THE last of the series of eugenics lectures was given last week by Dr. Joseph G. Wilson, of the United States Public Health Service, under the auspices of Sigma Xi. This course of lectures, instituted largely through the efforts of the Cornell Eugenics Society, was given this year without University credit. Fourteen lectures have been given, four by out-of-town authorities and ten by members of the University Faculty. One of the lectures was scheduled as an Arts College lecture, one as an Agricultural College lecture, and the last as a Sigma Xi lecture. The course will not be given in 1914-15 but will probably be given the year after that as a regular course for which University credit will be allowed. The lectures have been well attended, drawing audiences of from 200 to 300 persons.

THE FRESHMEN burned their caps, according to custom, in a big bonfire on the library slope Saturday night. After the burning, several hundred of them marched down the hill. Upper-classmen sent them back and chastised a few who were slow about obeying.

SIX MOVING PICTURE COMPANIES had men taking pictures in Ithaca on Spring Day. They were not permitted to take their cameras into the circus enclosure, but they took the parade in the morning and the athletic events in the afternoon.

THE ANNUAL INSPECTION of the cadet corps was held on Monday afternoon, the inspecting officer being Captain S. J. Bayard Schindel of the General Staff. There was a short regimental review and inspection at 2 o'clock. The greater part of the afternoon was given to the working out of two military problems by the corps. The first of these was an attack by the second battalion under command of Major R. E. J. Summers, directed from Stewart Avenue, for the purpose of capturing the Stewart Avenue bridge over Fall Creek, all other bridges over Fall Creek being considered blown up. Major Summers received this problem without notice and was successful, according to the decision of the inspector. The second problem was a regimental attack, also from Stewart Avenue, upon six hypothetical companies on the campus. In this the commanding officers were Colonel L. G. Meads and Lieut.-Colonel J. A. V. Corpus. The attack was successful. The afternoon was very hot and muggy and several of the men in uniform were overcome by the heat. They all received prompt attention and recovered.

AN INDIAN PLAY was scheduled to be given by the College of Agriculture on Wednesday of this week on the north shore of Beebe Lake. Picturesque invitations were sent out early in the week, in which the agricultural tribe invited "each brave in the Cornell league with squaws and papooses to be present at the Cayuga Indian festival." Word was given that "the trail that leads to the yard of the long house will be found by the sign of the wolf near the Alpha Chi Rho lodge." Guests were advised to "bring heap big blankets to make for comfort in squatting on the ground." This play was planned for last spring but was not given then. It was intended to be a pantomime representation of scenes of Indian life, selected to show the relation of that primitive people to Mother Earth, and thus to set forth primitive rural conditions and activities.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR JOHN BAUER of the department of economics has been appointed a statistician of the New York State Public Service Commission, First District. He has asked for a leave of absence from the University for next year. Professor Bauer is a graduate of Yale (A.B. '06, Ph.D. '08).

THE PROGRAM of the addresses to be given at the twentieth Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration, this week, includes the names of Dr. Andrew D. White and John R. Mott '88.

THE MEDAL offered by President Schurman for the best drilled member of the cadet corps was awarded after a competition last week to W. L. Saunders

'17, of Washington, D. C., first sergeant of Company E. H. V. MacGowan '17, of Los Angeles, first sergeant of Company C, received honorable mention. President Schurman presented the medal to the winner. The judges were Lieutenant Bull and three officers of the corps. First Lieutenant T. L. McMurray '16, battalion adjutant, won the gold medal in the officers' rifle match. The gold medal for the highest score among cadets went to Corporal C. B. Benson '17, of Company I, the silver medal to D. H. Blakelock '17, and the bronze medal to A. R. Vory '17. The winners in the company rifle matches were five members of Company I, all of whom received silver medals.

DR. LAURENCE PUMPELLY of the department of Romance languages will sail from New York on June 5 on the steamship Madonna of the Fabre Line to spend the summer in Europe. John M. Gauntlett, of Ithaca, will be his companion on the trip. They plan to return in September with Professor L. M. Dennis.

THE BASEBALL GAME between the editorial boards of the Yale News and the Cornell Sun was not played because the Yale men were unable to come to Ithaca. Instead of that there was a game last Friday afternoon on the high school field between the Widow and the Sun. The Widow won in the tenth inning by a score of 9 to 8. Umpire—Frank Lehigh.

A COMPLAINT was sent to Albany the other day that motor boats on the Cayuga Inlet were exceeding the speed limit fixed by the State for canal waters. The cause of the complaint was the fact that some of the motor boats kicked up so much swell as to interfere with the practice of the crews. Upon receiving the complaint the superintendent of public works appointed a special officer at Ithaca to enforce the speed regulations on the Inlet.

PROFESSOR SILL will lecture tomorrow, in the history of civilization series, on "Germany's Contribution to Modern Civilization."

$100,000 Gift to Begin Dormitories

An anonymous gift of $100,000 has been made to the University for the purpose of beginning the erection of halls of residence for students. Announcement of the gift was made by Mr. George C. Boldt at a dinner given to members of the Faculty by the Sigma Phi fraternity last Monday evening. Mr. Boldt has shown the keenest interest of all the members of the Board of Trustees in the University's dormitory problem and he has been serving as the chairman of a special committee of the board which has had plans for residence halls prepared against the time when money for building might be available.

Mr. Boldt said that this $100,000 was available now and that the actual work of building the first unit of the University's proposed series of residence halls would begin as soon as bids could be obtained and the contract awarded.

At the request of the donor his name was not made public. Mr. Boldt said that he was a graduate of Harvard who had never seen Cornell University but was acquainted with its history and liked its spirit.

Mr. Boldt intimated that other gifts for dormitories would be forthcoming before this first building was completed, and that several of the "units" might be erected before the work was interrupted.

President Schurman was at the Sigma Phi dinner, and he made an announcement of the gift later in the evening at the annual dinner of officers of the cadet corps, which was held at the Ithaca Hotel.

Mr. Boldt said that the general plan adopted by the Trustees last year for residence halls would be followed, and that this building would be the first of several units which will be erected as funds for them are obtained. The site chosen is the great field, six hundred and fifty feet wide and eleven hundred feet long, between West Avenue and Stewart Avenue, below the library slope. The first building will probably be situated at the north end of the field.

The dormitory plans were described in an article in the ALUMNI NEWS of January 8, 1914, with illustrations from the plans drawn by the architects, Messrs. Day & Klauder, of Philadelphia. The entire group of buildings to occupy this field is planned to provide accommodation for about twelve hundred men, but the portion first to be erected, that occupying the northern end of the site, will provide accommodation for four hundred and thirty students and will consist of six residential halls, each of which will house a number of students varying from forty-eight in the smallest to ninety in the largest. Probably the present gift will be used to build one of these six halls.

For each of the six halls, or units, a separate dining room is planned, and the six dining rooms are to be grouped together and all connected with a central kitchen. A similar group arrangement is proposed for the southern part of the site. Below each dining room is to be a commons or meeting room for students, and elsewhere billiard and other recreation rooms. It is likely that in the building of this first or northern group of halls, the dining halls will be the last constructed, after the six residence halls have been completed.

The architectural style adopted for the halls is a version of the English Collegiate. The buildings are to be constructed of the native stone, which is found upon the site and which will be taken from beneath the buildings. The stone occurs in varying shades of agreeable color and when skilfully laid produces walls of unusual excellence. This stone was used in the construction of the original group of University buildings—Morrill, White and McGraw Halls.

In the field chosen for these dormitories there is a fall of about sixty-five feet in its width. Although this makes the architectural problem a somewhat difficult one, it enforces a treatment which promises an unusual solution, picturesque and full of interest. The architects believe they will be able to retain all the beauty of the traditional college quadrangle and to gain the advantages of a free movement of air among the buildings and of sunlight in every room. Economy in the use of the sloping site will be effected by placing the buildings on terraces and connecting them by walls in which will occur flights of steps leading from terrace to terrace. These steps and the paths connecting them will afford ready communication among the buildings. This placing of the buildings is expected to enhance the attractiveness of the group, and it will make possible the use of entrances at different levels in each building.

Every dormitory will be divided into "entries," each of which will be completely separated from adjoining entries. Each will have its own stairway and will contain studies and bedrooms for about twelve men. As a rule, two men will occupy a suite consisting of a study and two bedrooms.

Stevens-Cornell Debate

Won by B. P. Goldman '14, of Sibley College

A debate between B. P. Goldman '14, representing Sibley College, and C. H. Colvin, a senior at Stevens Institute of Technology, took place at Hoboken recently, resulting in favor of the Cornell man. The argument was on the question of municipal ownership of industries. Goldman recently won second place in the Fuertes Memorial prize speaking contest for engineers. He declared that the industrial regulation of industries now in vogue had proven to be ineffective, and that the next logical step was municipal ownership. Colvin attacked his argument by asserting that municipal ownership would offer increased opportunity for graft on the part of public officials, basing his argument on the theory that politicians are always flagrantly culpable and ready to make mistakes.

The judges, Dr. F. R. Hutton, of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, and Charles W. Baker, editor of The Engineering News, announced their decision in favor of Goldman for the facts presented and his manner of presenting them.

Goldman was selected as the Sibley representative after a competition held in Ithaca. The debate was the first of its kind ever held, and will be held annually from now on, alternating between Ithaca and Hoboken, according to present plans.

THE REV. C. C. ALBERTSON, D.D., of the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, will preach in Sage Chapel next Sunday.

ALUMNI DAYS are Friday, June 12, and Saturday, June 13.

SPRING DAY NETS $4,000

Spring Day was a great success, socially, pictorially, and as an agency for the raising of money for the athletic association. "Philip McCann" collected no less than $5,700, of which about $4,000 will remain as profits after all expenses are paid. This is by far the largest sum ever realized from the show. Last year the gross receipts were $3,900, of which $3,000 was profit, and that was a record at the time. The expenses this year were increased by the purchase of costumes to be sold to students, but the sale of the costumes also increased the profits.

The day began cloudy and cold, but the sun came out before the parade started up the hill at 9 o'clock, and after that the weather was not bad enough for anybody to complain about—with one exception. The tents were pitched north of the Armory. There were shows by the freshmen, the juniors, the students of the College of Agriculture, the Cosmopolitan Club, the architects, and several student organizations. The agriculturists had a stunt called "New-Fangled Farmin'." The civil engineers presented their famous "nigger-dip" which dropped a student into a tank of water every time the target was hit by a baseball. He was the one exception mentioned above. There were games of chance all over the grounds and all sorts of things were on sale.

THE SUN'S BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Cornell Daily Sun was given last Thursday night at the Dutch Kitchen, which was filled so full of Faculty members, alumni, undergraduates and other guests that the waiters had trouble getting around among the tables. Norman Hapgood, editor of Harper's Weekly, was the principal speaker. Other speakers were President Schurman, Professor Schmidt, Emerson Hinchliff, of the retiring Sun board, and C. M. Colyer, the new managing editor. William L. Kleitz, the new editor-in-chief, made an admirable toastmaster.

Mr. Hapgood's topic was "Journalism." He reviewed the history of the newspaper business and then considered the part which the newspaper man plays in relation to the problems of civilization. Coming to problems of to-day, he said that there were two great changes that must take place in the world:

there must be a new status for labor and there must be a new status for one-half the human race, namely, the female sex. The reason the woman question was so important just now was that it was a part of the labor question. He closed with a word of advice to young men who might be thinking of becoming newspaper men. He said that in order to make themselves useful they must be able to take a keen interest in all human affairs and they must prepare themselves for writing by cultivating a love for the work of great writers.

President Schurman and Professor Schmidt both devoted their addresses largely to a discussion of the Sun's relation to the University community.

THE CORNELL ANNUALS

Six sophomores were chosen to the board of The Cornell Annuals, publishers of the Class Book and the Cornellian, as the result of competitions which have been running throughout the year. N. A. Gorman, of Buffalo, and Mario Lazo, of New York, were elected junior associate business managers, one to be business manager in his senior year. A. L. Feick, of Sandusky, Ohio, R. A. B. Goodman, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and C. M. Thorp, jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., were elected junior associate editors, one of them to be editor-in-chief in his senior year. W. F. Staunton, jr., of Los Angeles, Cal., was elected junior editor, to become artistic editor in his senior year.

C. O. Benton '15, of Cleveland, Ohio, will be the editor-in-chief next year, and R. B. Lea '15, of Methuen, Mass., will be business manager. The senior associate editors will be W. W. Dodge '15, of Los Angeles, Cal., and R. W. White '15, of Brockport. W. A. Priester '15, of Davenport, Iowa, will be senior associate business manager, and H. S. Kirchberger '15, of Chicago, Ill., will be artistic editor.

WOMEN'S CLUB OF NEW YORK

On the afternoon of Saturday, May 16, a meeting of the Cornell Women's Club of New York was held at the home of Miss Cornelia Trowbridge, 63 Groton Street, Forest Hills, Long Island. The business meeting was made as short as possible in order that the large number of members present could have as much time as possible to enjoy the social part of the program. A great many took advantage of the opportunities afforded by Forest Hills for spending time out-of-doors. All agreed that the last meeting of the season was a great success.

CONNECTICUT

At the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Association of Connecticut, held on March 30 at the University Club in Hartford, officers were elected, as follows: President, E. S. Sanderson '94, Waterbury; vice-president, W. R. Webster '90, Bridgeport; secretary, W. S. Rowland '07, New Britain; executive committee, Henry F. Stoll, Hartford, one year; Roland F. Andrews '00, Hartford, two years; Douglas B. Wesson, Springfield, Mass., three years; delegate to the Associate Alumni, E. S. Sanderson; athletic councillor, J. C. Pierson '02.

After the election there were interesting talks by Captain George Comer on "Life in the Arctic" and by Willis M. Rose '10 on "The Situation in Mexico," where Rose has been living recently.

The secretary, W. S. Rowland, New Britain Club, New Britain, Conn., would appreciate it very much if all alumni in Connecticut and in Massachusetts as far north as Springfield and including Springfield would send their names and addresses to him.

MUTUAL ADMIRATION

The Ithaca Journal says that at the military hop in the Armory last Friday night Mr. Jacob H. Schiff, of New York, who was President Schurman's guest for Spring Day, met Jacob S. Fassett, jr., '12, who had sung several solos at the concert earlier in the evening. Fassett is a bank clerk in Elmira.

"Young man," said Mr. Schiff, "I wish I could sing like you."

"By gosh! sir," Fassett replied, "I wish I could bank like you."

TO BASEBALL ALUMNI

Notice is given to old varsity baseball players that a practice for the Alumni-Varsity game of Friday, June 12, will be held at Percy Field at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, June 11. All who wish to play in the annual game with the Varsity should be present at that time, as the Alumni team will be picked after the practice.

PROFESSOR CRANE and Miss Frederika Crane sailed from New York last week to spend the summer in Europe.

Equipment for Cancer Study

Importance of the New Alliance of Clinic and Laboratory

An article in the current issue of the Medical Record gives an official account of the work in cancer research to be carried on at the General Memorial Hospital, New York City, in alliance with the Cornell University Medical College. The recent gifts of Dr. James Douglas, aggregating nearly half a million dollars, will, the article says, place the General Memorial Hospital in the front rank of those devoted to the study and treatment of cancer. The conditions of the gifts are that the entire medical staff, as well as the research staff, shall be under the control of the Medical College, thus insuring the closest cooperation between the clinical and the laboratory investigation of cancer problems.

A brief account of the hospital's history is given to show that the Douglas gift fulfills to a striking degree the purposes of the hospital's founders. It says that almost the first scientific laboratory research work in cancer in this country was done at this hospital, under the auspices of the Collis P. Huntington Fund for Cancer Research. That fund originated from the gift of $100,000 by Mrs. Huntington and was turned over to the General Memorial Hospital in 1902. The article continues:

"The work was begun in 1903 at the Loomis Laboratory, of Cornell University Medical College, under the direction of Dr. B. H. Buxton, who was later appointed professor of experimental pathology at Cornell. In addition to the income of the fund, considerably larger amounts have been given annually by Mrs. Huntington for carrying on the work. The resources of the Huntington fund have been devoted practically entirely to laboratory investigations, lack of funds making it impossible to conduct side by side the clinical and laboratory studies, which is so essential in the study of the difficult problems in cancer."

The Medical Record notes that the hospital's radium supply is to be increased from the Colorado mines of Dr. Douglas, and says:

"A chemical laboratory has also been installed and chemical studies have been in progress for a year past. The pathological service is in charge of the University staff. The affiliation with the University places at the disposal of the hospital the services of the laboratory staff of the Huntington Fund as well as those of the staffs of the various scientific departments of the University. The Huntington Fund for Cancer Research was one of the pioneer endowments for this purpose, and it is to the existence of this fund that the hospital owes its present fortunate position.

"Through this fund, administered by Cornell University, a staff of workers has long been maintained in the field of cancer research. This staff now finds an enlarged opportunity in the problems suggested by the cancer patient. The field of experimental laboratory studies remains intact, and these will be pursued, with the support of the Huntington Fund, as before, and even with increased activity, owing to the many new problems which the clinical material provides. The laboratory staff has long felt the need of association with a cancer hospital, and Dr. Douglas's endowment is provided to supply this need and to bring about a combination of laboratory and clinical investigation.

"The present plans, therefore, provide for a type of organization which has received world-wide approval. In it the Memorial Hospital enters its chosen field under University auspices, and the Huntington Fund reaps a just reward for consistent support of cancer research over many years."

Good Advice for Arts Men

Addresses by Professors at the Annual College "Feed"

Speeches by four professors of the College of Arts and Sciences made the annual "Arts Feed" last week a success. The speakers were Dean Nichols, Professor Schmidt, Professor Sill, and Professor Orth. Professor Durham was the toastmaster.

Professor Schmidt declared that the main quality to be fostered in the Arts College was the passion for knowledge. Working for credit and "sharpshooting for a bare 60" he condemned heartily. He urged the students to forget their marks and satisfy a thirst for knowledge before satisfying the demands of the Faculty, and to strive, above all, for a broader education.

Professor Sill emphasized the possibilities of the recently adopted plan for a student hour, to be tried out next year, as a means to create an intellectual enthusiasm of the same sort as the football enthusiasm of last fall. He urged the undergraduates to help secure big men from outside the University to speak at the assemblies.

Professor Orth referred to the Arts College as "the college which represents the traditions of older learning, the college which is, in my estimation, the heart of the University." He spoke of the difference between university life and that after graduation as a difference between humanity and materialism, and urged the Arts men to resist the attempts of the outside world to substitute materialism for their humanity.

Dean Nichols spoke of the true specialization to be obtained in the Arts College, saying that to be a specialist one must know more than one science. He urged the undergraduates to avail themselves of their opportunity to learn some one thing well before it is too late.

A University Club Planned

Sage Cottage May Be Used as a Clubhouse

A circular letter has been sent to a large number of persons in the University community, inviting them to join in forming a University Club in Ithaca. The immediate occasion of the plan at this time is an opportunity to use a part of Sage Cottage as the quarters of such a club. After this year the Cottage will not be used as a dormitory for women students. The Board of Trustees has offered the committee in charge of the project the entire parlor floor and ground floor of the Cottage, with the provision that the offer be accepted or refused before June 1st. The parlor floor is on the level of Central Avenue.

The quarters which have been offered to the proposed club are large enough for a dining room, three reception rooms, a suite of men's smoking and lounging rooms, three card rooms, and a kitchen and servant quarters.

It is proposed to have the club open on equal terms to men and women. Membership is offered to University officers of instruction and administration and their families and to local alumni and their families. The membership dues are to be five dollars a year for each person, but it is provided that married instructors and assistants in the University may obtain membership for themselves and their wives for five dollars.

A membership of two hundred is needed to guarantee the first year's rent. Up to last Tuesday 136 persons had signified their intention of joining the proposed organization.

The committee of organization consists of Professor John Bauer, Professor George L. Burr, Mrs. J. H. Comstock, Professor J. E. Creighton, Professor Alfred Hayes, Dr. A. T. Kerr, M. A. Lee, Professor Ernest Merritt, Mrs. J. T. Newman, Professor W. A. Riley, Mrs. J. G. Schurman, Professor H. A. Sill, Professor A. W. Smith, Professor W. A. Stocking, jr., Professor Martha Van Rensselaer, Mrs. Emmons L. Williams, Professor W. L. Williams, and Professor George Young, jr.

Effects of Some "Activities"

Study of Marks of Men in Non-Athletic Enterprises

A series of statistics has been compiled at the Registrar's office to show how much the scholarship standing of undergraduates may be affected by participation in non-athletic "student activities." Tables have already been published giving the average marks in the various branches of university sport, and of members of fraternities.

The marks of 220 men were compiled in this latest investigation. They were members of the Musical Clubs and The Masque, and members of and competitors for the editorial boards of the Sun and the Widow. The average standing of the 220 is 71.54 per cent, slightly higher than the average rank of fraternity men as a whole, which is 70.7 per cent, and about equal to that of members of varsity teams and crews. Non-fraternity men generally were shown by recent calculation to have an average of 74.2 per cent.

In the table below, "Glee Club" includes only the singers, and "Instrumental Clubs" means the mandolin club and its various instrumental accessories. The University Orchestra is outside the investigation because it is under the direction of the department of music of the University and therefore is not a "student activity." There are some curious comparisons to be noted in the table. Men who work on the Widow have a considerably higher average than the Sun workers have, and in the Musical Clubs the singers rank lower than the players of instruments.

Rank of men in "student activities":

Activity	Men	Hours	Rank
Glee Club.....	55	899	70.5
Instrumental Clubs.....	82	1498	73.5
Masque.....	42	682	70.5
Widow.....	18	294	73.3
Sun.....	23	266	69.8

OBITUARY

E. A. Wagener '76

Edward Augustine Wagener, B.S. '76, died on May 13 at San Diego, California. He was a native of Pulteney, Steuben County, N. Y. After his graduation he studied law and was admitted to the bar. He settled in Ithaca, and was special county judge and surrogate of Tompkins County from 1878 till 1882. Then for three years he was city editor of the Ithaca Journal. In 1887 he moved to Topeka, Kansas. He practiced law there and was law reporter of the Kansas City Times. In recent years he had lived successively in Denver, Porto Rico, New York City, and San Diego.

Francis Looney '76

Francis Looney, B.S. '76, died at his home, 384 Hudson Street, Buffalo, on May 15. He was the principal of Public School No. 12, in Spruce Street. He had been a school principal for thirty-seven years. He was born in Ireland and came with his parents, when a child, to Buffalo, where he prepared for college in the public schools and the Central High School. His wife, a son and a daughter survive him.

Franklin A. Green

Franklin Augustus Green died at his home in New York City on April 29 of septic poisoning, at the age of forty-seven. He was a special student in architecture at Cornell in 1887-88, coming here from Elmira. In 1890 he settled in Tacoma, where he achieved success as an architect. He designed the city hall in Tacoma, and the state capitol of the State of Washington. He went to New York City in 1899. At the time of his death he was employed by the Board of Education as deputy superintendent of school buildings.

Among the buildings in New York City which were designed by Mr. Green are those of the Normal College, the Washington Irving High School, Erasmus Hall (Brooklyn), and St. Augustine's and St. Gabriel's parochial schools.

Mr. Green was the eldest son of the Rev. A. W. Green, who was the pastor of the Aurora Street Methodist Church of Ithaca from 1881 till 1884. He was a member of the Cornell University Club of New York, the American Institute of Architects, and the Architectural League. His wife and two children survive him.

Robert C. Dewar '09

Robert Critchlow Dewar, a graduate of the College of Civil Engineering in the class of 1909, lost his life in the collapse of a caisson at South Norwalk, Conn., on Wednesday night, May 20. Dewar was a superintendent of construction of the McHarg-Barton Company, of New York, which is building a $350,000 bridge across the Norwalk River.

Dewar was twenty-six years old. His home was in East Orange, N. J. His parents survive him. He entered Cornell in 1905 from the East Orange High School. He was a member of Rod and Bob, played on his class football team, and was a member of the junior smoker committee.

C. K. Ou '09

Dr. Ching Ko Ou, who died at Canton on March 30, was a young chemist of great promise. He was born at Canton on October 6, 1885. His preparatory education was received at Queen's College in Hongkong and at Pei Yang University in Tientsin. In the fall of 1906 he entered Cornell and he graduated in 1909 with the degree of A.B. While he was here he was known among his fellows for his close attention to study. His work in organic chemistry was of so promising a nature that Professor Orndorff persuaded the Chinese Government to send him to Germany for further study. The two years which he spent at the University of Berlin were devoted to research on the polypeptides under the direction of the renowned Emil Fischer. For that work he received the doctor's degree. After his return to China in 1912 he was appointed manager of the Kwangtung Tannery in Canton. That was the position he held at the time of his death. The cause of his death was typhoid fever.

The Chinese Students' Club of Cornell has made this expression of its sorrow:

Whereas the death of Dr. C. K. Ou on March 30, 1914, has deprived the Cornell Chinese Students' Club of one of its most prominent former members, to whom its members have always looked for inspiration; and

Whereas in his death the Chinese nation has lost one of her most promising pioneer scholars in the field of modern science,

Be it resolved, that the Cornell Chinese Students' Club expresses its most heartfelt sympathy, to the bereaved family and to the Chinese students' world, and

Be it further resolved, that a Chinese version of this resolution be sent to the family of the deceased and that an English version be published in the Cornell Daily Sun and the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS.

ITHACA, NEW YORK, MAY 28, 1914

THE news that a beginning is actually to be made in the building of halls of residence for Cornell students seems almost too good to be true. Hearty thanks to our anonymous benefactor! And hearty congratulations to our fellow Cornellian by adoption, Mr. George C. Boldt! As a member of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Boldt has made the getting of dormitories his own particular task. It was his interest and enthusiasm and his confidence that the thing could be done which caused the Trustees to appoint a special committee to have studies made of the problem. He has been the chairman and the hardest working member of that committee. He has pushed the project along in perfect faith that it would succeed, and the result is that the Trustees are ready to put this first generous gift to immediate use, and to use any other funds as fast as they are acquired. The whole problem has been studied by architects and the plans have been drawn. These buildings will not be put up haphazard, but they will all be parts of a single beautiful whole. For that, too, we are indebted to Mr. Boldt. What they will mean to future Cornell men no Cornellian needs to be told. For an increasing number of students they will solve the problems of how to live amid pleasant and healthful surroundings, how to get good food at moderate cost, and how to get more than mere instruction out of four years at the University. These buildings will make an increasing number of men real participants in the life of the University, with added benefit to them and to the institution itself.

THE RESULT on the Charles River justifies Mr. Courtney and the navy management in consenting to have the crews row two important races in a single week. The Harvard crews could not meet us on the 16th or the 30th, and it was a problem how to send our eights to Boston without giving up the proposed Navy Day regatta on Cayuga. It seems now to be settled that we can have a big race on Cayuga every year without sacrificing our home-and-home arrangement with Harvard.

THE REUNION PROGRAM

The organ recital which was to have been given in the auditorium on Friday evening, June 12 (one of the Alumni Days), will not be given, after all. It has been decided to return to the original program, with some modifications. That is to say, there will be a concert in the Lyceum Theatre. The Glee Club will give two numbers, and the Mandolin Club two numbers, and the Savage Club will contribute the rest of the show. The play by F. J. Sullivan, "Susan's Past," which made a hit at the Savages' recent entertainment, will be given, and some alumni members of the Savage Club will probably give some specialties.

HEAR YE, '94 CORNELLIAN!

Reports from several official accelerators of enthusiasm for the '94 reunion indicate that the reunion committee will soon find it necessary to advertise among Ithaca landladies for extra accommodations. The '94 headquarters are already booked to capacity and reservations at adjacent houses are rapidly being exhausted. This does not include several fraternity men who will stop at their chapter houses.

The secretary requests that all who expect to attend send in the ballot with the various items clearly checked off, even though they have previously notified him of their intention to return. Your comfort cannot otherwise be provided for. Help the committee by returning the ballot at once to the class secretary, E. E. Bogart, 1125 Boston Road, New York City.

NINETEEN-NINE

Your Five Year Reunion Committee is hard at it. You will soon receive a bulletin giving all information in detail. After reading it we know you will want to be there. So let Bob Treman know at once that you are going to be present on that glee-orious occasion. Don't spoil the parade by not having a costume. An order for perfect weather has been filed and we are sure to have it. Tell the boss you must be there, that it is necessary for your health and his best interests. If you haven't the carfare, steal the money or sell your winter overcoat. Get to Ithaca if you have to walk. You won't need a place to sleep. There is so much doing you won't have time to sleep. You can always do that at home. Make a reservation on one of those special trains now. Be with us. If you are not there you will live to regret it.

THE REUNION COMMITTEE.

THE 1911 THREE-YEAR

War Bulletin, Ithaca, N.Y., May 25.—Despatches pouring in from all parts of the nation and made public here today show that two hundred (200) 1911 men have joined the army which will storm this city June 12 and 13.

Advices from New York city state that a special train stocked with ammunition, will transport a large number of 1911 men from there under the command of General Frank Lehigh. It will depart June 11 at 9:50 p. m. from the West Twenty-third street ferry. Accommodations are being obtained at the Lehigh Valley office, No. 1460 Broadway. Another special train will leave Chicago.

The program now completed to assuage the invaders fills forty-eight hours. After a conference it has been decided to make no arrangements for sleeping. They are considered superfluous.

THE DEBATE UNION has elected William Dudley Smith '15, of Schenectady, president. Smith won both the '94 and the '86 prizes for debate and declamation this year, and has been a member of the Cornell teams in the Intercollegiate Triangular Debate League for the past two years. H. A. Wichelns '16 was elected vice-president, and Bleeker Marquette '15 representative-at-large to the Debate Council. The council next year will be composed of Professors Burr, Everett, Muchmore, and Bretz. Professor Winans, head of the department of public speaking, is a member of the council ex officio.

THE UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA took a two-day trip last week, playing Monday night in Elmira and Tuesday night in Owego. At Elmira the services of J. S. Fassett '12 were called upon as soloist. A. L. Clark '14, president of the Musical Clubs, was the soloist in Owego. The Savage Club quartet accompanied the orchestra, making a total of about sixty men who took the trip. The musicians were entertained at a dance after each concert.

OFFICERS OF THE AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION for the year 1914-15 have been elected as follows: President, T. B. Charles '15, of Odessa; vice-president, W. L. Houck '15, of Buffalo; secretary, Miss M. L. Flumerfelt '15, of Binghamton; treasurer, E. S. Ham '15, of Verbank; athletic director, Leslie Brown '16, of Elmira.

Cornell, 9; Yale, 2

The Yale-Cornell baseball game on Spring Day attracted one of the largest crowds ever seen on Percy Field. All the stands were filled and there were automobiles all around the outfield. Deadhead Hill was populated. Cornell won by the score of 9 to 2. The victory was earned partly by hard hitting and partly by errors committed by Yale players. Gile went into the game as Yale's pitcher. He could not get the ball to break right, and in the third inning, after Cornell had scored three runs and had two men on bases, Brown took his place. Regan pitched his usual strong game for Cornell. A feature of the game was the good batting record made by Adair. In five times at bat he made four safe hits, two of them for three bases.

Regan started out without very good control, and in the first two innings he passed three men. But he gave only one hit in those two, and although in the second inning Yale had two men on bases with only one out, Regan struck out the next two batters. In the third and fourth innings Yale went out in 1-2-3 order.

In Cornell's first inning Schirick singled to left field, and Donovan was safe on Gile's error. Bills sacrificed, sending Schirick to third and Donovan to second. But Grossman struck out and Adair hit an easy grounder to Reilly.

With two out in the second inning, Keating reached first on a scratch hit, but Regan hit an easy grounder to Cornish.

Cornell's third inning netted three runs. Schirick led off with a clean single to right and stole second. Gile passed Donovan and Bills, filling the bases. Grossman sent a grounder to Reilly at third base. Reilly fielded the ball and touched third, forcing Donovan. Then, instead of tagging Schirick, who had run back toward third, he threw home, missing a chance for a double play. That left Schirick, Bills and Grossman all safe. Adair then drove a clean hit down the first base line. Schirick and Bills scored and Grossman went to third. Adair stole second. Taber was an easy out. Halsted had three strikes called on him, but on the third strike the ball got away from the catcher. Halsted was safe at first and Grossman scored. Halsted stole second and Keating drew a pass. So the bases had been filled again. At that point Brown took Gile's place in the box. Regan struck out.

Regan had a bad inning, the fifth, when Yale got two runs. Hunter began the inning by striking out, but Middlebrook walked, stole second, and went to third on a passed ball. Then he came home on a wild pitch. Regan steadied and struck out Brown, but then came four Yale hits in a row. Hanes singled cleanly to left field and stole second, going on to third on Schirick's poor throw. Handy dropped a Texas leader back of second base, and Hanes came home. Falsey was safe when his line drive hit Regan on the leg. At that point an unexpected play retired the side. Cornish rapped the ball into left field. Handy could probably have reached home, but he turned back after leaving third base. Taber threw to Adair, who ran Handy down between third base and the plate. The two runs obtained in this inning was the only scores Yale made. In the sixth Reilly hit and stole second, but was caught at the plate when Middlebrook grounded to Donovan. The only man to reach first in the seventh and eighth was Pumpelly, who walked. Pumpelly did not live up to his reputation as a hitter, although Regan passed him twice in his four times at bat. His two other efforts were an easy grounder to Regan and a fly to Bills.

With one out in the fifth Adair sent a fly into left center field on which he took three bases, but he was left at third when Taber struck out and Pumpelly made a brilliant stop of Halsted's fast grounder.

The sixth was a profitable inning for Cornell. Hits were made by Keating, Donovan and Adair, and Schirick and Bills got their bases an balls. Donovan's drive to deep center scored two runs. Cornish made a wild throw to first in trying to complete a double play on Grossman's grounder to Handy. The error allowed Donovan to score and Grossman to go to second. The latter scored on Adair's single. Taber sent an easy fly to Cornish. In the seventh inning Halsted walked to first, stole second and came home on Regan's single. Cornell earned a run in the eighth with Bills's single and Adair's triple.

In the ninth inning Hunter and Middlebrook both made safe hits, but Regan struck out Brown and Hanes and put Handy out at first. The score:

Michigan, 3; Cornell, 2

In the second game with Michigan, at Percy Field last week Wednesday, the team handed the victory to the Wolverines. The Michigan team came here with a remarkable record, having lost only one game out of eighteen. They have been less fortunate since cleaning up the Cornell series, losing to Princeton and Pennsylvania on their Eastern trip.

Russell pitched for Cornell and was in fairly good form. He struck out ten men. He gave six bases on balls, but none of the men who reached first base in that way succeeded in scoring. He held Michigan to four hits.

Michigan really won the game in the first inning with the help of Cornell errors. Two of those enabled Howard to make the circuit of the bases and score after Sheehy had been put out at the plate. Michigan's two runs in the fifth were the result of three hits in a row.

Ferguson, the Michigan pitcher, really did not have much to offer, but he had enough to fool Cornell batters at times when a good clean rap would have meant runs. There were five times when a hit over the infield would have brought in a Cornell run. The first run came in the eighth; Donovan hit safely, went to second when Bills got in the way of a pitched ball, and scored on Adair's rap to center. In the ninth, after Halsted had singled and scored on an error, Schirick reached second and Donovan walked to first. But there were two down and Bills ended Cornell's hopes by sending a fly to the right fielder.

Rowing

Cornell's Victory Over Princeton and Yale on Cayuga Lake

The effect of the varsity crew's victory in the Spring Day regatta on Cayuga Lake has been, in Ithaca at least, an increased respect for that eight. There had been some serious setbacks in the practice through the spring, caused by sickness and by bad weather, and the feeling had been growing that the crew would not be up to the average of Cornell eights. In the two mile race against Princeton and Yale, however, the eight showed no lack of power. There is no doubt that Princeton has a strong crew. But it evidently used more energy in Saturday's race than the Cornell crew did. Spransy stroked his crew throughout the two miles at a slower pace than Princeton was rowing, and maintained the slower stroke even at the end, when Princeton came up with a sprint which many spectators thought was carrying the Tiger eight over the line a winner. Although Cornell's lead of a length and a half was cut down in the last hundred yards to a scant length, it appeared that the Cornell crew was content to hold its lead and did not row itself out. The Cornell oarsmen were all fresh at the end. Their form, in the last half mile at least, had been somewhat less finished than that of Princeton, but they had succeeded in getting more speed out of the boat. Yale's crew began early in the race to fall astern of the other two boats.

The promise of strength which had been given by the Cornell freshmen was realized in their race with the Princeton youngsters. They led all the way and finished about five lengths ahead.

There were five crews in the race for the collegiate rowing championship of the University, namely, Agriculture, Arts, Civil Engineering, Law, and Mechanical Engineering. The race was won by the Agricultural crew, with Sibley College second.

The regatta was long delayed by the brisk north wind, which kicked up a good deal of sea until almost sunset. The observation train did not leave for the course until after 6 o'clock, and it was almost 7 o'clock before the crews paddled down the Inlet and out to the starting point. One of the largest crowds that ever saw a Cayuga Lake regatta was present. On the observation train there were about 3500 persons. A large fleet of boats was gathered near the finish flag, and thousands of persons covered the high bank for half a mile.

The three crews in the varsity race took their positions at 7:15 o'clock. Princeton had the inside course, next to the east shore, Cornell the middle, and Yale the outside. The start was nearly even, but it soon became evident that the Orange and Black blades were out to send the Princeton crew into the lead. After the half strokes at the start Princeton settled into a sprinting stroke of 40 to the minute and was leading Cornell by a quarter of a length at the quarter-mile. The Red and White oarsmen, however, seemed in no way disturbed, and were pulling the typical four-mile stroke, long and powerful, 32 to the minute. Yale was rowing about 38, but the stroke lacked power and the Elis soon began to lag astern.

At the mile Cornell and Princeton were exactly even, with Yale a length behind. Princeton was then rowing 38, a speed which was kept up throughout the remainder of the course. At the mile and a half Cornell began to draw slowly away, but the continued fast stroke of the Princeton eight kept their shell in a threatening position, and the anxious Cornell rooters realized that the slightest break on Cornell's part would put the Tigers in the lead. But the powerful stroke set by Spransy did not weaken, and though challenged by Princeton near the finish the Cornell stroke did not quicken his pace perceptibly, and the Red and White blades flashed by the finish not quite a full length ahead of Princeton.

A quarter of a mile from the finish the Yale No. 3 caught a bad crab which stopped the boat for a moment. Yale was practically out of the race before this accident and by the time they had recovered the leaders were over three lengths ahead. The Cornell oarsmen seemed to be in the best condition at the finish, none of the men showing signs of collapse, while in both the other boats some of the men were plainly exhausted.

The freshman race was a pretty exhibition on the part of the Cornell youngsters, but lacked excitement because of the ease with which they won. Starting with a jump which put them ahead of the Princeton boat, they steadily increased their lead, although rowing a slightly slower stroke. At the mile Cornell was nearly a length ahead, and constantly increasing her lead. Near the finish the freshman coxswain called for an unnecessary sprint, to which his men responded, sending them across the line five lengths ahead.

In the collegiate race Agriculture was clearly the best crew and rowed a very good race. The Sibley eight challenged them all the way until one of the engineers caught a crab near the finish. He recovered and his crew finished a good second. Arts finished third, about a length ahead of Law, and Civil Engineering was a poor fifth.

The times: Varsity race: Cornell, 10:38 3-5; Princeton, 10:41 3-5; Yale, 10:58 4-5. Freshman race: Cornell, 10:51 2-5; Princeton, 11:00 1-5. Collegiate race: no time taken.

Double Victory Over Harvard

The varsity and freshman oarsmen left Ithaca on Saturday night for Boston, and on Tuesday of this week they defeated the Harvard varsity and freshman eights in races on the Charles River. The Cornell varsity won by about a length, and the freshmen by two lengths. The times for the course of one and seven-eighths miles were: Varsity race: Cornell, 9:38 3-5; Harvard, 9:42 3-5. Freshman race: Cornell, 9:56; Harvard, 10:01.

Collegiate Championship

Won by Agriculture—Sweeping Victory on the Track

The team of the College of Agriculture easily won the annual collegiate track meet last Friday. Agriculture scored 118 1-2 points; Sibley, the nearest competitor, scored 31 1-2. The other scores were: Arts, 17; Civil Engineering, 14; Law, 11; Architecture, 8; Chemistry, 8. A. W. Richards '17, the Olympic high jump champion, who is ineligible for the freshman team because of the first year rule, scored 33 points alone. Another first-year ineligible, V. Windnagle '17, scored 14 points for Agriculture by winning the mile and half-mile runs. This victory added to that of the crew on Spring Day, gives Agriculture the collegiate championship for this year by a large score.

Minor Sports Managers

Nine sophomores were elected assistant managers of the minor sports teams at a recent meeting of the council. They are: basketball, George May Stevens, Rome, Psi Upsilon; wrestling, Walter Edwin Higgins, Cleveland, Ohio, Kappa Sigma; hockey, Leslie Jacob Rummell, Newark, N. J., Phi Kappa Sigma; lacrosse, Harold Leopold Bache, New York; soccer, Lloyd Garrison Grinnell, Batavia, Alpha Sigma Phi; fencing, James J. Wall, jr., Duluth, Minn., Sigma Nu; swimming, Harold Arnold Schuler, Mount Vernon, Theta Chi; tennis, James Rogers Shaw, Rockland Lake; golf, Andrew Hale, Akron, O., Sigma Phi Epsilon.

At the same meeting minor sports symbols were awarded to sixteen members of the varsity lacrosse team and to six members of the varsity golf team. Inasmuch as the lacrosse team won the championship of the northern division of the intercollegiate league, the major sports council at its next meeting will decide upon the matter of awarding the regulars the minor sports C.

Freshman Track Meet.—The Pennsylvania freshmen won a dual meet at Philadelphia last Saturday by the score of 64 to 53. Their strength was on the track, while Cornell freshmen won four of the five field events. Peeso of Pennsylvania ran the mile in 4:29, beating O'Leary of Cornell by five yards. Townsend and Wheeler of Cornell were first and second in the two-mile. Harrison of Cornell won the broad jump at 21 feet 6 3-4 inches.

Track.—A big mass meeting and parade of undergraduates were planned as a send-off for the track team when it left Ithaca Wednesday afternoon for Cambridge. Mr. Moakley planned to take thirty-six men.

Tennis.—The team lost the Spring Day match against Princeton by a very close score, 5 to 4. Most of the games were close and the final results of the team match was in doubt until the end. Captain Benton '15 won his match against G. M. Church, the Tiger captain, in straight sets, 6-1, 7-5. F. T. Hunter '16 lost to Kidder, 5-7, 4-6. W. J. Bowers '15 was beaten by Knox, 6-4, 6-8, 3-6. Wiseltier '14 lost to Cooper in straight sets, 0-6, 1-6, and Fisher '16 lost to VanDevender, 2-6, 6-4, 5-7. Thompson '16 won the remaining singles match from Graves of Princeton, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2. Cornell won two of the three doubles matches. Benton and Bowers defeated Church and Kidder, 7-5, 7-5, and Hunter and Fisher won from VanDevender and Knox, 6-4, 7-5. Thompson and Rees lost the deciding match to Cooper and Graves, 6-4, 3-6, 2-6.

Freshman Baseball.—The team kept up its good work Saturday by defeating Pawling School by a score of 6 to 4. The freshmen were one run behind when they came to bat in the seventh, but a batting rally in that inning brought in three runs and won the game. Perkins, who pitched for Cornell, allowed six hits and struck out thirteen men, while the Pawling pitcher was hit safely ten times. The freshmen made three errors to Pawling's six.

The Track C.—The rule governing the award of the track C has been changed to read in effect that the letter may be awarded for first place in either the Pennsylvania, the Michigan, or the Harvard dual meet, but may be withheld by the track committee at its discretion.

THE FIRST SENIOR SINGING of the year was held at the steps of Goldwin Smith Hall on Tuesday night.

Correction.—In the obituary notice of Dr. Breckenridge, issue of May 14, page 393, for Harvard read Haverford.

ALUMNI NOTES

'81, Ph.B.—Announcement was made recently of an additional endowment to the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, for the establishment of a department of animal pathology. Now it is announced that the projected department is to be organized and conducted by Professor Theobald Smith, of Harvard University. In the current number of Science is an article by "T. M. P." (doubtless Dr. T. Mitchell Prudden, director of the Rockefeller Institute), who declares the selection of Professor Smith for the new post to be of the happiest augury. "Though long in the foremost rank of the notables of science in America," he says, "the work of Professor Smith has not often secured, or suffered, popular exposition. But he has had the uncommon satisfaction of seeing, many times, the lines of thought and research which he has opened lead sooner or later to far-reaching theoretical development and practical achievements." He relates numerous examples of such pioneer work in pathology, including Professor Smith's discovery, while he was yet a subordinate in the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington, that the Texas fever in cattle was incited by a parasite which was conveyed from animal to animal through the intervention of a cattle tick—a discovery of a mode of infection which seemed preposterous at the time but has become of commonplace knowledge in relation to such human scourges as yellow fever, malarial fever, and the bubonic and pneumonic plagues. Another fact which Dr. Smith noticed and which he was the first (with D. E. Salmon '72) to announce, in 1886, was that animals could be immunized not only by living germs but by cultures of these which had been sterilized and whose every vestige of life had been destroyed—the principle of the antitoxin now so well known in respect to diphtheria and other human diseases. Other examples, too many to relate here, are given by the writer of the Science article to show that great accomplishments in the field of human pathology are debtors to Professor Smith's acute observation and sagacity in the study of animal diseases.—The Harvard Alumni Weekly says in its current number: "The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, seeking for the best man to direct its new department of animal pathology, recently endowed with a million dollars, has secured the services of Professor Theobald Smith, George Fabyan Professor of Comparative Pathology in the Harvard Medical School. While the organization of this new department goes forward, Dr. Smith will complete some important unfinished work on which he is now engaged at Harvard. He is one of the men into whose shoes nobody can be expected to step at once. His eighteen years of work at the Medical School have been fruitful in a high degree. So were his previous activities as director of the pathological laboratory of the Bureau of Animal Industry in the Department of Agriculture at Washington. A similar position in connection with the Massachusetts State Board of Health has also been turned to valuable public account. Dr. Smith is now offered an opportunity the scope of which can hardly be calculated. The University he has served to such good purpose must wish him thrice well in his new enterprise."

'86, B.S.—H. C. Chatfield-Taylor, of Chicago, has been made a knight of the Order of Saints Maurice and Lazarus, by King Victor Emmanuel, in recognition of his "Life of Goldoni." This is the second high honor which his study of the Italian dramatist has brought him, the first being the degree of Litt.D., conferred upon him in 1912, when the "Life of Goldoni" was in press, by Lake Forest College (Illinois). He is the author also of "Molière, a Biography."

Survey contains an article entitled "Applying Business Methods to Tornado Relief." The article describes the methods by which relief work was quickly and systematically accomplished after Omaha's great disaster, the tornado of March, 1913. It tells of the organization, on the morning after the storm, of a committee of fifty citizens and the selection of an executive committee of four, with C. C. Rosewater as chairman, to direct the work; of the beginning of a census of the devastated region within twenty hours after the disaster; of the prompt classification of the facts which the census takers brought in, and of the organization of relief departments and stations. One paragraph of the article follows: "Charles C. Rosewater, publisher of the Omaha Bee, directed the general organization of the work. He originated and executed the plan which formed the groundwork of the campaign—the census taking, the card system, and the idea of centering responsibility in different departments, while focussing the final authority and business management at the headquarters. It was much as if in a few days a concern was created to conduct a business of five million dollars a year; and it was largely due to this thorough and prompt systematizing that chaos was reduced to order so quickly."

THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNI OF CORNELL UNIVERSITY

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to directions of the Board of Directors and the recommendations of Clubs and local Associations the president of the Associate Alumni submits for adoption at the annual meeting to be held on June 13, 1914, proposed amendments of the By-Laws as follows (new matter in italics):

Amend Article III, Section 10, and Section 11 to read as follows:

Section 10. Quorum at Directors' Meeting. Seven members of the Board of Directors shall constitute a quorum.

Section 11. Absence from Meetings. Any member of the Board of Directors who does not attend at least one meeting in each year during his term shall not be eligible for re-election.

Amend Article IV, Section 17 to read as follows:

Section 17. Duties of the Secretary. The Secretary shall give notice of all meetings and forums of the Association and of all meetings of the Board of Directors, and shall send written notice thereof to all clubs and local associations having representatives on the Advisory Committee. He shall conduct the general correspondence and keep the records and papers of the Association. In January of each year he shall send written request to each club and local association to recommend nominations for directors and other officers and include in such request the name and address of the Chairman of the nominating committee. He shall notify directors, officers and committeemen of their election or appointment. He shall keep a list of the clubs, associations and classes entitled to representation by delegates as provided in Article VI, together with the delegates, alternates and substitutes from time to time appointed by them. He shall act as Secretary of the Board of Directors and of all meetings and forums of the Association, and shall keep accurate minutes of such meetings, including a record of all votes, resolutions and other proceedings of the same. He shall prepare, and, after approval by the Board of Directors, present to the annual meeting of the Association, the annual written report of the Board and shall mail a copy thereof to the Secretary of every club, association or class entitled to a delegate, and shall furnish a copy to any member of the Association upon request. He shall perform such other duties as may pertain to his office or may be required by the President.

Amend Article IV, Section 19 to read as follows:

Section 19. Officers to be ex officio Directors. All of the officers of the Association enumerated in Section 12, supra, if they are not regularly elected directors, and also the president of the Association of Class Secretaries and the president of the Cornellian Council shall be and become, upon their election and acceptance of office, ex officio members of the Board of Directors, and shall have all of the powers and perform all of the duties of directors during their respective terms of office. The presence, vote or other action of the ex officio directors shall be taken, counted and regarded for all purposes as though they were regularly elected members of the Board.

Amend Article VI, Section 28 to read as follows:

Section 28. Voting by Members and Delegates. Each delegate of a club or association shall be entitled to ten votes as such delegate on any question coming to a vote at a meeting or forum of the Association except on the election of Alumni Trustees. At the option of any club or local association all the votes to which it is entitled may be cast by a single accredited delegate. Each delegate of a class shall be entitled to ten votes as such delegate on any question coming to a vote at a forum of the Association. Every member shall be entitled to one vote at such meetings or forums, which vote must be cast in person and not by proxy. The presence or voting of members of clubs, associations or classes shall not affect the number of votes to which delegates of such clubs and associations are entitled as above provided. Alternates and substitutes for delegates shall have the same number of votes as the delegates would have if personally present.

Amend Article V by adding at the end thereof a new section to read as follows:

"Section 23a. Advisory Committee. There shall be an Advisory Committee consisting of representatives of the organized clubs and local associations of Cornellians, one representative to be appointed annually by each organized club or local association entitled to a delegate or delegates to meetings or forums under Article VI, Section 24, of these By-Laws, notice of such appointment together with the name and address of the appointee to be immediately mailed to the Secretary of the Associate Alumni. In default of appointment of a representative by any club or local association, the Secretary of such club or local association shall be the representative. The duties of this committee shall be to ascertain from such clubs and associations ways for fostering interest of Cornellians in Alma Mater and for maintaining cordial relations with the Associate Alumni and to advise with and recommend plans therefor to the Directors at their meetings.

Dated New York, May 13, 1914.

Respectfully submitted,

ROGER LEWIS,

President, Associate Alumni.

THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNI OF CORNELL UNIVERSITY

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

TO THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNI OF CORNELL UNIVERSITY:

The Cornell Club of Rochester having appointed the undersigned members of the Associate Alumni of Cornell University a committee to propose amendments to the by-laws of said Association which will give clubs and associations entitled to delegates under Article VI Section 24 thereof representation on its Board of Directors, notice is hereby given, pursuant to Article XII, Section 40, of said by-laws, that at the annual meeting of said Association to be held in Room B, Goldwin Smith Hall, Ithaca, N. Y., on June 13, 1914, at 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon, we will propose and move the adoption of the following amendments to said by-laws:

1. To amend Article III, Section 4, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 4. Election. Five directors at large shall be elected by ballot at each annual meeting of this Association. Each club or association entitled to a delegate or delegates under Article VI, Section 24, may elect, triennially, at a regular or special meeting, from its members, one local director, provided that notice of such election shall be given in the call for said meeting, in accordance with regulations made by the Board of Directors of this Association; and immediately after such election shall transmit to the Secretary of this Association the name and address of such director, and the date of his election."

2. To amend Article III, Section 5, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 5. Term of Office. Each director at large shall take office immediately upon his election and hold office for a term of three years. Except as hereinafter provided, each local director shall take office at the close of the annual meeting of this Association next following his election and hold office for a term of three years. Each local director elected prior to the annual meeting of this Association in June, 1915, shall take office immediately upon his election and hold office until the expiration of his term of office, which shall be determined in the following manner: at said meeting such local directors shall be divided by lot by the presiding officer into three classes, equal or as nearly equal as possible in number, the first of which shall hold office for three years thereafter, the second, for two years thereafter, and the third, for one year thereafter. Each director shall hold office until the election of his successor. Each director now in office, except directors ex-officio, shall be known hereafter as a director at large, and shall continue in office until the expiration of the term for which he was elected."

3. To amend Article III, Section 6, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 6. Annual and regular meetings. The directors shall hold their annual meeting in Ithaca, for the adoption of their annual report and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before them, prior to the day set for the annual meeting of this Association, and on some day of the seven immediately preceding Commencement day. They shall hold two other regular meetings annually; one in Ithaca after the annual meeting of this Association and on the same day or the day following, at a time and place to be fixed by the President and announced at said annual meeting by its presiding officer; and the other in November, at such time and place as the Board may appoint or as, on failure of such appointment, the President may direct. At least ten (10) days' written notice of all annual and November meetings of the Board must be given by the President or Secretary, either personally or by mail, to each director.

4. To amend Article III, Section 7, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 7. Special meetings. Special meetings of the directors may be called by the President at any time and shall be called by him upon written request of six (6) directors for such time, within thirty (30) days, and for such place as he may designate. Such request must specify the business to be considered at such meeting, and no other business shall be considered thereat. At least twenty (20) days' notice of special meetings shall be given by the President or Secretary either personally or by mail, to each director. Such notice must state the purpose of the meeting, and must be accompanied by a full copy of the request therefor."

5. To amend Article III, Section 8, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 8. General powers. Except as hereinafter provided, the entire charge and control of this Association and of its affairs, funds and property shall be vested in its Board of Directors."

6. To amend Article III, Section 9, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 9. Particular powers. In addition to the general powers conferred and duties imposed upon the directors by law and by these by-laws, they shall have the following powers and duties:

(a) They shall prepare and present at each annual meeting a report of the business transacted during the year preceding such annual meeting.

(b) They shall make such arrangements as they shall deem advisable for the celebration of Commencement; for the presentation of annual reports from the alumni trustees; for the conduct of forums and gatherings of the alumni; for the management of all affairs which require organized effort or participation by the alumni; for the proper representation of the alumni at functions and ceremonies; for keeping a list of all members of the Association with their addresses; for the transmitting, at least annually, of information concerning the University to each member; and for establishing an alumni bureau for the promotion of the interests of the members."

7. To amend Article III, Section 10, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 10. Quorum. Ten directors shall constitute a quorum."

8. To amend Article III, Section 11, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 11. Forfeiture of office. Any director, who fails to attend three consecutive regular meetings during his term, and any local director, who ceases to be a member of the club or association which elected him, thereby forfeits his office."

9. To add to Article III there of three new Sections to read respectively as follows:

"Section 11-a. Vacancies. Each vacant directorship at large may be filled for the remainder of the term by the Board of Directors. Each club or association whose local directorship shall be vacant may fill such vacancy for the remainder of the term in the manner provided for the election of local directors. For the purposes of this section, the death or resignation of a director, or the forfeiture of his office, shall create a vacancy."

"Section 11-b. Substitutes. In case any local director shall not be present at any meeting of the Board of Directors, a substitute, elected or appointed by the club or association which he represents, may serve in his place and stead, and, while so serving, shall have all of his powers and be subject to all of his duties, and shall be deemed to be a director for the purpose of counting a quorum, provided, however, that each such substitute must present to such meeting a certificate, signed by the president and secretary of the club or association so electing or appointing him, and showing such election or appointment and the date thereof."

"Section 11-c. Letter-Ballots. A review by the Board of Directors of the action of the Executive Committee may be had by letter-ballot on a written request therefor signed by at least five (5) directors and filed with the Secretary of this Association. The Board of Directors shall prescribe reasonable rules and regulations for such review, and may in like manner provide for a letter-ballot on any other matter within its jurisdiction."

10. To amend Article IV, Section 17, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 17. Duties of the Secretary. The Secretary shall give notice of all meetings and forums of this Association and of all meetings of the Board of Directors and of the Executive Committee; conduct the general correspondence and keep the records and papers of this Association; notify directors at large, officers and committeemen of their election or appointment; keep a list of the clubs, associations and classes entitled to representation by delegates, as provided in Article VI, and of the names and addresses of the directors and delegates and alternates from time to time elected or appointed by them; act as secretary of all meetings of the Board of Directors and of the Executive Committee and of all meetings and forums of this Association, and keep accurate minutes of each such meeting and forum, including a record of all votes, resolutions and other proceedings of the same; prepare and, after approval by the Board of Directors, present to the annual meeting of this Association the annual written report of the Board and mail a copy thereof to the Secretary of each such club, association or class, and furnish a copy thereof to any member of this Association upon request; and perform such other duties as may pertain to his office or be required of him by the President, Board of Directors or Executive Committee."

11. To add to Article V thereof a new Section to read as follows:

"Section 23-a. Executive Committee. There shall be an Executive Committee of the Board of Directors, consisting of seventeen (17) members. The President and Secretary shall be members ex-officio of this Committee, and the President shall be its chairman. Fifteen (15) members thereof shall be elected annually by the Board of Directors at their first regular meeting after the annual meeting of this Association, not more than a majority of whom shall be elected from the directors at large and not more than four of whom shall be residents of the same state. Each member shall take office immediately upon his election and hold office for a term of one year, provided, however, that no person in any event shall continue to be a member of this Committee after he shall cease to be a director of this Association. Subject to the approval and control of the Board of Directors, this Committee shall have the powers conferred, and be subject to the duties imposed, upon that Board by Article III, Sections 8 and 9, hereof, to fill vacancies in its own membership, and such other powers and duties as may be conferred or imposed upon it by the Board of Directors; and shall prepare and, at the annual meeting of that Board, present a report of the business transacted by the Committee during the year preceding such annual meeting."

12. To amend Article VI, Section 28, thereof to read as follows:

"Section 28. Voting by Members and Delegates. Each delegate of a club or association shall be entitled to ten (10) votes as such delegate on any question coming to a vote at a meeting or forum of this Association except on the election of Alumni Trustees and directors at large. If any such delegate be absent from such meeting or forum, and no alternate be serving in his place, the votes to which he would be entitled, if present, may be cast by any other delegate or serving alternate of the same club or association, who holds a certificate, signed by the president and secretary thereof and showing that it has authorized him so to do. Each delegate of a class shall be entitled to ten (10) votes as such delegate on any question coming to a vote at a forum of the Association. Every member shall be entitled to one vote at such meetings or forums, which vote must be cast in person and not by proxy. The presence or voting of members of clubs, associations or classes shall not affect the number of votes to which delegates of such clubs and associations are entitled as above provided. Serving alternates shall have the same voting powers and privileges as the delegates would have if personally present."
