian had beaten Hoffmire and another victory for him was generally expected. But during those two weeks Tell S. Berna '12, of Milwaukee, Cornell's former two-mile champion, had been helping Moakley in Ithaca. Berna had taken his annual vacation at this time and had devoted the time to giving the distance runners the benefit of his experience and confidence. A good share of the credit for the success of Hoffmire and Speiden must be given to Berna. Hoffmire has come along fast as a sophomore. Last fall, in the intercollegiate cross-country meet, he turned out to be the best of Cornell's hill-and-dalers. In the Pennsylvania dual meet this spring, he led until the last lap of the two miles, when McCurdy uncovered a sprint which Hoffmire could not equal. Evidently he had profited by that experience, for last Saturday he set such a fast pace for the entire two miles that McCurdy had no such sprint at the end. When McCurdy tried to pass him, on the back stretch of the last quarter, Hoffmire let himself out a peg, and the two raced side by side for thirty or forty yards. Then, on the last turn, Hoffmire jumped out ahead and finished several yards in the lead. His time was 9:23 4-5, a new intercollegiate record. This is more than eleven seconds faster than the time made by McCurdy when he beat Hoffmire in the dual meet, and this difference in time indicates the different kind of race that Hoffmire ran as a result of his experience in that dual meet.

Speiden won by about the same distance over Madeira of Pennsylvania as in the dual meet at Ithaca. His time was a little slower, probably owing to the larger number of contestants, which caused him to run a little wide. The mile resolved itself into a race between those two, and with an eighth of the mile to go Speiden cut loose with a sprint which Madeira could not equal.

Caldwell's Fast Half-Mile

In the half-mile run Caldwell cut two-fifths of a second off the 1:53 4-5 record of J. P. Jones '13. There was a stirring finish between Brown of Yale, the winner last year; Meredith of Pennsylvania, and Caldwell. Irish and Speiden of Cornell were also in this race. Throughout the first lap they all ran well up with the leaders. At the last turn Meredith was passed by Brown, who led almost all the way down the home stretch. Caldwell passed Meredith about fifty yards from the finish and took after Brown. It did not seem possible for him to overtake the Yale man, but he did, and broke the tape with a margin of about a ynrnd. Meredith was third.

The Sprints

Michigan had by far the strongest delegation of sprinters at the meet after Patterson and Lippincott of Pennsylvania were eliminated on Friday. Of the thirty points to be won in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, Bond, Seward and Smith of Michigan took 19 1-2. Reller, Ingersoll and Van Winkle of Cornell took 7 1-2, and Lockwood of Pennsylvania took 3. Considering the fact that he had a long period of severe illness following a surgical operation last winter, Reller did very well to take second place in the hundred. He was beaten in a very close finish by Bond. Seward barely won third place from Ingersoll. Van Winkle was in fast company in the 220 and tied with Bond for fourth place. Seward won the race in 22 seconds.

The work of Brodt in the high hurdles has already been mentioned. In the low hurdles, Ferguson of Pennsylvania won in a manner deserving of praise. When he entered the final he had already run four races in the afternoon, for he had qualified for the high hurdles only after two trials. He took fifth place in the final of that event. Then he was second to Braun of Dartmouth in his low hurdle semi-final. The other heat was won by Captain Shelton of Cornell. In the final Ferguson defeated both Braun and Shelton. This was the first time that Shelton had been a point-winner in the intercollegiate. When he was elected captain, last spring, he had not even won his C. He is entitled to credit for a larger share of the victory than the three points he himself won in the hurdle race.

In the five field events Cornell won 11 1-2 points, scoring in all of them but the shot-put, in which no Cornell man qualified. Of these points, 4 were scored by Brodt in the broad jump, 4 by Milton in the pole vault, 2 1-2 by Morrison in the high jump, and 1 by McCutcheon in the hammer-throw. McCutcheon's mark was the best he had made this spring.

Cornell's New Records

The only new records made at the meet were those of Hoffmire in the two-mile and Caldwell in the half-mile. The former two-mile record was made by Paul Withington of Harvard, and the old half-mile record was that of J. P. Jones, who still holds, and is likely to hold for some years to come, the intercollegiate mile record of 4:14 2-5, which is also a world's amateur record. Three of the thirteen intercollegiate records therefore stand now to the credit of Cornell.

Everybody said that Cornell had not only the best team at the meet but also the best cheering. Most of this was done by graduates, who sat together in two of the sections of the stadium. George Rockwell '13, of Boston, was the leader. Other groups, especially those representing Pennsylvania, Yale, Michigan, and Dartmouth, cheered for Cornell. The summary:

The Reception of the Team

There was a noisy celebration of the victory in Ithaca Saturday night. The Sun got out an extra and sold several thousand copies. Preparations were made to give the team a reception. The team arrived at the East Ithaca station by special train from Canastota about noon on Sunday; fifteen minutes ahead of time, when a swarm of undergraduates was just coming up Dryden Road. A float had been decorated with red and white bunting and long ropes had been attached to it. After several long yells had been given the announcement was made that the real celebration would be held down on Stewart Avenue, near Buffalo Street, where the track training table is. Jack Moakley, Captain Shelton and The Cup were put into an automobile, which led the procession down the hill. Behind the car came the float, drawn by several hundred undergraduates and bearing the members of the team.

The cheer leaders took possession of a veranda at the corner of Buffalo Street and Stewart Avenue, and the crowd gathered on the lawn and in the streets. Speeches were made by Captain Munns, of the football team; Coach Moakley, and Captain Shelton. They all praised the spirit of the team, and they all referred to the assistance and encouragement given by the alumni of Boston. Cheers were given for each member of the track squad, with a final long yell for the team, and the reception ended with the singing of "Alma Mater."

Cornell, 3; Pennsylvania, 1

The first game of the series of three with Pennsylvania was won by Cornell on May 30. It was one of the closest contests of the season and the result was in doubt till the end. Cornell got one run in the seventh. In the eighth Penn tied the score, but in the same inning Cornell made two more runs.

The Pennsylvania batters almost without exception tried to bunt the ball instead of swinging at it. These tactics bothered Keating, Regan and Schirick somewhat. In the third inning Penn had the bases full with only one out. But Mann was tagged at the plate and Regan struck out Minds. Regan had eleven strike-outs to his credit, as compared with Sayre's four.

Taber and Halsted showed improvement in batting. Halsted made a drive to center in the fifth which nearly scored Adair, who was caught at the plate.

Singles by Adair, Halsted and Keating gave Cornell a run in the seventh. In the eighth a triple by Minds and a squeeze play scored a run for Penn. In Cornell's eighth Donovan waited for a pass, the only one Sayre gave in the game. Bills singled, sending Donovan to third. Then the two runners worked a double steal. Bills afterward scored on a single by Taber. The score:

The Junior Varsity Stroked by Andrus Will Go to Poughkeepsie

The Cornell oarsmen will probably leave for Poughkeepsie on June 6. Mr. Courtney has named his three crews for the varsity, junior varsity, and freshman races, as follows:

Varsity: Bow, Ellms; 2, Duffie; 3, Eddy; 4, Gilman (commodore); 5, Welles; 6, Bird; 7, O'Brien; stroke, Spransy; coxswain, Rand.

Junior Varsity: Bow, Kraft; 2, R. G. Bird; 3, Boegehold; 4, Smaltz; 5, Rayfield; 6, R. M. Smith; 7, Fernow; stroke, Andrus; coxswain, Pratt.

Freshmen: Bow, Morgan; 2, Stahl;

3, Lund; 4, Overlock; 5, Worn; 6, Cushing; 7, Reichert; stroke, Collyer; coxswain, McCandless; substitutes, Meyers and Kingsland.

The varsity and freshman crews are made up exactly as in the two recent races, with the exception of No. 7 in the freshman eight, where Reichert takes Meyers' place. The junior varsity crew was selected over the other combination after numerous races and trials in which the two crews were so evenly matched that Mr. Courtney had considerable difficulty in deciding which to take to Poughkeepsie. No substitutes for either the varsity or junior varsity crews will be taken on the trip.

The Harvard Regatta

Cornell's Crews Both Won After Hard Races

The varsity crew had a hard race with the Harvard eight on May 26. The result of the race was given briefly in the NEWS last week. Very rough water on the Charles River Basin caused Referee Forbes, of Philadelphia, to postpone the race until almost 7 o'clock. Even then the river was very rough. Both shells shipped a lot of water and near the finish Spransy almost lost his oar. Harvard got away to an early lead, rowing forty strokes to the minute. Cornell's stroke was longer but apparently had more power behind it. At Harvard Bridge, just short of the halfway mark, Harvard had a little advantage, but when the crews came out from under the bridge they were even. Cornell gained slowly from that point and at the finish there was open water between the boats. The freshman race was almost a repetition of the varsity event, the Cornell youngsters winning by two lengths. In the morning the Cascadilla eight had defeated Stone School of Boston by two lengths.

The Crews on the Job

When the varsity and freshman crews came back from Boston their train ran into the path of a severe storm between Auburn and Ithaca. Several delays were caused by trees which had fallen across the track. While the train crew were making preparations to saw up one of these trees, an oarsman remarked that it didn't look like a very big tree. So the crew men took hold and carried it off the track and the train went on.

Dr. Spaeth's Comment

Hopes for an Exchange of Courtesies at Princeton Next Year

Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth, coach of the Princeton crews, wrote for The Daily Princetonian a column of comment on the Cornell-Princeton-Yale race. Part of the article follows:

"The struggle between Cornell and Princeton for first place in the Cornell-Princeton-Yale boat race at Ithaca was one of the most gallantly fought contests I have ever witnessed, and Cornell finally won by a quarter of a length. There was some discussion on the judges' boat as to whether the interval was a quarter or a third of a length, but the distance agreed upon by the Judge of the Finish was a quarter of a length, and so announced from the judges' boat.

"The Princeton eight rowed an aggressive race from start to finish, leading Cornell at the half-mile and at the mile, and putting up a wonderful spurt at the mile and a half that brought them up even with Cornell again, after Cornell had begun to draw away. The last mile of the race was practically a continuous spurt for Princeton, and until the flag dropped no one could tell whether the Cornell veterans would succeed in shaking off their determined challengers. Every man in the Princeton crew did his best, but special praise should be given to the steady work of the veterans in the shell, Briggs at 7 and Pyne at 2, and to the indomitable aggressiveness of Putnam, who, with Briggs to back him, again and again prevented Cornell from gaining the coveted lead. Cornell's lower stroke, which it was possible for them to maintain on account of the greater driving power of the eight, and on account of their rig, enabled them to pull out ahead at the end. They won the race having rowed nearly one hundred strokes less than Princeton; a magnificent tribute to the driving power of those eight deep-lunged, iron-thewed, hill-climbing Ithacans, and to the adaptation of their rig to the conditions under which the race was rowed.

"As a spectacle the Regatta was a great success. Some twenty to twenty-five thousand people must have witnessed the race, and I was told by the Cornell management that there were more spectators on the observation train than at Poughkeepsie last June. The picturesque banks and bluffs of Lake Cayuga were bright with holiday crowds, patiently waiting for the calm that was promised after sunset of a windy day. The courtesy and hospitality shown to the Princeton crews by the Cornell crews and management, by the Delta Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, and by Mr. Courtney and Mr. Hoyle at the boat house, were appreciated by all, and we hope for an exchange of courtesies here at Princeton a year from now."

The crew C was awarded to the varsity men who rowed in the triangular regatta against Yale and Princeton and later against Harvard. Numerals were awarded to the freshmen who took part in those two races. Twelve freshmen received their numerals for baseball, and eleven more received the "1917" for winning first or second places in the dual meet with the Pennsylvania freshmen. The minor sports C was awarded to O. M. Clark '14, captain of the hockey team.

The following officers of the Athletic Council were re-elected for 1914-15: President, Professor Herman Diederichs; financial adviser, C. H. Blood; navy adviser, C. E. Treman; football adviser, Professor W. W. Rowlee; baseball adviser, D. F. Hoy; track adviser, Professor E. P. Andrews.

at the University of Minnesota. He will succeed Professor E. R. James, who resigned to become dean of the law school at the University of Missouri. After his graduation at Cornell, Professor Lorenzen spent two years abroad, studying law at the University of Heidelberg, the University of Paris, and at Göttingen University, from which institution, in 1901, he received the degree of J.U.D., with the highest distinction. He practiced law in New York for two years, taught at the University of Maine for a year, and then spent seven years as professor of law in George Washington University. In his last year he succeeded Dean Vance as the dean of that school. In April, 1911, he was elected dean of the law school of the University of Iowa, but declined the office. He is the author of a standard case book on "The Conflict of Laws."

'02, B.Arch.; '04, M.S.—The Print-Collector's Quarterly for April contains an appreciative article on the etchings of J. André Smith '02. The article was written by J. Nilsen Laurvik, art critic of the Boston Transcript and other publications. A number of Smith's etchings were recently exhibited in New York and the exhibition was repeated at the College of Architecture here. After holding a traveling fellowship in architecture from Cornell in 1904-06, Smith in 1908 definitely applied himself to the art of etching. His early studies in the art were made about New York City and in New England. Some of his most recent prints are the fruit of a journey to Italy. Mr. Laurvik finds in Smith's work sure evidence of natural gifts as an etcher, and commends "his unswerving fidelity to the highest ideals of his art when cheap and quick successes are to be won so easily." While praising the artist's search for the "truth of impression rather than of fact" in a subject, the critic values at the same time his "knowing eye for its essential truths of structural line and mass no less that for its most characteristic aspects. His impressionism rests on a solid basis of knowledge acquired through years of rigid training as an architect. In these recent Italian plates one feels the spirit of architecture as well as its substance rendered by one who really knows and understands architecture, to whom it is a thing of beauty as well as utility. For, however elusively delicate his line, it never fails to fully establish the

Pursuant to directions of the Board of Directors and the recommendations of Clubs and local Associations the president of the Associate Alumni submits for adoption at the annual meeting to be held on June 13, 1914, proposed amendments of the By-Laws as follows (new matter in italics):

Amend Article III, Section 10, and Section 11 to read as follows:

Section 10. Quorum at Directors' Meeting. Seven members of the Board of Directors shall constitute a quorum.

Section 11. Absence from Meetings. Any member of the Board of Directors who does not attend at least one meeting in each year during his term shall not be eligible for re-election.

Amend Article IV, Section 17 to read as follows:

Section 17. Duties of the Secretary. The Secretary shall give notice of all meetings and forums of the Association and of all meetings of the Board of Directors, and shall send written notice thereof to all clubs and local associations having representatives on the Advisory Committee. He shall conduct the general correspondence and keep the records and papers of the Association. In January of each year he shall send written request to each club and local association to recommend nominations for directors and other officers and include in such request the name and address of the Chairman of the nominating committee. He shall notify directors, officers and committeemen of their election or appointment. He shall keep a list of the clubs, associations and classes entitled to representation by delegates as provided in Article VI, together with the delegates, alternates and substitutes from time to time appointed by them. He shall act as Secretary of the Board of Directors and of all meetings and forums of the Association, and shall keep accurate minutes of such meetings, including a record of all votes, resolutions and other proceedings of the same. He shall prepare and, after approval by the Board of Directors, present to the annual meeting of the Association, the annual written report of the Board and shall mail a copy thereof to the Secretary of every club, association or class entitled to a delegate, and shall furnish a copy to any member of the Association upon request. Amend Article VI, Section 28 to read as follows:

Amend Article V by adding at the end thereof a new section to read as follows:

"Section 23a. Advisory Committee. There shall be an Advisory Committee consisting of representatives of the organized clubs and local associations of Cornellians, one representative to be appointed annually by each organized club or local association entitled to a delegate or delegates to meetings or forums under Article VI, Section 24, of these By-Laws, notice of such appointment together with the name and address of the appointee

THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNI OF CORNELL UNIVERSITY

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

TO THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNI OF CORNELL UNIVERSITY:

The Cornell Club of Rochester having appointed the undersigned members of the Associate Alumni of Cornell University a committee to propose amendments to the by-laws of said Association which will give clubs and associations entitled to delegates under Article VI Section 24 thereof representation on its Board of Directors, notice is hereby given, pursuant to Article XII, Section 40, of said by-laws, that at the annual meeting of said Association to be held in Room B, Goldwin Smith Hall, Ithaca, N. Y., on June 13, 1914, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, we will propose and move the adoption of the following amendments to said by-laws:

1. To amend Article III, Section 4, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 4. Election. Five directors at large shall be elected by ballot at each annual meeting of this Association. Each club or association entitled to a delegate or delegates under Article VI, Section 24, may elect, triennially, at a regular or special meeting, from its members, one local director, provided that notice of such election shall be given in the call for said meeting, in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Directors of this Association; and immediately after such election shall transmit to the Secretary of this Association the name and address of such director, and the date of his election."

2. To amend Article III, Section 5, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 5. Term of Office. Each director at large shall take office immediately upon his election and hold office for a term of three years. Except as hereinafter provided, each local director shall take office at the close of the annual meeting of this Association next following his election and hold office for a term of three years. Each local director elected prior to the annual meeting of this Association in June, 1915, shall take office immediately upon his election and hold office until the expiration of his term of office, which shall be determined in the following manner: at said meeting such local directors shall be divided by lot by the presiding officer into three classes, equal or as nearly equal as possible in number, the first of which shall hold office for three years thereafter, the second, for two years thereafter, and the third, for one year thereafter. Each director shall hold office until the election of his successor. Each director now in office, except directors ex-officio, shall be known hereafter as a director at large, and shall continue in office until the expiration of the term for which he was elected."

3. To amend Article III, Section 6, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 6. Annual and regular meetings. The directors shall hold their annual meeting in Ithaca, for the adoption of their annual report and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before them, prior to the day set for the annual meeting of this Association, and on some day of the seven immediately preceding Commencement day. They shall hold two other regular meetings annually; one in Ithaca after the annual meeting of this Association and on the same day or the day following, at a time and place to be fixed by the President and announced at said annual meeting by its presiding officer; and the other in November, at such time and place as the Board may appoint or as, on failure of such appointment, the President may direct. At least ten (10) days' written notice of all annual and November meetings of the Board must be given by the President or Secretary, either personally or by mail, to each director.

4. To amend Article III, Section 7, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 7. Special meetings. Special meetings of the directors may be called by the President at any time and shall be called by him upon written request of six (6) directors for such time, within thirty (30) days, and for such place as he may designate. Such request must specify the business to be considered at such meeting, and no other business shall be considered thereat. At least twenty (20) days' notice of special meetings shall be given by the President or Secretary either personally or by mail, to each director. Such notice must state the purpose of the meeting, and must be accompanied by a full copy of the request therefor."

5. To amend Article III, Section 8, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 8. General powers. Except as hereinafter provided, the entire charge and control of this Association and of its affairs, funds and property shall be vested in its Board of Directors."

6. To amend Article III, Section 9, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 9. Particular powers. In addition to the general powers conferred and duties imposed upon the directors by law and by these by-laws, they shall have the following powers and duties:

(a) They shall prepare and present at each annual meeting a report of the business transacted during the year preceding such annual meeting.

(b) They shall make such arrangements as they shall deem advisable for the celebration of Commencement; for the Annual Meeting of the Association; for the presentation of annual reports from the alumni trustees; for the conduct of forums and gatherings of the alumni; for the management of all affairs which require organized effort or participation by the alumni; for the proper representation of the alumni at functions and ceremonies; for keeping a list of all members of the Association with their addresses; for the transmitting, at least annually, of information concerning the University to each member; and for establishing an alumni bureau for the promotion of the interests of the members."

7. To amend Article III, Section 10, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 10. Quorum. Ten directors shall constitute a quorum."

8. To amend Article III, Section 11, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 11. Forfeiture of office. Any director, who fails to attend three consecutive regular meetings during his term, and any local director, who ceases to be a member of the club or association which elected him, thereby forfeits his office."

9. To add to Article III there of three new Sections to read respectively as follows:

"Section 11-a. Vacancies. Each vacant directorship at large may be filled for the remainder of the term by the Board of Directors. Each club or association whose local directorship shall be vacant may fill such vacancy for the remainder of the term in the manner provided for the election of local directors. For the purposes of this section, the death or resignation of a director, or the forfeiture of his office, shall create a vacancy."

"Section 11-b. Substitutes. In case any local director shall not be present at any meeting of the Board of Directors, a substitute, elected or appointed by the club or association which he represents, may serve in his place and stead, and, while so serving, shall have all of his powers and be subject to all of his duties, and shall be deemed to be a director for the purpose of counting a quorum, provided, however, that each such substitute must present to such meeting a certificate, signed by the president and secretary of the club or association so electing or appointing him, and showing such election or appointment and the date thereof."

"Section 11-c. Letter-Ballots. A review by the Board of Directors of the action of the Executive Committee may be had by letter-ballot on a written request therefor signed by at least five (5) directors and filed with the Secretary of this Association. The Board of Directors shall prescribe reasonable rules and regulations for such review, and may in like manner provide for a letter-ballot on any other matter within its jurisdiction."

10. To amend Article IV, Section 17, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 17. Duties of the Secretary. The Secetary shall give notice of all meetings and forums of this Association and of all meetings of the Board of Directors and of the Executive Committee; conduct the general correspondence and keep the records and papers of this Association; notify directors at large, officers and committee-men of their election or appointment; keep a list of the clubs, associations and classes entitled to representation by delegates, as provided in Article VI, and of the names and addresses of the directors and delegates and alternates from time to time elected or appointed by them; act as secretary of all meetings of the Board of Directors and of the Executive Committee and of all meetings and forums of this Association, and keep accurate minutes of each such meeting and forum, including a record of all votes, resolutions and other proceedings of the same; prepare and, after approval by the Board of Directors, present to the annual meeting of this Association the annual written report of the Board and mail a copy thereof to the Secretary of each such club, association or class, and furnish a copy thereof to any member of this Association upon request; and perform such other duties as may pertain to his office or be required of him by the President, Board of Directors or Executive Committee."

11. To add to Article V thereof a new Section to read as follows:

"Section 23-a. Executive Committee. There shall be an Executive Committee of the Board of Directors, consisting of seventeen (17) members. The President and Secretary shall be members ex-officio of this Committee, and the President shall be its chairman. Fifteen (15) members thereof shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors at their first regular meeting after the annual meeting of this Association, not more than a majority of whom shall be elected from the directors at large and not more than four of whom shall be residents of the same state. Each member shall take office immediately upon his election and hold office for a term of one year, provided, however, that no person in any event shall continue to be a member of this Committee after he shall cease to be a director of this Association. Subject to the approval and control of the Board of Directors, this Committee shall have the powers conferred, and be subject to the duties imposed, upon that Board by Article III, Sections 8 and 9, hereof, to fill vacancies in its own membership, and such other powers and duties as may be conferred or imposed upon it by the Board of Directors; and shall prepare and, at the annual meeting of that Board, present a report of the business transacted by the Committee during the year preceding such annual meeting."

12. To amend Article VI, Section 28, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 28. Voting by Members and Delegates. Each delegate of a club or association shall be entitled to ten (10) votes as such delegate on any question coming to a vote at a meeting or forum of this Association except on the election of Alumni Trustees and directors at large. If any such delegate be absent from such meeting or forum, and no alternate be serving in his place, the votes to which he would be entitled, if present, may be cast by any other delegate or serving alternate of the same club or association, who holds a certificate, signed by the president and secretary thereof and showing that it has authorized him so to do. Each delegate of a class shall be entitled to ten (10) votes as such delegate on any question coming to a vote at a forum of the Association. Every member shall be entitled to one vote at such meetings or forums, which vote must be cast in person and not by proxy. The presence or voting of members of clubs, associations or classes shall not affect the number of votes to which delegates of such clubs and associations are entitled as above provided. Serving alternates shall have the same voting powers and privileges as the delegates would have if personally present."
