Cascadilla Day Preparatory School

A school that stresses work rather than "activities"; responsibility rather than discipline; preparedness for, rather than entrance to college.

A school especially arranged for the advantage of those who want to turn serious and sustained effort into genuine and rapid achievement.

Year courses in all college preparatory subjects are thoroughly completed in one semester. This is made possible by an intensive program, a six day week, expert instruction in small groups, and hard work.

Fall term begins September 21. A catalogue will be sent on request.

Judge Irvine Dies

Noted Jurist Served Law School as Dean for Nine Years—Held State Office—Had Varied Interests

Frank Irvine '80, former dean of the Law School, died on June 23 at his home in Ithaca. He had been in ill health for some time.

Judge Irvine was dean of the Law School from 1907, when he was chosen to succeed Dean Huffcut upon the latter's death, until 1916, when he resigned.

He was born in Sharon, Pa., September 15, 1858. He was graduated from the Sharon High School. After attending a private school in France, he entered Cornell, graduating in 1880. Three years later he graduated from the National Law School at Washington, D. C.

In 1901, Judge Irvine came back to Cornell to take the professorship of procedure and practice. During the twenty years he was away, he acted as assistant United States attorney in the District of Columbia and practiced law in Omaha, Neb. He was made judge of the fourth Nebraska District in 1891, and two years later he was named Supreme Court commissioner, a post he held for six years.

In 1914, Judge Irvine was appointed Public Service Commissioner of New York State. When he was reappointed for a five year term in 1916, he resigned as dean of the Law School. He returned to Ithaca in 1921 to engage in private practice.

He was a member of the Tompkins County Bar Association, the New York State Bar Association, the American Bar Association, Chi Phi, Phi Delta Phi, Quill and Dagger, and the Cornell Club of New York.

He was interested in athletics, and from 1903 to 1909, was president of the Athletic Council. He represented Cornell on the Board of Stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association from 1903 to 1914.

From 1907 until his death, he served on the committee of the American Bar Association to suggest remedies for the prevention of delay and unnecessary expense in litigation.

Judge Irvine is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clare Christy Irvine, and two daughters, Mrs. Clarence J. Pope '13, of Orange, N. J., and Mrs. Custis S. Woolford '17, of East Orange, N. J.

Funeral services were held on June 25 in Sage Chapel. Interment was in Pleasant Grove cemetery.

MOTOR VEHICLE BUREAU FUNCTIONING ON CAMPUS

The Motor Vehicle Bureau, approved by the Trustees in June, began functioning with the opening of the summer session. Horace H. Benson '29 is director of the bureau.

Students registering for the term were required to fill out blanks for the use of the Bureau. Students not owning cars were required to declare that they would not "own or operate or have in their possession a motor vehicle in Ithaca, Tompkins County, during the Summer Session of 1931" until they received from the University the necessary permit.

For students owning cars, full information was required regarding the car and its license number as well as information regarding the licenses of the operator. Automobile permits were issued on the basis of this information.

Students will be prohibited from parking on the Campus except in special instances. Special privilege permits will be granted after application and investigation by a Faculty committee.

The provisions in force during the summer will be maintained during the regular school year. The intention of the regulations is to afford a closer supervision of cars owned and driven by students.

Parents of students will be requested to submit letters assuming responsibility for students' owning and driving cars.

The Faculty committee in charge of the bureau includes Dr. Abram T. Kerr '95, Professor Charles L. Durham '99, Professor Hubert E. Baxter '10, Professor Ralph H. Wheeler '09, and Leo N. Simmons '12, assistant secretary to the Board of Trustees.

DR. JAMES QUARLES, formerly University organist, and now dean of the College of Fine Arts of the University of Missouri, was honored at the commencement exercises of Denver College of Music with the degree of Doctor of Music.

Summer Term Opens

Registration for Fortieth Session Well Over Record Mark—Agriculture Courses Popular

The fortieth Summer Session opened July 6 with 1,520 students registered in the regular courses, 818 in the Summer School of Agriculture, and 61 in the Summer School of Law, which opened late in June. The number of graduates taking summer courses swells the total well over last year's record.

In addition to regular courses, special "unit courses" are being offered in agriculture for district school superintendents, teachers of agriculture, and school principals. The final registration figures for the college will not be known until the end of the term, August 14.

The instruction staff this year numbers 262, of which fifty are from other institutions.

The Summer School of Law's term is split into two divisions. The first began June 22 and will end July 29. The second begins July 29 and ends September 4.

A Summer Field School in Geology was opened at Tyrone, Pa., June 14 and will continue for six weeks with Professor Charles M. Nevins in charge. An innovation in geology study will be a field course by Professor Oscar D. von Engeln '08 from August 15 to August 28. The territory to be covered will include the Adirondacks, the Thousand Islands, the St. Lawrence River Valley, and the Helderberg Mountains. Students in the course will travel by bus.

Officers of the Summer Session are Professor Riverda H. Jordan, chairman, Professor Benton S. Monroe '96, secretary, Dr. Eugene F. Bradford, registrar, and Miss R. Louise Fitch, dean of women. Professor Rolland M. Stewart is director of the Summer School of Agriculture, and Professor Robert S. Stevens of the Summer School of Law.

In connection with the Summer Session, a conference on school attendance and pupil adjustment problems began July 13 for school attendance and census officers of New York State. The conference was arranged by the State Department of Education and the newly-organized Graduate School of Education. Professor Julian E. Butterworth is director of the School.

ATHLETICS

TENNIS PLAYERS LOSE

Four Cornell tennis players failed to survive the second round of the national intercollegiate championships at the Merion Cricket Club, Haverford, Pa., late in June.

George B. Sanders '32, Jackson Heights, and Edward W. Coppage '32, Margate, N. J., were defeated in their first round matches, Sanders by Bruce Barnes of the University of Texas, 6-0, 6-0, and Coppage by William Bascom, captain-elect of Yale, 6-1, 6-3.

Drawing first round byes, Edwin S. Oppenheimer '31, New York, and Leonard H. Vaughan '33, Western Springs, Ill., lost in the second round to Walter F. Berberich of Georgetown, 6-1, 6-3, and to Keith Gledhill of Stanford, 6-2, 6-2. Gledhill won the tournament.

THE COMMODORE QUESTION

News of the election of Peter F. McManus '32, Milton, as "commodore" of the Cornell crew, was followed closely by the revelation that there is no such berth as "commodore" in Cornell rowing.

McManus, who has rowed No. 5 in the varsity for the past two years, was elected crew representative, not commodore. His job is to represent the oarsmen at meetings of the Athletic Council. He has no other rights.

The story of the "commodore" was told in "The Sport Tower" of The Ithaca Journal-News, as coming from Romeyn Berry '04, graduate manager of athletics.

Berry pointed out that an oarsman has never been commodore. The term was used to designate the manager of the Cornell Navy, in the days when that organization existed along with the Tom Hughes Boat Club. The boat clubs went out of existence early in the century, but the term commodore stuck and has since been applied to all men elected by oarsmen as their crew representative on the council.

JUST LOOKING AROUND

THE DEPRESSION has come to the Universities, as it has to the rest of our dismal ball. And yet the Faculties hide an air of furtive self-congratulation beneath their sympathetic exteriors. For this is the Teachers' Hour.

Not so long since the Teacher deferred humbly to the Man of Affairs. Where Industry hummed and Big Deals were dealt, practical men, he confessed, must know what was best for the country, must know about tariffs and international loans and the best man for President. The teacher travelled third class, in a special section designated "Tourist Third Class for Teachers, Students, and Literary Men." The Man of Affairs watched him as he lolled on the rail of the Verandah Café. The teacher with savings invested them on the advice of ex-students in bond-houses, whom he had busted out of the University. His views were seldom asked and more seldom prized. The unsolicited opinion of 1028 professional economists that the Smoot-Hawley tariff would work economic evil was not even for a moment regarded by the President, whose opinion was that it would not.

Now the Teacher is in the Verandah Café and the Man of Affairs is travelling in the Business Man's Steerage. The Teacher's salary remains what it always has been, but it remains, thank God, it remains. And he finds, in the voices of his friends, the men of affairs, a new intonation of envy.

How does he bear his new state of relative ease? Why, badly, I am afraid. He turns to the Financial Section before the Book Review. The specialist in Shakespeare and the authority on the mystic experiences of the soul discuss, at lunch, only car loadings of the month and the stocks of blister copper.

Poverty, apparently is the natural state of the Professor. If circumstances do not make him poor, he will do it himself.

RUNDSCHAUER

ALUMNUS HONORED

Maxwell M. Upson '99, Cornell Trustee, was given the honorary degree of Eng. D. from the University of North Dakota at the Commencement exercises in June, at which he gave the chief address. Mr. Upson received his first baccalaureate degree from North Dakota in 1896.

DR. JAMES EWING, professor of pathology in the Medical College, was honored with the degree of Doctor of Laws at the dedication of the new Lakeside Hospital Unit of Western Reserve University, Cleveland.

DR. CLYDE B. MOORE of the Department of Education, spoke on "The Obligations of the School of this Age," at the University of Louisville's annual conference on citizenship held in June.

THE CLUBS

CLEVELAND WOMEN

At the last meeting, of the Club officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Edwin C. Pierce (Lewette Pollock) '14; vice-president, Mrs. Henry F. Cook (Molly Franz) '25; Secretary, Mrs. Charles S. Mills (Evelyn Ross) '25; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Willard Beahan (Bessie DeWitt) '78; treasurer, Mrs. Edward MacLennan (Rika Gillett) '24.

NEW ENGLAND

The annual "Wash" of the Cornell Club of New England will be held Saturday, July 25, at the Quinsigamond Boat Club, Worcester.

Delightfully situated on Lake Quinsigamond, the Boat Club makes an ideal place for such a party. Tennis courts are available, a baseball diamond is close by, and rowing gigs, canoes, and speed boats can be secured.

One of the gay events of the day will be the traditional baseball game between the odd and even classes. Pop Curtis '13 is captain of the Odds, and the Evens will look to Dick Wakeman '28 to lead them to victory. After the ball game, a swim and a feed such as only the Quinsigamond Club can put on will be held.

All Cornellians are most cordially invited to attend. Although no announcement has been made as to who the Ithaca guests will be, the names of popular and well known speakers will soon be announced.

MEDICAL ALUMNI

The annual banquet was held in New York on May 14. Harold S. Belcher '16, M.D. '20, president of the Association, presided as toastmaster, and introduced President Farrand; Dr. G. Canby Robinson, '05, Graduate, director of the Cornell Medical College; Dr. Arthur Malloch, librarian of the New York Academy of Medicine and one-time friend of Sir William Osler, who was the subject of his talk. An interesting feature of the evening was an exhibition of moving pictures of each of the professors of the Medical School, taken by Jesse P. Eddy, III, '32. Three hundred persons attended.

BUFFALO

The annual alumni picnic of the Cornell and Dartmouth Clubs of Buffalo was held May 27, through the courtesy of some of the members of the Buffalo Canoe Club who belong to these alumni organizations.

Horseshoe pitching, volley ball, boating, and other sports occupied most of the afternoon. The feature, however, was an indoor ball game between Cornell and Dartmouth men. After a tight nine inning struggle the Dartmouth men were on the wrong end by 14 to 13 score.

After dinner most of the men retired to the upper floors, where college songs predominated into the early hours of the morning.

PARIS, FRANCE

The Club gave a farewell luncheon on March 27 at the Cercle Interallié in honor of Edward G. MacArthur '11, who was soon to return to the United States.

Among those present were Alphonse D. Weil '86, president of the Club, Pierre Lepaulle, international lawyer, who has lectured at Cornell, Frederick J. Platt '88, who was passing through Paris on his way home from a European trip, Captain Kinsley W. Slauson '08, Charles A. Carroll '10, Yervant Maxudian '14, and Hubert Roemer '18.

BOSTON WOMEN

The Club held its annual spring business meeting in connection with the national convention of the American Association of University Women, which was celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. On April 9 the Club entertained all the Cornell women delegates from various parts of the United States. Miss Mary Holman Ladd '75, one of the original founders of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, later the Association of University Women, was also a guest.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. Hervey W. Shimer (Florence F. Henry) '01; first vice-president, Mrs. Edwin M. Slocombe (Beatrice A. Gilson) '04; second vice-president, Mrs. Horace Van Everen (Alice L. Berkefeld) '91; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. M. Gregory Dester (Jennie A. Curtis) '24.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

The Club held a luncheon at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco on June 16, in celebration of the Poughkeepsie races. The club had as its guests representatives of nine universities whose crews were rowing on the Hudson that day. The universities represented were California, Washington, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Columbia, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Wisconsin, the Navy, and Cornell.

A national broadcast enabled the luncheon guests to participate in the races. The attendance, both men and women, numbered over 150.

BINGHAMTON WOMEN

At the last meeting officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: president, Lida M. Stephenson '16; vice-president, Hazel E. Ide '30; secretary, Esther M. Sawdon '29; treasurer, Mrs. William W. Lampman (Geneva M. Mills) '16.

DUTCHESS COUNTY

The Club held a banquet at the Nelson House on June 8. Cornellians from Orange County and their guests joined in the celebration of a regatta dinner—held in advance of the races.

Cornelius W. Garrison '04 presided at the meeting, and William E. Seely '17 was toastmaster. Talks were given by Judge Joseph M. Fowler '95; Colonel J. Townsend Cassedy '15 of Newburgh, and Mrs. Saltford, graduate of Wellesley, but widow of a Cornellian and mother of two other Cornellians.

Professor Bristow Adams was the guest of honor. He gave one of his always interesting talks, his impressions of Cornellians whom he met in his recent tour around the world.

SYRACUSE

At the annual meeting held at the Drumlins Country Club on June 16, officers for the year were elected as follows: president, Thomas F. Laurie '07; vice-president, Joseph B. Campbell '11; secretary and treasurer, William J. Thorne '11; assistant secretary and treasurer, Robert C. Hosmer '02; governors to serve three years, Harry J. Clark '95, Wilson S. Dodge '22, William M. Gale '22, and Frederick B. Scott, Jr., '18. Golf in the afternoon was followed by reports of the races at Poughkeepsie and a dinner. Motion pictures sent from the Alumni Office were shown during the evening.

CLUB MEMBERS GUESTS

Cornell played host again this year to nearly 600 boys and girls from thirty-two counties in New York State. All were members of 4-H Clubs, devoting their time to training school instruction in agricultural methods.

The members remained at Cornell four days beginning June 29. They were welcomed to the University by Dean Albert R. Mann '04 provost of the University.

CORNELLIANS IN POLITICS

Two Cornellians have been nominated for municipal offices to be filled at the fall elections of the City of Ithaca.

Ralph C. Smith '15 is the Republican choice for mayor, and Lawrence M. Mintz '11 the same party's choice for city judge.

DR. FOSTER KENNEDY, professor of neurology in the Medical College, spoke before the session of American psychiatrists in Toronto last month on the treatment of epilepsy.

PROFESSOR LOUIS M. MASSEY, Ph.D. '16, has worked out a formula for the prevention of mildew and rust on climbing roses. The preparation is called Massey Dust and is applied with a blower gun.

Reunion Stories

Judge Paschal C. J. De Angelis of Utica and Royal Taft of Scranton represented the Class of '71 at its sixty-year reunion. They arrived on Thursday and remained throughout the reunion, attending the various events. Judge De Angelis was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Annina De Angelis. Saturday morning Mr. Taft attended the meeting of the Association of Class Secretaries while Judge De Angelis called upon Miss Mary Cornell. Saturday night both were guests at the dinner of the Class of '74, a most enjoyable event. Previously they had posed for their reunion picture, following the group of the Early Eighties. Both men are well and vigorous and traversed the Campus as actively as in the days of sixty years ago.

The recent death of Kirkland W. Ingham, of Pittsburgh, leaves only three other members of the Class. They are: Myron Kasson, of Lake City, Florida; Charles E. Reeves, of Benton Harbor, Michigan, and Miller A. Smith, of Elizabeth, New Jersey.

After visiting their fraternities and calling upon friends, Judge De Angelis left on Sunday and Mr. Taft on Monday, both well repaid for having come and hoping to return for their next reunion.

The ever-famous Class of '73 this year lived up to its traditions. For the last decade, regardless of the Dix Plan, the five-year plan, and all other plans, it has established a custom of meeting annually with unvarying success and éclat. Every reunion date finds members here; sometimes contributions to the roster come from California, from Florida, from Texas, and even from far-off Serbia. Though its members are at the fourscore period of life and some of them are rapidly approaching the nineties, they persist in making records annually of fidelity to the Class and the University. They have for many years admitted to full membership the wives and members of the families and in cases where the classmen themselves have passed away their families are urged to attend as guests. This year those present were Myron W. Van Auken, Utica, Phineas P. Staunton, New York and New Jersey, William H. Smith, Ithaca, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Owen, Chemung, Edward F. Knibloe, Buffalo, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Gridley, Penn Yan, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Goodrich, Ithaca, Mr. and Mrs. William H. French, and niece, Miss Gracia M. F. Barnhart from Chicago, and Mrs. Annie Harris and Miss Elsbree of Ithaca.

The banquet was a treat of friendship, reminiscences, and joy, the guests greatly contributing to the pleasure of the occasion. In some way the Gridleys and Goodriches missed the banquet but were afterwards discovered partaking of the boundless and traditional hospitality of Mr. Van Cleef; they doubtless had a worthwhile entertainment there but lost out on one of the most interesting "meets" that even '73 has had.

The new secretary, Mr. Van Auken, successor to the late Professor Irving P. Church, paid an eloquent tribute to that honored classman.

A stranger dropping into the companionship of the gentlemen of this class would have difficulty in believing that the alert, bright spirits present had entered Cornell in 1869 and were the second full four-year class to graduate there; barring an occasional limp or a cupped ear, they were the lads of sixty years ago.

W. H. F.

The reunion of the Class of '85 was interesting and successful. Nine members of the class returned, not including families.

The class dinner was held in Sage on Friday evening. The majority of those attending this banquet attended the banquet of the early Eighties on Saturday night in Sage. Previously to the dinners each night, photographs were taken of the Class, and also of the Early Eighties group.

The following persons, a total of fifteen, attended the '85 dinner: Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Benedict, Brooklyn; Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Eidlitz, New York; Mr. and Mrs. William R. Lay, Oil City, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. James McCall, and daughter, Bath, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. George B. Penny, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Curtis, Ithaca; Stoddard Stevens, Rome, N. Y.; Dr. James Whaley, Rome, N. Y.

The following persons registered at the Drill Hall, but did not attend the banquet: George W. Powell, Canandaigua, N. Y.; George L. Cole, Los Angeles.

The Class of 1906 came back for its 25th reunion with a spirit which showed that depression has not entirely overcome the country, and in numbers which established an all-time record at the University for a 25th reunion, namely 120 men and 11 women, a total of 131, as compared to the previous record of 130.

In striking uniforms of red and white, the Class attended in a body and very greatly enjoyed all of the delightful functions arranged by the University, including the Dix Dinner for all members of '04, '05, '06, and '07. In addition, the 1906 men revived memories of undergraduate days at a stag dinner in the Dutch Kitchen on Friday evening preceding the other social functions.

DEAR BILL,*

Although I didn't decide until three o'clock Thursday afternoon to go to Ithaca, and had to rush to make the train, I certainly am glad I got there, for I had the time of my life. From the moment when, looking through the car-window, I could see the Lake and on beyond, the old familiar towers rising from the top of the Hill, to the last minute I was in Ithaca, I got one big kick after another, more than I can describe. There were all kinds of things to do, but just seeing the old gang around, talking with them and telling all the old ones over again, singing the songs that these kids nowadays don't seem to know, walking around the Campus to see all the changes, those were the things that impressed me and that made me darned glad I had gone up.

Practically everybody got there by Friday noon, although one bird drove up from New York Saturday afternoon, arriving just in time for the dinner. On Friday afternoon, we all went to Hoy Field, instead of going 'way down to old Percy Field, to see the baseball team *Letter found in the files of Bill Blake '16.

JUDGE DEANGELIS (RIGHT) AND ROYAL TAFT OF '71

tie up with Penn. Pennsylvania had too good a club for us, and we had very little chance to cheer. A lot of us went down to the class-tent, set up back of the War Memorial, just to make sure that all arrangements had been made, as of course they were. Our last president, Murray Shelton, got in about that time, all out of breath from hurrying over from Dunkirk, but he was soon feeling better about it. Ted Jamieson had a new kind of party for us this year, and with the help of Tommy Boak '14, who was shifted to our class by acclamation, arranged a wonderful barbecue dinner in the tent. I ate so much chicken that I had to be helped from the table; I wanted to join the famed '16 quartet, or octette, or what have you?, who were doing some very mean swipes. When we got tired of that, the big number of the evening began, as Hibby Ayer '14 sat down at the piano to give us an idea of real entertainment. When I tell you that he was never in better form, that he kept going for three hours without repeating a single bit, you may get an idea of what we heard, but since you weren't there, you can't know how good it was. The evening was still young; so a few of us went to Bub Pfeiffer's room, to have a quiet chat with him and Ted Jamison. They were glad to see us go, for they thought we were a little rough. Some of the Class thought they were invited to the Senior Ball, but they learned that there had been a mistake somewhere, so they went to bed. We were all together in Baker Tower, which was fine, since we could all get around easily to see everybody.

The fine weather continued on Saturday, so we were all up early, had breakfast, and then went to Baker Laboratory to hear President Farrand's very interesting talk on all sorts of Cornell matters.

The luncheon up in the big Drill Hall was a bully idea, because I saw all my old professors and a lot of other people. Hibby got the class-band to lead us out for the picture, and after that job was done, he led us around the Drill Hall forty-one times, just as a little workout. The ball game was a lot more fun to watch, as the team made a real game out of it; they battled Syracuse for fourteen innings, and showed a lot more than the day before, even if they did lose.

The class dinner in Willard Straight was another good affair, with a lot of pep furnished by our own R.O.T.C. Band. No speaking was attempted, but I didn't miss that, and nobody else did.

The Alumni Rally in Bailey Hall, which was said to be under our auspices, was fine; it was the first I had seen, and I liked it. Bob Treman '09 was the very able chairman, and presented a fine program. A quartet gave a few songs, a kid still in college pulled some good numbers out of a banjo, and the cups were presented. But the big part of the evening for me was President Farrand's talk, which was entirely different from the morning talk and was just as good, which is to say it was really good. And then the Evening Song, and that part was over. Hibby still felt good, and played some more for a few of us that night until fairly late.

The whole party was mighty nice, so well run that Bob and Ted are unanimously elected to run our next reunion, and I wouldn't exchange those few days in Ithaca for a farm. I'll be seeing you.

Spurning the vagaries of age, the despair of the depression and the hold that new-found happiness has upon recent home builders, the Class of '24 came very close to establishing an all-time record for class attendance at a 7-year reunion, when it registered at the Drill Hall Friday morning, June 12. Most of morning was spent in handshaking. Charlie Capron showed up with a big black cigar and a wife; Carl Frantz and Jerry Tone, carrying forty more pounds; Bob Sloan, driving Waldron Mahoney and Jack Todd around in his famous sport phaeton, not to mention fifty others.

At noon refreshments were served at our headquarters at Baker Hall. Secretary Wedell acted as host, and Herm Knauss, Dave Cook, and Heinie Schmidt, poured. Following the light liquid lunch, the whole Class took in the Penn-Cornell baseball game, and after that returned to Baker Hall, where they partook of the refreshments served by the Class of '26, which were made available through the kindness of Harry Morris, '26 reunion chairman. Following several rondelets which disturbed the peace, the majority of the class attended the Senior Ball, Schoonmacker and Vin Gervereau, official reunion photographers lagging behind because of sud-soaked shoes.

Saturday morning the Class staged a snappy soft-ball game with the Class of '26. Carl Wedell pitched a masterful game and set the '26 Wild Cats down with 3 hits, winning 11 to 1. Bob Hays starred at second base, and Jerry Tone caught his usual good game and made as few hits as formerly.

Following the game, the Class lunched at the Drill Hall and then took in the varsity ball game with Syracuse. Before the dinner, soft drinks were served at headquarters and then the Class collected at the Savings Bank Restaurant along with '25, '26, and '27. Bull Durham and Rym Berry gave two remarkable spread-eagle speeches, and to show its appre-

BOOKS

A TRIBUTE TO GEORGE L. BURR

It was a happy thought on the part of a group of Professor Burr's pupils and friends to present him with this sheaf of studies. The quality of the work is uniformly excellent and the book as a whole is one of which both master and pupils may well be proud.

PERSECUTION AND LIBERTY:

Essays in Honor of George Lincoln Burr, New York. The Century Company. 1931. 24.5 cm., pp. xviii, 482. Frontispiece portrait and 7 illustrations. Price $5. 500 copies printed.

There are twenty studies, to which is prefixed a graceful and appreciative introduction by Dr. J. Franklin Jameson. Lack of space prevents us from giving much more than the authors and titles: Professor Ernest W. Nelson, Ph.D. '25, of Duke, "The Theory of Persecution." Professor Albert T. Olmstead, '02, of the University of Chicago, "Hebrew History and Historical Method." Elias A. Lowe, '02, Corpus Christi College, Oxford, "Nugae Palaeographicae." Professor Edna V. Moffett, A.M., '01, Ph.D., '07, of Wellesley, "A Lost Diploma of Otto III." Professor Austin P. Evans, '11, of Columbia, "Social Aspects of Medieval Heresy." Professor William E. Lunt of Haverford, "The Consent of the English Lower Clergy to Taxation During the Reign of Henry III." Professor Wallace K. Ferguson, A.M., '25, Ph.D., '27, of New York University, "The Attitude of Erasmus Toward Toleration." Professor Roland H. Bainton of Yale, "Sebastian Castellio and the Toleration Controversy of the Sixteenth Century." Professor Edward M. Hulme, A.M., '02, of Stanford, "Lelio Sozzini's Confession of Faith." Professor Frederick C. Church, '09, Ph.D., '16, of the University of Idaho, "Vincenzo Maggi, A Protestant Politician." Professor Alfred H. Sweet, Ph.D., '17, of Washington and Jefferson, "John de Feckenham and the Marian Reaction." Professor George H. Sabine, '03, Ph.D., '06, recently of Ohio State, now of Cornell, "The Colloquium Heptaplomeris of Jean Bodin." Professor Frederick G. Marcham, Ph.D., '26, "James I of England and the Little Beagle Letters." Lois Oliphant Gibbons, Ph.D., '20, "A Seventeenth Century Humanitarian: Hermann Locher." Professor Louise F. Brown, '03, of Vassar, "The First Earl of Shaftesbury." Professor George M. Dutcher, '97, of Wesleyan, "Further Considerations on the Origins and Nature of the Enlightened Despotism." (supplementing his paper in the Annual Report of the American Historical Association for 1920). Professor Leo Gershoy, '19, Ph.D., '25, Long Island University. "The Young Barère." Professor George G. Andrews, Ph.D., '21, of the University of Iowa, "Early Revolutionary Newspapers." Professor Louis R. Goffschalk, '19, Ph.D. '21, University of Chicago, "The French Revolution: Conspiracy or Circumstance?" Professor Elizabeth Donnan, '07, of Wellesley, "Agitation Against the Slave Trade in Rhode Island."

It will be observed that the title of the book is justified by the fact that at least twelve of the papers have to do with toleration, heresy, despotism, or other topics relating to harsh or wrong types of government. Three have to do with the French Revolution. One deals with paleography and one with historical method and the higher criticism. Even though some may be concerned with minor characters, all would seem, in the opinion of the reviewer, to be important contributions to learning.

A STANDARD MANUAL

Oil Fields in the United States. By Walter A. Ver Wiebe '11, Ph.D. '13, Professor of Geology in the University of Wichita. New York. McGraw-Hill Book Co., Inc. 1930. 23.5 cm., pp. x, 629. 230 figures. Price, $6.

This book will at once take high rank. It is a thoroughly successful attempt to meet the need of a book scientifically describing all the oil fields of the country and setting forth all the geological details of every important area. No other book in print does this. It is systematic, comprehensive, and clear. It is well printed and remarkably free from misprints.

The author is well fitted for the task which he has now brought to completion. His field experience extends over fifteen years, for one-third of which time he was field geologist for two of our largest petroleum companies. For the last six years he has taught geology to university students, four years at Michigan and two at Wichita. He has thus had access to recent and current literature and has thus brought together all the significant data.

In constructing his framework he has adopted a new basis of classification. He has used the large structural features of the continental mass as a basis for grouping the scattered fields of the country into oil-bearing provinces. With this tectonic setting as a background he has treated at length the essential features of stratigraphy in each province and its subdivisions or districts. He gives equal emphasis to the peculiar structural conditions which have produced and controlled the accumulation of oil and gas in each province as well as in certain typical fields and pools. He notes the nature, thickness, and correlation of the oil horizons, systematically takes up the history of development, first cause for development, statistics of production, and gravity of the oil produced, and adds for each province a useful select list of books and articles for further study. His tables of oil horizons and stratigraphic sequences are arranged in uniform style and with a systematic nomenclature for the stratigraphic units. The illustrations come out well and add immensely to the usefulness of the volume.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINE ARTICLES

In Speculum for April, Professor Halldor Hermannsson, The Book of the Icelanders, by Ari Thorgilsson, and Icelandic Manuscripts are reviewed by F. Stanton Cawley.

In the Quarterly Journal of the University of North Dakota for fall, 1930, Professor Richard Beck, A.M. '24, Ph.D. '26, had two poems, "A Prayer for the New Year" and "Christmas Dawn." In Scandinavian Studies and Notes for February he reviewed Sveinbjorn Johnson, Pioneers of Freedom and Johan Falkbergert, Lisbeth of Jarnfeld. In The Friend for March Beck printed a translation of "God and the Soul," a legend by Einar H. Kvaran.

In The New York Herald Tribune Books for May 3 Professor George E. G. Catlin, Ph.D. '24, reviews André Siegfried, England's Crisis. In the issue for June 7 Mrs. Harriet Tilden Moody '76, Mrs. William Vaughn Moody's Cook Book is reviewed by Lettie Gay. In the issue for June 14 there is a review of John T. McGovern '00, Your Son and Mine. In the issue for June 21 there is a review of Kenneth Roberts '08, The Lively Lady.

Elwyn B. White '21 contributes a foreword to Ho Hum, a volume of newsbreaks from The New Yorker, just published at $1 by Farrar and Rinehart.

In The New York Times Book Review for June 28 there is a review of the Golden Alaskan by James French Dorrance '03.

In the Scientific Monthly for July Professor James G. Needham, Ph.D. '98, and P. D. Strausbaugh have an article entitled "At the Head of the Cacapon."

In the Geographical Review for July Professor Walker W. Hyde '93 of the University of Pennsylvania reviews J. E. Tyler, The Alpine Passes: the Middle Ages (962-1250).

In The Quarterly Journal of Speech for June Professor Hoyt H. Hudson, Ph.D. '23, of Princeton writes on "The Tradition of Our Subject."

In The Journal of Higher Education for June Archie M. Palmer '18 writes on "Summer Opportunities." Professor George H. Sabine '03 reviews William C. Dampier-Whetham, A History of Science and Its Relations with Philosophy and Religion. Professor Charles A. Ellwood '96 of Duke reviews Charles F. Thwing, American Society, Interpretations of Educational and Other Forces.

Reunion Stories

ciation, the Class of '26 presented them with two beautifully engraved gaboons. Following the dinner, Secretary Wedell, who by this time was pretty well known to his classmates, gave a soul-stirring speech; even he doesn't yet know what he said.

Heinie Schmitt read telegrams sent from President Chick Stone from Colorado Springs, Jinky Crozier and Charlie Cassidy from Honolulu, Al Rauch and George Pfann from New York, and letters from Harv Gerry, Hap Haon, Ed Kirby, Walt Rebmann and Dick Yates.

Following the dinner, the Class returned to headquarters and listened to a resume of the events on the campus for the past seven years, given in his inimitable way by Professor Harry Caplan. The meeting adjourned at midnight and those that cared to went to the Kappa Alpha dance at Glenwood.

Much credit should be given Sphinx Head and Quill and Dagger, and members of the class who brought about such a successful reunion. Everyone was greatly enthused over the reunion, and all pledged that they would return in 1934.

The members of the Class who were unable to return missed a great three days. The weather was perfect, and enthusiasm ran high.

Let's start to lay plans now to return in 1934. Ithaca is more beautiful than ever. The Campus has had numerous changes, and you will be surprised how pleased that particular professor who busted you is to see you again. R. L. H.

'25 MEN

The Class of '25 held its sixth reunion this year under the Dix Plan. The majority of the forty men who returned accepted the hospitality of the Class of '26, and spent most of their time reuniting with them. In the absence of Barney Savage, who unfortunately could not be present, Stew Richardson did the honors as secretary.

'25 WOMEN

The sixth year reunion of the 1925 women was even more enjoyable than any of the precious reunions on account of the presence of the three neighboring classes. The peculiar thing about it is that most of the people—above and below us—looked just about the same as they did more than six years ago. Of course, some were a little fatter, some a little thinner, others more attractive. Nearly everyone seemed enthusiastic about the Dix Plan, by which the year 1936—five years from now—will be the next meeting. To bring this coming gathering to a focus, a committee of five was chosen to agree upon a chairman for that event: Eleanor Gage Beeler, Dorothy Holley Long, Charlotte Hopkins Merrill, Louisa Ridgway, and Pauline Schmid. Florence Dahme, the arduous and able chairman of the 1931 reunion, was selected to attend the secretary meetings in place of Eleanor Gage Beeler, who lives in Ohio, too far away to attend these meetings.

An outstanding event was the banquet Saturday evening in Risley. The four classes, '23, '24, '25, and '26 were assembled there with Miss Gertrude Nye the guest of honor. 1923, because of its seniority and prestige, was the hostess-class with Caroline Slater Coffin in charge. A feature of the gathering was the presentation to '25 of a horseshoe for the impromptu prize stunt which it offered. In making the award, Gertrude Mathewson Nolin congratulated the stunsters, saying that they were lucky not to have been thrown out. Many other prizes were offered—for gaining weight, for traveling, and other feats of note. 1925 took the part of the sophomores when the Song of the Classes was sung. The banquet chairman for '25 was Helen Perrell.

The costumes, selected by Gertrude Scott MacDaniels after conferring with other costume chairmen, were yellow felt hats and scarves of taffeta—similar to those of green, worn by '24 and the powder blue of '23. Not only were they attractive but useful in that they may be worn through the summer season. The only member of the class not identified by the costume was Dinah, the mascot, who came to reunion under the wing of Elizabeth Allyn. Dinah had been advertised as among the missing and wayward until she made her appearance Friday afternoon.

In numbers '25 did very well, owing to the publicity and hard labor in editorial duties of Pauline Schmid. Early Friday morning ten members had assembled for breakfast in Risley, and by Saturday noon more than fifty had come. It was especially fine that opportunity was given non-auto-owners to ride to reunion in the cars of other reunioners. Glen Cairns Smith was responsible for the arrangement and supplied the cars with banners. In money—not so bad. So successful was Louisa Ridgway in collecting dues, that a party at Pop's was held at the close of the rally Saturday night and the class treated! All in all, it was a pleasant reunion. Shall we see the rest of you under balmy Ithaca skies in 1936? B. B. C.

STEPHEN BABCOCK, STUDENT AND TEACHER HERE, DIES

Dr. Stephen Moulton Babcock, '73-75 Grad., professor emeritus of agricultural chemistry in the University of Wisconsin, died at his home in Madison, Wis., July 1. He was eighty-eight years of age.

His greatest achievement was the discovery of a simple method of determining the butter fat content of milk, known as the Babcock test. His method has since proved of immense value to dairymen throughout the world, but Dr. Babcock gained only fame from his discovery. His refusal to patent the process cost him a potential fortune.

The latest honor to come to the scientist was the Capper Award of $5,000 and a gold medal for the most distinguished service to American agriculture. The presentation was made last October.

Dr. Babcock was born in Bridgewater, October 23, 1843. He graduated from Tufts in 1866 and seven years later came to Cornell for two years of graduate study in chemistry. He studied also at the University of Goettingen, receiving his Ph.D. degree there in 1879. Tufts conferred the LL.D. degree in 1901.

Dr. Babcock began his teaching career as an instructor in chemistry at Cornell in 1875-76. When he returned from abroad, he became chemist at the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva, serving until 1887, when he was appointed to the chair of chemistry at the University of Wisconsin. He was made emeritus professor of chemistry there in 1913. During his active teaching years, Dr. Babcock also served as chief chemist of the Wisconsin Agricultural Experiment Station, becoming assistant director in 1901 and serving for twelve years in that position.

Other honors came to Dr. Babcock in his lifetime. The Wisconsin legislature awarded him a bronze medal in 1899, and a year later, the scientist won the grand prize at the Paris Exposition. He also won the grand prize of the St. Louis Exposition in 1904. In 1901, he served as a member of the jury of awards at the Buffalo Exposition.

He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

MAJORITY OF SENIOR CLASS EMPLOYED, SURVEYS SHOW

Jobs have already been obtained for a majority of the members of the 1931 graduating class, according to a recent survey.

The School of Mechanical Engineering made an unusually high record in placing men. Of the eighty-four graduates, seventy-five, or 89.29 per cent, have already obtained work.

According to Professor John R. Bangs, Jr. '21, personnel director at the School, salaries have not dropped. The average starting salary for a trained mechanical engineer is $150 per month.

More than fifty per cent of the graduates of the Schools of Civil Engineering and about fifty per cent from Electrical Engineering are reported as already at work. The percentage decreased somewhat this year, and Professor Bangs believes that many electrical engineering students, particularly, have specialized in communication work, with the result that this field is somewhat inactive at present.

Professor Leonard C. Urquhart '09, director of personnel for Civil Engineering, comments that the figures for Cornell are far from discouraging, since from a survey of nine of the larger technical schools it has been estimated that only 38.2 per cent of their graduates are now employed.

Graduates in architecture found some difficulty in obtaining work, according to Dean George Young, Jr. '00. And in the field of teaching there is "terrific competition," in the opinion of Professor Riverda H. Jordan.

In the agricultural field, there has been no great change in conditions, and approximately seventy-five per cent of the class has already been placed, according to Anson W. Gibson '17, associate secretary of the College of Agriculture.

CELLOPHANE "ROUGHAGE"

—NOT ALWAYS EDIBLE

Cellophane, the newest wrapping for food and tobacco products, as food is the latest promise held out by science.

Diet experiments at Cornell have shown that this glass-like material, developed from cellulose, may have food value as "roughage."

But warnings have also been issued to the public. Some of these products have been found edible, but others are known to be finished with a substance that is not suitable for eating.

Clive M. McCay, assistant professor of animal husbandry, has been experimenting with cellophane wrappings for the past two years. Rats have been used in the experiments because their metabolism is nearest that of humans, and it has already been shown that, for rats, this synthetic product is at least the equal of bran as "roughage."

TROUT FOR CALIFORNIA

Dr. George C. Embury '10, professor of aquiculture in the College of Agriculture, undertook July 1 the direction of research to establish for the state of California a policy in producing trout fishing. The investigations are being made in cooperation with the United States Bureau of Fisheries.

Dr. Embury conducted a similar investigation in New Jersey fifteen years ago.

PAINTING OF DR. KERR

The oil painting of Dr. Abram T. Kerr '95, secretary of the Ithaca division of the Medical College, presented recently to the University, is to hang in the office of Stimson Hall. The portrait, painted by Professor Olaf M. Brauner of the College of Architecture, was presented by fellow Faculty members and was accepted by President Farrand.

NAMED TO LAW COMMISSION

Dean Charles K. Burdick of the Law School has been appointed by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt a member of the New York State commission to collect facts relating to the administration of justice in the state.

PROFESSOR VLADIMIR KARAPETOFF will continue throughout 1931-32 as visiting professor in electrical engineering at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

THE WEEK ON THE CAMPUS

SUMMER'S BLASTING HEAT cannot check the processes of education. Summer School is in progress, and in a hundred class rooms the disciples listen hungrily, or take notes, or play tit-tat toe, while the Master discourses on themes varying from Foundations of Method to Advanced Chemical Microscopy, from Beowulf to Structural Design and Bridge Stresses, from Dalcroze Eurhythmics to Overhauling Single Cylinder Gasoline Engines and Automobiles.

I SHOULD THINK that more mature people who are not teachers and don't want any degrees would show up for these summer sessions. I should think there would be people with nothing much to do (owing to mergers and other circumstances) who would fill in the summer living cheaply, as one does in Ithaca, and satisfying long-felt curiosities. How would this be for a summer menu: Elementary Astronomy, Outdoor Sketching in Color, and Aviation? Or Money and Banking, Homer, and Folk Dancing? You might better have come here and learned something than have just hung around the house and got in people's way.

THE ROUTINE of Summer School resembles that of the winter courses. There are lectures, visiting preachers, concerts and plays. The Summer Theatre, connected with the Department of Public Speaking, puts on a weekly production. The first of the season was Ibsen's "Ghosts," with the cast which delighted the critics in the spring. Sara M. Gaither, Grad., of Brooklyn was the particular star, with excellent supporting performances by Frank Ferguson of Ferndale, California, and Arthur Gray of Ithaca, both graduates.

OF COURSE, there are lots of people to be sorry for (including possibly ourselves), but it is to be observed that the foreign students in Ithaca are an especially unfortunate group. Many of them came here when conditions at home were relatively secure; now with falling rates of exchange and often with the news of financial reverses of their parents, they find themselves stranded. Many Chinese students are here on Boxer Indemnity Scholarships, normally worth $100 a month. But with the fall of Chinese money, their cheques are worth only $45. "The employment problem at Cornell is more acute than it has been for a number of years," says Mrs. Ida Edmond, director of the Employment Bureau.

THE SENIORS, however, seem to have done very well. Ninety per cent of the graduating M. E.'s are employed. Of the eight unemployed, two are foreign and plan to return home, one does not want a job, and the others, says Professor John R. Bangs, Jr., '21, director of personnel, will probably find work soon. One of the remaining five is a woman. The average salary of a newly-fledged M. E. is about $150 a month. The E. E.'s and C. E.'s haven't done so well; about fifty per cent are employed. Especially the electrical engineers have been badly hit, since many of them have specialized in communications, a very inactive field. The graduating architects are in trouble also, according to Dean George Young of the College of Architecture. In the field of teaching the competition has been terrific, says Professor Riverda H. Jordan of the Department of Education. About three-fourths of the seniors of the College of Agriculture have been placed, reports A. Wright Gibson '17, assistant secretary of the College. An unusually large number are going into soil survey work and extension. Very few go back to the farm. Two-thirds of the graduates in Law have found employment which may be permanent if they wish it to be. On the whole, it appears that the prospect before the young college man is not so dismal as some would say.

THE DEATH of Judge Frank Irvine removes from our scene one of its most respected and best beloved characters. His record is of the most distinguished, in legal practice, in education, on the bench, in public service. We are not surprised to learn that he was considered as a nominee for the governorship of the State. The list of his life's activities is impressive and honorable. But that is not what we remember. What returns to one of us is a classroom incident; to another association with the Judge on some athletic or other matter; to another certain long evenings in the Town and Gown Club, with the Judge at the top of his form, lightly tossing off enough wit and wisdom to equip a dozen of us who are left behind, while the Judge is gone.

YOU MUST HAVE READ on another page of the death of Dr. Stephen M. Babcock of the University of Wisconsin, who taught and studied here in the seventies. Dr. Babcock was one of the country's leaders in chemistry. He did a marvellous thing; when he invented the butyrometer, a simple device for determining the butter fat content of milk, he refused to patent it. It seemed to him so obvious: it would be wrong for him to tax the farmers of the world. He could have had perhaps ten million dollars and an easy conscience; no one would begrudge him his reward. But no, he had his own idea of what was right. Whatever anyone else might think, he thought he was right. And he was right.

THE NEW LAKE in the headwaters of Buttermilk Creek has been named Treman Lake, in honor of Robert H. Treman '78, who gave a large part of the park to the people of the State, and who still serves faithfully on the board of the Finger Lakes State Parks Commission.

PRETTY HOT here last week. The temperature got up to 102.5, according to the U. S. Weather Bureau, whose thermometer is always ten degrees under everyone else's in summer and ten degrees over in winter. This equals the record for all time in Ithaca. Two persons died of prostration, and sheep died of the heat in the open fields.

MISS JEANNETTE MANN '31, daughter of Provost Albert R. Mann '04, was married to Gordon M. Read of Ithaca on June 26.

THE EYE OF ALLAN H. MOGENSEN '23 caught the following in The Chicago Tribune: "Cornell University Insures Lives of Professors for $4,000,000." The Trib. "Wouldn't it have been better to ask the students not to shoot at the profs?"

"WE ARE LIVING in an age of publicity. It used to be only saloons and circuses that wanted their name in the paper, but now it's corporations, churches, preachers, scientists, colleges, and cemeteries."—Will Rogers in The New York Times.

"Lots of benzine buggies in town this week."—The Ithaca Journal, June 22, 1906.

THE FACULTY

PROFESSOR HERBERT H. WHETZEL '02-4 Grad., of the Department of Plant Pathology, spent part of June in the Great Smoky Mountains of Tennessee collecting parasitic fungi. He also gave lectures to graduate students at the University of Tennessee. Professor Whetzel was given an honorary degree from Wabash College at its last commencement exercises.

DR. GEORGE F. WARREN '05 of the Department of Agricultural Economics and Farm Management, will speak on "Better Land Utilization Policies" at the State Institute of Rural Affairs, to be held at Virginia Polytechnic Institute July 28-31.

PROFESSOR ALBERT H. WRIGHT '04 of the Department of Zoology, will conduct a field day this summer to the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole, Massachusetts.

MISS FLORA ROSE, '07-8 Grad., professor of home economics, was awarded an honorary degree in pedagogy by the New York State College for Teachers on June 14.

OBITUARIES

BENJAMIN S. MILLER '72

Benjamin Stevens Miller, retired, died in Binghamton, N. Y. on August 18, 1930. He was born in Oxford, N. Y., on June 1, 1851, the son of Henry L. and Elizabeth Mygott Miller. He took four years in the optional course and was a member of Zeta Psi. Most of his life was spent in the cattle business in the Southwest. For the last ten years he lived in Binghamton. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Bowen Miller.

JAMES M. SHACKFORD '76

James Murray Shackford, for twenty-four years mechanical engineer and chief draughtsman of the car department of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, died at his home in Scranton, Pa., on September 14, 1928, of heart trouble. He was born in Portsmouth, N. H., on February 18, 1853. He took two years of mechanical engineering and was a member of Chi Phi. He had served as president of the Chamber of Commerce in Scranton. He is survived by his wife.

EDOUARD L. FOUCAR '82

Edouard Louis Foucar died on January 3, 1929. He was born in Boston in 1857. He took two years in the optional course. His home was in San Francisco.

SAMUEL W. PARR '85

Samuel Wilson Parr, professor emeritus of practical chemistry in the University of Illinois, and discoverer of the element illium, died on May 16 of heart disease. He was born in Granville, Ill., on January 21, 1857, the son of James and Elizabeth Moore Parr. He graduated from the University of Illinois in '84, and the next year received his M.S. here. Dr. Parr was recognized as America's leading authority on coal chemistry. In recognition of his many discoveries, the Chandler Medal was awarded him in 1926 by Columbia. He also received numerous honorary degrees. He was a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and a past president of the American Chemical Society.

GEORGE P. KINGSLEY '87

George Pomeroy Kingsley, formerly a banker in Minden, Nebr., died on October 30, 1929. He was born in Freeport, Ill., on November 11, 1865, the son of George P. and Harriet Swift Kingsley. He took a term in the history and political science course and was a member of Kappa Alpha.

LEON STERN '89

Leon Stern, prominent architect in Rochester, N. Y., and member of the Cornellian Council, died at his home on June 29, at the age of sixty-four. He received the degree of B.S. in Arch., and was a member of Theta Delta Chi and the Banjo and Glee Club, president of his sophomore class and recently class representative on the Cornellian Council. He was the architect and designer of many Rochester public buildings, the Theta Delta Chi house of Cornell and Rochester University, and was a Fellow in the American Institute of Architecture, a member of the Central New York Chapter of Architects, the Rochester Society of Architects, the Rochester and New York Cornell Clubs.

His wife, Mrs. Carolyn Osborn Stern, a daughter, Mrs. Pauline Stern Houck, a grand daughter and a brother, Morley A. Stern of Rochester survive him.

STEWART W. YOUNG '90

Stewart Woodford Young, professor of physical chemistry and last of the "old guard" of instructors who went West in 1893 with Dr. David Starr Jordan '72 to open Stanford, died in Palo Alto on April 10, of pneumonia. He was born in Orient, N. Y., on March 14, 1869. He received the degree of B.S. in Chem., and took a year of graduate work. He was a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a chemist of national fame.

DENNIS W. HUNT '93

Dennis William Hunt died suddenly of heart attack on March 14. He was born in Syracuse, N. Y., on December 19, 1872, the son of Frank and Catherine Hunt. He received the degree of LL.B. He was an attorney in Syracuse. His wife survives him.

ARTHUR W. BARBER '95

Arthur William Barber, member of the law firm in New York of Hervey, Barber and McKee, died at his home at Forest Hills, N. Y., on June 25, after a long illness. He was born in Chazy, N. Y., fifty-nine years ago. He received the degree with honors of A.B. at Cornell, and later graduated from the New York Law School. He was a member of Quill and Dagger and Phi Beta Kappa. Barber was an authority on the trademark law. His wife and three daughters survive him.

ROSCOE B. MORTON '99

Roscoe Blake Morton died in Denver on June 12, of uremic poisoning. He was born in Rockland, N. Y., on December 31, 1877. He received the degree of B.S. and was a member of Kappa Sigma. He was for many years engaged in mining at Idaho Springs, Colo. He had lived in Denver since 1918. His wife, Mrs. Fanny Plummer Morton, and a daughter, Margaret, survive him.

GEORGE R. PHIPPS '15

George Robinson Phipps, associated with the Guarantee Trust Company of Buffalo, died early in April in East Aurora, N. Y. He was born on October 23, 1893 the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Phipps. He received the degree of B.S. and was a member of Delta Upsilon. During the war he served as instructor in the College of Agriculture and in the ground school of aviation. His father, his wife (Helen Spalding '16), two daughters, and a sister, Mrs. Carl F. Howe (Emma V. Phipps '19) survive him.

JOHN N. GARFIELD '16

John Newell Garfield, grandson of President James A. Garfield, died of a self-inflicted wound on May 22. He was thirty-nine years old, and had been in ill health for some time. He took a year of arts. During the war he was a captain in the 134th Field Artillery, serving overseas. His wife, Mrs. Janet Dodge Garfield, and five children survive him.

JOHN W. WETZ '17

John Walter Wetz, manager of the Western branch of the Torsion Balance Company of New York, died suddenly on May 26 at Bremerton, Wash., of heart disease, at the age of thirty-eight. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Walter Wetz. He received the degree of B.S. His wife, Mrs. Viola M. Wetz, two daughters, and a brother, Homer F. Wetz '18, survive him.

FRANCIS J. NANKIVELL '18

Francis John Nankivell, electrical and mechanical engineer in New York, died on July 5 of heart disease. He was born in Yokohama, Japan, thirty-eight years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. A personal service to assist you in the purchase of shirts, underwear and pajamas.

Nothing, really, to sell except an idea, namely, that I can buy better for you than you can buy for yourself.

If you live in New York, work in New York, or visit New York, I will be glad to see you, either uptown or downtown, at your office or mine, or wherever convenient.

If you don't visit New York often, I will be glad to hear from you.

Samples, measure charts, and sample shirts will be gladly mailed on request. Custom made or ready made.

You will find me at the above addresses and I should hear from you now for your summer requirements.

How Much? Enough!

That one word is possibly as sane an answer as any to a family provider's query as to the amount of life insurance he should buy.

Whatever sum it will take to give his dependents an income sufficient to enable them to live as well as they do now—that's the reply.

It isn't fair to expect them to lower their standards of living.
